After a few nights, the policemen get tired of having Brown as a star boarder and warn him that unless he gets a place to stay they'll arrest him as a vagrant.

The next night he's back. Brown is then charged with vagrancy, utters "guilty" in a monosyllable when the charge is read, and serves another ten days.

This time it will be different. Major Everitt said that Brown needed a reformatory term because he would have to get up when the bell rings in the morning and work regular hours.

Now for five months, Brown's worries are over. While the cold winds of winter and fall send the mercury dropping, he will not be cast out in the cold after every five or ten days but will be looked after for most of the winter.

Constables who have picked up Brown several times regard him as a nuisance and comment disgustedly that he apparently thinks he can get along without working. He not only thinks he can live without work, he does and at the taxpayers' expense.

City Expands

GUELPH (CP)—An order was presented to City Council last night making the city's annexation of part of Guelph township effective Dec. 31, 1952. The annexed area amounts to 2,600 acres increasing the total city area to 5,800 acres. The move increases the city's population of 27,140 by about 800.

Gives Birth To Boy

NEWMARKET (CP)—Mrs. June Waters yesterday gave birth to an eight-pound boy while under guard in York County Hospital on a murder charge. Mrs. Waters was arrested Sept. 21 for the butcher-knife slaying of Walter Coleman, 38, Baptist Church deacon from Florida.

Jailed Month Phony Cheque

Roy Bryan, 33, 265 Stewart St., was sentenced to one month in jail Monday when he pleaded guilty to two charges of false pretences.

Magistrate W. R. Philp imposed the one month term on Bryan for obtaining a 1941 Chevrolet coach from McWilliams Motor Sales October 11 by giving a worthless cheque signed Roy O'Brien as payment.

On the other charge, of obtaining $10 from Stuart G. Hall on July 31 by false pretenses, the Magistrate gave Bryan a 15-day jail sentence, to run concurrent with the month term.

Detective Sgt. Bud Clarke said Bryan obtained the money from Mr. Hall, a farm implement dealer on the strength of a worthless cheque for $200 on the Omemee branch of the Bank of Toronto. Detective Clarke said Bryan gave Mr. Hall the cheque on a tractor he wanted to buy. Bryan then borrowed the $10 from Mr. Hall and that was the last he saw of Bryan.

TWO CHEQUES

For the car, Detective Clarke said Bryan gave two cheques, one postdated and the other one dated properly. Both were found to be valueless but after a weekend Bryan returned the car.

Bryan admitted being given suspended sentence last February when he was convicted of obtaining money from a service station proprietor by giving a bad cheque, but blamed his misfortunes on being critically injured in an accident two years ago.

He said that he lost the sight of one eye and had been unable to obtain work in an industry. As a result, he said he had taken to drink and this was the immediate cause of his difficulties.

Questioned by Magistrate Philp as to why he did not try to obtain farm employment, Bryan replied that a Canadian had no chance against cheap D.P. laborers.

European Farmer Hacked To Death

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP) — Anti-white Mau Mau terrorists hacked a European farmer to death last night as he sat in the bathtub on his lonely farm 80 miles from Nairobi. His two young native servants also were murdered.

The bodies of the farmer, E.T.N. Bowyer, and the two natives were found today in the ransacked house.

Bowyer was the first white settler killed since the government of this British colony proclaimed a state of emergency and launched a troop-backed drive on the Mau Mau a week ago.

The terrorist society has sworn to drive all white settlers from Kenya.

Sinatra And Wife Over Their Spat

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ava Gardner and hubby Frank Sinatra appeared arm in arm at a Hollywood-for-Stevenson rally last night, answering queries about a reported separation with "no comment."

Although they looked happy together, there must have been something to the stories of a super spat at Palm Springs 10 days ago.

Frankie's manager, Hank Sanicola, told reporters at the rally: "It was just one of those family squabbles. You know, it's their own business. But they've made up."

No Tobacco Agreement

SIMCOE (CP)—The market appraisal committee of the flue-cured tobacco marketing association adjourned a day-long meeting yesterday after failing to agree on a minimum average price for tobacco. It was believed buyers and growers now are one cent apart at 42 cents and 43 cents respec-

Boys Damage Window

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two boys aged 12 and 9 were charged in juvenile court yesterday with wilfully damaging a $1,000 stained window in St. James (Westminster) Anglican Church Oct. 18. Hearing was adjourned until Nov. 17, when W. D. Smith, a member of the congregation, said estimates on the cost of repairs were not yet available.

Lay Chosen Candidate

WHITBY (CP)—John L. Lay of Pickering last night was chosen Liberal candidate for Ontario riding in the next federal general election. He defeated Robert Harris, five times mayor of Uxbridge. Mr. Lay is a newphew of the late Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

Money For Don Jail

TORONTO (CP)—City Council yesterday authorized the spending of another $8,455 to make the Don jail escape-proof. Earlier $2,500 had been voted to provide special window grilles and screens and replace a wooden door with a grille unit. The Don jail, from which the Boyd gang twice escaped, is owned by the city and administered by the province.

Children In Costume At Supper

St. Paul's M.A. Club meeting Monday took the form of a Hallowe'en supper party for the mothers and children with the children coming in costume. There were 40 mothers and 60 children enjoyed the evening. Prizes for the best costumes went to Paul McMillen, Hugh Montgomery, Michael Robertson, David Easton, David McMillan, Barry Brumwell, Linda McIlmoyl and Norma Perry. To entertain the children Mrs. Henderson and assistants from the branch library put on a puppet show for which they were thanked by Mrs. S. Lockington. The supper was conevened by Mrs. Howard Perry. Mrs. Gordon Minty and Mrs. Frank Montgomery did the table decorations in the Hollowe'en theme, providing unique favors for each child which were oranges decorated with faces and topped with witches' hats. The table centre was a huge pumpkin dressed as a witch and there were Hallowe'en tapers and streamers.

Tyndall-Schweir

A quiet wedding was performed Saturday afternoon at St. Paul's manse by the Rev. C. G. Boyd, when Betty Jean, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Schweir, Leahy's Lane, was united in marriage to Stewart George Tyndall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Tyndall, King George St.

The bride wore a pale blue suit with navy accessories, and a corsage of American Beauty roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Ruth Hosker, who wore a wine suit with black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Charles Tyndall.

A wedding luncheon was served at the home of the bride. Later the couple left for a trip to Hamilton and Niagara Falls. On return they will live at 617 Rubidge St.

Cooking School Attracts 500 70 Win Prizes

Nearly 500 women and several men were in the audience Monday evening for the first class of the two-night cooking school sponsored by the Peter Robinson Chapter of the I.O.D.E. The school is being held in the Collegiate Auditorium with vivacious Miss Elaine Collett the director again this year.

Miss Collett represents a company which makes electric ranges, refrigerators and deep freeze units and she emphasized using to the full the special features of these appliances. Each of the recipes which she prepares on stage is cooked by the large dual oven range in the attractive display.

A three-burner, apartment-size range is to be given away at the conclusion of tonight's school and all admission tickets from both nights are eligible to win this grand prize.

Some older homemakers were heard to gasp a little at one of Miss Collett's suggestions for convenient use of the deep freezer. "Make up several dozen sandwiches at a time" she said. "Then all you have to do in the morning is hand Junior one of these frozen sandwiches to take to school." She explained that by noon the sandwich would be thawed out ready for eating and just as fresh as when it was made.

A demonstration of one groceteria's way of trimming steaks and roasts was given and the demonstrator showed evidence that their method cuts a large percentage of waste from the food bill.

The thrill that comes with "winning something" was distributed through the two-hour school. M.C. Andy Rutter announced the names as draws were made at intervals by Chapter regent Mrs. P. C. Sanders.

There were 70 prizes given in all and the winners are as follows:

Grocery bags: Mesdames Jack Hardill, Jean Lush, H. Allen, M. McClenaghan, C. Dobson, J. Curtis, C. Gledhill, F. Cook, A. Caccavella, C. Larmer, A. Foote, J. D'Angelontonio, W. H. Giffen of Norwood, Milford Northey, L. Longhurst, M. V. Powell, M. R. Anglesey, J. H. Moebus, E. Brown, A. W. Clark, A. Tripp, J. F. Reed, B. L. Barns and Misses Brignall and Olive Howland.

Cases of drinks: Mesdames M. Wood, H. J. McMillan, B. McCracken, L. Robinson, E. L. Sackville, C. S. Cummer, Jack Harrison, W. H. Frise, T. Owen, G. W. Mason, W. Brown, Whitehouse.

Meat: Mesdames James Fraser, J. Kempt, Isabel Hall, J. Stewart, D. Merrett and Miss Alberta Hunter. Meat coupons: Mesdames H. Frost, K. Tedford Taylor, G. H. Howson, W. Scollard, G. Little, F. Downs, E. M. Turner and Miss Gladys Coulter.

Beverage products: Mesdames B. V. Moore, G. H. Carley, J. Willshaw, M. L. Latimer, C. S. Rowe, and Miss L. Morley. Large ham, Mrs. Pat Dore; theatre tickets, Mrs. C. L. McIntyre and Mrs. F. R. Raines; silver cream and sugar set, Mrs. A. Jackson.

The food prepared during the evening went to: Mesdames S. J. Graham, H. Chown, A. Sage, W. L. Hardwicke, D. J. Eldred, N. S. Moffatt and Miss Agnes Sabin.

Favors and recipe books were given each attendant at the door.

Glamor Of North Attracting Nurses

TORONTO (CP)—There is little difficulty attracting nurses to the isolated nursing stations in Northern Canada, despite the shortage of hospital nurses throughout the country, Dr. G.D.W. Cameron, deputy health minister, said yesterday.

He told the Women's Hospital Auxiliaries Association that there is no shortage of nurses in the 20 government-operated nursing stations.

"The nurses are drawn from every part of Canada," he said. "It would seem to be the general lure and glamor of these northern outposts which attracts them."

The stations are located in the Northwest Territories, Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. They are established for the 135,000 Indians and Eskimos and are under the supervision of the Indian health services.

Dr. Harry Proctor, assistant director of the services, said the stations may be located as much as 300 miles from the nearest doctor. Communications are mainly restricted to radio. Each station can care for four patients.

50 Little Women Party

Fifty girls made merry at the Little Women's Club Hallowe'en masquerade party at the Y.W.C.A. Saturday afternoon. Each was dressed in a "weird" or "wonderful" costume and these were judged for prizes by Mrs. Irene Campbell annd Miss Ruth Simpson.

The "monst beautiful" was worn by Claudette Nestor; the "most dreadful" by Betty Wicks; the most original by Sandra Scarlett; the funniest by Mary Hucks. Honorable mention was given to 10 other girls who were representing Dutch girls, Martha Washington, a Holland tulip, and gypsies.

Entertainment was highlighted by an eerie ghost walk in the darkened basement of the "Y". This was conducted by three "ghosts" Donna Wade, Anne Beauclerc and Anna Hele. Mrs. Campbell afterward told a spine-tickling ghost story.

Besides refreshments there was dancing and singing on the program, with piano solos being contributed by Sandra Scarlett, Caroline Ridley and Jane Mortlock.

PARTED FOR 45 YEARS, Dominic Rochetta, 474 Donegal St., and his sister, Mrs. Lucy Andreoli, of Lanciano, Italy, finally saw each other for the first time since 1907 on Sunday. Here they smile happily at their first reunion. Mr. Rochetta came to Peterborough in 1907, and worked for the Quaker Oats from 1909 until this year when he retired. Mrs. Andreoli will live in Peterborough with her son, Mike, who came to Peterborough three-and-a-half years ago.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Brother, Sister Meet Again Parted In July 45 Years Ago

Parted for 45 years, a brother and sister saw each other last week for the first time since 1907.

Dominic Rochetta, 474 Donegal St., and his sister, Mrs. Lucy Andreoli, haven't seen each other since he left his home town of Lanciano, Italy, to come to Peterborough.

Mrs. Andreoli, whose son Mike has lived in Peterborough for the past three-and-a-half years, flew over last week, leaving Italy Monday morning and arriving in [illegible] TO LIVE WITH SON

Happy to see his sister, Mr. Rochetta said there would be plenty of time in the future for visits with her. She is going to live with her son here.

Mrs. Andreoli, whose husband died some years ago, has lived in Lanciano all her life, and finds the first few days in Canada a little hard.

"She'll get used to it soon," said her brother. "It's a lot different from what she's been used to."

Mr. Rochetta, who came to Peterborough in 1907 and started work at the Quaker Oats in 1909, retired this years after 43 years of service with the firm.

MISS MARY MASON whose appointment as Assistant Director of Volunteer Nursing Services, Ontario Red Cross, has just been announced. Miss Mason trained at Toronto General Hospital; did post-graduate work at Toronto University School of Nursing; has had varied experience in public health work; and was formerly with the outpost hospitals before entering the R.C.A.M.C. where she served overseas. Prior to her Red Cross appointment, Miss Mason was with the Indian Health Services in Alberta and Ontario.

11 Baptized With Water From Loch Lomond

Water from Loch Lomond was used for the baptismal service at St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday when 11 children were baptized by the Rev. Henry Cotton. Mr. Cotton obtained the water from the Loch for this purpose during his recent visit in Scotland. He also brought heather from Ben Lomond and gave each of the parents a sprig.

It is believed this was the largest group of children to be baptized at one time in the history of St. Andrew's Church. Eleven new members were also received on Sunday.

The following children were baptized: Sherelyn Darlene and Judith Elizabeth, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Speers; Catherine Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell; John Frederick Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Robertson; Louise, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Hugh F. Waddell; Andrea Kathryn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Bruce Taylor; George Alexander, son of Mr and Mrs. James E. Gillespie; Julie Heather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard R. Wall; David Rennie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey R. Wilson; Stephen Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Routly; John David, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Farlow Ford.

Pipe Band Holds 3rd Highland Ball

HAVELOCK — (ENS) — Tartan decorations in the town hall made an attractive setting for the third annual Highland Ball sponsored by the Havelock Pipe Band on Friday night.

About 50 couples were present which included visitors from Peterborough, Hastings, Norwood and surrounding district. In the receiving line were Mrs. Harry Anderson and Mrs. Carl Lynn. The door prize was won by Keith Brown of Peterborough. Prizes for the spot dances went to James Watson of Havelock and Miss Pauline Killingbeck of Hastings and Ray Nolan and partner of Peterborough. Round dancing formed the program to music supplied by a Peterborough orchestra. The Havelock Pipe Band played several selections.

Buott-Remnant

The wedding of Ivy Winifred, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Remnant, of Lakefield, took place Friday evening, October 24, the 35th wedding anniversary of her parents. The nuptial vows of Miss Remnant and Mr. Albert Desmond Buott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Buott, of Peterborough, were solemnized by the Rev. L. J. Delaney at St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, Lakefield.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin made with a very tight bodice buttoned at the back and finished with a small collar of net embroidered with sequins and pearls. Her veil of embroidered net was caught to a Queen Anne shaped headdress of satin and lace and her bouquet was of white carnations and mauve orchids.

Mrs. Ernest Mills, of Peterborough, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, wearing a mauve dress of Swiss embroidery, a mauve headdress and veiling. Bridesmaid Miss Eleanor Stirling wore yellow embroidered Swiss with headdress of yellow feathers and veiling. They carried bouquets of shasta 'mums in mauve and yellow with roses.

Groomsman was Mr. E. Mills, and Messrs K. Remnant and J. Gray were ushers.

The wedding music was by organist Mrs. Neale, and Mr. Hamilton, of Brockville, was the soloist.

The reception was held at Dayncourt Manor. The bride's mother received, wearing a grey crepe dress with mauve hat and accessories, and the groom's mother was wearing a dress of navy nylon with navy hat with red feather trim. Each had a corsage of deep red roses.

The bride and groom left afterward on a trip to Ottawa and other points east, the bride wearing a tan suit with a leaf green velvet hat and matching accessories and her corsage was an orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Buott will live on Park St. in Peterborough.

Clarke Turcotte

[illegible] of Lakefield United Church on Saturday, the Rev. W. H. Tonge united in marriage Doreen, daughter of Mr. John Turcotte and the late Mrs. Turcotte, and Donald D. Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Clarke, of Norwood.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beige gabardine suit with bronze accessories and her corsage was a mauve orchid. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Daniel Barclay, was wearing a forest green suit with copper colored accessories and her corsage was also an orchid. The groom was attended by Mr. Barclay.

After a reception at the bride's home, the couple left on a motor trip to Toronto and Western Ontario. For travelling the bride wore a turkey red velvet coat and hat with black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will live at 199 Dublin St., Peterborough.

Y.W. Board Meets

Y.W.C.A. Board of Directors met in the Blue Room Monday afternoon, president Mrs. H. T. Rehill presiding.

Mrs. W. G. Ovens reported that 83 per cent of the World Service Fund allocation has already been collected. Mrs. Ross Matthews, reporting for the nursery school, asked for a used record player for Mrs. Northcott's use at the school. Reports from all other departments of the Y were received.

Mrs. John Hornal was named the Y's representative to the Community Chest committee. Members were advised they may obtain invitations to the Cancer Society's annual meeting November 27th by applying to Mrs. Maurice Holt, the president. The World Week of Prayer and World Fellowship was announced for November 9 to 16.

With The Boy Scouts

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

I am sure that every member of the Scouting Family regret to note the retirement of Mr. Peter Moore from the Presidency of the Local Association for he has done his best to carry on that duty throughout his term of office and we are sure of his continued support. These things will happen but we are also pleased to welcome Dr. J. N. Perry into that post. Dr. Jim has been a tireless worker for Scouting since his advent into the movement in the Trinity Unity Church Group Committee. We'll be giving Dr. Jim of our best to make Scouting what he would like it to be. Good hunting to him.

1ST PETERBORO ST. JOHNS:—

A former member of the Cub Pack returned this week to take up the post as Assistant Cub Leaded. Were once he ran with the Pack, Don Searles will now be helping to lead.

In a simple ceremony Bob Yudin was accepted as a white brother into the Pack and decorated with the White Neckerchief. Then followed a ceremony in which Bill Collison and Joe Cunningham were made full members of the World Brotherhood of Scouting as they were invested as Wolf Cubs taking off their White Coats and receiving the Purple and Gold of St. John's. Mr. Trueman was busy in his usual way giving tests. Those who passed were: Ed. Zinser, Jamie Welsh and Ken McLaren completing Union Flag; Brian Dunford—collectors badge; Leslie Crump completed First Star with Growing Things; Don Sherk — somersault, hopping, balancing and compass; Jamie Welsh — cleanliness; Joe Cunningham, David Gunn; Wallace Davidson, Jamie Welsh, Bob Barber, Garry Hamilton, and Ken McLaren — time telling; Jerry Sedgwick, Leslie Crump, Don Sherk and Ken McLaren — compass; and Jerry Sedgwick-message.

Skipper G. told an interesting story at Red Flower and following the closing ceremonies some of the boys signed up for hockey in the St. John's Pee Wees under Mr. Brooks.

ST. LUKES 2ND ARMOUR

The Pack: — Tuesday evening the Pack was transported by car to the home of Miss A. Curtiss on Parkhill Rd. where games were played and a Red Flower program of signing conducted. Afterwards in the house, Jim Eaken was made Zulu Boy and fully accepted as a member of the Pack. Games of "Pass the bag" and "Describe your artical" were enjoyed this being toped with a lunch of hot dogs, chocolate Milk and cookies prepared and served by the ladies.

The Troop— Wednesday evening the Scouts were busy around town delivering pamphlets for a local store in order to start on their 1953 Camp Funds. Friday evening a First Aid Class got under way with Don Rose, a member of St. John's Ambulance Brigade as instructor.

ST. PAULS, 7TH PETERBOROUGH

Review work was the main theme of the last regular meeting of the Pack with Akela specializing on the Cub Law and Promise. Games of "Bombing Relay" "Horse and Rider" and "Paul Revere Relay" helped to releive to pressure then Tenderpad tests for the new Chums. Basil Downer submitted work for his Toymakers' Badge.

ST. ALBANS 17TH PETERBOROUGH

On Oct. 22, the Pack held a Campfire meeting at which they were entertained by Dave Hatton as song leader. Each Six put over a skit. On Wednesday a Hallow'een party will be held at which all parents are welcomed. We understand that this group has a large list of Tests that have been passed recently. Why not let us have it for publication.

TRINITY 16TH PETERBOROUGH

Following the opening ceremonies Mr. Harry Ferguson signed up twenty-six members of the Troop for their Junior St. John's First Aid course. Some of these have previously passed their badge but regulations call for a repass. Instructions will commence this week. There was a good turnout of boys and a real close and vigorous competition by the four patrols to secure advancement in the Patrol Competition.

Instructing was given in various sections of the 1st and Second Class work by Mr. Spearin and Mr. Donaldson. Scouter Gord Thompson and Assistant Don Smith will be representing the troop at the annual banquet. A special visitor at the meeting was Murray Yelland, a former assistant in the Troop who is now in the Navy and we understand stood first in his class. He related to the boys his experiences in navy life, its training, the hardships and the fun. All enjoyed his talk.

REPORTS

St. Albans Pack is welcomed back to the column. How about it All Saints' and you there at the Salvation Army.

THE REV. W. E. KIBBLEWHITE ROVER SCOUT CREW

Special notice to all members of the crew—Please notice that the Annual Crew Banquet has been postponed until Saturday, Dec. 6. This was done in order that we could concentrate on the den, without having to worry about the Banquet preparations, and finish it as much as we can before the cold weather makes it impossible for us to do so.

We shall begin a concentrated drive to finish the den at least complete enough to hold our banquet in it in comfort. But in order to do so, we are going to have to do some real hard work between now and the banquet. So, come on gang—yes, you guys on leave, and you Citizen Rovers too —we can use you any night that you have some free time. To misquote that popular Western song: "If you've got the time, Honey, we've got lots of work."

With the postponing of the banquet it was necessary to postpone the nomination and election of officers as well. So, keep it in mind gang—nominations on Nov. 17, elections on November 21, and the banquet on Dec. 6.

Under the very capable leadership of Rover Doug Harris the den is progressing favorably.

The Crew accepted another "service project" for the District. They were asked to deliver Apple Day boxes around to the various groups in Peterborough on Thursday evening. And on Saturday the Crew, represented by Skipper Art Rose, and Assistant Mate Dave Hatton, acted as Dispatchers for the local association during Saturday morning. It was their job to allot the Cubs and Scouts their various posts.

Last Sunday, at our regular monthly Communion breakfast, we were very pleased to see Gerry Hatton out. (I guess that he could not have died after all.) It was also a pleasure to see Harry Wooden, Jack White, Wally Booth and Len Wall. It is always good to see our Citizen Rovers come out to our affairs.

There is bad news today for the Squires. They have lost another one of their numbers. Yes, Squires, it's "Rover" Ron Hatton from now on. Congratulations, Ron.

Church Has Anniversary At Havelock

HAVELOCK (ENS). — "Fifty years in the Christian ministry" was the subject of the sermon at the morning service Sunday at Havelock United Church when the Rev. Dr. C. J. L. Bates of Toronto was guest speaker at the 68th anniversary of the church. Dr. Bates, who has served nearly 40 years as a missionary in Japan, based his sermon on two texts: "That those things which cannot be shaken may remain," and "Now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three, but the greatest of these is charity." Two anthems were sung by the choir directed by Donald Pollock.

Dr. Bates spoke in the evening on the subject "Our Marching Orders," which presented a great missionary challenge.

The church is spoken of in a two-fold manner, Dr. Bates said, as militant and triumphant. Militant means the church on earth which is engaged in a great warfare and although it is ultimately assured of victory, that victory has not yet been won. We have received marching orders, he said, all those enlisted under the blood-stained banner of the cross, and those orders are: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

The question "have missions failed" has been asked from time to time Dr. Bates said, but it matters not whether we think missions have failed or not failed, the matter that is our concern is to obey "our marching orders."

Dr. Bates traced the history of Christianity in Japan from the time, about 40 years ago, when the first Christian message was taken to that country. He spoke of the period of 250 years when Christianity had been prohibited, during which many still maintained their faith. Then in 1873 the prohibition was removed and he told the story of advancement which was again disrupted by the Second World War. Speaking about the missionaries who are returning to Japan, and South Korea, Dr. Bates said "Missions have not failed. The Christian church is still there in the hearts of the people."

Dr. Bates was the guest of the Rev. R. G. Newman and Mrs. Newman who have also served as missionaries in Japan, the latter being born in that country. Thus a friendship of long standing on the mission fields of Japan was renewed over the weekend. Dr. Bates who was formerly principal of the Southwestern Christian University at Kobe, Japan, was also a family friend of Mrs. Newman's parents and grandparents. Her afther, Dr. R. C. Armstrong, served with the Canadian Methodist Mission and at the time of his death was the superintendent of the Central Tabernacle in Tokyo. The text Dr. Bates chose for the morning service was one of Dr. Armstrong's favorites.

The evening service in Knox Presbyterian church was withdrawn in order that the congregation might hear Dr. Bates and their minister, the Rev. R. D. Duncanson, assisted in the service, reading the scripture lesson and offering prayer.

What's Right?

When you are telling a story to a group of guests your husband or wife keeps interrupting to make corrections.

WRONG: Say, "All right, you tell it."

RIGHT: Don't create any unpleasantness that will embarrass your guests.

DOROTHY DIX

Loss Of Faith Is Price Of Infidelity

DEAR MISS DIX: Until a year ago my wife and I were a happy, settled couple with two children and a pleasant home. Then, like a fool, I went overboard for a young girl in the office, discovered the feeling was mutual, and a full-fledged affair resulted. I had good excuses for being away from home, and took advantage of them. My wife found out, and things have never been the same since. I didn't want to leave her, and she decided to stay with me. We tried to get back our former feelings, and did for awhile, then that was gone. Now we try to be polite to each other, but the coldness and withdrawal she feels is very evident to me. I know I hurt her terribly, but it shouldn't go on forever. I can forget it—why can't she? She has no place to go to get away from her troubles—just sits home and broods. It doesn't seem possible that a 12-year-old marriage should come to this. What can I do?

F.C.H.

ANSWER: You did your best to destroy the love and faith of 12 years, then because you are able to forget the wrong you did—which is an amazingly simple accomplishment—you expect your wife to do the same. If positions were reversed, could you extend ready and immediate forgiveness and pass the entire episode into oblivion with the flick of a finger?

FIDELITY COMES FIRST

A woman may list many qualities that are desirable in a husband but the first of these is fidelity. Almost anything else they can forgive easily, but a man who has very deliberately embarked on a love affair with another woman puts himself beyond the pale of complete pardon. A wife who has sincerely and warmly loved her husband will never feel the same about him once he has deceived her. And a man is doubly a fool to expect it. He was a fool to gamble with anything that should be as precious to him as his wife's trust, and a fool to expect to shrug off his guilt as easily as you expect to.

Extra-marital affairs can be easily condoned by the people who aren't touched by them, in fact, in many circles they are considered "smart". Stop and realize for a moment, son, that this "affair" of yours included breaking a commandment of God and forswearing your marriage vow. It threatened the reputation and health of a girl—whether she was willing or not—and now menaces the peace of your home. Was this, then, such a small thing that your wife should forget it merely because you wish it forgotten? You had your fun, now you complain because the home atmosphere isn't what it was a year ago. You certainly want to have your cake and eat it, too.

Never expect to win the complete faith of your wife again, but you can get back some of it. It won't be done, however, by impatience or making a martyr out of yourself. Remember, the fault was yours, and the penance must also be done by you. Let your love for your wife shine through every action of the day until she is once again convinced that it hasn't all been lost. Do the things together that you both have always enjoyed. Go back to your courtship days, remember what pleased her then, and duplicate it now. It took you a year to destroy her happiness; be willing to give at least twice that time to restoring it.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a man in service, and we expect to be married in two years. He is a grand, responsible man, and I am quite helpless and undependable. His family doesn't approve of me and, since I'm sure they will never accept me, I want him to give them up entirely.

L. C.

ANSWER: Heaven help the boy if he marries you. Of course his family doesn't approve of you; every mother wants her son to marry a girl who will be a real wife and helpmate to him. You'll be a millstone around his neck. Your arrogant selfishness in wanting him to break with his family, who have cared for him all his life is contemptible. What have you to offer in place of a mother's devotion? Just the privilege of waiting on you all day while you exult in your helplessness! Wake up, girl. The day of helpless women is over. You were born a century too late.

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past year I have been going with a boy I have grown to love very much. He is 23, I am 21. He says we will be married soon but never gets down to the actual business of setting a date. I know he needs time to settle his debts but, instead of saving his money, he spends it on good times with his boy friends. They go off for weekends, vacations, and run around getting drunk. I don't begrudge him a good time, but feel our plans should come first.

ANSWER: If no definite engagement exists between you, the boy can make his own choice of what comes first. If you are formally engaged, you should be given more consideration. However, since he is young, and apparently emotionally younger than his years, a good time means more to him than any plans involving such dreary things as responsibilities. Time may or may not settle him, but in the meanwhile don't turn down dates from eligible young men; a reserve supply may come in handy.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Milk Chocolate Frosting For Dark Chocolate Cake

Still carrying the torch for higher, better and foolproof cakes, I used the new stream-lined method on a dark chocolate cake last night after the dishes were washed. I added a milk chocolate frosting. Before my knife had stopped moving to spread the frosting Marianne had her hands on the cake plate, impatient to carry it to the living room where six tired and hungry student nurses were waiting to demolish it, which they promptly did with no effort at all. Plenty of "ums" and "ahs" came from their chocolate smeared lips though.

That's reason enough to pass it on to you who love to bake cakes, but before you read the recipes, read this letter from Ollie R.:

"Dear Mary Moore: Greetings and compliments in the same breath for a fine work well done, and one that has been lacking for many years. . . please do not peter off at the end of a year or so . . . now for help wanted. I make a white cake which is wonderful in every way but no matter what I use to oil or flour my bake pans, the nice brown still clings to the pan, sometimes more than others. When I turn them on the rack to cool upside down, and then try to apply the frosting the brown layer seems to lift from the cake and mixes in with the frosting. Any advice would be appreciated.

"I use the following recipe to make birthday cakes and use the proceeds to swell my talent money: ½ cup butter, 1½ cups fine sugar, 3 eggs, 1 cup milk, 2½ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla; bake at 350 until sides leave pan.

"If and when time permits could we have some small cookies, bars, etc., that would be suitable for teas, also decorating hints? Ollie R."

Part of this column is my answer to some of Ollie R.'s questions. I have sent the cookie column which ran here on Sept. 25, but will write more on cookies shortly.

STREAM-LINED DARK CHOCOLATE CAKE (3 eggs—no milk)

Grease a pan 9 x 9 x 2 or 2 layer cake tins, and line with wax paper and butter the wax paper. Sift cake flour and measure 2¼ cups. Onto a piece of wax paper sift altogether the sifted flour, 1¾ cups sugar, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1¾ teaspoons baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt and 2-3 cup cocoa. (If you do not want a very dark cake reduce cocoa to ½ cup.) Turn into large mixing bowl and add 2-3 cup soft shortening or butter and then measure 1 cup water, and add a little more than half of the water, and 1 teaspoon vanilla. If you have an electric beater beat at low speed for 2 minutes. If you do this by hand beat 3 minutes if using spoon, 2 minutes if hand rotary beater. Then add 3 medium-sized eggs and remaining water and beat 2 minutes longer. Pour into pan or pans which have been paper-lined and buttered. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. One large square or oblong cake requires 40 to 50 minutes; layers require about 35 to 40 minutes.

MILK CHOCOLATE FROSTING

Into 5 tablespoons very soft butter or margarine stir ½ cup cocoa until perfectly blended, then stir in 2 2-3 cups sifted icing sugar and 6 tablespoons scalded milk or evaporated milk. This requires long beating but eventually thickens enough to spread—I speed it up by standing the mixing bowl in a larger bowl containing ice and water. This is easy if you have an electric beater, but takes elbow grease if done by hand.

NOTE TO OLLIE R.

The manager of a bake shop in a chain of bake shops with which you are familiar I am sure, told me to mix 1 teaspoon each butter and flour together until smooth and to grease my cake pans with this. He says they use this method in the bake shop. It is very good and the cakes come out clean—but I prefer paper-lined pans. Your letter was delightful.

English, Mathematics Stress Said Needed

SUDBURY (CP) — A resolution urging that "at least 50 per cent" of the time in elementary schools be devoted to English and mathematics has been sent to the provincial department of education from the Northern Ontario public school principals in session here.

The principals said they feel that there is incompetence in such basic studies as spelling and adding among new personnel in many business offices. They underlined the need for more stress on the two subjects.

Orders Lawyer Leave Court, Dress Properly

GUELPH (CP) — Mr. Justice John L. Wilson yesterday halted a divorce action here to order a Toronto lawyer to leave court and dress himself properly for court appearance.

"It's a matter of procedure and decorum to be properly dressed in court," said Mr. Justice Wilson in ordering W.H. Sipper to withdraw.

Mr. Sipper had appeared with his lawyer's gown over the vest of his blue suit, exposing part of his white shirt. He did not wear the usual black waistcoat that lawyers don under their gowns.

"If you ever come before me like that again I won't hear you," Mr. Justice Wilson said.

Youth Arrested Claim Assault Young Woman

Quick work by Detective Sgt. John Stevenson and police matron Mrs. Mel Shadgett today resulted in the arrest of a 17-year-old Collegiate student a few minutes after a young married woman reported being attacked on King St.

Acting on a description of the youth given to them by the woman, detective Stevenson arrested John Kellogg, of Hunter St., east, from a lineup of industrial arts students at South Central School.

Kellogg was taken to the police station and was charged with indecent assault before Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court.

In a blue trenchcoat, the short, blond youth was wearing brown horn-rimmed glasses. He was not asked to plead but was remanded until Wednesday. Bail was fixed at $200.

The woman, about 25, who came here from England a short time ago, told detective Stevenson and the police matron that she was walking north on Reid St., and saw a youth riding towards her on a bicycle.

She said she became frightened when he stared at her as he rode past and she crossed the street. After he passed by, she said, he stopped his bicycle and came alongside her.

When the youth grabbed at her clothing, she said she screamed, slapped his face, and ran into a nearby house, from where she phoned police.

The woman was able to give them a fairly detailed description of the youth and detective Stevenson and police matron Shadgett decided to cruise around the area for a few minutes to see if the youth could be found.

Acting on a hunch, detective Stevenson said he went into South Central School where industrial arts students receive instruction in auto mechanics.

The hunch paid off. The teacher had several of the boys line up with their raincoats on and after questioning one who answered the description, Kellogg was arrested.

$5,000 Damages Given Woman

WELLAND (CP)—Mrs. Dorothy Keiwan of Ottawa was awarded $5,000 damages and her brother-in-law, John Keiwan of Welland, $2,250 in a settlement endorsed today by Mr. Justice James M. King in actions arising out of a traffic accident at an intersection near here Sept. 7, 1950.

A two-car collision on that date took the life of Mrs. Keiwan's husband, Fred W. Keiwan, Sr., and resulted in serious injuries to several passengers.

Defendants were John Tykoliz, Welland, owner and John Hancock, Woodstock, driver of a car which came into collision with the Keiwan vehicle.

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM H. LARMER

A native of Northumberland county where he was born in 1880, William H. Larmer of Hazelton, B.C., died on Thursday, October 8, and was buried on the following Saturday. He leaves two sisters in Peterborough, Mrs. H. B. McFee and Mrs. R. T. Scott, and a brother, J. C. Larmer of Lindsay.

Mr. Larmer was a veteran of the First World War, was employed for some years as a telegraph operator on a communication line between Hazelton and the Yukon. For the last 10 years he had been manager of a grocery store and post office in Hazelton.

Death was caused by a heart ailment. Mr. Larmer was a member of the Anglican Church and the Masonic Order.

WILLIAM PURDY

A former Royal Lifeguard serving King Edward VII and King George V, William Purdy, 68, of Lakefield, died Monday at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, on Monday, following a lengthy illness.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, Mr. Purdy served as a lifeguard for 12 years before coming to Canada 35 years ago. He was the son of the late Hugh Purdy and Kate Purdy. His mother is believed to be still living in Australia.

He has lived in Lakefield for [illegible] years. For [illegible] in Peterborough for 16 years and Shawinigan Falls, P. Q.

He leaves two sisters in Regina, Sask.

The funeral was held today at 10:30 a.m. from the Hendren Funeral Home. The Rev. W. B. Walker of Lakefield will conduct the service. Burial will be in Lakefield cemetery.

MRS CHARLES LEVI BICKELL

LAKEFIELD (ENS) —A resident of Lakefield for 52 years, Mrs. Charles Levi Bickell, Catherine St., died Monday in hospital in Peterborough at the age of 74.

Mrs. Bickell was born Laura Fairbairn in Smith township and lived there until her marriage in 1900.

She was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and was a member of the church's Women's Missionary Society, the Women's Association and the Women's Institute.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Maurice Pickles (Stella) Toronto; Mrs. Jock Renwick (Marie) Clarkson; two sons, Kenneth, St. Catharines, and Ernest of California a sister, Mrs. William Stabler (Bertha) Lakefield, and a brother, Will Fairbairn of Lakefield, five grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The body is resting at the Hendren funeral home. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Two Plead Guilty To Liquor Charges

Two Lakefield men pleaded guilty to liquor charges in police court today.

Claude Hopkins, 28, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for having liquor in a place other than a residence, and William Hanrahan, 75, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for drinking in a place other than his residence.

Young People Of United Church Hold Conference

Bill Piercy of Peterborough was elected president Saturday of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Young People's Union of the United Church, held in Oshawa.

Seven other young people from the city and district were elected to the executive chosen at the 24th annual convention of the Y.P.U. More than 400 delegates attended, and the guest speaker was the Rev. Floyd Honey, a missionary returned from China.

Others elected from city and district were: Phyllis Parker, Port Hope, secretary; Mary Kennedy, Bobcaygeon, faith and evangelism convener; Marion Brown, Peterborough, stewardship and training convener; Bill Bundsho, Lindsay, citizenship and community service; Warren Buttars, Bewdley, recreation and culture; Mary B. Stewart, Peterborough, and Garnet Pogue, Omemee, members-at-large.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Sessions of the conference were held in Simcoe St. United Church and the conference lasted from Friday afternoon to Sunday evening. Newly-elected officers were installed Sunday afternoon by Dr. George Telford, honorary president of the conference.

Speaker at the Saturday evening banquet was Mayor Michael Starr of Oshawa.

$2,000 Bail Set For Three Youths

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Bail was set at $2,000 each for three 18-year-old Wardsville youths charged jointly in city court today with theft and break-enter and theft.

Magistrate Donald Menzies remanded the trio to Friday. They are James Shaw, James W. Bowles and Raymond Fisher.

The three are charged with theft of car batteries, floor mats and auto accessories from McDonald Motors, Glencoe, and with breaking into the Stratton garage at Newbury and stealing a quantity of motor oil and car parts.

Police said both offences occurred last night and that all the stolen goods have been recovered.

Prince Visits Canada But Sleeps Through It

MONTREAL (CP)—Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands paid this city a two-hour visit early today —and slept through all of it.

He was aboard a K.L.M Royal Dutch Airlines plane which touched down here on an inaugural flight from Amsterdam to Mexico City via Montreal and Monterrey, Mexico.

Prince Bernhard was slumbering when the aircraft landed about 2:30 a.m. EST and he remained abed for the two hours that it was here.

Rev. W. J. Torpey Of Iowa Buried In Douro

Funeral rites were celebrated at St. Joseph's Church, Douro, for the Rev. William J. Torpey Fairbanks, Iowa, U.S.A. on Monday morning.

Father Torpe was born March 2, 1873, the son of Eugene Torpey and Nora Fahey in Otonabee township. He was the last surviving member of this family.

After attending St. Michael's College in Toronto, Father Torpey received his seminary training at St. Paul, Minnesota, where he was ordained for the archdiocese of Dubuque, Iowa, in 1905. After his retirement in 1948 he lived at Fairbanks, Iowa, with his nephew Rev. Bernard G. Collins and his niece, Miss Mae Collins.

Solemn reqquiem high mass was celebrated Monday morning by Rev Bernard G. Collins, Fairbanks, Iowa. Deacon of the mass was Rev. Joseph P. Collins, Cobourg, Ont., and subdeacon was Rev. James S. Collins, Honey Harbour, Ont. All three are nephews of Fr. Torpey. Rev. H. J. Fitzgerald was master of ceremonies, and the acolytes were Rev. Gerard Maher and Rev. James Greenan.

The Most Rev. Gerald Berry, D.D., Bishop of Peterborough diocese was present in the sanctuary. The following clergy were also present: Rt. Rev. Peter Butler, D.P., Very Rev, J. J. Garvey, V.F., Rev. The following acted as pallbearers: Joseph Torpey, Gus Torpey and William Torpey, nephews of the deceased, Frank Butler, Ed O'Connor and James Barry.

Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Douro.

City Hall Opened Just One Year Ago

Formal opening of the City Hall on October 26, 1951, was perhaps collectively remembered by the Board of Works last night.

Mayor George R. Chamberlain of Peterborough, England, opened the main door on George Street that day with a ceremonial key presented to him by Mayor Max Swanston, the climax of decisions and contracts providing Peterborough with one of the finest municipal buildings in Canada. Since then, the old city building at Water and Simcoe Streets has vanished in clouds of rubble dust.

The weather was edged with the nip of late autumn followed by a week of cold and snow that turned the thoughts of Mayor Chamberlain's party to the return voyage. He and Alderman Martin and their wives visited the Ottawa Winter Fair, which incidentally opened again yesterday, and about the middle of the week they set out to see Niagara Falls. As they approached that peninsula snow drifts had raised barriers along the highways west of Toronto, forcing the visitors to turn back. That was one of their disappointments. Another was a complex of circumstances which prevented them from crossing the border to Peterborough, N.H.

Housing Shortage Community Problem

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—The housing shortage should be tackled as a community problem, Ivor Wagner, Owen Sound business man said last night.

Mr. Wagner, vice-president of the Ontario division of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, addressed the greater Fort Erie Chamber of Commerce.

"We keep looking to the government to solve our housing troubles" he said. "This can best be done by organizing locally, having local contractors build needed homes through community financing."

Bush Fire Burns More Than 200 Acres

BRAMPTON (CP)—A bush fire, believed started by a careless smoker, has burned more than 200 [illegible] to keep it from spreading to valuable stands of mature pine and cedar trees.

The fire originally started Thanksgiving Day but was doused by rain. It has been smoldering since and yesterday broke out again.

New York Paper Declares McCarthy Broadcast Flop

NEW YORK (CP)—The Times says in an editorial today that Senator Joseph McCarthy's broadcast "effort to link Governor Stevenson with sympathy for communism was . . . unconvincing."

The Times, which supports Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's Republican candidature but has criticized the general for supporting Republicans such as McCarthy, said:

"The junior senator from Wisconsin, who has made his way to national fame and political fortune via the route of wild charges, gross distortions and assorted forms of demagoguery, said nothing last night to change this estimate of him, although he did couch his nationwide broadcast in milder

TORONTO (CP)—Skip Teal, flashy forward with Barrie Flyers, is top point-getter in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race, statistics released by the league yesterday indicate.

Teal has 10 goals and nine assists for 19 points. Close behind the leader is teammate Don McKenney with 10 goals and seven assists for 17 points. Top goal-getters are Teal, McKenney and Murray Costello of St. Michael's each with 10.

Two Galt players, Ed Switzer and Jim McBurney are tied for third with 15 points each. Costello of St. Michael's is next with 14.

The official O.H.A. release includes all games up to and including Oct. 26 as well as games played in the interlocking schedule with the Quebec section of the league.

CHADWICK TOP GOALIE

Ed Chadwick of St. Michael's has the top goal-tending average with a total of 18 scored in six games or three a game. Bill Harrington of Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts is next with a 3.13 average and John Henderson of Marlboros is third with 3.43.

Current league leaders are Galt Black Hawks and Barrie Flyers with 11 points each. Guelph and St. Michael's each have nine points for second place. Kitchener is next with eight, St. Catharines and Marlboros have seven each, Oshawa has five and Windsor is in the cellar with one point.

Betting On USHL Star's Age Popular Sport

By W.R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—If you want to make some easy money, bet on the age of Kitoute Joannette. And if you folks in far-away places haven't heard of old Kitoute, you can catch up on your hockey knowledge now.

Kitoute is the centre-ice smoothie for Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, as tough a league as any these days. It's studded with almost-ripe pickings for National Hockey League clubs, along with fellows who have been in the big time, but have slipped a notch.

Joannette is the pride of Valleyfield fans, the hockey idol of the bustling little city. Everybody calls him by his nickname, Kitoute. Some even forget his first name is Rosario.

Kitoute has been playing in organized hockey since he was 15. He broke in with the Valleyfield Intermediates of those days. There were no junior teams. For 17 years now he has played Senior hockey.

He filled in for a couple of games with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League eight seasons ago. He has turned down offers to join clubs in the American Hockey League.

In all those years of hockey, Kitoute's exploits are becoming something of a legend around the Q.S.H.L. circuit. People profess to have known him away back when—and unconsciously add years to his age.

Cornered in Montreal, Kitoute admitted his baptismal certificate shows he was born July 27, 1916. That makes him 36.

BETTING COMES IN

That's where the betting comes in, too. Close friends of Kitoute, hearing solemn pronouncements that he is in his 40s, quickly get up a bet, then rush off and return with Kitoute, baptismal certificate and all.

"I feel just as strong as I ever did," said Kitoute. "I don't tire, my legs are all right and I keep in shape. I play baseball in the summer. Right now Coach Toe Blake is using me mostly as a utility centre. He's a great guy, and I believe I have at least two more years of hockey to give him."

Out on the ice he is a smooth, effortless skater. He can pull the trigger on a goal shot without warning.

SCORED 45 GOALS

His biggest season was the 1944-45 Provincial League campaign. In 39 games he scored 45 goals and had 56 assists for 101 points.

Last spring in the playoffs against Quebec Aces, he clicked for the hat trick in one game. Two of his goals came 45 seconds apart.

Asked why he didn't catch on regularly with Canadiens back in 1944-45, Kitoute said: "Coach Dick Irvin thought I was too old and wouldn't last long. I wonder if he thinks differently now."

In Valleyfield Kitoute is a foreman painter at the Beauharnois Power team along with his dad. Denis, 8, is coming along all right. Then there's three-year-old Regent. What about him?

"Oh, he's skating, too," said Kitoute.

Marrying Russian Playboy Revealed In Izvestia Expose

MOSCOW (AP) — The government newspaper Izvestia explained today how Vasily Kutryumov—marrying playboy of the Kuznetsk basin—could pay out half his salary in alimony and still live mighty well.

"Embezzlement and theft" did it, said Izvestia.

The disclosures were the latest in a series of exposes of scandalous behavior that have been appearing in the Moscow press since high Communist officials ordered a clean-up of officials found using their positions to better themselves.

The story about Kutryumov said he had been found shortweighing and overcharging in his restaurant. The paper recommended criminal prosecution.

The newspaper said Kutryumov, head of the finance department of the city of Topki in Kuzbass, central Siberia, spent most of his time in the marriage registration office.

In 1938 he wed Shura. In 1940 he divorced her and married Marusya, lived with her five months and left her. He returned to Shura, lived with her four months and left her.

NO CASH—LEAVES CASHIER

He fell in love with citizeness "Y" but soon became disappointed with her and walked out. He then married citizeness "P" but divorced her when she refused to bring home money from the bank in which she worked as a cashier. Finally he settled on Vera. But having become a public scandal, he lost his job and left town without a forwarding address in hopes of avoiding alimony payments.

Kutryumov did not fare well outside of Topki, however, so he returned to become director of the restaurant. And although he pays about one-half of his salary for the support of numerous children, he dresses well, has built a home, has bought himself a cow and "in general needs no money."

Farmer Killed Shoot 9 Dogs

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP)—Nine ferocious dogs attacked a 47-year-old Mississippi farmer and killed him.

County attorney Laurel Weir said "all the flesh was gone" from William Pierce's left arm when his body was found in a ditch near here last Saturday.

"All the toes were eaten off his right foot," Weir said. "Part of the flesh of his right arm was gone and also flesh from the lower part of both legs."

The animals were chewing on the remains when the body was found.

Sheriff Madison Spears said the family of the dead man "would be satisfied if the dogs were slain." Sheriff Spears shot all nine dogs.

Flying Saucers Enjoy Nice Weather

MONTREAL (CP) —Indian summer is here and in its bright sunshine flying saucers are easy to spot.

A man telephoned the Montreal Star today to report seeing five flying saucers at 7:45 a.m.

They were flat, shiny and travelling like jet planes but without sound.

They were up about 10,000 feet.

"Have you ever flown?" asked the reporter on the Star end of the telephone.

"No, but I can judge height," came the reply. "I had a brother-in-law in the air force."

UDINE, Italy (AP)—The commander of the Yugoslav finance guard for the Sturma district crossed into Italy yesterday and asked for political asylum. Kemal Mujagic said he was tired of Marshal Tito's Communist regime.

Rice Production Up

BOMBAY, India (AP)—India has produced this year between 1,200,000 and 1,300,000 tons of rice more than last year, Food Minister Rafi Ahmed Jidwai said yesterday. Production was unofficially estimated at 18,000,000 tons last year.

Identify Airman In Base Accident

CHATHAM, N.B. (CP) — The R.C.A.F. today identified LAC. Joseph S. Lefebvre of Trouxville, Que., as the victim of an accident at the jet fighter base here yesterday.

Officers said he was drawn into the intake of an F-86 Sabre jet while servicing it. It is believed the accident was the first of its kind at the base.

Farmers Laud Rate Rejection

OTTAWA (CP) — Farmers, and the consuming public generally ting the railways' request for an eight-per-cent freight-rate increase, H.H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture said today.

"The decision, in effect, was a rebuke to the railway companies for coming to the board twice in the same year for an increase in rates, a year in which, the board pointedly remarked in its judgment, railway business and earnings had been the best in recent years," Mr. Hannam said in a statement.

The board's decision was handed down last Friday.

Death Rate Reduced

BOSTON (AP)—The United States Navy's surgeon-general said yesterday that the mortality rate of men wounded in the Korean War has been reduced to 2.3 per cent from the death rate of 4.5 per cent in the Second World War. Rear-Admiral Lamont Pugh said 84 per cent of all servicemen wounded in action in Korea eventually return to duty.

Offer $7,500 Grant To Queen's University

KINGSTON (CP) —The Atkinson Charitable Foundation has offered Queen's University a $7,500 grant to equip a medical laboratory for experimental surgery, Dr. G. H. Ettinger, dean of the faculty of medicine, announced today.

The grant will make possible a research program in surgery by Dr. D.L.C. Bingham, professor of surgery. As part of his program he will investigate changes which take place in the human blood supply under varying conditions and the effect of aging on the heart and other vital organs.

Premier Sells Cow For $1,000 At Sale

TORONTO (CP) — Premier J. Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island, yesterday sold a cow for $1,000 at the all-Canadian Holstein sale here. Buyer of the animal was Far Land Farms of Picton, Ont.

Top price of the auction, $5,100, was paid for a bull consigned by S.B. Roman of King, Ont. Top price for a female, $3,000, was paid by G.E.D. Greene of Agincourt, Ont., for Grahaven Ajax Daisy.

Hudson's Bay Company Tightens Rules

LONDON (Reuters) — The 282-year-old Hudson's Bay Company today tightened its regulations to ensure that control of the company shall not pass into foreign hands.

It also decided to open as soon as possible a share transfer office and a Canadian register in Winnipeg and authorized an increase in the capital.

Resolutions to this effect were passed by stockholders and their representatives at a special meet-were first proposed in a statement to stockholders by the governor, Sir Patrick Ashley Cooper, Oct. 4.

Foreign holdings in Hudson's Bay have for 30 years been limited to 25 per cent of the issued share capital. There have been recent fears that by concealing their identity behind British nominee holders foreigners might acquire more than 25 per cent, or even more than 50 per cent, thus taking effective control of the company out of British hands. (Canadians are included as British subjects).

The new by-laws on this point do not materially differ from the old ones, but the wording has been altered to remove any possible loopholes.

The board is empowered to require any stockholder to produce a statutory declaration so the board can determine whether his holding is non-British.

U.N. In Suspense Russia Keeps

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United Nations waited in suspense today for Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky to answer the American indictment of his country's part in the Korean War. His aides said the Soviet foreign minister won't be ready before tomorrow.

Debate on Korea in the general assembly's key political committee has been suspended since last Friday, when the U.S. secretary of state, Dean Acheson, delivered a three-hour "oral white book" accusing Russia of planning, arming and touching off the Korean aggression.

Delegates to the committee met briefly yesterday, but adjourned two minutes later when no speakers came forward. All other countries preferred to wait until after the Russian has spoken.

The American delegation meanwhile scotched persistent reports that talks are going on behind the scenes, or are being arranged through intermediaries, between the U.S. and Soviet bloc representatives on the Korean issue.

A U.S. statement said there is "no basis in fact" for any of these "rumors."

To Review Evidence

TORONTO (CP)—Five judges of the Ontario Supreme Court's appellate division will hear arguments and review the evidence in the Steve Suchan-Leonard Jackson murder trial Nov. 10, it was learned yesterday at Osgoode Hall. Suchan and Jackson were convicted Sept. 29 and sentenced to be hanged Dec. 16 for the slaying of Sergeant of Detectives Edmund Tong.

Give Jet Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Air Force today announced a production order for an undisclosed number of F-100 jet fighters designed to fly faster than scund. North American Aviation, Inc., Los Angeles, Calif., got the order. No details of the performance capabilities of the aircraft have been disclosed.

Newsprint Demand Increasing In West

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Demand for newsprint will increase twice as fast in the western part of Canada and the United States as it will in the rest of North America in the next decade, Stanford research institute predicts.

By 1961, the west will need 35 per cent more newsprint than it uses now, the institute reported in a study made for a group of newspaper publishers.

United States consumption of newsprint for the 10-year period probably will increase by about 18 per cent, the report said.

Government Split Patched Up

VIENNA (Reuters)—A week-long split in the government coalition, which threatened to leave Austria without a government, was successfully patched up today.

Leaders of the Peoples' (Conservative) party and the Socialists announced they had healed differences over state expenditure in next year's budget.

Leopold Figl, the interim prime minister, presented his new cabinet to the president. Consisting entirely of members of the former cabinet, it will be sworn in later today.

The two parties agreed on a six-month provisional budget based on the 1952 budget.

Patient In Hospital But Attends Rotary

Service clubs in Haliburton county take their attendance records very seriously. At least two service clubs do. Fred Greer, a member of the Haliburton Rotary Club, came to the Monday luncheon meeting of the Peterborough club to make up his attendance.

Making up attendance at other clubs isn't usually an unique happening in service clubs. But in Mr. Greer's case it was. He is a patient in Civic Hospital and attended the meeting under the care of Dr. R. K. Magee. It seems that the Minden and Haliburton Rotary Clubs are running an attendance race. The club that has the best attendance record will be treated to a turkey dinner by the losing club. Mr. Greer didn't want to let his club down.

Big Tractor-Trailer Lands Upside Down

LONDON, Ont. (CP) A heavy tractor-trailer transport landed upside down—all 12 wheels in the air—in a freak accident six miles east of Watford early today.

Driver Melvin McLean of Watford, climbed out of the wrecked cab uninjured.

Damage to transport and cargo was estimated at $8,000 to $10,000.

McLean told police the brakes locked and the transport overturned when it hit the shoulder of the road.

Ross Curry

The funeral for Ross Curry, 291 Woodbine Ave., who died Thursday, was held Monday from the Kaye funeral home.

The Rev. B. S. Morwood of Mark St. United Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Thomas Aitkins, Nelson Stanger, Ike Rattenbury, George Bennett, Arthur Ebbs, Leslie McLaren. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Say Vietminh Casualties 4,000

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — The Communist - led Vietminh movement was estimated today to have lost 4,000 killed and wounded in the offensive towards the Black River in northwestern Indo-China.

French military sources said it was impossible to make an exact estimate.

French casualties were estimated at 600 killed, wounded or missing since the Vietminh launched the drive Oct. 15.

Fighting between French and Vietminh forces along the northern bank of the Black River appeared to have tapered off today.

The little post of Bay Lay, 80 miles west of Hanoi, continued to resist assaults by Vietminh units. This is the only sector in which Vietminh have actually crossed the Black River.

Train Kills 4 Cows Two Others Destroyed

LINDSAY — A passing freight train plowed into six cows which wandered onto the C.N.R. tracks near here Friday night, killing four and injuring the other two so seriously they had to be destroyed.

The cattle were owned by Victoria County Warden Ray Webster of Little Britain.

C.N.R. roadmaster Leonard Scott reported the cattle apparently wandered onto the tracks from a seldom used sideroad in Mariposa township, about a mile west of the old Ops station.

Duncan A. McIntyre

The funeral for Duncan Albert McIntyre, lot 6, concession 9, Otonabee township, who died Friday, was held Monday from the Mather funeral home, Keene.

The Rev. H. B. Harrington of Keene United Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Walter McFarlane, Charles Hunter, Russell Renwick, Max Robertson, Archibald McIntyre, Angus Adamson. Flower bearers were Ernest Wilson, Harry McIntyre, James McIntyre, Fred Hall. Burial was in Keene cemetery.

Canadian Gunners Play Big Part In Korean War

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—Canadian gunners have played a big part in recent hill fighting in Korea.

Names like "Big Nori," "Little Nori," "Tessie," "Nick," and "Kelly" represent to the 1st Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, targets onto which they traverse their guns automatically on call.

The R.C.H.A. has supported United States army troops, Puerto Ricans and Koreans in the fighting on that sector of the Eighth Army front.

From their guns, well dug in in the Canadian area, they can reach long fingers out to help their neighbors.

ACTIVE BATTERY

Most help is from "Charlie" Battery, commanded by Maj. E. C. Murdoch of Macleod, Alta. Chuck Murdoch's gunners have fired more than 5,000 shells onto the troublesome hills.

Murdoch's observation post in the Korean area is commanded by Capt. W.E. Sills of Napanee, Ont., and Shilo, Man.

From Sills' O.P. it is a bare 2,500 yards to the Chinese, whom at most times he can see perfectly. Sills follows daily the pattern of their digging operations.

"During the Kelly battles," he said, "We were becoming almost blood-thirsty—we could see them actually falling under our shooting."

"Once Millan (Gnr. Ralph Millan of Alberni, B.C.) saw a Chinese poke his head out of a bunker to stare at an airburst.

RIGHT ON TARGET

"While I brought down shells Millan watched for effect. The first Chinese crawled with difficulty out of the bunker and over the top. A few seconds later a second Chinese came out of the hole, wounded laboring under a third wounded whom he had on his back."

Both Murdoch and the regimental commander, Lt.-Col. E.M.D. McNaughton of Ottawa, also have directed shoots from Sills' posts.

Of all the troops with whom Sills' crew has worked, the men prefer the Koreans.

INTERESTING TALKS

Said Sills: "There always seems to beat at least one in every group of them who can speak some English, and you'd be surprised at the variety of subjects talked about."

During the fighting for "Tessie" and "Nick" the R.C.H.A. fired its 100,000th shell since relieving the 2nd Regiment last May 6.

Since that time it has had eight battle casualties—three killed and five wounded—a low figure attributed to the fact that Chinese gunners still have not perfected their counter-battery technique.

WIN MEDICAL "OSCARS"—The three doctors above were among those given the 1952 Lasker awards for distinguished research by the American Public Health Association. A special award was given to Dr. Charles Winslow of Yale University "for more than half a century inspiring and inspired leader, teacher and exponent of public health for the nation and the world." Dr. Frederick McKay of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Dr. H. Dean of Washington, D. C., are the first dentists to be honored with the Lasker award for "pioneer research in fluorine which has benefitted millions in preventing dental decay."

Imported Fabrics Said Used Too Much

GALT (CP) — Canadian textile manufacturers must overcome the "great and unwarranted respect" for imported fabrics, W.M. Berry, secretary-treasurer of the Primary Textiles Institute of Canada, said today.

Addressing a meeting of the Textile Society of Canada, he said the prestige surrounding the "imported" label is partly responsible for the recession in the Canadian textile industry. The industry must "shatter the myth of the superiority of imports," he said.

Low tariff protection forced the Canadian industry to produce goods of equal quality with those imported.

Committee Meets To Set New Price

SIMCOE (CP)—The market appraisal committee of the Ontario flue cured tobacco marketing board met again today to try to set a minimum price for this year's crop while more than 150 growers outside carried placards saying "no price cut."

Negotiations started last Tuesday and buyers have refused to meet last year's price of 44½ cents a pound. Some growers, however, said they would settle for slightly less than last year's price.

Trail Of Blood Leads Police To Culprits

MONTREAL (CP)—Two Montreal policemen followed a trail of blood for four blocks from the scene of an accident to a hospital outpatient department yesterday and arrested two youths on a charge of stealing a car.

Police arrested Jean Guy Dubuc, 21, and Lucien Bissonette, 21, of Montreal, at the western division of the Montreal General hospital, where they were receiving treatment for leg and arm cuts suffered when the car crashed into a fence.

...ver One Body In Double Drowning

SMOOTH ROCK FALLS (CP)—Searchers yesterday recovered the body of one of two brothers drowned more than a week ago in the Mattagami River five miles south of here.

The body of Gaston Lassard, 23, was found late last night.

Searchers early today intensified dragging operations for the body of Florias Lassard, 14.

Pilots Will Decide Whether To Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force is leaving to its pilots and overseas commanders the decision of what to do if Soviet fighters again attack American planes flying peaceable missions over non-Russian territory.

A spokesman made it plain today, in answer to questions, that the crews of a plane, like the B-29 shot down by Russian fighters over Japanese waters earlier this month has the right to fire back in self-defence.

However, the U.S. plane downed by Soviet gunfire Oct. 7 could not have fired back because it wasn't prepared for shooting. Its guns were "tied down" during the routine training flight to the northern tip of Hokkaido.

Another answer by the spokesman indicated the air force now is ready to cope with any such attacks by Soviet fighters by assigning a fighter-plane escort when needed. The spokesman told a reporter "day-to-day tactical considerations dictate whether escort is provided."

Buddhist Leader Conducts Service

TORONTO (CP) — A Buddhist leader from Japan yesterday conducted a service in Japanese for some 1,000 Toronto Buddhists. Chief Abbot Kosko Ohtani said in an interview later there are 10,000 practising Buddhists of his sect in Canada, 60,000 followers in the United States and 150,000 in Brazil.

He also said the Japanese are grateful for the assistance Canada has given Japan since the Second World War.

$10,000 Fire Razes Barn Near Fergus

FERGUS (CP)—A $10,000 fire near here last night destroyed a barn, 22 pigs and harvested crops despite warnings given to the nearby Elora fire department by the whistle of a Canadian National Railways locomotive.

The barn belonged to Norman Roxborough near this town 10 miles north of Guelph. Fifteen head of cattle were saved from the fire by Clifford Roach of Fergus and William Taylor of Arthur.

Runs Through Flames To Save Daughter

OSHAWA (CP) — Mrs. Henry Wood today ran through 12-foot flames to rescue her four-year-old daughter from a blazing playhouse. The mother and girl, Margaret, suffered slight burns.

Neighbors said another child, Earl Stewart, 4, was in the one-room frame building when fire broke out but that he escaped by climbing a four-foot fence. Guinea pigs with which the children were playing died in the flames.

Five People Hurt In 3-Car Collision

GUELPH (CP) — Five persons were injured and two cars wrecked in a three-car collision east of here last night.

In hospital are brothers Harvey McDougal, 23, and Gordon McDougal, 23, and Gordon McDougal, 24, R.R. 1, Rockwood; Paul Johnson, 20, R.R. 6, Milton; Ross Johnson, 9, and his sister, Marion, 12.

Mayoralty Race Battle Of Sexes

OTTAWA (CP)—The capital's 1952 mayoralty campaign appears to be developing into a battle of the sexes. Voting is Monday, Dec. 1.

Probable principals are Mayor Charlotte Whitton, 58, a former welfare worker, and Controller L.L. (Len) Coulter, 52, Ottawa business man. Mr. Coulter has been Miss Whitton's right-hand man on the Board of Control for the last year.

While other candidates may enter the field, there was considerable agitation in the city to persuade other possible male candidates withdraw to give Controller Coulter a better chance to defeat Miss Whitton.

The mayor declared yesterday she is in the race "to the death."

Jet Bomber Hits Vulture, Damaged

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters)—One of four British Canberra jet bombers on a goodwill tour of Latin America hit a vulture yesterday as it flew from here to Sao Paulo.

The plane had to return here for repairs to a damaged nose. It hit the bird at a speed of about 440 miles an hour.

Will Lay Charge

ST. MARYS (CP) — Provincial Police said today a charge of leaving the scene of an accident will be laid against Martin May of R.R.3, Kitchener, as a result of a minor collision here during the weekend. Police accuse him of sideswiping a parked car owned by Roy Cooper of St. Marys and damaging it to the extent of about $75.

Dr. Jordan Says

Worry About Sleeplessness Is Likely To Make It Worse

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The more one worries about sleeping poorly, the worse the situation is likely to become. One reader, who says he is 50 years old, asks if there is any remedy for chronic sleeplessness apart from taking pills.

He says as a rule he does not find it difficult to fall asleep when he goes to bed, but after three or four hours he awakens, and then lies awake for several hours until shortly before it is time to get up, when he feels he would like to fall asleep again.

This is a common form of sleeplessness. There is certainly reason to believe that worry is one of the principle causes of bad sleeping. Actually, there have been some experiments which indicate that any emotion, whether it is pleasurable or the opposite, interferes with normal sleep.

Assuming that this explanation is often correct, one method of dealing with sleeplessness becomes at once apparent.

This is to avoid anything of an exciting nature before going to bed: quarreling, thinking over business affairs, too-exciting movies, radio, or television programs, or, in fact, anything which causes an emotional upset.

Many people who complain of insomnia sleep better than they think they do. They may be wakeful for short periods two or three times during the night, but really get all the sleep they need.

Often they make things worse by worrying about not sleeping. This is unnecessary, as most people can get nearly as much rest for the bodily functions by lying quietly and relaxing in bed as they would if they were actually asleep.

The choice of pre-bedtime occupation should be made individually on the basis of personal likes and complete removal from the mental activity which is the major source of worry.

A little warm milk just before going to bed is relaxing and believed helpful for a quiet sleep. There is reason to believe that too-heavy evening meals lead to restless sleeping. Some people can help by training themselves to relax their muscles.

Unfortunately, a great number of people who complain of sleeplessness try various drugs. This tendency to use drugs as an aid in getting to sleep is unwise. The sleep-producing drugs have their place, but most of them are habit forming if taken over long periods of time, and after a while they do not even produce the sleep which is desired. Drugs are a poor substitute for healthy living.

Demonstrators Given Beating

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Spectators beat up Communist demonstrators who shouted "down with the Shah" at a sports exhibition yesterday in honor of the Shah's 32nd birthday.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, the country's ruler, witnessed the exhibition at a stadium.

Foreign Minister Hossein Fatemi told reporters that "one or two" suspicious characters were arrested. Unofficial reports put the number at from 25 to 100.

The demonstrators had passed around leaflets asking support for the Tudeh (Communist) party. The party is outlawed in Iran but its members have been coming out into the open in increasingly bold demonstrations.

5 Canadians Win $250,000 In Irish Sweeps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Five Canadians won $252,000 in major prizes in the Irish Sweepstakes today. No Canadians held a ticket on Richer, which won the Cambridgeshire at Newmarket, England, and was worth $140,000. But four had tickets worth $56,000 each on the second-place horse, Sunny Brae. And a Toronto couple won $28,000 when Garrison Hack finished third. Four of the big winners were Ontario residents. The other — unidentified — lives in Moose Jaw, Sask.

The second-place winners: Sydney A. Carey, Brantford customs appraiser who used the nom de plume "Stymie;" Mrs. Robert Meehan, wife of a storekeeper at Erin who used "precious girls" for her two young daughters; a Moose Jaw resident who used "Irene" for a nom de plume and Mrs. Colin MacNabb of Acton now in the Bahamas.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bardwell of Toronto held a joint ticket on Garrison Hack.

"This is the first time I ever bought a ticket," Mr. Bardwell, a newly-married lunch counter operator, said. "My wife and I decided to buy it and split 50-50 for good luck. And what good luck we got!"

The Bardwells live in one room and said they intended to buy a new house. "We may get a new car too," Mrs. Bardwell added.

Mrs. Meehan said that the $56,000 she won "will help pay off mortgages and debts and put the children through school."

The couple has three children, Bobby, 6, Gayle, 3, and Marcia, 10 months.

Mrs. Meehan said she has been buying sweepstake tickets "a long time" but never has been lucky before.

WINS HANDICAP

Richer, one of the better favorites in a large field of 42 starters, sped over a muddy turf to win the 110th running of the classic.

The judge called for a photograph to determine the second and third horses in the 1⅛-mile race, basis of the third and final Irish hospital sweepstakes of the year.

Richer started at odds of 100 to 6 in the handbooks.

After looking at the picture, the judge placed Sunny Brae, a 66 to 1 shot, second, and Garrison Hack, at 50 to 1, in the show spot.

Late scratches from the race, second half of the autumn "double" were Trespass and Newton Heath. However, Par Avion was added to the unwieldy field.

8 On Purge List Appointed To Jap Cabinet

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Shigeru Yoshida today formed the first Japanese cabinet since the end of the occupation and named to it eight men who had been banned from public life by the Allied powers for ultra-nationalist wartime records.

The pro-west premier brought nine new faces into the 16-member cabinet, his fourth since the war ended.

Tadaharu Mukai, 68, veteran industrialist and former leader of Japan's pre-war Zaibatsu industrial cartel, was named finance minister. He was on the Allied purge list.

Three members of the old cabinet were reappointed — Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki, State Minister Hidejuro Onogi and education Minister Kiyoshide Okano.

Okazaki's reappointment as foreign minister evoked surprise. Two of his campaign managers in the Oct. 1 general election were arrested in a widespread police investigation of vote buying and bribery.

Also, Okazaki was under fire for his handling of the British sailor case which produced an international incident. A Japanese court sentenced two Royal Navy sailors last July to 2½ years in prison for assaulting and robbing a taxi driver. Britain has contended the court lacked jurisdiction.

Bevan Group Has Disbanded

LONDON (Reuters) — Aneurin Bevan's tight little band of left-wingers yesterday obeyed a Labor party ultimatum to dissolve their group, but refused to accept a muzzle for their individual political opinions.

They voted at a 50-minute meeting to disband rather than face possible expulsion from the party. Labor chief Clement Attlee delivered the ultimatum last Thursday after Labor members of Parliamen voted 188 to 52 for his moderate policies.

The Bevanites made no announcement after their session. Their position, they said, will be announced tonight in the magazine Weekly Tribune.

But quarters close to Bevan said the truce is temporary. They said they will still campaign for the right of labor members to meet for the purpose of discussing policy. These sources said dissolution of the group will in no way lessen the need for propagating their views both within Parliament and through the country.

Ocean Sailing Story Hoax By Immigrant

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Immigration officials say a former resident of Romania has confessed that his story about sailing the Atlantic Ocean in a stolen Romanian boat ... yesterday, an investigator said, when the alien was questioned by a displaced person from Romania.

Frank E. Latchford of the immigration service said the alien identified himself as Magritho Klee, 26, born in Brazil, but who lived most of his life in Romania before he went to Canada about a year ago.

Latchford said yesterday Klee had made up the stolen boat story in an effor to gain sympathy from authorities because he wanted to join the U.S. Army.

Klee, who—according to his latest version—entered the U.S. by automobile at Niagara Falls last Friday, was held on illegal entry charges pending a hearing.

Police Say 2 Fires Started By Firebug

MOUNT FOREST (CP)—Provincial police and firemen said today that two fires which last night destroyed a $25,000 public school and a nearby farmhouse, both about 10 miles south of here, were the work of a firebug.

Mount Forest firemen had only been fighting the school fire a few minutes when they spotted flames in the roof of an abandoned two-storey farmhouse.

Mount Forest is about 40 miles northwest of Guelph.

French Budget Four Billion

PARIS (Reuters)—Defence Minister Rene Pleven today presented France with a $4,000,000,000 defence budget for 1953.

He told the defence committee of the National Assembly that this figure represented an increase of $184,000,000 over 1952.

But the government proposed to freeze temporarily $123,000,000 of next year's budget pending a decision about increased United States aid to France. The frozen funds would not affect armament production, but would curtail most other items of military expenditure.

Pleven gave the committee the following breakdown for next year's spending: Europe—$2,500,000,000; land forces in Indo-China —$1,084,000,000; other French overseas territories—$108,000,000; air raid precautions for civilians—$2,000,000.

Pupils See School ...

BARRIE (CP)—A country schoolhouse at Thornton, 10 miles south of here, was destroyed by fire today minutes before pupils were due for classes.

The driver of the school bus discovered the fire at No. 9 section school when he drove up to let the children out. It was believed to have started from the coal furnace.

Forty pupils between the ages of five and 16 years used the school.

Barrie is about 50 miles north of Toronto.

Long Dream Of Seaway Now Nearer

Construction Work May Get Started Early Next Year

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA (CP)—The long-time dream of St. Lawrence seaway planners is a big stride nearer reality today with the International Joint Commission's authorization for Canada and the United States to go ahead with the power development of the $700,000,000 project.

The move is the next-to-last step in clearing the way for Canadian and U.S. agencies to develop hydro jointly on the International Rapids and for the Canadian government to build alone the deep waterway that will float ocean shipping into the Great Lakes.

If the last hurdle—the designation of a U.S. agency to share the power job—is taken in the next few months, the actual construction job can open in the spring of 1953.

That would bring to fruition an idea that has been, by turns, nursed along and kicked around for more than half a century by successive governments, official bodies and unofficial advocates and opponents on both sides of the big river linking the Atlantic with the inland sea of the Great Lakes.

SIGNED PACT IN 1941

Much of this activity, after many years of off-and-on action and debate, has been concentrated in the last 11 years. It was in 1941 that the two countries signed the latest seaway treaty that led indirectly to today's position. This treaty called for the U.S. and Canada to build both the navigation and power works jointly.

But the U.S. Congress persistently refused to act on it. The Canadian government finally determined last year to go ahead alone with the navigation job, provided a joint power deal could be worked. It got President Truman to join with this country in making the power application to the commission, doing away with the need of congressional action on the treaty.

Now, the double-barrelled project stands this way:

Power: the Ontario Hydro Commission to share with a U.S. entity —perhaps the New York State power authority—the $400,000,000 cost and the 2,200,000 horsepower of electricity in the harnessing of the plunging Long Sault Rapids upriver from Cornwall.

LONG DREAM

No Rain Yet To Douse Fires

CHICAGO (AP)—No heavy rainfall appeared in sight today to douse the hundreds of damaging fires burning over forest and brush areas in more than a score of States ... Some snow showers ... rain hit parts of the midwest, the east and south, bringing a measure of relief in some areas. Colder weather also spread over the eastern half of the country.

Thousands continued fighting the fires.

In West Virginia alone 450 fires have blackened 150,000 acres. In Kentucky nearly 200 fires have swept over some 77,500 acres.

An estimated 1,500 fires have burned out nearly 50,000 acres in Mississippi this month.

Vietminh Wipe Out Post French Casualties Heavy

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—French authorities announced today that the Communist-led Vietminh in a night attack had wiped out the post of Ben San, 30 miles north of Saigon, and that 91 of the 100 Indo-Chinese defenders were casualties.

The attack occurred before dawn yesterday, while two neighboring posts were pinned down by an intensive mortar bombardment.

Casualties included 30 killed, 41 missing and 20 wounded.

Reinforcements recaptured the post later yesterday and found it in ruins. There was no mention of any Vietminh casualties.

The Ben San attack was the first strong outbreak by the Vietminh in southern Indo-China for some weeks. The rebels are waging a major offensive in northwest Indo-China, seeking apparently to overrun the mountain territory of the pro-French Thai tribes.

After 13 days fighting there, the Vietminh yesterday was reported slacking up its drive against French posts north of the Black River. The French Air Force said they were heavily attacking the guerrillas' supply lines and claimed the rebels had lost 4,000 killed or wounded in the two weeks.

Hint Twice-A-Day Delivery

OTTAWA (CP)—Hints that twice-a-day mail delivery will be restored in residential areas of Canadian cities where it was cut off several months ago were heard here Tuesday at a gathering of top Liberal Party leaders. The possibility of tax reductions was also raised. The advisory council of the National Liberal Federation recommended restoration as soon as possible "of more complete postal service in urban communities." The subject was mentioned again by Prime Minister St. Laurent, speaking at a banquet closing the two-day annual meeting of the 235-member council—high command of the Liberal Party.

The two hints bolstered persistent reports here that the twice-a-day delivery would be resumed in big-city residential districts.

SEES TAX REDUCTIONS

Tax reductions, Mr. St. Laurent said, are possible.

But he said that because of the troubled state of the world "it would not be honest to hold out any too easy hopes for any too great reductions at this time."

The government didn't pretend it could "buy our national security in a bargain basement." But with continued increases in national production and strict control on expenditures "some relief should be possible—and, of course, as and when the danger of war is reduced there will be room for substantial improvement."

One resolution passed at the council's closing session ran counter to government policy on private television stations. It asked for "the development of television in Canada by private enterprise along with the CBC."

Delegates at the closed session said it was adopted over the objections of Revenue Minister McCann, through whom the CBC reports to Parliament. In the debate the Minister set out the government's view that no private television licences should be issued until the CBC has set up stations in key points.

TO HEAD GROUP

The resolution favoring private ... was proposed by C... the National Liberal Federation's three vice-presidents.

The conference elected Duncan K. MacTavish of Ottawa president of the federation to succeed Senator J. Gordon Fogo, who died in July. Mr. MacTavish has been president of the Federal District Commission here.

Police Arrest Two Men In Bank Robbery Case

HAMILTON (CP)—Two men were arrested here last night in connection with the $1,300 robbery of a Freelton bank last Friday. Frank E. Brewer, 23, of Hamilton today was charged with armed robbery in suburban Dundas police court. The second man was released.

Police believe three men were responsible for the robbery in which manager Lester I. Gumb foiled their attempt to steal $25,000 from the safe.

Brewer obtained a remand until Nov. 12.

Bail was refused by Magistrate John E. Robinson and Walter Tuchtie, Q.C., representing Brewer, was told that bail would be reconsidered when the case came up again.

Arrest Second Man In Kidnapping Gang

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation yesterday announced the arrest of Charles Edward Hopkins, 21, in connection with a wave of kidnappings, abductions, assaults and armed robberies in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee last week.

Robert Wall, Jr., special agent in charge of the Miami F.B.I. office, said Hopkins was recognized as he left the post office building in Jacksonville, Fla., and was arrested by an F.B.I. agent.

Hopkins is the second persons arrested in connection with the kidnapping of 20 persons in three ... He said the other two members of the group had forced him to take part in their operations. Still at large is James Frances Hill, 29, Florida ex-convict.

South Koreans Drive Reds Back

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean infantrymen in savage close-quarter fighting today forced a battalion of Chinese Communists off the crest of bloody Sniper Ridge for the seventh time in 16 days.

The South Koreans, driven off its highest peak—Pinpoint Hill—late last night, began their counter-attack at dawn. Slowly they clawed back up the slopes. They gouged out small gains with hand-grenade barrages, then grappled hand-to-hand with the Reds in bunkers and trenches.

AP correspondent John Randolph said the central-front crest was secured at 10 a.m. Then the South Koreans began to advance northward along the narrow, shell-scarred ridge.

Gen. Mark Clark, touring Korea, congratulated Lt.-Gen. Chung Il Kwon, South Korean commander, for the "magnificent fighting" of his men.

Kenya Tribesmen To Help Britain

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—A mass meeting of Kikuyu tribesmen in the Nyeri district today took a "cleansing oath" to co-operate with British authorities in stamping out the dread Mau Mau secret society.

The tribesmen called the meeting of their own volition as a sign of their willingness to fight back against the anti-white society whose members swear an oath to drive the white man from Kenya. The society recruits its members mostly from the Kikuyu tribe.

The Mau Mau has been blamed for 45 murders in recent months. Authorities rounded up eight men suspected of arson on behalf of the secret society in Nyeri today, bringing the two-day total to 80.

The government ordered a widespread dispersal of troops throughout the Kikuyu reserve to give greater protection to loyal Africans co-operating with the authorities. The government also warned it would close schools if teachers or pupils were suspected of being Mau Mau followers.

... Beaten Trying To Flee

KOREA (AP)—United Nations prisoner of war command headquarters today said five Communist P.O.W.s were beaten Monday by fellow-prisoners at a camp at Yongchon, Korea.

The announcement said the five apparently were trying to formulate plans to escape when other prisoners and a compound representative found them.

The incident occurred in a compound housing officers who have sworn they would resist forcibly repatriation to Communist territory.

Queen Plans To Make Christmas Broadcast

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen will make the traditional royal broadcast to the Commonwealth Christmas Day, it was announced today.

She follows the example of her father King George VI and grandfather George V whose talks were broadcast each Christmas.

The late King's broadcast last Christmas, revealing extreme difficulties in speech, was one of the first warnings the Commonwealth had of his failing health.

Ontario, New York May Share Cost Of Development

MONTREAL (CP)—The International Joint Commission today announced approval of a $400,000,000 power project under the St. Lawrence seaway and hydro plan. The Canada-United States power project involving the Ontario government and possibly the New York State power authority is part of the $700,000,000 seaway and hydro development. Application to go ahead with the power phase of the seaway project was made jointly to the International Commission by Canada and the United States.

The Ontario government will act as Canada's agent in the 2,200,000 horsepower hydro project while the New York State power authority is expected to be the U.S. government agency.

Announcement of approval for the power plans followed closed executive sessions of the six-man commission yesterday and today and earlier hearings in Canada and the U.S.

The announcement was made by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton and A. O. Stanley, respectively Canadian and United States co-chairmen of the commission.

SHARE COST

Under the hydro plan, as approved, the Ontario government and the American agency would share equally the $400,000,000 cost of development of the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River. They would also share power production equally.

Approval of the power phase by the commission left the Canadian government committed to undertake alone the $300,000,000 St. Lawrence navigational plan.

Aim of the navigational plan is to provide a 27-foot waterway for ocean-going ships from Montreal to Lake Erie.

The United States Congress has turned down proposals for a joint seaway undertaking.

Despite the commission's approval of the power phase, an obstacle still stands in the way of its accomplishment.

The U.S. agency may require approval of the U.S. federal power authority before it can go ahead. This could involve new public hearings and possibly U.S. court action by opponents of the seaway.

If the Federal Power Commission gave approval before the end of the year, work on the power installations could start next spring.

Tax Agreement Signed By Frost

OTTAWA (CP)—The new federal-Ontario tax rental agreement will be formally signed today by Finance Minister Abbott and Premier Frost.

Premier Frost will fly from Toronto for the signing ceremony in the office of Mr. Abbott at 2:30 p.m.

The signing is largely a formality. Mr. Frost and Mr. Abbott concluded a draft agreement Aug. 29. They agreed to delay signing the agreement until it was approved by the Ontario legislature. A recent special session gave that approval.

The agreement is the first signed by Ontario since the end of the Second World War. Only Quebec ... ment with the federal government.

Under the agreements, the provinces give the federal government almost exclusive use of the personal income, corporation and inheritance tax fields in return for payments based on population and the value of gross national production.

135,296 Immigrants Enter Canada In Nine Months

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada admitted 135,296 immigrants in the first nine months of this year compared with 129,885 in the corresponding period of 1951.

For the fifth successive month, arrivals in September were lower than the number for the corresponding month of last year. This indicated that by the end of the year fewer immigrants will have been admitted than was the case last year.

In 1951, approximately 195,000 new citizens came to Canada — the largest number for any year since 1913 when 500,000 were admitted.

In the first nine months of this year, arrivals from Britain totalled 32,781, an increase of 49 per cent over the 21,935 for the corresponding period of 1951.

A total of 6,977 came from the United States compared with 6,015, an increase of 16 per cent. From north Europe there were 54,129 compared with 45,834, an increase of 18 per cent.

From all other countries there were 41,409 compared with 56,101, a drop of 26 per cent.

The total of 135,296 for the nine-month period included 72,407 workers and 62,889 dependents.

Ontario took the bulk of the immigrants—70,931.

The number taken by other provinces:

Newfoundland 375; Nova Scotia 2,246; New Brunswick 802; Prince Edward Island 276; Quebec 28,874; Manitoba 5,681; Saskatchewan 3,216; Alberta 10,745; British Columbia 12,103; Yukon and Northwest Territories 47.

Convicts Free 3 Guards Held Hostages

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—Three of the 10 guards held hostage in a series of uprisings at Menard state prison were released today after a conference between acting governor Sherwood Dixon and rebellious convicts in the psychiatric division.

None of the three guards had been harmed but all were tired and unshaven.

They were released after Dixon agreed to permit reporters to listen to complaints by the psychiatric convicts.

Still holding out with seven hostages in another section of the prison, the east cell block, are 332 prisoners who launched the rebellion at the prison late Monday.

These inmates tried today to set fire to a tower manned by guards and state police.

NEW OUTBREAK

The disorder followed a new outbreak of rebellion yesterday afternoon in the prison's psychiatric division. Most of 300 psychopathic inmates were herded back to cells after storming the kitchen-dining room. But 38 armed themselves with kitchen cutlery, seized three unarmed officers released today as hostages and barricaded themselves in the mess hall.

The angry prisoners in the five-storey east cell house have been without water since Monday afternoon. And they have had little food. Their hostages have had no food or water.

Earlier, the psychiatrics had called for the governor. Stevenson was carrying his Democratic presidential campaign into the east. Michael F. Seyfrit, director of the state public safety department, arrived last night and said Dixon's planned talk would "set a bad precedent."

Seyfrit said he expected that the rebellion in the psychiatric division would have to be put down and three hostages rescued there before getting the seven other guards safely out of the east cell house.

The 332 prisoners and seven hostages in the east cell house were without food or water Tuesday, with one exception. Once food was passed through the barred door for officers after prisoners promised the guards would get it. However, the food was intercepted by prisoners.

Earlier, prisoners threatened to throw the guards from the top gallery 50 feet to a concrete floor if an attempt was made to storm the east cell house. They are apparently unaware of the new outbreak across the prison yard.

In the north cell house some of the inmates holding three guards, rubbed kitchen knives across their hostages, passed knives near their throats and waved ma...

Convict Plans To Sue County

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A convict serving a term for fraud moved today to sue Middlesex county for damages resulting from injuries suffered in jail here.

John Gillies, local lawyer, said that within the week he will issue a writ against the county for damages on behalf of Raymond Lloyd Morgan, 22, no home, sentenced on a bad cheque charge in September.

He said a jail cell bed fell on Morgan and broke his back while in custody in Middlesex county jail. The man, he added, spent three weeks in Victoria hospital as a result and is in the infirmary now at Guelph reformatory.

The incident occurred in September. It happened while Morgan's cell was being cleaned. Mr. Gillies said jail regulations required prisoners to set their beds on end on such occasions. Morgan did this, then turned away and the bed fell against his spine.

The man pleaded guilty Sept. 3 to fraud and was sentenced to a year in jail consecutive to possibly another year remaining on an un-

Report RCR's Unit Which Suffered Heavy Casualties

By BILL BOSS

WEST SECTOR, Korea (CP)—The Eighth Army today permitted identification of the First Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment as the unit which was knocked from a spur of Little Gibraltar Hill Oct. 23 but regained its position despite tough Chinese opposition. This was the first official identification from the Allied side of the R.C.R. as the regiment which early in the morning of Oct. 24 regained the Korean hill position. Earlier in the day Boss was permitted to name the R.C.R. as the unit which had been dislodged.

Maj. E. L. Cohen of Pembroke, Ont., and Ottawa commanded the over-run company position.

COMPANY HELD ON

(The dispatch referred to a Canadian company which held a position on Little Gibraltar against 1,000 storming Chinese. A Reuters dispatch said it "was swamped, but held on until a counter-attack restored the Allied position."

(Only identification of the unit previously came from the Chinese Communist radio at Peiping which said it was "Baker" company of the R.C.R. and suffered heavy casualties. Because of censorship Allied authorities would not confirm this at the time.

(Boss' dispatch told something of the bitter action at Little Gibraltar which Ottawa army headquarters later disclosed cost at least 66 casualties, including 14 dead and 13 missing. (Of these 62 were R.C.R.s, including two officers.)

GARDNER KILLED SIX

Lieut. Russ Gardner of Arnprior, Ont., personally killed six Communists during the spur-top battle.

(In an earlier cable Boss reported that the battle lasted two hours before scattered Allied groups worked their way to neighboring companies. The battle followed prolonged shelling which turned the position into a shambles.)

Lt.-Col. E. M. D. McNaughton (son of Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission) commanded the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery which pounded the contested area during the seven hours the Communist were in charge. The battery directly supporting the R.C.R.s was commanded by Maj. Gerry Keeler of Winnipeg.

Election Plans Don't Frighten Party-Chevrier

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said today the Liberals will "respond with boldness and assurance" to the call for the next general election.

Mr. Chevrier was the chief speaker at a luncheon of the National Federation of Liberal Women, shortly after the opening of the federation's biennial convention.

Addressing about 200 delegates from all parts of Canada, the minister expressed confidence in the outcome of the voting, though he made no guess as to when the election might be called.

"I have confidence in the future, just as I have confidence in the judgment and good sense of the Canadian people," he said.

"Considering the accomplishments and records of the party for the preceding 14 years, we can face the future undaunted, and whenever the call goes out from the Prime Minister for a general election, we shall respond with boldness and assurance."

The meeting of the Liberal women followed the annual convention of the advisory council of the National Liberal Federation, which concluded last night after a two-day meeting. The women are meeting today and tomorrow.

Much of their deliberations will be devoted to organization work. They will hear reports of political activities during the past year and hold forum discussions on electoral and political work.

3rd Battalion Arrives In Pusan Area

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—The 3rd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry arrived today to blaring bands and an official greeting from South Korean President Syngman Rhee at the dockside.

Also present to watch the cheering Canadians debark were the British minister to Korea, W. G. Graham, the United States charge d'affaires, Allen Lightener, Maj.-Gen. Thomas Herren, commander of the Korean communications zone and the Republic of Korea defence minister, Shin Tai Yung.

The battalion arrived aboard the British troopship Empire Pride from Kure, Japan.

The battalion commander, Lt.-Col. Herbert Wood of Toronto, led his troops ashore.

Junior NCO's Congratulated

Col. L. Carr, C.D., officer commanding the 6th Infantry Brigade (Reserve Force), Port Hope, commended the 50th H.A.A. Regiment for its passing out parade on Monday night which ended a two-week junior non-commissioned officers' course.

The men, under Bdr. Garth F. Clark, held the passing out parade Monday night under the inspecting eye of Col. Carr. The inspection party also included Capt. P. R. V. Carr-Harris, M.C., officer commanding instruction and administrative cadre for Eastern Ontario, and Lieut.-Col. M. E. Clarke, E.D., commanding officer of the 50th Regiment.

The course was started October 14 under Lieut. R. E. Burton, R.C.A.C., assisted by Sgt. Ronald Westwood, M.M., R.C.A.C., and Sgt. Carl Hicks, R.C.A., all from the I. and A. cadre, Kingston. The course included football and rifle drill, small arms training, military law and technique of instruction.

For five reservists, Bdrs. L. J. Baswick, G. C. Clark, F. X. Labarge, P. E. Robb and W. R. Townsley, the two weeks were more a refresher period; they qualified last year. As the result of the course Gunners J. Bolderson, F. J. Frape, R. M. Gardiner, and R. J. MacGibbon will be acting bombardiers and Gunners J. B. Connell, J. E. Park, L. P. Shannon, D. R. Sisson, and D. E. Spargo will be qualified for bombardiers, likely to be promoted later.

All these men besides qualifying as bombardiers also qualified for the right to try senior N.C.O. course later this training season.

Liberal MP Asks Strikes Barred For Next 2 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal member from Manitoba will ask Parliament at the session opening Nov. 20 to investigate the high cost of living and to declare strikes illegal for the next two years.

John Sinnott, member for Springfield, said yesterday in an interview he will place one bill and six resolutions on the sessional order paper of the Commons.

Mr. Sinnott, who decided to retire from politics after losing the Liberal nomination in a recent party convention in Springfield, said he will present a bill asking repeal of legislation providing pensions of $3,000 a year for long-term members of the Commons.

COST HIM NOMINATION

He said his support of the pensions bill at the last session was responsible for his loss of the nomination in his riding. His supporters believed the taxpayers should not be asked to provide pensions for members of the Commons.

Mr. Sinnott said he plans to remain in the Commons until the next election is called.

In his resolutions, Mr. Sinnott, a member of the Commons since 1945, will ask that:

1. The $2,000 annual tax-free living allowance paid to members of the Commons be made taxable. Senators already are taxed on a similar allowance.

2. A Senate-Commons committee investigate reasons for the high cost of living, including high prices for clothing and footwear.

3. Strikes be declared illegal for two years because of the urgency of the defence program and that arrangements be made for settlement of labor disputes through arbitration.

4. A Commons committee investigate high prices for farm implements and recommend lower prices.

Canada's Prosperity Depends On Grain

TORONTO (CP)—Grain is one of the "bell-wethers" of the Canadian economy, Trade Minister Howe said last night.

"It will be a long time before oil begins to rank with grain as a source of wealth, if it ever does," he told the Junior Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

He forecast the value of grain crops this year might total more than $1,800,000,000. The value of the 1951 grain crop to Prairie farmers was about $1,500,000,000, he said. In the same year the value at the well of oil produced in the same area was about $120,000,000

And while it was true that oil production this year will be considerably higher than in 1951, "there is every reason to expect an increase of from 20 to 22 per cent in the value of the 1952 crop to western farmers."

Long Dream

Navigation: the federal government to build new canals and enlarge existing facilities—at a cost of about $300,000,000—to provide a 27-foot channel from Montreal into Lake Erie. Only ships up to 14-foot draught now can navigate that stretch.

POWER JOB FEATURE

Main feature of the power job will be a dam system backing up the river waters to create a vast pool about 40 miles long in the stretch above Cornwall. Power houses at the lower end will tap the pool for hydro, and locks will accommodate shipping.

The turbulent Long Sault Rapids will be engulfed, and so will several communities on the Canadian side of the International Rapids area. Flooded out completely will be the villages of Mille Roche, Moulinette, Wales, Dickinson's Landing, Farran's Point, Aultsville East Williamsburg and Iroquois. The largest of the communities—Morrisburg with 1,500 people—will be partly flooded.

Rail and highway facilities running close to the shoreline also will be covered as the water level rises. Legislation has been passed by the legislature Oct. 20 to provide compensation for the flooded properties.

WILL REMOVE DAM

Concurrently with the seaway building—though not an actual part of the job—will be the Canadian government's removal of Gut Dam, a 900-foot structure built in 1901 to protect water levels in the canal system. It has been blamed by some for destructively-high water levels in the Great Lakes in recent years. The government recently announced it would remove the dam if the I.J.C. gave authority for the power project.

Elimination of the dam may take about 18 months. The hydro-seaway task, according to latest Canadian estimates, will take five or 5½ years for power and about six years for navigation, including locks near Montreal below the power works.

The seaway phase of the undertaking will be constructed and later administered by a federal "seaway authority" authorized by Parliament late last year. The government has been waiting for the I.J.C. decision before actually setting up the authority.

Produce, Livestock Markets

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO (CP) — Wholesale fruit and vegetable prices here today were: Onions green 50-55; tomatoes 11 qt. $1-1.25; six qt. 50-60; cucumbers 11 qt. basket 65-75; lettuce $1.50-1.75; radishes 50-60; celery $2-2.25; mushrooms $2.50-2.60.

Potato prices were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — A steady tone prevailed in grain at the opening on the board of trade today. Dealings were slow.

Wheat and corn made the best showing. Lack of moisture in the southwest limited selling pressure in wheat. Improvement in the demand for cash corn bolstered that grain.

Wheat started ¼ to ⅜ higher, December 2.37⅞-38; corn ⅛ to ½ higher, December 1.65⅞-1.66; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 86¼-⅜; soybeans unchanged to ½ lower, November 2.91½.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle prices generally were steady today at the Ontario stockyards and sales were mostly of stockers and plain killers. Receipts: cattle 230; calves 180; hogs 420; sheep and lambs 410. The holdover from yesterday was 1,350 cattle.

Good to choice weighty steers sold at $24-26.50 with plain downward to $16. Common to medium light steers and heifers were at $12-18 with common to medium stockers at $15-18.50 and fed yearlings at $18-20. Good cows brought $11-12 and common bulls $10-13.

Choice veal calves were steady at $26-28 with a few tops at $29 and common to medium at $13-24. Grassers were at $10.

Grade A hogs sold at $26 with dressed sows at $17.

Good ewes and wethers were at $22 delivered by rail and at $21 by truck. Bucks brought $20 and heavies $18-20. Culls sold at $15 with sheep at $5-10.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

MONTREAL (CP)—Steady prices ruled on Montreal livestock markets today.

Receipts were 300 cattle, 125 calves, 200 sheep and lambs and 111 hogs. Total offerings Tuesday were 291 cattle, 289 calves, 126 sheep and lambs and 2,093 hogs.

Most cattle offered were held over from yesterday and consisted mainly of medium quality steers along with a few loads of cows. Today's trading started slowly and in early sales only a few steers of medium quality had been sold at $17-19, a few common $11-15.

Hogs were steady at $26 for grade A, steady. Good vealers were $25, common and medium $15-24, while grassers were $8-10.

Some lambs were selling graded at $21 for good quality, heavies (100 pounds or over) $18, common and medium $12-15, some lots sold on a flat basis at $20-20.50. Sheep were $4-10.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Cattle 250; salable receipts include four loads of rail cattle; demand moderate for steers and heifers; market steady; choice to prime western dry-fed steers $33.50; good to choice western dry-fed steers $32; holstein steers averaging 1100-lb. $24; demand good for dairy-type cows and bulls; market steady; medium to good cows $15-16; canners and cutters $11-14.50; fat yellow cows $11-15; good dairy-type slaughter heifers $17-18; sausage bulls $19.50-21; lightweight cutter bulls $15-16.50.

Calves 100; supply light, demand moderate, market steady; choice calves $36-38; good $33-35; medium $28-33; boners and light bobs $10-15.

Hogs 150; no rail hogs here; demand slow, market weaker and mostly 25 cents lower; good to choice N.Y. State hogs $17-18.50; sows $14-15.50; boars $10-12.

Sheep and lambs 350; market not fully established; few new arrivals choice ewe and wether lambs $23.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were quoted here today at 62-62½ cents for butter prints and 62-65 cents for churning cream.

The egg market was firm on A large while the price for grade A small advanced one cent. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases were: A large 68-69; A medium 59; A small 46; grade B 47; grade C 28. Wholesale to retail: A large 74; A medium 66; A small 52; grade B 52-53; grade C 33.

Butter solids: First grade 61½; no price established on second grade; western 62¼, nominal.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices continued to show a steady tone in early trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Aggressive buying again was prompted by further dryness in the U.S. winter wheat belt and other grain areas. October barley again made a sharp gain, advancing more than two cents on good buying and light offerings.

Modest shipper demand kept oats firm, while flax moved up on buying by industrial interests. Rye trade was local.

11 a.m. grain prices:

Oats: Oct. ¼ higher 87⅛B; Dec. ⅛ higher 83½A; May unch 83⅛B; July, not open.

Barley: Oct. 2¼ higher 1.57¼; Dec. 1⅞ higher 1.33½; May ⅝ higher 1.24B; July ¾ higher 1.18⅞B.

Prices Still Firm In Toronto Trading

TORONTO (CP)—Prices continued firm in early afternoon stock market trading.

Industrials led the advance with a gain of more than a point on the exchange's index while golds continued to slip slowly as profit-taking skimmed yesterday's gains.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 641,000 shares—the smallest three-hour volume in months. Triad, a western oil, moved about 25,000 shares for a gain of about four cents.

Utilities and banks advanced and constructions, steels, foods and miscellaneous issues also gained. Textiles and retail stores weakened.

Senior golds gained as McIntyre gained more than $2 in the first hour of trading. Prospects balanced a narrow list of small gains and losses. Newlund was fairly busy for a loss of pennies but Conwest gained. Holding companies held firm.

Western oils recorded a good majority of gains ranging to 30 cents while losses reached about 10 cents. Canada Southern led the upward trend.

Base metals resisted the downward trend of higher-priced issues to show gains in most issues. East Rim, Cassiar and United Asbestos gained.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The American dollar was at a discount of 3½ per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 96 9-16. The pound sterling was $2.70 unchanged from Tuesday.

Lindsay B Club To Operate In Locals' Group

LINDSAY (ENS)—A meeting of the executive of the Lindsay Junior B hockey club decided last night, in conjunction with representatives of the Lindsay Minor Hockey League, that a club will operate from this town this year. The club will be entered in a grouping with Peterborough, Kingston and Belleville.

A tentative schedule was introduced to the meeting, which showed 14 home games, with 12 away dates for the Lindsayites First game is to be played in Peterborough November 7. Red Mitchell, recreation director, told the meeting that its sole purpose was to decide whether or not a junior team would operate this year. He asked the co-operation of the minor league in providing releases for some of its players of juvenile age, who will be needed to form a junior club. "Ab" O'Neill, representing the minor league, expressed doubt that the idea of entering a junior team with juvenile players, was wise, but also stated that "if the kids want to play junior, we can't hold them back." Don Dart, also of the minor league, concurred in this opinion. Mitchell told the group that unless a junior team was entered and backed this year, no one would be willing to sponsor it next year.

The club will go with home brews from Lindsay and district this year, and will not pay salaries or allowances to its players. This is in line with a building program meant to be instituted this year since many of the boys have four years of junior hockey left. Red Mitchell showed the meeting an expense sheet he had worked on, showing that the team could operate with a total expenditure, on the road, of approximately $1,200. The equipment for the club and a $500 grant has been donated by Eddie Shore, and the pads, etc., used by former Kinsmen B teams is almost assured the team. Most of the directors were emphatic in their endorsation of the home team movement in the club, and expressed the belief that the local junior and juveniles, when they realized how lucky they were that a team was operating, would be glad to play under the circumstances described.

U.S. Farmers Hit By Drought

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A prolonged drought evidently spells a dark year ahead for farmers in the Great Plains states.

The bread and meat basket of the United States is dry—too dry for crops, too dry for pasture and too dry for livestock—from the cattle lands of Texas through the wheat plains of Kansas and Oklahoma to Colorado and Nebraska.

Farmer and agricultural expert alike say this is the worst dry spell in many years. Even if moisture were to come, it would be too late in most cases for winter wheat and pasture.

To have any winter wheat crop, Oklahoma farmers must have rain—lots of it—before Nov. 15. After that there's little hope.

Cattle are being sold for slaughter for lack of grass and water-filled ponds.

Charge America Breaks Pact On Dairy Products

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters)—United States' import restrictions on dairy products came under heavy fire yesterday at the seventh session of the General Agreements on Tariffs and Trade. Five countries—Canada, New Zealand, Australia, Denmark and Holland—threatened reprisals against the U.S. for what they they called "discriminatory" import regulations in the Defence Products Act. In reply, American delegate Raymond Vernon pledged to seek "complete elimination" of the restrictions, which protect U.S. dairy farmers from foreign competition.

H. Van Blankenstein, representing Holland, asked for authorization to cut Dutch imports of U.S. flour next year to 57,000 metric tons.

Canadian delegate C. Isbister called the Dutch request for reprisals "reasonable and justified." He said Canada has not decided on retaliatory measures against the U.S. at the present time, but "my government (reserves) all of its right. . .with respect to possible compensatory action in the future."

New Zealand delegate K. L. Press said that because of the U.S. law New Zealand is losing potential dollar earnings amounting to $14,000,000 a year.

Car Collides With Gas Truck No One Hurt

A car that on Tuesday crashed into the side of a gasoline transport had the front end crumpled in and the total damage was about $800. However none of the three occupants was injured.

The accident happened five miles east of Peterborough on Highway 7.

The sequence of events, as told to O.P.P. Constable John Cawood, was as follows:

A car driven by Percy Williamson, 51, of Norwood, was going west on Highway 7 when a truck ahead of Williamson slowed and then stopped on the highway. Williamson slammed on his brakes to avoid a rear-end collision and he turned left into the oncoming traffic.

The Williamson car skidded into the right side of a large gasoline transport carrying 1,400 gallons of gasoline. It struck the steel side of the tank, just behind the cab, and the impact was sufficient to wreck the front end of the car.

Williamson, his wife Lillian, and a nephew, Fred Baker, were all uninjured. So was the transport driver, Walter Thain, 43, of 125 James St.

The transport, carrying a load of gasoline from Peterborough to Birdsall, received only about $25 damage.

Board Quashes Decertification

A move to have 22 garage employees in three Peterborough garages decertified from their present trade union has been quashed by the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

Tuesday the O.L.R.B. finished the third hearing. Previously they had thrown out decertification applications made by Cliffe Towle and Hector Gray, allegedly on behalf of their 10 and three employees respectively. The third application, allegedly on behalf of nine employees, was by McWilliams Motor Sales. The board reserved judgment on this application, but indications are that it will be quashed and for the same reason.

"The applications have been thrown out by the O.L.R.B. because the employers acted improperly—even if they acted in good faith—when they meddled in union affairs," said Tom Bishop, president of Local 234, Industrial Union of Automotive Employees agent for 102 garage mechanics, body men, laborers and others, in eight Peterborough garages. The employees are covered under a master agreement but each contract was signed separately.

The present contract ends Nov. 23.

Applicants said they were seeking decertification on behalf of the majority of their employees. However, employers are not allowed to take part in this move.

Mrs. L. G. Auston Of Hall Family Dies In Florida

A native of Peterborough and former resident of Detroit, Mrs. Lilias Grant Auston died Tuesday in Jacksonville, Florida.

Mrs. Auston who was 80, had been in failing health for some time. She went to Florida 10 months ago to live with her daughter, Mrs. Holden Blackwell of Jacksonville on the advice of her doctor who felt the climate would be better for her health.

Born in Peterborough, Mrs. Auston was a daughter of the late James A. Hall and Annie Gilbert.

Both her grandfather, James A. Hall, and her father, served as sheriffs of Peterborough county. A brother, Fred J. A. Hall, succeeded his father as sheriff and was succeeded by the present sheriff John A. Harstone when he retired.

Mrs. Auston was educated at Hazel Brae, then a private school for girls. After her marriage to the late V. E. Auston, who died about 30 years ago, she lived in Detroit where Mr. Auston was engaged in the furniture business.

A Presbyterian, Mrs. Auston attended St. Paul's Presbyterian Church here and took an active part in church affairs until recently. She returned to the city about 10 years ago.

In her later years, she spent considerable time in Florida, where she took an active interest in the Jacksonville branch of the Independent Order, Daughters of the Empire, organized by former English and Canadian residents living in the Florida city.

Surviving are two brothers in Peterborough, F. J. A. Hall and S. R. Hall, and two children, Mrs. Holden Blackwell of Jacksonville and a son, James Auston of Toronto. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Edith Crofton of St. Helena, California and Mrs. T. P. MacKenzie of Toronto.

The body is being sent here for funeral service and burial but details of the funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Prospectors Class To Be Held In Dec.

W. D. Harding, geologist of the Ontario Department of Mines, has informed the city council of a mining prospectors' class to be held in Peterborough in December. For accommodation, a free and convenient hall is required, and the co-operation of the city is requested.

Ald. Harold Rehill remarked that according to custom the City Hall was reserved for municipal affairs.

"I think it is something we might leave with the City Clerk," said Ald. J. A. Dewart at the meeting of the board of works Monday night. "He could write for details as to the probable number in the class, and try to get some suitable place." Ald. T. D. Miller seconded his motion.

Mrs. S. Cottingham

Pallbearers at the funeral Tuesday afternoon of Mrs. Samuel Cottingham, 87, of Chatham, were Albert Wray, Walter Garbutt, Gordon Miller, Gordon Duncan, Donald Lewis, and W. G. Shiner.

Mrs. Cottingham, the former Isabella MacDonald, a onetime resident of Peterborough, died on Saturday in Chatham.

The funeral was at the Cemetery Street Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

United Counties Health Unit Starts New Dental System

COBOURG. — Effective Nov 1 an entirely new scheme of preventive dentistry will be initiated in the United Counties by the Northumberland-Durham Health Unit and the dentists. Children resident in the United Counties will be eligible for a free dental examination by the family dentist at or before the age of three years.

The family dentist will complete the examination and record his findings and recommendations on a special report card, and return it to the Medical Officer of the Health Unit. The dentist will then be paid for the examination out of Health Unit funds.

Setting the pace in this field of Public Health Preventive Dentistry, the Counties Health Unit becomes the first Unit to initiate such a scheme with the co-operation of the local dentists.

For many years emphasis was on the dental care of children of school age. Extensive studies carried on throughout the world have now shown that a most important factor in the prevention of tooth decay and deformity is the starting of adequate supervision at an early age. Modern authorities now recommend that children should be placed under the care of the dentist at or before the age of three years.

The most practical method of improving the dental health of the children in the United Counties has been under discussion by the dentists and the Health Unit's medical officers during the past year, and advice was sought from authorities in the Dental Faculty in the University of Toronto and the Dental Association. This scheme was approved by the Board of Health of the Northumberland - Durham Health Unit at one of the regular meetings.

Dental report cards will be given out to mothers at Child Health Conferences and during visits of the Health Unit nurses to homes. In addition, a supply of cards will be made available to the dentists whose offices are within the borders of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, in order that the dentists may complete examinations for children whose parents have of their own volition taken them to the dentist. If the family dentist is resident outside the United Counties, it will be necessary for the parents to secure a dental card from the Health Unit in order to have this available for completion by the family dentist.

It is emphasized that the scheme will be limited to the examination of children at or before the age of three years: that is, once the child has passed his fourth birthday, he will not be eligible for examination under this scheme.

By a review of the results of the examination of children in the United Counties, it is hoped that from time to time during the next few years the course of the dental health unit can be determined and the value of this scheme estimated.

OTONABEE TOWNSHIP HALL in Keene was built in 1873 for a total cost of $3,300 for which debentures were issued. It houses a council chamber, clerk's office and main floor auditorium and is badly in need of repairs. The last work on the building was done about 1923. The quiet dignified setting of the Hall on a shady street carries a touch of a New England scene appropriate to name of the village which is of New England origin.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Burnet Appears Sole Candidate

COBOURG (ENS)—Council at its regular meeting this week introduced the customary nomination and election bylaw. Nomination night is November 28 and election day is December 8 and so far there has been nary a bubble from the election pot. Indications are that there will be a number of acclamations for civic posts.

Anyway Mayor Jack Burnet has a challenge with Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa and Mayor Lamport of Toronto for the international plowing match next year at Cobourg and while the mayor of Cobourg has a mercantile and not an agricultural background, there are none with farmer ancestry on the municipal horizon and it looks like Burnet for mayor and candidate for plowing honors next year.

Councillors Charles Johnston announced that the third floor of the fire hall was being leased at a dollar-a-year to St. Michael's Boy Scouts and Cubs as scout rooms. Mayor Jack Burnet said that there was no basement to St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, except a furnace room and that the scouts of that church had not place to go. The mayor commented that there had been some confusion in regard to the Community Troop for which the Lions Club had built a clubhouse as some people thought it was for the boy scouts of the community and not for the particular group of scouts known as the Community Troop.

The mayor announced that the clean sand being dredged from the harbor was to be dumped off the east pier as an experiment to see if it will wash on to the beach and cover up the gravel as much of the beach was washed away last spring.

A special meeting of Council will be held soon to discuss the matter of the dormant Recreation Commission. The mayor said that the town was getting a grant, and if it were to be continued the Recreation Commission would have to be revived.

Clock Threatened

BRIGHTLINGSEA, England — (CP). — Workmen removed a 6-foot pile of debris collected by jackdaws in the belfry of St. James' Church in this Essex county town. Seashells and old bones were among the pile which threatened to stop the church clock.

MRS. JOSEPH MEAGHER

Mrs. Joseph Meagher, the former Mabel Beatrice Burke, 463 Gilmour St., died Tuesday at her home following an illness of one month.

Born in Lindsay, Mrs. Meagher was the daughter of the late Nicholas Burke and Ellen Driscoll and has lived in Peterborough for the past 35 years, coming here from Lindsay.

She was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral and was a member of the Catholic Women's League, the Altar Society and the Catholic Church Extension.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. J. Brady (Ella), and Miss Betty Meagher, both of Peterborough; one brother, Harold L. Burke, Chicago, Ill. and three grandchildren. Her husband, Joseph Meagher, predeceased her.

The funeral will be held Friday from the Belleghem funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery, Lindsay.

MICHAEL (LLOYD) ENRIGHT

Requiem mass for a former Peterborough man burned to death Tuesday in a fire at Tweed will be said Thursday morning at 9 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church. Michael Gerald (Lloyd) Enright, 35, was one of two men burned to death in the Tweed house fire.

The second victim was Vincent Gartland, 54. Fire was believed caused by the explosion of an oil stove upstairs.

Born in Prince Albert, Sask., Enright was garbage collector of the village he has lived in for the past five years. For 25 years he lived in Peterborough, where he was a member of Sacred Heart Church.

Surviving are: his mother, Mrs. J. C. McKane of Peterborough; three sisters, Mrs. Frank Burke (Evelyn), Mrs. Joseph Meagher (Eileen), and Miss Margaret McKane, all of Peterborough.

The body, in a closed casket, will be at the Duffus funeral home until shortly before 9 a.m. Thursday. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

MRS. HANNAH WOODGATE

Mrs. Hannah Woodgate, 81, of Montreal, died Tuesday at her home in Rosemount. She lived in Peterborough for 14 years, from 1917 to 1931, leaving shortly after her husband's death.

Born in Tunbridge Wells, Kent, England, she was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hook, and before coming to Peterborough lived in Quebec City for 10 years. She was a member of the Anglican Church, and an honorary members of Vimy Ridge Lodge 244, Peterborough.

Her husband, William Henry Woodgate, died in 1927, and two children predeceased her as well, Mrs. Philip Yeomans (Harriet), who died in 1940, and William Henry Woodgate, Jr., who died in 1949.

Surviving are three daughters and two sons, Miss Louise Woodgate, Toronto, Mrs. J. P. Halpin (Grace), Peterborough, Mrs. C. D. Hopkins (Dorothy), Lakefield, Herbert George of Montreal, and Charles Edwin Woodgate of Peterborough.

The body will be resting at the Nisbett Funeral Home after the arrival Friday morning of the Montreal train, and funeral service will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday by the Rev. H. J. Scuse of St. George's Anglican Church. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Indian Trove

FORT FRANCIS, Ont. (CP)—A bulldozer excavating for a basement unearthed several silver ornaments and other Indian relics here. The trinkets are believed to date from the 18th century.

Miss Amy Anderson

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A resident of this district all her life, Amy Anderson, daughter of the late Alexander Anderson and Veronica Cleugh, was buried here on Monday afternoon. She was 79.

Miss Anderson, who was born at the family homestead at Petherick's Corners, five miles northeast of Campbellford, led a quiet life and was a devout member of the United Church.

She was visiting a nephew in Toronto recently, when she fell, breaking her hip. She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Toronto for treatment, and while in hospital contracted pneumonia. She died there Saturday.

The Rev. Gordon Whitehorne, United Church circuit minister, conducted services from Bennett's funeral home on Frank St. Burial was in the family plot at Petherick's Corners.

Pallbearers were Sam Diamond, Carmen Redden, Robert Cleugh, Aylmer Petherick, Jim Brady and Jack Lain.

H. A. Sutherland

The funeral for Hobart Arthur (Bob) Sutherland, R.R. 4, Peterborough, who died Sunday, was held Tuesday from the Belleghem funeral home.

The Rev. A. A. Mathews of George St. United Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Reg. Boate, Bert Crump, Ernest Braund, Harold Hamblin, Howard Tiffin, Barney Quinn. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

C.P.R. Executive Worked In Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS)—Son of the first C.P.R. ticket agent in Cobourg and a C.P.R. operator here from 1914 to 1930, Harold Worth, 61, died Monday night in Montreal.

At the time of his death he was assistant to the general superintendent of the Quebec district of the C.P.R., and had worked in Burketon, St. Thomas and London as an operator, later becoming a dispatcher at Schreiber and Toronto.

He was one of those who took an active part in the Cobourg Kilties Band, was a member of the I.O.O.F. and the Cobourg Lawn Bowling Club. He and his father were two of the town's most popular citizens.

His wife was the former Susie McBride of Port Hope.

Shy Youth Given 10 Days In Jail

What impulse caused a shy 17-year-old Collegiate student to attack a young married woman on Reid St., Tuesday morning?

Magistrate W. R. Philp admitted he was in a quandry" as to the cause or what penalty should be imposed when the youth, Lorne Kellogg pleaded guilty to an incent assault charge today.

After pondering the matter of sentence, the Magistrate decided against a suggestion of Salvation Army court officer Major Harry Everitt that Kellogg be given suspended sentence.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw suggested Kellogg be remanded for a week for sentence so Magistrate Philp could have the report of a psychiatrist's examination.

He will be just losing that much more time from school said Magistrate Philp and sentenced Kellogg to ten days in county jail.

Warning Kellogg that he "might well have received a very substantial sentence," the Magistrate told him, "that is an extremely light penalty and I will probably be criticized in many places for giving a penalty of that nature. I do so in the sincere hope that this is the last you will ever appear in this court."

STORY NOT DENIED

Detective Sgt. John Stevenson related how Kellogg was picked from a line-up of industrial arts students at South Central School after a young woman complained of a youth grabbing her clothing on Reid St.

After pleading guilty today, Kellogg said he did not disagree with the detective's statement of the incident and offered no explanation.

The boy's father told the Magistrate his son had never shown any tendencies of this nature before but had always been shy in the presence of women when he was with him. The father agreed with Magistrate Philp's suggestion that the youth be examined by a local psychiatrist.

Before passing sentence, Magistrate Philp said, "It is a very difficult case from the point of view of sentence. I am in a serious quandry as to what should be done. It may well be a momentary impulse, yet it is the type of offence that is not uncommon and is possibly increasing, of which both the Criminal Code and Parliament take a rather stern view.

"We have had a number of indecent assaults. They are not pleasant things to happen in the community both from the point of view of protection of women alone in the streets and the general good name of our city. I appreciate the boy is in school and I hope he will return to school. I hesitate to do anything more than has to be done as far as school is concerned and the pressure that might be made on him at his age," Magistrate Philp said.

Millbrook Church Guild Holds Tea, Bazaar

MILLBROOK (ENS). — St. Thomas' Anglican Guild held a tea, bazaar and home baking sale in the waiting room on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. H. A. Turner poured tea, Mrs. Percy Hamilton, Guild president, and Mrs. A. A. Chote, the rector's wife, received the guests. Tea attendants were Mrs. J. W. Wright, Mrs. Edward Penny, Mrs. Howard Lancashire and Mrs. Albert Jones. Refilling the plates were Mrs. T. A. Campbell and Mrs. Ronald Palmer. Miss Ellen Kent made the tea and was assisted in the kitchen by Mrs. Howson.

Mrs. George Harrington, assisted by Mrs. Douglas Steppard, was in charge of the sewing table; Mrs. William Hutchison, Mrs. D. R. Fowler and Miss Anna Fair presided at the baking table, and Mrs. Fred Lowery and Mrs. Hugh Abbott looked after the homemade candy sales.

The Guild realized $125. from the afternoon.

What you can believe about "sales"

When you buy something at a "sale", are you really getting extra value? Can you save by shopping in "Bargain Basements"? Is it safe to look for "irregulars"? Are "Preseason Sales" on the level?

In November Reader's Digest, read the fascinating, behind-the-scene story of department store merchandising that tells how department stores (large and small) can manage to run "sales" day after day — and still offer real bargains to their customers.

Our Exports

Canada gets her gravy through her exports, and until recently got most of her meat and drink that way, too. In fact, even today, a third of every man's wage is due to exports. The country is rich enough and able enough to export as much as other countries will take, and still have lots left over for her own use and pleasure. We do not quarrel with the policy of encouraging exports, nor criticize their size.

We take satisfaction in noting that exports for the first eight months of this year were equal in dollar value to the total exports for the entire year 1949—and that was a high year. We are pleased that Canadian exports during the first nine months of this year were $360,000,000 more than they were last year, despite some falling prices. The volume made up for the price sag. In fact, the total value of our exports this year, from January through September, amounted to the collossal figure of $3,180,690,000. What worries us in this export business is not the size or value, but the kind. Canada is still exporting too much unfinished products.

Money is to be made, more wages earned, more people employed, when Canada manufactures the goods she exports, instead of shipping out the raw material (like pulpwood, iron ore, unrefined petroleum, unfinished wool, unprocessed meats, unmanufactured lumber) for other people to manufacture and, sometimes, to sell back to us at their large profit. The president of the Canadian Exporters' Association, Alex Gray, noted this week that Canada's purchases from the U.S., for the first eight months of this year, were $413,000,000 more than her sales there: "the highest deficit in five years, and the sad part is that our exports are largely raw and semi-raw materials and our imports largely highly-manufactured goods." When are Canadians going to stop pretending that they are not skilled or equipped enough to manufacture their own raw materials? When are they going to stop pandering to and feeding American industry at the cost of their own?

Mr. Gray's figures on the trade deficit between Canada and the U.S. were confirmed yesterday by Ottawa statistics. Shipments were higher to all parts of the world except the United States. The exports to the U.S. in the first nine months of the year were seventeen million dollars less than a year ago. (The chief reason for this has been the ban on meat shipments, due to the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease, which has long since been wiped out.) So the United States is indictable on two Canadian counts: of taking fewer goods than before, and of taking raw or semi-raw materials.

Tasty Names For Ontario Roads

It seems that the Ottawa Citizen has been wheeling along the scenic branch of Number 2 highway between Gananoque and Brockville. It has feelingly contrasted the beauty of the road with the drabness of the name. It is called Number 2 S ('S' being short for 'scenic' and not for 'short' since it is as long as the older, ordinary branch of Number 2). "This is the practical engineer's approach to naming roads. It may be efficient, but it results in designations as the subject, or the road—that it does not seem to know quite where it is, or was, when spinning along. It writes: "The divided highway running east from the Ivy Lea Bridge to Belleville is Highway 2A." Not Belleville, you speed demon, and not 2A. But we shall pass over that, and say that the Citizen was aiming in the right direction, on the road (2S) and on its point, which is that Ontario is giving tasteless names to its roads.

The Citizen also mentions (we do not know whether it is with greater accuracy in number and place than its 2A running from the Ivy Lea Bridge to Belleville) that the four-lane road from Toronto to Barrie is to be called: "Controlled Access Highway No. 400." Says the Citizen: "Before the engineers get out of hand, the provincial authorities should review the present trend in designations of roads." In other words, throw out the numbers and bring on the names—good names, like the Queen Elizabeth Way.

Actually, we could let the road engineers have their figures and A 1 A's, and the general motoring public—in fact, the Citizen itself—would not be bothered. We ride on transcontinental trains labelled Pacific Unlimited, Mountain Greyhound, Bluenose Banner. But ask a railway man what the train is, and he will tell you it is Number 328. Ask a post office official; he is not beguiled by any fancy name either. It is The 216.

The railway companies have recognized the difference between the public riding to the stars and the specialists—the engineers, railway time-table makers and post office clerks—who ride the rods, by number. Let the same distinction be made between the motoring public and the people who lay, maintain and use the roads as a utility. Let 2 S be 2 S to the technicians, and The Gananoque Glamour to the ordinary public.

There are all sorts of tasty names available for all sorts of roads. The Buckhorn road could be The Buckhorn Bumps. The Port Hope highway (Number 28) could be Port-a-Hope (the Seaway may come). Oxford, that repository of lost hopes and old names has a Hell Passage. There's an apt name for Number 7 after Fowler's Corners. We are sure our readers could suggest hundreds of tasty names for Ontario's numerous roads.

Actually, the Provincial technicians are not averse from a little colour. The Ontario Bureau of Statistics has divided Ontario into economic zones. True, it has numbers for them, but it also gives them names: The Metropolitan Zone (guess where that is), the Blue Water Zone (Georgian Bay-Lake Huron district); the Kawartha Zone (Oshawa-Peterborough-Lindsay), the Clay Belt Zone. So there is hope for the Ontario roadmakers. They are not as tough as they seem. (Neither are their roads.)

Not Blissful Ignorance Of French

The American who comes up to Ontario in August with skis on his car, and expecting to ski, has a fellow-traveller in Mr. J. L. Ritchie, Canadian representative of manufacturers in England. Mr. Ritchie told the Good Roads Convention in Quebec that he couldn't address them in French "because my French was learned in Paris and it might not be understood by French-Canadians here." The difference between the Englishman Mr. Ritchie and the American summer skier is that Mr. Ritchie exists, and actually did say what he did in Quebec last week. The ignorance of both—either ignorance of fact or ignorant discourtesy—is the sort of thing to make Canadians of either language wince.

Mr. Ritchie's remark drew a gentle retort from the Quebec Road Minister who said that at the recent Laval University centennial celebrations "the delegates from France's leading universities never needed translators." French, as spoken and understood by literate French-speaking Canadians in Quebec is as good as the French spoken in Paris, although it may have a provincial flavour, as the speech of Normandy, Savoie or Provence has; or as the Edinburgh Scot speaks as well and understandably as the English Londoner, although differently. Perhaps Mr. Ritchie was merely excusing his own ignorance of French; but to do so through a discourtesy equally ignorant certainly would not advance his representation of English manufacturers.

A gaffe of this kind is not unique, as we have noted. The Montreal Star recalls the instance of a northern United States salesman doing business in Richmond, Virginia. He told his Virginia audience that his firm could deliver its goods "as fast as Grant took Richmond." The firm showed its speed best in recalling its salesman forthwith.

Fair Game

Some operators of concessions at fall fairs and exhibitions seem to take the view that the public patronizing their wheels of fortune and side shows are fair game for any shyster tricks. Perhaps the public is, for anybody expecting to get more than his money's worth at such a booth is, as Barnum well knew, a fool. We get a smug grin on our face, however, when the Fall Fair game makes fair game of the gamesters and prove the rest of Barnum's familiar dictum: you can't fool the public all the time.

The Owen Sound way a Toronto operator paid a hundred dollars into court Monday because somebody spotted that his king-pin was deliberately set off the centre mark. You couldn't win, even some of the time. Two constables were set on the booth (perhaps that was unfair game, from the operator's point of view) and got the necessary evidence, at a cost of losing $5.50 and $6.50 each on the rigged game.

The reassuring sequel was that the Court got $100—but we doubt if anybody else other than the policemen got back better than they gave. Fair game. Yes, indeed.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A Frenchman has invented an attachment which makes a grand piano sound like the bagpipes. We know infants who can do this. Why not try for something which would make the bagpipes sound like a piano?

A physicist hints that he is on the verge of discovering what holds the universe together. And when he finds out, some other physicist will get busy finding a way to untie it, or unbutton it, or just gnaw at it.

BIBLIOMANIA:

Great Scene, Great Days

CANADA: THE GOLDEN HINGE, by Leslie Roberts. (Clarke, Irwin & Co.)

THE PRINTED WORD on Canada—the gospel—is coming so rapidly and in such quantity from both sides of the border that one is inclined to yawn as each book appears. If you begin The Golden Hinge with a yawn, your mouth stays open in wonderment and huzzahs for Canada, the country beloved of Mr. Leslie Roberts, the marvel of this age. The author leaves you too breathless to yawn, so rapid is his style, so tumultuous the flow of facts, vignettes, incidents, opinions and observations—as near to wit and wisdom on Canada and as accurate in his facts and observation as to mark Mr. Roberts a superlative reporter on Canada, which he is.

Here is the face of the new Canada, with the bone structure of the old; here are the sinews of Canada the inheritor (and in some ways creator) of the Twentieth Century with the blood-bank of the old explorers, exploiters, railway builders and pioneers. For the author deftly and surely blends Canadian history with his exciting account of its present story and future sequel.

The book is neither travelogue nor exhortation nor explanation, though it has much of all three. It is written, says the author, "To bring the border closer to those citizens of each country who live at a considerable distance from it, and who may not know how easy the American-Canadian relationship can be". He says that "most of the difficulties encountered in sharing the North American continent occur between those who live far from the junction of the two countries, which plainly implies that the problem is one of distance, rather than propinquity. That is a good omen."

The title is taken from a sentence in a speech delivered in Quebec by Field Marshal Montgomery: "There stands Canada, a hinge between the Old World and the New; a hinge of purest gold."

The first chapter amounts to a tract on these two aspects of Canada and the Canadian attitude—the hinge to the Old World of Britain, France, and to the U. S.; both these in a national people.

THE AUTHOR sets himself apart from other Canadian writers high-mindedly analysing the soul of Canada. "The people of Trois Pistoles and the loggers of the Charlottes are too busy working and building to have time for self-analysis—and these, and others like them, comprise the great majority of Canadian people." But farther on he confesses that "deep in his (the Canadian's) subconscious being lies the conviction that he is building and developing one of the great nations of tomorrow." Such mild contradictions interfere with a logical development of a thesis.

The ideas, inductions and deductions tumble from the pages so rapidly that, if one can stop at all to ponder, one wishes that there were fewer flashes and more systematic reasoning. Here, I find, is the main fault of the book, and I attribute it as much to the writer's style as to his thought-processes. It is likely that the two are inseparable, since style and content in a good writer are two sides of his art. Mr. Roberts writes fluently and observes intuitively, but there is so much facility in both that one cannot help feeling that book and writer are facile rather than thorough. Hence, The Golden Hinge gives an impression of superficiality, despite the obvious intimacy of the author with his topic and the multitudinous details of the Canadian scene. (None but a keen reporter and thorough traveller would stop to note that it is always 'Saint John', but the 'St. John River'; and that it hurts New Westminster pride to say that that city is 'just outside Vancouver'.)

The rapid journalistic style unfairly suggests too little care and thought. For instance: "Thus it can be said that if Canada is an independent nation today, it has the British tie to thank for it. An assist must also go to the instigators of the abortive Fenian Raids in Canada." One hesitates to trust fully in a writer who thanks a tie and writes of "an assist", or who is so inelegant as to say "another item tells." Or who talks of "Canada's economic ace-in-the-hole." Mr. Roberts does disservice to his subject and his knowledge of Canada by indulging in jargon known as "journalese". The quality of his observation and the fervour of his Canadian faith deserve a better style. So does the importance of what he has to say.

Journalism may be literature on the run, but a journalist should adjust his pace when reaching to the full status of a serious book. Mr. Roberts' thought is sufficiently lively, his passion so vigorous and his insight so keen that the book does not need colloquial props to keep it from being dull.

THERE IS INDEED much in the book to engage any person thinking about or interested in Canada—too much to discuss in a short review. Many of the throw-offs in his marathon run through Canada are tantalizing to thought and discussion.

The "Canadian miracle" has been not only to create an east-west nation against the natural north-south stream and to hold so vast an area with so few people; but also "to create a national Canadian outlook in spite of the flood of words and sounds which pour over the border." "The Canadian nation has sprung up in the shadow of one much greater than herself."

Quebecois are "North America's most self-contained species." Every French-speaking Canadian "believes profoundly that his forbears on this soil were abandoned to the snow and to the British."

Writing of Northern Ontario: "The Northerner is not just an Ontario man, however, but a Northern Canadian. He is the citizen the anthropologists should look up first, when hunting for homo Canadensis. His home may be in Labrador, in the far reaches of northern British Columbia, or on its offshore Queen Charlotte Islands. He may be mining gold in Ontario's Porcupine country, or uranium at Great Bear Lake. . . No matter where he is or what he does, he is the most Canadian of all Canadians in the sense that his life is the adventure of thrusting his civilization deeper into the North. More than any other Canadian, he holds the future of his country in his two calloused hands, and more than any other Canadian (except the French-speaking man of Quebec, whose reasons for a like attitude differ sharply from those of the Northerner) he is determined that Canada's destiny shall remain in its own grasp. His folklore is of the North—and it does no pining for the effete south."

Of Southern Ontario people: "To be prudent is not necessarily to be dull."

Of the Canadian future: "Seen in accurate focus, Canada is at the stage of development which the United States enjoyed towards the end of the nineteenth century, but is equipped with the devices and the knowledge that go with the twentieth."

Besides such provocative and able estimates, Mr. Roberts gives many tidbits of little-known information—that is, not known generally across the country. For instance, how Van Horne named Vancouver; the rate of enlistment during the two world wars which was "unequalled in the world"; that there are more Nova Scotians in New England than in Nova Scotia; and of course much valuable and interesting information about the post-war industrial and economic development.

Mr. Roberts also retails some curious stories to sharpen—with a journalist's pen—a point he wants to make. There is, for example, the story of the Canadian lady living on the border who had a talking bird, which, he says, she had to keep in her kitchen (which was in Canada) until U. S. immigration authorities agreed to let her keep it sometimes in her parlour (which was in the U. S.), after they asked Washington if she could thus overstep the American law against importing birds.

This is an exciting book on Canada; stimulating, replete, high-flying in its passion and coverage of a great scene in great days.

THE GLITTER AND THE GOLD, by Consuelo Vanderbilt-Balsan (Musson Book Company).

FOR ANYONE INTERESTED in the tremendous social changes which have taken place in Europe as a result of the two world wars of this country The Glitter And The Gold by Consuelo Vanderbilt-Balsan is a fascinating book. It is the personal record of an American woman, married at 19 to the Duke of Marlborough, and mistress of one of England's most famous palaces.

She tells us of her social life, of the large style in which everything was done when entertaining English or foreign Royalty, of the hierarchy of servants needed to run Blenheim Palace, even of a visit to St. Petersburg for the New Year celebrations, when Csar Nicholas, cousin of King George was still Emperor. How much the world has changed though it is only 54 years ago!

Mms. Balsan gives a description of the Coronation of Edward VII and Queen Alexandra, when as Duchess of Marlborough she helped to hold the canopy over the new Queen. This account is of particular interest when another Coronation will be taking place so soon. The Peers and Peeresses, she says, had not troubled to measure their coronets, and so when the King and Queen were crowned and the moment came for them to place coronets on their own heads, many found that they were too large or too small to fit their heads, and some of the peers were to be seen with the coronet down over their faces, which were obscured by the linings. Next summer the aristocracy will probably be more careful, since they must face a glare of publicity, through press, radio, and television, which was unknown in 1902.

WHILE STILL Duchess of Marlborough Mme. Balsan turned her attention to the improvement of the general lot of women and children, and used her power, position and wealth to draw public attention to the terrible working conditions of many women at that time. Today we have become so accustomed to the good conditions working women enjoy that we tend to forget how much we owe to the work of high-minded women of wealth, such as the author of this autobiography.

Her style is a delicate and restrained one, always charming and readable; it treats the famous people of whom she writes with a decent respect, showing them as human, but not giving away ancient scandals or youthful indescretions as some authors have done. We feel at the end of the book what has happened to her since the invasion of France in 1940, when with her second husband Charles Balsan, she leaves us as she flies to America.

This book shows us the gentle beginnings of the impact of Americans on Britain, which has been growing steadily stronger with two world wars. When Consuelo Vanderbilt married, little was known in England about America, and the U.S. was not greatly considered in British policies; her record gives us personal glimpses of the events which have made America a great factor in British policy today.

B. E. N.

AS OUR QUOTATION for this week, it may be well to temper the enthusiasm of Mr. Roberts in the first book reviewed today with this quotation from North America, by Anthony Trollope, written in 1862: "In going from the States into Canada an Englishman is struck by the feeling that he is going from a richer country into one that is poorer, and from a greater country into one that is less." There are still more people of Trollope's view than of Mr. Roberts', but we may hope that their minds will change.

Letters To The Editor

PROTESTANTS IN ITALY

Sir: Unfavourable publicity has been given the Catholic Church in Italy over the dispute between the Italian Government and U.S. sponsored Church of Christ.

It appears all Protestant churches have to register. This sect refuses to do so saying they do not accept the appellation "Protestant" because they are the "unique Church of Christ".

All other Protestant religions operate freely in Italy.

Communists, to be sure are making the most of the disputes, trying to discredit the Catholic Church which has nothing to do with this trouble between the government and this sect.

Catholics and Protestants are all followers of Christ. It is pitiable that there should be grounds for any ill feelings faced with the menace of Communism that we all are.

FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

Sir: I'm very much interested in starting a Parents' Council for Retarded Children in Peterborough. I have been advised that the only way to start is to contact other parents of such children through your paper.

I would be very grateful if you publish this in your paper. Parents interested in helping to organize a class or a school for retarded children, please write to Mrs. Beck, 470 Charlotte St.

Thanking you kindly,

Yours truly,

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord shewed me, and, behold, two baskets of figs were set before the temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive Jeconiah the son Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Judah, with the carpenters and smiths, from Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babylon. One basket had very good figs, even like the figs that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, they were so bad.

Then said the Lord unto me, What seest thou, Jeremiah? And I said, Figs; the good figs, very good; and the evil, very evil, that cannot be eaten, they are so evil. Again the word of the Lord came unto me, saying, Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel; Like these good figs, so will I acknowledge them that are carried away captive of Judah, whom I have sent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans for their good . . . . And I will give them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall return unto me with their whole heart. (Jer. 24:1-5, 7).

Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eye; cease to do evil; learn to do well. (Isa. 1:16, 17.)

First It Was Silk; Now It's Wool

(Milwaukee Journal)

First it was lard. Then it was butter. Now it is wool.

Wool is selling today in Boston at about half the prices of early 1951. One reason is the 200,000,000 pound unsold south American surplus. Another reason is the 10 per cent replacement of wool by synthetic fibres.

It is estimated that, within two years, this country will use as much of the new synthetics as the total present American clip of natural wool. There are those who believe that the synthetics may eventually do to wool what nylon has done to silk.

At best, it appears, wool will have sharp competition from man-made fibres, just as lard has from the hydrogenated fats and butter has from oleomargarine.

A BRITISH OPINION

"Daddy's a pet, really—but don't mention about America leaving the British out of the Pacific talks."

26 Chiefs Prove Right To Rule By Daring Feat

VILA, New Hebrides (Reuters)—Mankind has strange ways of choosing its leaders. In remote Pacific Isles, where the ballot box is unknown, the choice may depend on feats of endurance almost unbelievable to the western world.

Travellers returning yesterday from Pentecost Island, on the northwest flank of the New Hebrides Islands in the Southwest Pacific, brought with them this tale of how 26 chieftains proved their fitness to rule:

One by one, the 26 Malanesian warriors mounted a 60-foot tower and from varying heights leaped head-first toward the ground. Each walked off without injury. Their lives depended on ropes which pulled them up within a few inches of the crushed coral.

As tom toms rose to a furious crescendo, the final jumper dived earthward in a wide arc.

The crude native rope pulled taut with a loud crack and like the others, he dangled exactly four inches from the ground, upside down. A great-throated roar rose from the crowd, signalizing the climax of a rite which occurs only once in 100 years.

By risking their lives, the 26 had proved their courage and their right to rule.

10 Provincial Governments Have Revenues Over Billion

OTTAWA (CP)—Revenues and expenditures of Canada's 10 provincial governments will pass the $1,000,000,000-mark in the current fiscal year.

The bureau of Statistics estimates net general revenues at $1,059,606,000 for the fiscal years ending nearest to March 31, 1953. This represents an increase of 14.6 per cent over the estimated revenue total of $924,552,000 for the years ended nearest to March 31, 1952.

Net general expenditures, exclusive of debt retirement, are estimated at $1,141,625,000, up 11.8 per cent from the aggregate of $1,021,059,000 for the previous year.

The bureau's figures were based on published estimates and budget speeches of the provincial government sand supplemented by information from other sources.

The bureau's figures indicate that five provinces—Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia—will end the current fiscal year with deficits aggregating $32,019,000. In the five cases, net general expenditures, exclusive of debt retirement, will exceed net general revenues.

However, in the case of Ontario, a taxation agreement has been signed with the federal government since the province's 1952-53 budget was introduced.

The bureau's figures showed Ontario expenditures exceeding revenues by $75,656,000.

U.S. Election Breaking Long Friendship

By R. J. ANDERSON

NEW YORK (CP)—In the wake of the United States presidential election of 1952 will be wounds that likely will never heal.

As the campaign roars toward its climax next Tuesday, does the victor in Europe now regret stepping from his pedestal into the hurly-burly of American politics?

Perhaps no one ever will know the answer to that question which has interested observers of one of the roughest name-calling campaigns of modern times.

A long, cordial relationship between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman seems irrevocably broken. How does Adlai E. Stevenson now view the general whom he admired and respected?

America was Eisenhower's June 18, 1945, when he made his triumphal return from Europe where he had led the Allied armies to victory over Nazi Germany. The presidency could have been his for the asking.

"ANYTHING YOU WANT"

President Truman himself told the General: "There is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the Presidency in 1948."

But Eisenhower said he would never run for the White House. Among his reasons was his thought that he could not be disloyal to his commander-in-chief, President Truman, for whom he had great affection.

In 1949, the President and Eisenhower "talked politics." Truman later related that Eisenhower told him he was not going to run for President.

Little more than two years later Truman said his 1945 offer to help Eisenhower get the presidency in 1952 still held good. He was "just as fond of Gen. Eisenhower as I can be."

But on Jan. 1, 1952, Truman said he had just found out that Eisenhower was a Republican. He did not think a Republican administration would be of benefit to the country.

WORDS BEGAN FLYING

The brick-bats began to fly last June. Truman in a speech made scathing reference to the army-segregation policies of certain generals. The reference clearly was to Eisenhower.

And in June, Eisenhower assailed the administration's foreign and domestic "failures." He demanded "a good old-fashioned clean-up and clean-out."

The fat was in the fire then. From then on as the campaign warmed up, Eisenhower, the Republicans' hope for the White House and Truman, campaigning for Stevenson, have pulled no punches in personal attacks upon each other.

And what of Stevenson, reported reluctant to accept the presidential candidacy on behalf of the Democrats because of his admiration and respect for Eisenhower?

That friendship, too, seems severed in the heat of a campaign that has seen Eisenhower repeatedly refer scathingly to his opponent with the Illinois governor returning as much as he received.

Vickers Strikers Accept New Contract

MONTREAL (CP)—Workers at the Canadian Vickers, Ltd., shipyard here, on strike for higher wages since Aug. 19, last night voted unanimously to accept a new contract and to return to work today.

Gerard Picard, president of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, to which the workers belong, said 20 workers before the courts for acts or threats of violence during the strike have reached a private agreement with the company regarding return to work.

The new contract calls for a wage increase of 12 cents an hour with eight cents retroactive to April 1 last.

Murder Acquittal

MONTREAL (CP)—Paul Martin, 22, charged with murder in the knife slaying of his landlady Mrs. Alice Veilleux, 45, last March 23 was acquitted yesterday by a criminal assizes jury on the grounds of mental alienation. He was committed to confinement in a mental institution at the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor.

Bond Sales Climb

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada Savings bonds sales totalling $133,000,000 including almost $100,000,000 through the payroll savings plan were reported yesterday by the Bank of Canada for the first two weeks of the current bond campaign. The bank said the average purchase by employees under the payroll savings plan was $256.87, the highest yet for any of the seven bond campaigns.

Brantford Subdues Sarnia Sailors 9-6

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Redmen are the only undefeated team in the young Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

The Redmen were hosts to Sarnia Sailors last night and gave them an unhospitable 9-6 trouncing. Thus Redmen moved into a three-way first-place deadlock with the idle Chatham Maroons and Owen Sound Mercurys.

The Mercurys also moved into first place last night as they defeated Stratford Indians 7-3 at Owen Sound.

The Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series was delayed in getting under way last night when Soo Greyhounds were unable to keep their date with Sudbury Wolves because the ice in the Wolves' Arena was not ready. The N.O.H.A. will start tonight when the Greyhounds visit North Bay and the Wolves meet Soo Indians in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Last night's play divided the senior seven into three sections. Besides the three teams in top spot, Stratford, Kitchener and Sarnia are in the next slot with two points each and the winless Hamilton Tigers are in the cellar.

TAYLOR PACES REDMEN

Jack Taylor paced the Brantford attack with three goals while Don Oberholtzer and Bill Shill got two each. Sam Kennedy and Joe Holota got singles.

A three-goal Brantford splurge in the second period turned the tide after Sarnia had taken a 3-2 lead in the first.

Don Emms led the visitors with two gals. The others were spread among Skip Frezell, Harry O'Connor, Mac Beaton and Martin Zorica.

Owen Sound grabbed a two-goal lead in the first period and stretched it to five before Stratford scored in the second. Bill McComb fired three for the Mercurys with Tommy Burlington, Joe Leckie, Jack Ingoldsby and Johnny MacDonald each getting one.

Bill Gillson sparkled in the Mercury net but Billy Flick, Dinny Flanagan and Bill Walsh each slipped one past him.

Orfuns Playing Hamilton If They Beat Oshawa For Ontario Grid Crown

Provided they defeat Oshawa Red Raiders here tonight, the Peterborough Orfuns will proceed right into the O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" finals on Saturday. It will be a two-game series, points to count, with the first one listed for Saturday afternoon in Morrow Park and the second in Hamilton the following week against the Panthers of that city, 1951 Canadian intermediate "A" champions. But if the Oshawa squad should pull an upset and win here tonight, Orfuns would be in a first-place group tie with Cobourg Ghosts, and these two teams would have to settle group honors this week. Cobourg presently expects to go into provincial "B" playdowns this weekend against the Kitchener-Waterloo team, which finished second to Hamilton Panthers in the Western Ontario grid setup.

TIED FOR FIRST

Actually, as it stands now before game time—which is 8:15 in Morrow Park this evening—Cobourg and Orfuns are tied for first place. However, Cobourg has lost two games and has no more to play in the schedule. Orfuns lost but one, and expect to win this one, as they beat them three times in league play so far this year. That 6-6 tie by Orfuns in Cobourg last week practically clinched group honors for Tony Kotowski's team.

The Ontario intermediate "A" winner will probably have to meet the Quebec victor shortly to settle the Eastern Canada title, and the winner of that series will go west to Winnipeg for a crack at the Canadian championship, the westerners coming east to Hamilton last year and losing to the Panthers. The Ontario "B" winner plays off later with Sudbury for the all-Ontario title, and that ends that season.

Three Rivers Drop Close One Bow To Kitchener Greenshirts 5-4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The visitors don't seem able to get off on the right foot in the new Ontario-Quebec interlocking Junior A hockey schedule.

Three Rivers Reds made the first try by a Quebec team in Ontario last night when they dropped a close one to Kitchener Greenshirts 5-4. Galt Black Hawks made a similarly bad start on their trip to Quebec last week but recovered to win two of their four games on tour.

The Kitchener-Waterloo win put them ahead of Guelph Biltmores and St. Michael's Majors to land in third place, one point behind the league-leading Barrie Flyers and Galt.

Meanwhile there was a rumpus in the league cellar as Oshawa beat the still winless Windsorites 3-1 to move into a sixth-place tie with St. Catharines and Marlboros.

In Quebec the top-place Montreal Canadiens trounced their cellar-dwelling neighbors, Montreal Royals, 3-1. The Royals have won once this season.

HICKS SCORES THREE

A three-goal effort by Greg Hicks in the third period resulted in the Kitchener-Waterloo win. Orv Tessier notched one in the first period to put the home club ahead but Raymond St. Cyr and Jean-Guy Gendron came back to give Quebec a brief second-period lead. Graham tied it up before the end of the period.

Hicks scored two quick ones to open the third period. Goals by Yvan Houle and St. Cyr tied it up then Hicks scored the winner. Three Rivers continue their Ontario trip with a game at Guelph tonight.

In Windsor, Oshawa was never shaded. Though down 2-0 [illegible] all the way after, and [illegible] one back. Stan Parker and Bud Hillman scored Oshawa's first two.

Bob Attersley took the pressure off for the visitors when he took his own rebound and scored in the empty Windsor net late in the third.

Claude Provost scored two for Montreal Canadiens in their victory over the Royals. Henri Richard got the other Canadien goal while Eddy Swartzack scored for the losers.

P.M.H.A. Practises

Following are the remaining P.M.H.L. practices at Civic Arena this week:

Thursday—Trojan bantams at 7:30 a.m., Swartz bantams at seven, the Otonabee and Norwood midgets at eight p.m., Shamrock midgets at nine, Shamrock juveniles at 10, and Trojan juveniles at 11. The only practice listed for Friday is at 7:30 a.m. for an hour, with Bradley's juveniles and midgets working out together.

The full weekly schedule of practices for next week will be announced shortly. The P.M.H.L. will commence play in two more weeks.

PRODUCES LADDERS

Campbellford Draws In St. Mike's Game

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The local high school football team met St. Michael's in Belleville on [illegible] lock. As a result, the C.H.S. team must defeat Trenton High School on Friday to hold their second place position in the league standing.

Not until the final whistle of the game did either team stop fighting in a hope to break the tie. Some of the best playing and scoring of the game was in the last 15 minutes.

Early in the first quarter, the Campbellford lads got possession of the ball and pushed and plunged their way down to the St. Mike's 5-yard line, where, on a second down, they went over for a touchdown, which was called back because of an off-side. St. Mike's managed to run the ball out into mid-field, where they put on a terrific drive which netted them a touch down, converted.

GOOD FOOTBALL

The next 30 minutes were scoreless, but the crowd saw some good football. In the latter part of the third quarter, the C.H.S. gridders began to show. As time began running out, they started to drive. Smashing his way over centre, Barnum, playing halfback, continually chalked up yards, and on hand-offs, Jeffs, Lelliot and Fullerton rolled toward the St. Mike's goal line. On a gamble on third down on the St. Mike's 15-yard line, Jim Jeffs took a hand-off from McFarland, and twisted and rammed his way over for a touchdown which went unconverted.

Campbellford camp back hard again, with Paul Hendricks falling on a lose ball on the St. Mike's 20. The locals then made their way to the St. Mike's five where Lelliot went over for a major which Jim Jeffs converted.

The desperate St. Mike's team, with only three minutes left, and deep in their own territory, decided to take to the air. A long 50-yard pass got them a first down on the Campbellford 30-yard line, where they again threw another pass which was completed for a touchdown. The convert was blocked and at the end of the game the score stood at 11-11.

Red Wings Make Player Changes

[illegible] National Hockey League losing streak, yesterday announced two player changes.

Defenceman Larry Zeedel and utility forward Vick Stasiuk were sent to Edmonton Flyers, Detroit farm club in the Western Canada League. Defenceman Bill Folk and righ wing Lou Jankowski were brought up from Edmonton as replacements.

Folk, 25-year-old native of Regina, gets his first real chance after five years in the Detroit farm system. He is rated a heavier body checker than Zeedel.

Jankowski, 21, also from Regina, is a Detroit hope for more scoring punch. He scored 125 points two years ago with Oshawa General of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series. Last year a skull fracture suffered in his first game at Indianapolis kept him out most of the season.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Lakeshore Ball Loop has a meeting later this week in Port Hope and delegates will discuss an application for an Oshawa intermediate "A" entry for 1953. While the diamond sport is unseasonable now, this application is rather interesting. It could mean that the financial beating the Oshawa semi-pro club took ere it lost to St. Kitts last summer was the last straw. That the sport might be returned to the amateurs in the Motor City next season. Or it could mean that certain amateur homebrew players and officials there want another squad in nearby competition and hope to field an intermediate team, apart from the senior club. Young Petes, or even an intermediate entry from here, in such a circuit could be a good thing all around, too.

* * * * * *

Jim Laidlaw, manager of the Brock Arena, had to do a lot of planning and shifting around ere he could line up the pro mat cards for this city this winter. Seems that a number of other towns in the province put in bids for the merry matadors, and Toronto of course has 'em Thursdays. Peterborough didn't want Mondays or Fridays as they're O.H.A. nights here. Jim finally wangled it so he could have the arena free for the grapplers Wednesday nights, and that's how it'll be, starting soon. Hundreds of city and district fans never miss a weekly mat card. So, comes colder weather and we'll be seeing the Whip, Flan, Eric, Lee and the other ring heroes and villains in action.

* * * * * *

That One Big Thrill, Eh?

Must be quite a satisfaction for veteran local gridders like Gord Beatty, Frank Fitzgerald, Bill Trimm, Don McGillis, Rock DeCarlo, Ron Hodson, Reg Burns and the rest to see the Orfuns clicking so well this season. These fellows, plus a lot more, laboured lustily in a losing cause for years since the war but couldn't hurdle the Cobourg Ghosts to get out of the group into "A" playdowns. All they have to do now is beat Oshawa Raiders here tonight in Morrow Park, and group honors come to Peterborough for the first time in more than a decade. In fact, about 15 years. Orfuns won it last just ere stepping up to senior in the late 30s, remember? A loss to Oshawa tonight would tie Cobourg and Orfs for top spot, but Orfuns don't intend to lose this one!

* * * * * *

Much credit must go, too, to President Don (Dr.) Aitken and his capable executive, one of the hardest helpers the doc has being Wally Farr, a gridiron ace himself for a long spell. Those Orillia stars certainly helped the cause this year, D. A. McGillis paying their expenses. Yes, everyone, Coach Tony Kotowski, officials and players, deserves credit for the club's showing this year, and we hope the fans get in solidly behind them tonight and in future playoff frays. The Eastern Canada winner this year goes to Winnipeg after the Canadian crown. Wouldn't it be something if our lacrosse Timbermen and our grid Orfuns both won Canadian titles the same autumn? But let's go a step at a time—let's beat Oshawa tonight here and take the group championship first.

* * * * * *

Peculiar Judges' Panel

Rumblings of dissatisfaction over the judging on the best team in the recent Red Feather grid tourney are dying down, but a lot of people didn't think much of North Toronto being voted winners over Etobicoke—nor of P.C.V.S. being listed lower. Many felt Etobicoke were tops with Peterborough next. One local man who saw the games, S. B. Hope, told us he thought the judging was pretty poor. "P.C.V.S. were outweighed 590 pounds by Woodstock," he said, "yet won decisively in the best game of the tournament. But the Peterborough team wasn't considered by the panel of judges. The Collegiate team certainly shouldn't have been rated any lower than second, behind Etobicoke, with North Toronto no better than third."

* * * * * *

Though probably not at top strength yet, the Petes' puckists are drilling hard this week and figure on starting their schedule off on the right foot. An early victory while they're rebuilding would be a nice start for Jim Ellis and his crew. Opening game of the 1952-53 O.H.A. senior "B" schedule is Friday night in Civic Arena, Belleville Glens supplying the opposition. The Glens, too, are busy experimenting with various lines and defence pairs, but are probably further along in re-organization work now than the Petes. After Friday, the Ellis outfit is away twice in a row, going to Bella Villa on Nov. 7 and to Stouffville on Nov. 12. Next home tilt has Oshawa here Nov. 14.

Hint Rayner Headed For Farm Club

NEW YORK (CP). — Chuck Rayner, veteran New York Rangers' goaltender, may be headed for a job in the Rangers farm system, General Manager Frank Boucher hinted yesterday.

Rayner, out of action with a leg injury since late last season, apparently has lost the New York goal tending job to Lorne Worsley who was brought up from Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Canada League at the opening of the National Hockey League season.

The hint about Rayner's future was dropped at the weekly Rangers' hockey luncheon.

Although Boucher didn't indicate where Rayner might wind up, presumably it would be with Saskatoon, New York's top farm club.

Boucher did indicate that Rayner will not be traded.

Rayner, a native of Sutherland, Sask., is 32 and had been with the Rangers for eight years.

VANCOUVER (CP) —Dill Mawhinney, 23; of Vancouver 1950 Canadian amateur golf champion, said yesterday he has turned professional and will play on the U.S. golf trail this winter.

CHALLENGES CHAMP

WASHINGTON — (AP) —Henry Gault, Spartanburg, S.C., yesterday challenged Vic Toweel, world's bantam weight titleholder of Johannesburg, South Africa, to a championship bout.

The challenge was issued through the National Boxing Association.

In Quebec Monday night, Gault decisioned Fernando Gagnon in a 12-round bout recognized by the N.B.A. as for the championship of the Americas.

WILWYN INJURED

LONDON — (AP) —Wilwyn, the British horse which this month defeated six rivals from four countries in the $50,000 international race at Laurel Md., slipped and fell when leaving a Pan-American plane yesterday after arrival from New York.

A hind leg slid through a gap at the side of the plane ramp at London airport, owner Robert Boucher said.

"Apparently there were no breaks. The horse's leg was scratched.

SUES UNIVERSITY

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) —A football player who was permanently injured in scrimmage and had his scholarship cancelled by the University of Florida filed suit yesterday for $35,000 damages.

The suit, filed in behalf of Peter Schultz against the State Board of Control, asked $10,000 for "breach of scholarship agreement, and $25,000 as the result of the University of Flordia's alleged failure to provide proper physical examination or medical attention after the 1951 accident that injured his back

ONE MAN SHOW

VANCOUVER — (CP) —Nobody ever accused the Patrick family of not working at hockey. And least of all Muzz, son of Lester, brother of Lynn, newphew of Frank, Guy and Stan.

Muzz not only is a majority stock holder in Tacoma Rockets of the Western Hockey League, he also manages and coaches them. He also manages the Tacoma arena. He sells ads and writes stories for his hockey program. He runs the Pacific Northwest agency for a manufacturer of hockey sticks. Muzz recently appeared on a Seattle television show to talk about hockey. He used a blackboard to outline a "typically thrilling play which all Americans would love to see".

Asked after the show what kind of play he was describing with his confusion of chalk lines, arrows and dots, Muzz confided, "nobody down here understands the game, so I tried to show something which Americans might recognize. Actually, it was football play—the only one I remember from my high school days, a crossbuck."

The first public gymnasium was built by the Emperor Nero at Rome.

Preparing New Bonus Rule For Big League Ball Clubs

NEW YORK (AP).—Baseball's major-minor executive council in a hush-hush meeting at commissioner Ford Frick's office, shaped up a new bonus rule yesterday which will be presented to the owners for ratification at the annual winter meetings in Phoenix, Ariz., next December.

The rule, stronger than any of its predecessors, was presented by a special recommendation committee which had been wrestling for several months with the problem of stopping the costly scramble for unproven youngsters.

All items discussed at the parley were held strictly "hush-hush." It was learned, however, that the new bonus law was the chief topic.

The new bonus rule will be somewhat similar to the present one which calls for a $6,000 "ceiling" for major, triple-A, double-A leagues and open classification; a $4,000 top bonus for class A and a $3,000 limit for other classifications. The player receiving more than the limit now must be brought up to the major league club within a year after signing, or be subject to unrestricted draft.

MORE TEETH IN LAW

The big differences in the newly-proposed bonus law, however, are that more "teeth" will be put into it.

"If this new law is adopted, it will mean that all first year players—no matter how much of a bonus they received—will be subject to draft after one year," a spokesman said. "That should automatically cut out "under the table" payments above the bonus limit."

Maurice Richard Gunning For All-Time Goal Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's Maurice Rocket Richard against Toronto Maple Leafs tonight. The betting is that the fiery Montreal centre will count one or both of the two goals needed to give him a tie for the all-time scoring record of the National Hockey League.

Hurtling Maurice will be shooting for Nels (Old Poison) Stewart's lifetime mark of 324 goals when the two clubs square away in their first encounter of the young N.H.L. season.

There's a good chance that the quirks of hockey play will cause his passing of that mark to bob up before his widely partisan followers in Montreal Saturday when Canadians meet New York Rangers.

ROCKET IS HOT

There's a bad omen for the Leafs—the Rocket is hot. He's fired three goals in the last two games. His blazing shots have done much to power Canadiens to their present league leadership.

Stewart set his mark during 15 years service with the old Montreal Maroons, Boston Bruins and New York Americans. But in his time, more than 10 years ago, he never played more than 48 league games a season. Richard, now 31 and in his 11th N.H.L. season, plays far more games under today's longer schedules.

Surpassing Stewart would give Richard a big hold on the record books. The 50 goals he scored in '44-'45 will probably never be exceeded, while the 12 goals he whacked in during the '43-'44 playoffs also should stand for some time.

"MAURICE HAS CHANGED"

Managing Director Frank Selke of Canadiens claims that a summer of making election speeches and refereeing wrestling matches has completely changed dour Richard. Selke says he's a "far different fellow—an extrovert."

Whether the new extrovert can bang in goals may be one of the questions answered tonight

In tonight's other contest, second-place Chicago Black Hawks, only a point behind Montreal, take on the lack-lustre New York Rangers who have won only one out of seven games.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Babe Seibert's memorial benefit game at Montreal 13 years ago tonight realized $15,000 for the family of the Canadiens' great defenceman who was drowned at Zurich, Ont., two months earlier. His teammates played a National Hockey League all-star squad.

Maurice Richard Gunning For All-Time Goal Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's Maurice Rocket Richard against Toronto Maple Leafs tonight. The betting is that the fiery Montreal centre will count one or both of the two goals needed to give him a tie for the all-time scoring record of the National Hockey League.

Hurtling Maurice will be shooting for Nels (Old Poison) Stewart's lifetime mark of 324 goals when the two clubs square away in their first encounter of the young N.H.L. season.

There's a good chance that the quirks of hockey play will cause his passing of that mark to bob up before his widely partisan followers in Montreal Saturday when Canadians meet New York Rangers.

ROCKET IS HOT

There's a bad omen for the Leafs—the Rocket is hot. He's fired three goals in the last two games. His blazing shots have done much to power Canadiens to their present league leadership.

Stewart set his mark during 15 years service with the old Montreal Maroons, Boston Bruins and New York Americans. But in his time, more than 10 years ago, he never played more than 48 league games a season. Richard, now 31 and in his 11th N.H.L. season, plays far more games under today's longer schedules.

Surpassing Stewart would give Richard a big hold on the record books. The 50 goals he scored in '44-'45 will probably never be exceeded, while the 12 goals he whacked in during the '43-'44 playoffs also should stand for some time.

"MAURICE HAS CHANGED"

Managing Director Frank Selke of Canadiens claims that a summer of making election speeches and refereeing wrestling matches has completely changed dour Richard. Selke says he's a "far different fellow—an extrovert."

Whether the new extrovert can bang in goals may be one of the questions answered tonight

In tonight's other contest, second-place Chicago Black Hawks, only a point behind Montreal, take on the lack-lustre New York Rangers who have won only one out of seven games.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Babe Seibert's memorial benefit game at Montreal 13 years ago tonight realized $15,000 for the family of the Canadiens' great defenceman who was drowned at Zurich, Ont., two months earlier. His teammates played a National Hockey League all-star squad.

Massey Reveals Talents In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — Governor-General Vincent Massey yesterday revealed talent in occupations ranging from stone mason to bilingual diplomat in his first official visit to Winnipeg and its neighbor, St. Boniface.

Climaxing the day's events, he received an honorary degree and delivered a convocation address.

On the second day of a three-day tour of Greater Winnipeg, the Governor-General unveiled a plaque commemorating Manitoba's entry into confederation. After an official welcome at Winnipeg City Hall, the vice-regal party crossed the Red River to St. Boniface where Mr. Massey placed a wreath at a monument to the famous French explorer, La Verendrye.

PRACTICAL APPROACH

In the afternoon, Mr. Massey drove to the University of Manitoba. In laying the corner-stone for a new library building, he displayed his practical knowledge of masonry. When an ornamental trowel seemed too small, he used a regular stone mason's trowel to spread the mortar.

The Governor-General received the honorary degree of doctor of laws at a special convocation marking the University of Manitoba's 75th anniversary.

Others who received honorary degrees included J. M. Pritchard of Westmount, Que.; Msgr. Ferdinand Vandry, Quebec City; and Dr. Henry Wilkes Wright of Kitchener.

South Rallies To Stevenson

ATLANTA (AP)—More than 80 per cent of the top office-holders in the south have rallied behind Adlai Stevenson in his Democratic bid for the presidency, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Even so, several conspicuous defections offer the possibility that the "solid south" well might hand over some of its prized electoral votes to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican standard-bearer.

Governors Allan Shivers of Texas Robert Kennon of Louisiana and James Byrnes of South Carolina have thrown their active support to Eisenhower, raising Republican hopes that part or all of the three states' 42 electoral votes will go to Ike.

But eight of the other nine governors in the south are active in Stevenson's behalf—and the other, Herman Talmadge of Georgia, says he'll vote for Adlai "reluctantly."

Quebec Extends Rental Controls

QUEBEC (CP) — Provincial rental controls will be extended beyond their expiry date of March 1 next and continued until the housing situation improves, Premier Duplessis announced last night in disclosing the government's plans in an address before the annual meeting of the Union of Proprietors' Leagues of Quebec.

Mr. Duplessis said:

"It is necessary to maintain controls for still some time, perhaps with some changes, in the interest of justice and of property owners themselves. . . .

"The time has not yet come for the abolition of rent controls.

"Such action would create too great a disturbance because there is still a housing crisis."

Mr. Duplessis made his statement in commenting on a resolution adopted by the meeting which asked the government to abolish rental controls.

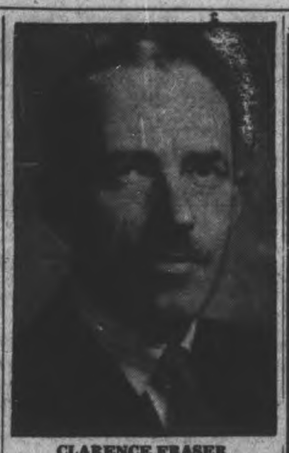
Mrs. William Morris

WESTWOOD (ENS).—The funeral service for Mrs. William Morris, who died in hospital in Peterborough on Friday morning was held Monday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. in St. Andrew's United Church, Westwood.

Mrs. Morris was born Elizabeth Oliver in England 67 years ago, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oliver. She and a sister Annie, who died a few years [illegible] to [illegible] 1902, [illegible] made her home with the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warner. She married William Morris in 1918 and lived in Westwood and district all her married life.

An active member of St. Andrew's United Church, she belonged to its choir; was a member of the Women's Missionary Society, and a former Sunday school teacher. She was a past president of the Women's Institute.

She is survived by her husband and one son Everett Morris of Peterborough and one granddaughter Donna; also one sister living in England.



The funeral service was conducted by her pastor the Rev. N. Cole, assisted by the Rev. H. E. Peasgood of Westwood Anglican Church.

Representatives of Women's Institutes from Lakefield, Hall's Glen, Warsaw, Norwood and Westwood were present in a body and acted as flower bearers. District president Mrs. J. Moore of Hall's Glen and district secretary treasurer Mrs. H. G. Digweed of Warsaw were present.

Pallbearers were Ernest Warner, Gordon Warner, Thomas Cardwell, William Renwick, Herbert Pacey and Hilliard Neilson. Burial was in Westwood cemetery.

DISCOVERED BACTERIA

Bacteria were discovered by Anthony Van Leeuwenhoek, a 17th century Dutch microscopist.

CLARENCE FRASER

Plant Relations With Workers Subject Of Talk

Personnel administration as practiced in business and industry was the topic of an address given Tuesday night to the Society of Cost Accountants and Industrial Engineers by Clarence Fraser of Toronto.

One of the most rapidly-growing aspects of management, personnel administration deals with people both as employees and as humans.

It includes such things as recognition of the idea of "rest pauses", selection annd placement, supervision, safety, and group morale.

To meet the needs of people for goods and services, which is the reason for business's existence, there must be recognition of the needs of individual employees as well as the needs of the company.

Mr. Fraser, who is plant placement supervisor of the Bell Telephone Co., listed four major needs of employees— security or protection, personal recognition, the need to be accepted by the group, and the need for achievement or the use of personal talents.

A company needed a cor-ordinated team of people who were willing and anxious to do the job required of them. Management played the role of quarterback on this team, being responsible for knowing and calling the signals, knowing the score and how close the team is to winning or losing.

Fake Premier Lands In Jail

LINZ, Austria (Reuters) — The self-styled "premier" of Nauretana" has shed his regal robes for prison garb.

Officials said here today that Robert Kreissl, who hoodwinked citizens of the nearby village of Leonding into believing they were members of a new "world state," has been jailed for 14 months for fraud and forming a secret organization.

Kreissl, a Czech refugee, set himself up as dictator of the imaginary community and forced "citizens" to pay heavy taxes.

Police caught up with him when he sentenced two "citizens" to death for not paying taxes. A girl friend of one of the condemned men told police.

The elaborate fraud was complete with silken robe ceremonials, cabinet meetings and passports.

London Denies Claim By FBI

LONDON (Reuters)—The foreign office disputed a claim today that the Federal Bureau of Investigation holds a recording of a private speech containing Communist sympathies made in New York by a British diplomat.

But the foreign office did not deny a statement issued yesterday that the diplomat—Donald MacLean who vanished apparently to east Europe 18 months ago—held Communist sympathies.

MacLean was named as a sympathizer by Foreign Undersecretary Lord Reading in the House of Lords yesterday.

He was relpiyng to a charge from a member, Lord Elton, that [illegible] of the speech.

Court Remains Deaf To Refugee's Pleas

OXFORD, England (AP) — A British court has turned a deaf ear to the sobbing 19 - year - old daughter of a former Czech millionaire who pleaded not to be sent back to her Communist - ruled homeland.

Tearful Hildegard Dorschner appeared yesterday for failing to renew her entry permit. Her lawyer pleaded: "Consider your own children if they were sent to a place like Czechoslovakia." He said her father had escapod to West Germany and now was living penniless, in Dusseldorf.

The magistrates sentenced her to a week in prison and recommended she be deported to Czechoslovakia. She had escaped from there some time ago.

Frost Opens School

ACTON (CP) — A $225,000 addition to the public school here last night was opened by Premier Frost in the first official visit an Ontario premier has made to this town 12 miles east of Guelph. The new brick building contains a double kindergarten, four classrooms, assembly hall, kitchen, staff room and principal's office.

Medical Ethics Code Designed To Better Patient-Doctor Relations

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Few things are so generally misunderstood as medical ethics. Most people who think about this at all have some vague idea that medical ethics is a set of rules established by the medical profession to protect the doctors and confuse the public.

Actually, medical ethics is a code of behavior which physicians have developed themselves to improve their dealings with their patients and with other doctors. The origin of this code lies in the famous Oath of Hippocrates which I wish I could quote in full.

However, contrary to what many people believe, the code of ethics has been modified repeatedly because of changing conditions of society.

The opening section of the present code of ethics states: "A profession has for its prime object the service it can render to humanity; reward or financial gain should be a subordinate consideration. The practice of medicine is a profession. In choosing this profession an individual assumes an obligation to conduct himself in accord with its ideals."

A few points about "ethics" are particularly bothersome to patients. One of these arises when a patient or a patient's family wishes to change physicians.

Such a change is at all times the privilege of the patient; the only thing that the patient or the family need to do in order to make a change during the course of an illness is to notify the physician in charge that another physician is to be called in his place.

It should be obvious that if this is not done a great deal of confusion and bad feeling is likely to arise.

A second thing which seems to bother many people is the question of consultation. The code of ethics states that: "In serious illness, especially in doubtful or difficult conditions, the physician should request consultations." This is clear enough, and the patient, too, can ask the attending physician for a consultation by another physician.

A final point which comes up occasionally, and which this column has been asked, is whether there is any way by which a patient who feels he has not been properly treated, has been overcharged, or is otherwise dissatisfied, can ask for review of the conduct of the physician.

In a large number of places this is now possible since a goodly number of county and state medical societies have set up committees to hear complaints of this sort. Such committees have accomplished a great deal of good, and I am glad to say that most of them have not had too much to do.

Since physicians, like patients, are human beings, and since the human body is a complicated organism, there will always be some unfortunate experiences with medical care and more misunderstandings.

However, it seems beyond question that the principles of medical ethics have been enormously helpful to the public welfare and that this code has greatly improved the relationship between the medical profession and the public.

Rev. John Agnew Dies In London, Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Rev. John A. Agnew, veteran of 47 years of ministry in western Ontario with the Methodist and United Churches, died in hospital last night.

The 76-year-old minister suffered a heart attack while driving his car.

Mr. Agnew retired in June, 1947, but was assistant minister of Calvary United Church, London, until his death.

He served in the old Methodist Church as conference chairman and later as chairman of the United Church Presbytery. In 1939 he was elected president of the London Conference.

Born at Lucknow, his first charges were at Clinton, Kingsville, and St. Marys.

RHEUMATIC PAIN
Can Be Costly!

"This winter I had to quit work because of rheumatic pain," writes Mr. T. Glofcheskie, Wilno, Ont. "I became fearful of being laid up as on a previous occasion with rheumatic pain. My pain became increasingly severe and spread from hip to ankle. Out of bed, the leg felt cold as though in cold water, so I stayed in bed. A friend persuaded me to take T-R-C's and I'm glad I did. In a short while I was relieved of my pain and was soon on the job again."

Don't suffer from Rheumatic or Arthritic pain. Take Templeton's T-R-C's—Canada's LARGEST-SELLING proprietary medicine to bring quick relief from such pain. Only 65c, $1.35 at druggists. T-648

THIS IS NATIONAL HAT WEEK – OCTOBER 25 TO NOVEMBER 1ST

Pick Right Hat To Suit Shape Of Face

Some men are lucky when they buy a hat. They have a face that is neither too long, too broad or too anything and they can wear just about any style of hat and it will look suitable.

But others have faces that need some thought before dressing up with a hat. However, it isn't impossible to get a hat that will help your appearance.

A man, for instance, with a deep, full face needs a hat of a medium height, with a full crown and a wide brim snapped down full across.

Someone with a square face finds that a rounded medium crown with a full snap brim or off-the-face hat is ideal.

If you're stuck with a short full face, you need a medium crown with a very slight taper. The brim should be flat snapped and tilt avoided.

The long slender face takes a tapered moderate height crown, moderate width brim, well rolled with a full snap to fill out the features.

The top heavy face is good looking under tapered crown. The brim should roll and short snap. Do not tilt the hat back as this tends to show too much forehead.

The short slender face needs a low crown shaped high and narrow at the front, low and spread out at the back. An off-the-face will add inches to height.

FINE NATURAL PORT

Kingston, Jamaica, has one of the finest natural harbors in the world, 16 square miles of which seven have a 7-10-fathom depth.

DESERT WAR MISSIONARIES—Prime Minister Winston Churchill puffs on the inevitable big cigar as he shakes hands with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, during a recent reunion in London of the men who made history at El Alamein ten years ago, members of the British Eighth Army of the last war. Waiting his turn to greet Gen. Ridgway is Viscount Montgomery, who commanded the famous desert unit of Commonwealth fighting men. The officer in centre background is not identified.

Small Countries Warned To Build Own Atomic Energy

By RONALD PRESTON

BELGRADE (Reuters) —Small countries were warned here that they had better start building atomic energy on their own or risk falling behind bigger countries in the race for higher standards of living.

"In a few years, a country which has no atomic energy will be like one today which has no electricity," Dr. Gunnar Randers, director of the Norwegian-Dutch Institute on Nuclear Research told technicians at Belgrade University.

He said that atomic research and development were well within the resources of small nations especially if they co-operated.

Dr. Randers cited atom-driven oil tankers and fast mail boats as among the best fields of atomic research by small states

CLAIMED NOT EXPENSIVE

Rejecting as out of date the idea that atomic energy is too expensive and too complicated for small nations to develop, he continued: "It took several years for scientists to convince themselves that many things can be done without such great expense."

Randers said that in general the cost "of power from atomic energy is at least as cheap as other sources of power and may be cheaper."

An atomic power plant would cost more to build but "much less" to run than other types of power stations.

One great advantage of the atomic plant is that the power it produces can be regulated to increase considerably without adding more fuel.

HIGH-SPEED SHIPS

This would mean that with an atom-propelled cargo boat a speed of about 35 knots could be attained merely by regulating the energy output of the atomic plant, whereas the ordinary ship has to carry more fuel, and therefore less cargo when increased speed is required.

Dr. Randers declared that the discovery of atomic energy is of the same importance to the human race as the first use of fire, and said he is convinced that "atomic energy will be known as an industrial development for raising the standard of living long after it has been forgotten as a weapon of war."

Smartens Men's Appearance Good Reason To Wear Hats

Canadian hatmakers have set aside the week of October 25 to November 1 as National Hat Week a week in which they devote their not inconsiderable resources to urging the Canadian male to outfit himself with a new hat.

They are after the man who doesn't wear a hat, the man who always wears one, and the man who sometimes wears one.

Why wear a hat? That question will be asked often enough.

There are a number of reasons: Some wear hats to hide bald spots, others wear them in winter to keep their heads warm, others wear them in summer to keep the sun out of their eyes, and nervous swains hold them in their hands to twist them and appear bashful.

IMPROVES APPEARANCE

One of the paramount reasons advanced by hatters is an appeal to man's vanity: A good-looking hat is a fashionable article, and no well-dressed man should be without one.

This appeal to vanity is often successful; the appeal which includes warmth and comfort aids and abets it, and the result is that most Canadian males, by the time they are able to vote, own hats.

There is one characteristic of Canadian hats that stands out: They are never giddy or gaudy, while they may be gay in a restrained fashion. Unlike their counterparts which perch, cling and droop on female heads, men's hats are most conservative.

TEN-GALLON

Western Canada is perhaps the scene of the gayest hat in the Dominion—the modified ten-gallon. This is the mark of the prosperous businessman, whether he be in oil, real estate, grain, or men's wear.

These prosperouus-looking hats in shades running from rich cream to white have made their forays into the east on the heads of football fans and financiers proud of their heritage on visits to Toronto's Bay Street and Montreal's St. James' Street.

For the rest of the land, the fedora (snap brim type) is the most popular. A hat whose basic style was set not long past the turn of the century, the fedora continues to command the admiration of more men than any other style of hat.

The christie has gone by the board, and the straw hat is losing its place in the sun. The homburg decks fewer and fewer heads but the fedora, like Tennyson's brook, goes on forever.

Hatmakers insist that a man is not losing a friend by relegating the tattered headpiece he owns to the status of fishing hat. He is gaining a new personality, they say.

Hallowe'en Party Held By YPU's

HAVELOCK (ENS). — Picturesque, grotesque and weird costumes appeared in the Sunday school auditorium of the United church when the Havelock Y.P.U. entertained members of Campbellford and Norwood Y.P.U.'s at a Hallowe'en party Monday evening. About 85 young people attended.

The platform, decorated to resemble a ghost town, with a grave, a ghost, the floor covered with leaves and bare limbs of trees casting shadows on the wall under a soft blue light, provided a spooky setting for the occasion. Evergreens and pumpkins with lighted candles decorated the windoys.

The evening commenced with a sing-song led by Charles Carter with the Rev. R. G. Newman at the piano. Then came the grand march and the costume prizes were awarded as follows: best dressed boy, (cowboy costume), Archie LaBrash, Norwood; best dressed girl (Sunbonnet Sue), Miss Muriel Emmons, Campbellford; comic costume (witch), Miss Shirley Thompson, Norwood; original dress (fashionable old lady), Albert Smith, Havelock; best pair (aged ocuple), Misses Barbara and Doris Brown, Norwood. The judges were Mrs. R. G. Newman, Charles Carter and [illegible]. After the dismissing, a worship period was led by the Campbellford Y.P.U. with their president, Earl Taft, giving the call to worship. The scripture lesson was read by Donald Rose and Miss Lulu Petherick led in prayer. The Misses Barbara Smith and Margaret Nelson sang a duet. The Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith of Campbellford gave an address on the subject "What Prayer Is." "Scavenger Hunt" was held after.

War Criminal Gilch Released

HEIDELBERG, Germany (Reuters)—United States authorities said today they have released another German war criminal, Johann Gilch, 64.

Gilch had been sentenced to 10 years in prison as one of two Nazi guards involved in the shooting of a captured American airman. He was released for good conduct.

The western powers have released 172 German war criminals from three main prisons in Germany so far this year. They still hold 548 in these prisons, the West German news agency D.P.A. reported today.

The prisons are at Werl, Westphalia (British zone), Landsberg, Bavaria (U.S. zone), and Wittlich Rhineland Palatinate (French zone).

The 548 Nazis detained do not include those held in the Soviet zone of Germany, nor the leading Nazis held in the Spandau prison in the British sector of Berlin.

Paper Gets Requests To Switch Support

NEW YORK (AP)—The new York Times says today it has received in the last four days 3,917 letters and telegrams asking it to [illegible] Adlai E. Stevenson.

The Times says that in the same period it received 266 messages favoring the paper's stand for Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee.

Receipt of the mail, the Times says, started after an advertisement was inserted in the newspaper urging its readers to ask the Times to switch to Stevenson, the Democratic nominee.

Gas Plant To Close

STRATFORD (CP) — Stratford's gas plant will be closed May 1, 1953 or earlier if the plant breaks down before then. City Council last night approved a sub-committee recommendation that the plant be closed and that the approximately 600 gas consumers be officially advised by the Public Utilities Commission.

Philip May Fly

LONDON (Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh, husband of the Queen, is "considering the suggestion" that he learn to fly. The R.A.F. and the Royal Naval Air Service have been vying for the job of training him. Reports last night indicated that the Duke will accept the invitation.

Opens Paper Parcel Man Blown To Bits

PARIS (Reuters)—Cafe owner Pierre Chiari, 50, was blown to pieces today when a mysterious paper parcel exploded in his hand cutside his home.

Chiari was emptying his garbage when he noticed the parcel, wrapped in newspaper, lying near his front door. He had started to unwrap it when the explosion occurred.

French Jet Fighter Makes Record Flight

PARIS (Reuters)—France's jet fighter Mystere 452 today became the first French plane to break through the sound barrier, about 700 miles an hour at sea level.

The faster-than-sound flight was made during tests at Melun, 20 miles southeast of Paris.

The Mystere 452 is one of the planes selected for the N.A.T.O. forces.

The pilot is Marian Davis, a member of the U. S. research team appointed by the Mutual Security Agency to test planes scheduled for production under American purchasing programs for the North Atlantic forces.

Most Miners Returning On Lewis Order

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The soft-coal industry roared toward full production today, with only a very few diggers failing to respond to the back-to-work order of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Most sources estimated 370,000 soft-coal miners will be on the job before the day is out.

The miners trooped back to work after a one-week strike, confident they will get the pay boost which Lewis negotiated with the industry.

Miners had been making $16.35 a day when Lewis and the industry agreed on a $1.90-a-day increase. The Wage Stabilization Board reduced the increase to $1.50 on the grounds that anything more would be inflationary.

Lewis told his men to stay out until they got the full increase. He reversed himself after a talk with President Truman.

The W.S.B.'s action has been appealed by both the union and the bituminous coal operators to economic stabilizer Roger Putnam.

Quiet Departure

LONDON (Reuters)—The first group of families of British officials in Tehran to leave Iran following the breaking of Anglo-Iranian diplomatic relations arrived Tuesday by air. They said the departure from Tehran was "friendly and very quiet."

ATTEND GUILD WEEK—Returning to their home town in England, which they left 23 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Titterington, of 207 King George St., were in time to see Preston celebrate Guild Week, an event occurring once every 20 years. They are shown here signing the Visitors' Book.—(United Kingdom Information Photo).

Peterborough Couple Attend Ancient Preston Guild Week

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Titterington, 207 King George St., who left their home town of Preston, England, in 1929, timed their visit this year to coincide with the ancient city's Guild Week.

The old Lancashire market town, whose history stretches back to the Crusades, lets itself go only once in 20 years. But when it does, the narrow streets are a hubbub of cheering, excited crowds for 16 hours each day for a week.

Preston Guild Merchant is an event which dates back 800 years to the time when the first charter was given to the town to hold a week of celebration. During this time the merchants were given their trading rights and the freedom of Preston was conferred upon the Burgesses.

The Preston Guild Merchant of 1952, latest in the long line of these weeks, was a mixture of mediaeval pagentry and the products of modern industry. The C.G.E. employee and his wife saw historic ceremonies like the swearing-in of the bewigged Guild court with its picturesque retainers; pageants, concerts and a three-mile long procession showing what Preston of today makes for Britain and the world. These included Canberra jet bombers, railway engines, buses, cloth and many other items.

Visitors from all over the world were present this year, following the same idea which was practised in 1782 on a smaller scale. In those days the festivities lasted anywhere up to six weeks. But now, the busy town only spares a week from its more serious tasks.

Montreal Editor Not Converted By China Visit

LONDON (CP)—Gerard Filion, editor of the Montreal newspaper Le Devoir, made this comment last night after a five-week visit to Communist China and Russia:

"I can say this: I was not a Communist when I went behind the Iron Curtain, and I am even less a Communist now."

He made the comment in Paris in a telephone interview. On his return to Canada he plans to write a series of articles on his trip.

Without going into details, Filion added that as between Russia and China, his impressions of Russia were "worse."

The French-Canadian writer, whose editorials in Le Devoir call forth such adjectives as forthright and hard-hitting, was invited to Peiping to attend a Communist peace conference. He arrived in Prague Sept. 15, spent nearly three weeks at the Peiping conference as one of 40 observers, flew across Siberia and had "four or five" days in Moscow.

INDEPENDENT OBSERVER

He stressed that he went to the Peiping conference as an independent observer, with no strings attached.

"I was in no sense a delegate. I made no declaration of any kind while I was there." He declined detailed answers to questions about Communist surveillance in China, saying he could not make any statements without proper qualifications. But he disclosed he had no luck in trying to get in touch with Canadian missionaries in China.

"They (the Chinese) didn't say no but they didn't say yes either," Filion said.

Pressed for general impressions of his visit, he said:

"It has been a great experience: but once in a lifetime is enough. I wouldn't want to go again for a while anyway. But I'm not sorry to have had this great adventure. I don't want to say more than that till I get back to Canada."

DALLAS (AP) — Cowboy actor Roy Rogers and his wife, Dale Evans, have adopted a tiny Choctaw Indian girl. They named the seven-month-old child "Little Doe." Rogers, who says he is part Choctaw Indian himself, has five other children, three of whom are adopted.

Vote To Stay In TWUA

HAMILTON (CP)—Employees of the National Hosiery Mills yesterday voted 121 to 114 to remain in the Textile Workers Union of America, C.I.O. in a vote under the Ontario Labor Relations Board. Harold Daoust, Canadian director of the T.W.U.A., said the vote was important because it was a mill which Jack Robinson boasted was a stronghold. Robinson seceded from the T.W.U.A. and now is Ontario director of the rival United Textile Workers, (A.F.L.)

Masonry In City Had Its Start On May 17, 1848

In the May 4, 1848, issue of the Weekly Dispatch there appeared the following advertisement:

"Corinthian Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons. The brethren of the Craft in this and adjoining district are hereby notified that a dispensation for a new lodge under the above title has been received from the Provincial Grand Lodge of Canada and the same will be held on each and every Wednesday on or before the full of the moon.

"Masons desirous of joining this new lodge will be required to produce the proper certificates from the lodge of which they were last members, besides prove themselves to the satisfaction of the Brethren in the usual manner. All persons desirous of joining the fraternity, on stating their wishes to the secretary or any officers, will be furnished with the prescribed form of petition."

Thus, 104 years ago last May, Free Masonry was introduced into Peterborough and Corinthian Lodge was formally opened on May 17, 1848. The charter members were George Cunningham, John Gilchrist, the Rev. R. C. Taylor, Thomas Hay, William H. Weller, John Lesperance and the Rev. James H. Dunsford. Within a short time after the forming of the lodge, the following brethren became affiliated: Robert Dennistoun, Joseph Plymouth, Charles Berry, James W. Frood, John Drake, Kivas Tully, George Reed and George Ball.

The Lodge was formed under authority of the Grand Lodge of England and received a warrant by which it became Lodge No. 834. It worked under the English Grand Lodge until 1859 when it affiliated with the Grand Lodge of Canada.

FIRST MASTER

George Cunningham, an Englishman of mature years and of independent means, was the first worshipful master. Dr. John Gilchrist, a physician, farmer, storekeeper, distiller, lumberman and politician, who had sympathized with the rebels in 1837, became the first senior warden. The Rev. Robert Taylor, the fourth rector of St. John's Anglican Church and master of the first Grammar School, was the junior warden. Dr. Thomas Hay, an Edinburgh University man, was the first secretary.

The organization meeting and first few meetings of Corinthian Lodge were held in the Court House, a room over the present Judge's Chambers. From there the lodge in 1849 moved to the Oddfellows Hall and what is now part of the Masonic Temple. When the building was bought by Robert Nicholls in 1851, the lodge moved to rooms over a store on the east side of George St. between Hunter and Simcoe. Then to the upper part of the premises which stood on the southeast corner of George and Simcoe. Here it remained until the building was damaged by fire. After the fire, the lodge occupied the Sons of Temperance Hall but on the rebuilding of the block it moved back to the corner and occupied the second story until removal to the Dunsford block in 1887. This block is situated just south of the Peterborough Club on Water St. In 1902 the lodge went back to the corner of George and Simcoe and there remained until 1918 when the building was completely destroyed by fire. For the next year Corinthian Lodge again made use of the Oddfellows Hall and on January 31, 1919, the home for masonry became the Bank of Commerce block at the corner of Hunter and Water Sts. This has just recently been vacated.

PROMINENT CITIZENS

Some men who later became prominent in Canadian affairs and in masonry were either masters or members of Corinthian Lodge. A few of these were: William Henry Weller, who later became Master of Chancery for the Colborne District and in masonry he became grand master of Grand Lodge; Robert Dennistoun, a judge of the county of Peterborough and whose son and grandson became masters of the lodge; George Barker Hall, second judge of the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria; Thomas White, who later became Minister of Inland Revenue in the government of Sir John A. Macdonald; Kivas Tully, who had much to do in building the first railways into Peterborough, was an honorary grand master of Grand Lodge; Hon. William H. Kennedy, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Manitoba; Mr. Justice Robert M. Dennistoun, of the Manitoba Supreme Court, and many others who took a prominent part in the municipal life of Peterborough. Others represented the riding of Peterborough in the House of Commons and the Ontario Legislature.

PETERBOROUGH LODGE

Corinthian Lodge made good progress in the decade following its institution, having a considerable membership which included many men representative of the best traditions of the Anglo-Saxon race that was fast populating the lands in British North America. So following Corinthian Lodge and 15 years afterwards, a second Craft Lodge was instituted. It took the name Peterborough from the town in which it was originated. Several members from Corinthian Lodge participated, a charter was applied for, the dispensation being dated January 27, 1863. Under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Canada, the Grand Master at the time being Most Worshipful Bro. T. D. Harrington. The lodge took the number 155.

The charter members were: Dr. George Burnham, worshipful master; Robert Stevenson, senior warden; Allen T. Huffman, junior warden; P. C. Blaicher, secretary; N. Hoffeller, treasurer; Henry Lawson, senior deacon; Samuel Ridpath, junior deacon, and Thomas Galley, inner guard; and in addition to the officers were: Lewis Grant, I. J. Christie, J. M. Burns, William Helm, W. Bruce Ferguson, B. Kimball, J. A. Butterfield, A. Smith, H. Aitkens and John Drake. Eighteen in all.

The lodge prospered, and its borders were enlarged. Among those offering were names afterwards very familiar in and around Peterborough: George A. Cox, Alexander Graham, Charles Cameron, John Manson, Robert Romaine, George W. Hastings and many others.

It was during the time that Corinthian Lodge was occupying the Sons of Temperance Hall that Peterborough Lodge was formed. Joint occupancy was arranged and the two for the past 89 years have continued thus.

In addition to increasing in membership until today it is the largest lodge in the city, on the occasion of the institution of the third Craft Lodge in the city Royal Arthur, No. 523 Peterborough parted with a number of members as did Corinthian.

A member of Peterborough Lodge who later became grand master of Grand Lodge was Hon. W. J. Dunlop, now Minister of Education for Ontario. Dr. Dunlop was initiated in Peterborough lodge and made a mason early in the century when he was principal of King Edward Public School.

ROYAL ARTHUR LODGE

The two lodges operated for more than half a century. Peterborough became a city. It was part of the township of North Monaghan when the first Masonic Lodge was formed. The necessity of forming a third lodge was quite evident and Royal Arthur Lodge in 1914 came into being. Its warrant was issued on July 21, 1915, and H. R. H. Kenner, a past member of Corinthian Lodge, was its first master. Mr. Kenner was the principal of the Collegiate Institute. The immediate past master was Duncan Walker, then principal of the Normal School. J. E. L. Goodwill was the first senior warden and E. Bruce Fowler the junior warden. W. H. Walkey was the first secretary. Other charter members were Alex Gibson, John Crane, T. F. Matthews, W. R. G. Higgins, A. P. McLean, F. W. Trebilcock, George W. Haley, K. G. Lech, Cyril Lech, H. F. Hall, W. J. Kent, W. A. Logan, W. H. Lytle, C. E. Smith, J. C. Shook, W. W. Coulhard, T. M. Howard, S. H. Holden, J. G. M. Wilson and W. R. Breyfogle.

At the institution of the lodge Mr. Crane was installed as senior warden and Mr. Higgins as junior warden. However they only held office a few weeks when Mr. Goodwill and Mr. Fowler were elected to the warden's chairs.

Now, with the turn of the second half of the century and after a century of masonry in Peterborough, a fourth lodge is at present in process of being organized. This lodge is to be known as the W. J. Dunlop Lodge.

Masons Returning To Early Home In New Temple

More than a century after it first served as a meeting hall for Peterborough Masons, one of the city's oldest landmarks will be dedicated as a Masonic temple on October 31.

It was in 1849, that Corinthian Lodge 101, the first Masonic lodge formed in Peterborough, began meeting in an upstairs room of the old stone mansion on Rubidge St.

JACKSON PARK STONE

Build of stone quarried in what is now Jackson Park, its walls, 30 inches thick, have housed two of Peterborough's most well known families—the Nicholls and Hamiltons.

Since 1847, it has been a part of the Peterborough scene. In the mid-Victorian era, horse drawn carriages swung through the gates, and up the circular driveway, stopping before the steps leading to the front entrance of the two storey house with its impressive colonial pillars.

Coachmen groomed fine horses in the stables at the rear and lived in well furnished quarters just behind the house on either side of the carriage barns. Servants prepared meals in the basement kitchen and served distinguished guests at dinner parties.

Through the years, the passage of time has been reflected in the additions and alterations which have altered the sturdy two storey structure, but there are still evidences of its link with the past.

EXTENSIVE ALTERATION

Since it was acquired by the Peterborough Masonic Hall Ltd., in 1950, the interior of the old house has undergone extensive alterations, and a lodge hall 59 feet long and 47 feet wide has been erected at the rear. The stables at the rear are still intact, and the coachmen's quarters show evidence of having been used as chicken coups in recent years. The wooden pillars have been given a fresh coat of white paint and landscaping work is underway on the lawn and driveway.

P. M. Grover, a merchant in both Peterborough and Norwood, obtained the property for 75 pound sterling from Peter C. Campbell in 1846, who had obtained the patent from the crown in 1843.

In 1847, Mr. Grover built the two-storey central part of the building. He was in partnership with his brother-in-law James Foley and the same year it was built, the house and property were acquired by Lewis Moffatt through a mortgage transaction.

SOLD TO ODDFELLOWS

In June of 1847, Mr. Moffatt sold the house to the Oddfellows Lodge for 300 pounds.

It was while the Oddfellows owned the house that the recently organized Corinthian lodge left its temporary quarters over the Judge's Chambers in the Court House and began meeting in a room in the upstairs of the house. When the house was acquired for a Masonic temple two years ago, this room had been converted into two bedrooms. The partitions were removed and it will again serve as a small room for lodge meetings.

The Oddfellows sold the property in April of 1851 to Charlotte and Robert Nicholls for 280 pounds and five shillings.

TOOK ON COLONIAL AIR

Then, the grey stone dwelling took on its colonial air. The Nicholls added the two one storey wings on the north and south side and added the massive wooden pillars along the front. The gable over the square pillars with their solid timber centres completed the effect, making it the most impressive residence in the growing town.

Today, the building is still regarded as one of the finest examples of colonial architecture on the Continent. Visiting Americans and Peterborough residents who have travelled in the southern states consider that it compares favorably with the historic residence of George Washington in Virginia.

An examination of the deed at the registry office reveals an interesting sidelight on the history

Norwood Pioneer P. M. Grover Builder Of House

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

Who was Peregrine Maitland Grover, builder in 1847 of the colonial stone house, with its massive walls, which was the nucleus of the imposing Masonic Temple in Rubidge Street now being dedicated?

Why, he was "P.M." of course. This would have been deemed a sufficient answer had the question been put to any one of a host of Peterborough County people of mid-Victorian days. To these contemporaries, "P.M." was an institution, much as "T.R." and "F.D.R." were institutions to countless United States people in later times; or as "Tay Pay" (O'Connor) was to the Irish; or as "John A." (Macdonald) was to our own Canadians.

"Peregrine Maitland" was a fine upstanding name for formal or State occasions, though rather too mouth-filling for easy use among neighbors in the busy work-a-day world. Nevertheless, it has persisted through four generations of Grovers and it is borne today with high credit by a great-grandson of "P.M." now serving in Korea.

But a name at best is only a symbol (though one of wide usefulness). It cannot any more than "storied urn or animated bust back to its mansion call the fleeting breath." Only "by his fruits" can we know the dynamic, pulsing P. M. Grover as he went about his widely-varied daily occasions in real life.

BUUILT STURDY STONE HOUSE

We are fortunate in having among the "fruits" of his genius the sturdy structure of Jackson Park stone in Rubidge Street and Peterborough people may well be grateful to the Masonic Order for weaving this treasured pattern of the past into an enduring pattern for the future. The house is there to tell its own story in its own way of the living Peregrine Maitland Grover, who left his impress on Peterborough life in many of its phases.

The evolution of the house since it was built in 1847, with its successive occupancy by the Odd Fellows, the Robert Nicholls family and the Hamilton family has been well described in The Examiner and needs no repetition here. The life story of its creator, who no doubt "builded better than he knew," is not so well known.

The roots of the two Grover families, those of John and Jonah, were transplanted from Grafton, Massachussetts, to the Northumberland County community to which was given also the name Grafton. John Grover (1771-1874) married Mary Merriam, daughter of Johnson Marriam, of a Loyalist family from Connecticut who were early settlers in Percy township. Jonah Grover, the present writer's great-grandfather, born in 1773, was the husband of Lucia Baldwin, of Newton, Conn. Johnah Grover died in Oshawa in 1830, his wife in Grafton in 1822.

Peregrine Maitland, son of John Grover, a major in the militia, was born in Grafton in 1817. A sister was Almira Grover Foley who in her will made in 1892 created the continuing Trust for Peterborough widows and orphans. Another sister was Mary who became the wife of Almus Butterfield, of Hope township. Bereaved in 1832 by a cholera attack, she later married the Rev. J. A. Fidler, an early clergyman at Fenelon Falls. Her son, J. Almus, for many years was Postmaster and Division Court Clerk of Norwood, having formed a business partnership with his uncle, James Foley.

PETERBOROUGH MERCHANT

By the eighteen-forties the roots of the old Grover family tree were thriving in Peterborough County soil. "P.M." having moved about for a few years, entered business in the rising town of Peterborough in conjunction with James Foley who became his brother-in-law. The stock-in-trade of the new firm truly was diversified. Supplementing a dry goods and general store was a lumber yard. The motto of this emporium might well have been "We aim to please." Grover and Foley, too, played a part in the earliest business life of Keene, having carried on a store, for which Dr. John Gilchrist, physician, lumberman and ardent Reformer, is said to have supplied stock.

In 1846, Mr. Grover was married to Harriet Maria Keeler, daughter of Joseph Keeler, member of an old Colborne family which had a large land holding (1,000 acres or more) at the present site of Norwood. Here Joseph Keeler had established the first mill about 1825. After the consolidation of the Grover-Keeler interests systematic surveys were carried forward, with subdivision of the lands into village lots, and consequet improvements.

RETURNED TO NORWOOD

Having built the Rubidge Street house in 1847, P. M. Grover seemingly found it necessary to give his full attention to the family's Norwood interests. Hence after about 1850 the Grover and Foley activities centred in the Asphodel village, and here the families made their homes.

Here amid the broad acres and inviting lawns, P. M. Grover built "Balsam Farm House," the residence with its heavily timbered walls, which a few months ago stood four-square against a menacing fire. Its present occupant is John Irwin Grover, a grandson of the builder. Here the P. M. Grover family was reared. A son, George Alexander, married Helena Louise, daughter of C. K. Irwin, and a daughter, Mary Anne, became the wife of the Rev. John Gibson, for many years Anglican rector at Norwood.

Successor of his father at the homestead was Thomas Maitland Grover, who was admitted to the Bar in 1871 three years, after his graduation from the University of Toronto. His marriage to Isabel Farrar, daughter of the Rev. M. A. Farrar, was the first solemnized at St. Michale's Church, Westwood, which has just been celebrating its 75th anniversary.

Succeeding Thomas Maitland on the Grover farm property was his son, Peregrine Maitland, who married Mary Chaplin. His death occurred in 1946. Mrs. Grover is living in Norwood. Other children were Trevor Michael (artist) now in California; Percy C.; George Guy; Jasper K.; and Helena Louise, Reg. N., who has just removed to Haliburton after years of magnificent service in charge of the Red Cross outpost in Apsley. Overcoming almost incredible difficulties in the northern village, Miss Grover's indomitable pluck has been in the true tradition of Florence Nightingale. Peterborough people may well take to heart the example of devoted service given by Louise Grover and set their faces toward the assuring of nursing care for the necessitous in our rural areas at a modicum of cost.

FOURTH GENERATION "P.M."

The Peregrine Maitland of the fourth generation who has been on service in Korea is the son of Trevor, now of California. Noting the persistence of the name Maitland we may be reminded of the Sir Peregrine Maitland, who as Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada paid Peterborough in 1826 a memorable visit of state, in the course of which he gave attention to the spokesmen of various sections of the community while they set forth (sometimes in crude but touching language) their suggestions for amelioration of social conditions. The classic example is that of Walter Wilson, head of a Smith township deputation, who after affirming that "We hae a mill, and we hae nae mill," found his courage oozing and bade his neighbor, Jacob Bromwell, "Speak it you, sir."

Sir Peregrine, who in his younger days was a dashing cavalry officer, caused something of a sensation when the downfall of Napoleon was being celebrated with brilliant festivities in Paris. In the midst of this fete Sir Peregrine eloped with the only daughter of the Duke of Richmond, who is described as one of the most beautiful of the high-ranking ladies of the time. The good-natured Duke forgave the lovers and arranged for the appointment of his son-in-law to the Upper Canada post. Sir Peregrine's course of action as Governor in the days of the struggle for responsible government has been both praised and censured. Although finalistic appraisal doubtless must wait on history, many public works speak for themselves in the meantime as testimonials to the breadth of his interests. His name was perpetuated by a good many families in Canada and he is said to have shown his appreciation of the honor by thoughtful remembrances.

HELD IN WIDE ESTEEM

But Peregrine Maitland Grover going briskly about his multifarious affairs in Norwood was not the sort to bask in any reflected glory. He was "P.M." and that was enough. It is not for this writer to try to re-think his thoughts and retail them as history (a practice which sadly enough is not uncommon). But there is no good reason why we should not examine concrete "fruits of his individual temper and genius which will help us to know him realistically.

Clearly P.M.'s personality was such as to gain for him wide esteem and confidence among the Peterborough people of his day. For the first two terms after Confederation he was elected to Parliament as the member for East Peterborough. Entering the political field as a Conservative in 1867 he defeated James Anderson, 956-644. As a candidate for the second Parliament in 1872, he held the seat against E. Inghram, Reformer, by a majority of 48. In 1874 the East riding switched to the Reform (or Liberal) column with the election of James Hall over Colonel Robert D. Rogers (father of R. B. Rogers, Lift Lock engineer).

P. M. Grover's manifesto to the electors in 1872 was set forth in moderate terms. A copy of the handbill then circulated has been found by the present writer among the books of his grandfather, Thomas Choate, of Warsaw. Following is the text:

TO THE ELECTORS of the
EAST RIDING
of the
COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH

Gentlemen—

The term of five years for which I have had the honor of being your representative in the House of Commons is about closed, and an election will soon be held, at which you will be called upon to select a representative for the Second Parliament of our New Dominion; and as a Candidate for the position, I beg to again solicit your votes and influence.

I have been a supporter of the Union party at present in power in all their great measures, which I am ready to justify, and for those cases in which I have voted against the Ministry I am prepared to give my reasons.

Whether I again represent you or not, I shall continue to advocate any measure calculated to aid the progress of the Dominion to the fullest extent of our resources, as I believe the development of the country should be the first object of the Legislature.

With the same object I am in favor of the most liberal policy with regard to the Public Lands of the North West.

I am desirous of seeing the principle of Free Trade leading in all our Custom Regulations, and that no class of the people should be taxed for the benefit of another class.

I have supported the financial and Railway policy of the Ministry as I thought the prosperity of the country warranted.

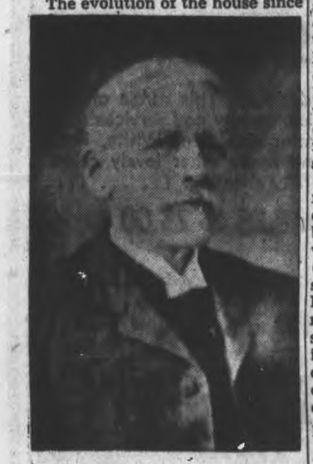
My actions on local matters are well known to you, and feeling that I possess your confidence now as in the past, I shall be glad to address you personally before the polling day.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient Servant,
P. M. GROVER.

For many years P. M. Grover was one of the most active and influential figures in County Council affairs. In 1867 (Confederation year) and 1868 he was County Warden. He was repeatedly chosen Reeve of Asphodel, his County Council service covering the years 1860 to 1866 (inclusive). He was also a Justice of the Peace. Among his neighbors and constituents he was regarded not so much as a law-maker as a "guide, philosopher and friend," to whom they could look for helpful advice in times of perplexity.

Peregrine Maitland Grover, born 1817, died in 1885. His wife Harriet Keeler, born 1822, died in 1902. Both were buried in Grafton.

Two sturdy houses fashioned by "P.M." when he was at the zenith of his powers about a century ago stand today as memorials testifying to the fruitfulness of his genius. While members of the Masonic Craft dedicate fittingly the stone structure built into the Rubidge Street Temple, the time surely is not inappropriate to give a thought, too, to the staunch old Norwood home around which cluster so many memories of good living and gracious hospitality.



ANOTHER HOUSE THAT "P.M." BUILT—Old family home of the Grovers, "Balsam Farm House," set in midst of broad lawns at Norwood, which was erected by Peregrine Maitland Grover I in the years after he built in Peterborough the stone house which was the nucleus of the fine Masonic Temple now being dedicated. Just a few months ago, the heavily timbered house withstood the assault of a menacing fire. From this home has stemmed four generations of Maitland Grovers.

PEREGRINE MAITLAND GROVER (1817-1885), Member of Parliament for East Peterborough, twice County Warden and long prominent in County Council affairs, who built in 1847 the massive stone house in Rubidge Street which is now built into the imposing Temple now being dedicated by the Masonic Order.

THE LATE THOMAS MAITLAND GROVER, son of Peregrine Maitland I, who took over "Balsam Farm House" at Norwood on the death of his father in 1885. He was called to the Bar in 1871, three years after graduation from the University of Toronto.

MISS LOUISE GROVER, Reg. N., granddaughter of Peregrine Maitland I, who has just moved to Haliburton after devoted service in charge of the Red Cross Outpost Hospital in Apsley. Miss Grover's work has been of incalculable value in caring for the afflicted in remote northern parts of the county.

THE LATE PEREGRINE MAITLAND GROVER, grandson of the first "P.M.", who succeeded his father, Thomas M., barrister, on the Grover farm property at Norwood. He died in 1946. Mrs. Grover is living in Norwood.

of the house, in that P. M. Grover was apparently a bit careless about [illegible] first acquired the property in 1846 and ownership passed to Mr. Moffatt a year later, the deed was never registered. After the Nicholls acquired the property, the oversight was apparently discovered and Mr. Grover registered the deed in April of 1864.

BOUGHT BY HAMILTONS

After 55 years in the Nicholls family, the property was purchased by W. H. Hamilton in October 1906 for $12,000. It continued in the Hamilton family, passing to Miss Margaret Hamilton in 1940, through the estate of Francis J. Hamilton. Miss Hamilton sold it to the company formed by Peterborough Masons in September 1950 for $15,000.

A two-storey cement block structure at the rear of the house was torn down, after it was acquired two years ago for a Masonic temple.

ERECT LODGE HALL

A new building of composition concrete blocks has been erected for a lodge hall and a banquet hall which will seat about 350, has been built beneath the lodge hall.

Rooms to the right of the main entrance at the front of the original two-storey stone building have been converted to lounge rooms and furnished with comfortable leather upholstered chairs. The north wing of the house will be used for regalia rooms. The south wing will be used as a preparation room, wardrobe and clothes closet.

A small room at the head of the stairs, on the second floor will be used as a board room, and the north side of the second floor, where Corinthian lodge met in 1849, has been again converted to a small lodge room.

From the lounge room, a stairway has been installed, leading to the basement. Before the north and south wings were added to the building by the Nicholls, this part of the basement was a large dining room. Later when the wings were added, the basement was enlarged and was used as servants' quarters and kitchen. Part of the basement will be used as a cloak room, and the north part is equipped with kitchen facilities.

W. H. Mortlock Construction Co. did the renovations and building the impressive lodge room. It was designed by Blackwell and Craig.

The interior of the lodge room has four timber arches evenly spaced along the gabled roof. Rheostat switches can dim the 13 glass electric fixtures, hanging from the ceiling from full brightness to darkness.

Seven chairs along the north wall "The East" have been donated in memory of leaders in Peterborough Masonry by their families. Other furniture in the temple is from the old lodge quarters but has been refinished and re-upholstered. A mosaic pattern in blue and white mastic tile has been laid before the altar.

Throughout the interior, all door knobs and hardware bears the Masonic emblem of square and compass with the letter "G" in the centre. These were specially designed by the Peterborough Lock Co., for the temple.

When the temple is dedicated by Most Worshipful Brother James Maher of Toronto on Friday, it will mark the completion of years of planning by the Masons of Peterborough who have looked forward to obtaining a new temple.

Mr. Maher who will dedicate the temple, is a past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario.

Eisenhower Hotly Denies He's Anybody's Captive

NEW YORK (CP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower says he is "not a captive of anybody." Adlai E. Stevenson disagrees and says in fact, the General has made a "negotiated peace with the enemy."

The opposing points of view were expressed last night by the rival candidates for the presidency as they ended another tough day on the trail that for one of them will end in the White House.

Eisenhower's denial that he is a "captive" was made in a country-wide television-radio question-and-answer program in which he also replied to President Truman's charge that the General was responsible for the decision that led to withdrawal of United States troops from Korea before war broke out there.

The Democrats charge that if the General becomes president, he will be subject to the demands and policies of the "Old Guard" of his party. Eisenhower denies that he has "made a deal" with anyone.

RENEWS CHARGES

But Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, renewed the charge at a Madison Square Garden rally which also was sent across the country by radio and television. He said Eisenhower compromised with his principles when he met with Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft and, the Governor said, adopted the principles which Taft advocates.

In replying to Truman's Korea-responsibility charge, made Monday night, Eisenhower said the Administration used an outdated, 1947 "secret military estimate" as the basis for the decision to withdraw troops from Korea. The Administration thus "abdicated" its civilian authority.

With only six days remaining before the election, the candidates were driving for New York State's 45 electoral votes, top prize among the states. The race is rated close in New York.

Throngs in Manhattan cheered Stevenson and showered streets with ticker tape and streamers as he completed a 90-mile motorcade through New York City and northern New Jersey. Eisenhower drove for 80 miles through autumn flowers and flurries of confetti in Queens, across the East River.

In the midwest, President Truman declared that the policies of Eisenhower's chief backers "are bound to put this country into another Republican depression sooner or later."

Obituary

HARRY DOXTATOR

ROSENEATH (ENS). — Harry Doxtator of Concession 1, Alnwick Township, died on Tuesday after a long illness. Mr. Doxtator, who was in his 61st year, was known throughout the district as school teacher turned successful agriculturist.

He was a member of the Northumberland Federation of Agriculture, president of the Northumberland County Hog Producers' Association, and he was an active member of the Roseneath Agricultural Society.

He died at his farm home, early Tuesday, three miles southeast of Roseneath.

Mr. Doxtator was born in Harwood 60 years ago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Doxtator. The family later moved to Alnwick Township. After being graduated from the Warkworth High School he attended the Peterborough Normal School. And he taught school in Ottawa, Brighton, Orillia, Beeton and the Roseneath district.

Fifteen years ago he returned to Alnwick and took up farming, and he became well known throughtout the county for his interest in agriculture. Besides his other associations, he was president of the Roseneath Swine Club and he remained an active supporter of farm forums.

He was a prominent Warkworth Mason.

He leaves his wife, the former Florence Ethel Curts, whom he married 25 years ago in London Ontario. They had no children.

Also left are a brother Elvin Doxtator of Peterborough, four sisters, Mrs. Ross McCracken (Edna) of Roseneath, Miss Ethel Doxtator, Reg. N., of Toronto, Mrs. Kirby Pearce (Myrtle) of Toronto, and Mrs. Stanley Hutcheson (Verna) of Fenella.

The funeral will be at his home 2 p.m. Thursday, the Rev. A. L. Sisco of St. Paul's Church, Warkworth, officiating. There will be a Masonic service. Burial will be in Warkworth Cemetery.

Awarded $1,000

ROCESTHER, N.Y. (AP)—Trumpeter John Birks (Dizzy) Gillespie last night was awarded $1,000 for injuries suffered Aug. 5, 1949, when his bicycle was overthrown by a car. A jury decided that Gillespie's injuries contributed to a feeling of "blacking out" and dizziness when he attempts to reach high notes on his trumpet. The damages were assessed against Joachim Nachbar of Detroit.

CWL Honors President Of Sacred Heart Group

MARMORA (ENS).—The executive of Marmora Catholic Women's League met Monday evening at the home of the Misses Clara and Lena Sullivan to honor Mrs. J. A. Shannon on the eve of her departure from the community. Mrs. William Shannon on behalf of the organization presented Mrs. Shannon with a crucifix, and Mrs. James Black, past president, read an address.

In its course, Mrs. Shannon took occasion to resign as president of the Sacred Heart League and Mrs. Charles Cook was appointed as her successor. Mrs. Shannon was press convener for the League for a number of years and for about 10 years has been group leader of Group 5.

Painful Cramps of "Monthly Periods" halted or strikingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in test by doctors!

Lydia Pinkham's has a quieting effect on the uterine contractions (see chart) which often cause menstrual pain!

• Women and girls who suffer from those functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches of menstruation — who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" — may often be suffering quite unnecessarily!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Modern in action!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's Compound is thoroughly modern in action. It strikes directly at the cause of menstrual pain!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through the month. See if you don't get the same relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets (with added iron). Both are grand, too, for those "hot flashes" and nervous feelings of "change of life"!

Don't suffer needlessly . . . when relief may be so near!

Marmora News

Misses Evelyn Brooks, Barbara Nobes, Margaret Ann Smith and Sheila Corrigan, nurses-in-training at Peterborough Civic Hospital, were weekend guests at their respective homes.

Miss Dora Lawrence of Parry Sound, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Lawrence.

Mrs. Harold Nobes recently spent a week with relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith and son Ronald visited Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. George Lee in Madoc township on Sunday.

Weekend guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stewart and family of Campbellford with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nobes; Mr. and Mrs. Eldon McGarvey and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore and daughter Linda of Belleville with Mr. Hillard McGarvey.

Franklin C. Smith, formerly of Brighton, has taken over the Crawford bus line operating between Marmora and Belleville as from Tuesday of last week.

COUNCIL FRIDAY

It appears that the season of the deer hunt opens next week with some of the aldermen, and Mayor Waddell, planning to take to the woods. So as not to disrupt their expectations and schedule, the regular meeting of the council has been advanced from Monday, Nov. 3 to Friday evening this week.

NICOTIANA GONE

An attractive bed of nicotine plants, heavy with bloom, has been missing from Monaghan Road south of Charlotte St. since the frost smote the city's horticulture about 10 days ago. Their disappearance down in the vicinity of 1298 on the west side has been one of the tolls of changing weather.

URGES WOMEN CANDIDATES

Women should play a more important part in municipal affairs, Mayor Charles Lamb of Lindsay said at a civic dinner of the Lindsay Business and Professional Women's Club Monday night. Mayor Lamb pledged his personal support to any woman who decides to run for alderman.

FUNERAL

The funeral for Mrs. Charles Levi Bickell, the former Laura Fairborn of Lakefield, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital Monday, will be held from the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield, Thursday. The Rev. Horace Kaye of the Lakefield Presbyterian Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Lakefield cemetery.

TWO SMALL FIRES

Firemen had to answer two small fire alarms Tuesday. A flooded oil burner was reported at the home of John O'Neil of 197 Brock St. It was only a minor flareup and nothing was used. A handpump was used to put out a chimney fire at the home of Frank Morrison of 174 Lock St.

ADJOURN APPEAL

An appeal from a conviction of bootlegging against Norman Manley, 49, of 206 Lansdowne St., has been adjourned to the general sessions of the peace in November. Manley was sentenced to two months in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C., last Jannary and his appeal has been pending since then. He is being defended by W. J. Arthur Fair, Q.C. The appeal was to have been heard Tuesday by Judge John de N. Kennedy, but Mr. Fair was absent and the appeal was again adjourned.

GETS NEW GAME POST

A. M. (Alf) Hodgson, former Lindsay policeman and Trent district game warden and wild life specialist has been appointed Fish and Wildlife Specialist at North Bay. After serving eight years on the Lindsay police force, he joined the then Department of Fisheries in 1938 which was merged with the Department of Lands and Forests in 1946. Mr. Hodgson was wildlife specialist in the Trent district for ten years, before being transferred to Cochrane in 1948.

Fired At Hall To Prevent Shooting

Melville Tripp Tells Story of Shooting In Apsley Affray

Whether Donald Hall, 29, of Scarboro Junction, will face trial on a charge of shooting a loaded shotgun at Melville Tripp on September27 with intent to do grievious bodily harm, hinges on a decision of Magistrate W. R. Philp to be given Thursday.

After evidence was heard at a preliminary hearing Monday, Magistrate Philp reserved judgment to decide if the evidence merited Hall being committed for trial.

Tripp, a 30-year-old Burleigh Township construction worker and father of five children, faces the same charge as Hall. He is charged with shooting a loaded shotgun at Hall with intent to do grievious bodily harm.

Of the two, Hall came out second best in the shooting which took place eight miles south of Apsley on a Saturday afternoon. Hall was wounded in the right shoulder by a charge of shot fired by Tripp. The shot that Hall is alleged to have fired at Tripp went through the door of the cabin Tripp and his family are living in and imbedded itself in the roof.

AIMED AT SHOULDER

"I figured there was only one thing to do to stop him from doing any further shooting," Tripp told Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw at the hearing. "I aimed at his shoulder and fired." Tripp said in explaining why he shot at Hall, after he said two shots had been fired.

After he had ordered William Clinton, 49, out of the cabin, Tripp said Clinton refused to leave. Seeing Clinton reach in his back pocket for a beer bottle, Tripp said he picked up his shotgun which was standing at the side of the cabin wall.

Tripp's wife and five children were in the cabin, and while Clinton was tugging at the bottle, he heard a shout outside and "heard a shotgun blast."

GUN RAISED

"The shot came from the northeast side of the cabin," Tripp went on. "I saw Hall staggering toward the cabin with the shotgun raised to his shoulder."

Tripp said he again turned to Clinton and asked him to leave, and Clinton refused, then Tripp said he loaded the shotgun.

Hall came right in front of the open door, Tripp said, and a shotgun blast came through the wall, three and a half inches above his head. He said the shot shattered a mirror and ended up in the roof of the cabin.

Then to prevent Hall from doing any more shooting, Tripp said he fired, hitting him in the shoulder. He said Hall said, "I guess I'm hit," and dropped to the ground.

Although he rented the cabin originally from Clinton, Tripp said he later found it was owned by a James Guiry of Toronto. He said he had made an arrangement with Guiry for the rent. He had never seen Hall before as far as he knew.

He said his wife awakened him when Clinton walked into the cabin, and it was after Tripp told Clinton to leave and Clinton refused that the shooting took place.

After Hall had been shot, and was being treated in the cabin, Tripp said Clinton picked up the gun and threatened to shoot everyone in the cabin.

Clinton was 'very drunk," according to Tripp, and Hall went back out of the cabin and took the shotgun away from Clinton and unloaded it.

Tripp said Clinton's wife, who was also "very drunk," came into the cabin after the shooting, and another argument was developing when Hall told both Clinton and his wife to leave, and eventually they did.

DROVE HIM TO APSLEY

Tripp said he drove Hall in Hall's car to Apsley, then to Lakefield for treatment of the wound.

DIFFERENCE IN COLOR

Children learn the value of money early. One city man, who is a traveller, confirmed this recently with a story of his two-year-old daughter. His custom has been to divide between his children whatever he may have in the way of pennies in his pocket after returning from an out-of-town trip. Recently he was met, on his return, by his daughter. She was given several cents, looked at them rather coldly and said: "Where's the nickels, dad, huh, where's the nickels?"

Queen's Will Use Trust Fund For Research

Interest on a million dollar trust fund at Queen's University is to be used entirely to support scholarship and research at the university. So Principal W. A. Mackintosh told Queen's graduates of Peterborough district at their annual dinner Tuesday evening at the Kawartha Club. Ninety graduates, wives and friends assembled to hear the principal.

Dr. Mackintosh said that the intention was not to develop a large graduate school but to assist scholarship itself.

Present outstanding members of the professorial staff "working on the fringe of knowledge" and other scholars attracted to the university and supported by the million dollar trust fund, would take some graduate students, but would primarily advance their own work and also teach undergraduate classes. Principal Mackintosh felt that "great names" at Queen's should never be isolated from the undergraduate body.

A "NATIONAL" UNIVERSITY

In his address Dr. Mackintosh discussed the function and future of a university, with special emphasis on Queen's as a "national" university.

He said that he did not mean this phrase in either a pretentious or an invidious sense. "In this country there is a tremendous value in certain universities attempting to attract students from all parts of the country." At Queen's the aim was to try to give students contacts with other students who come from other localities and various parts of Canadian life.

AUSTRALIAN CONDITION

Principal Mackintosh contrasted universities in Australia, which he visited officially last year. At the university at Sydney he found that 85% of the students came from the city of Sydney, and 14% from New South Wales, of which Sydney is the centre. He said that there was "almost no crossing of the state line."

He compared this situation with that at Queen's, to which one school in British Columbia this year sent as many freshmen as did the whole of the Peterborough district.

It is to promote this "national" quality at Queen's, said the principal, that the biggest scholarships at the university are awarded provincially, one each year for each province.

"We are concerned that the students be good, knowledgeable Canadians who know something about their own country, and that they be from all parts of Canada, and not from a region."

AWAY FROM HOME

He felt that university development in Canada was towards two kinds: a metropolitan university (like Paris or London universities) who draw most of their students from one city; and residential universities like Queen's, where the students are away from home.

Principal Mackintosh asserted "the great educational value of separating children from their parents, for a stage. This is "a matter of the law of growth of the human young."

Dr. T. E. Currier, president of the Peterborough branch of Queen's alumni, presided at the dinner. The speaker was thanked by G. McKelvey of Bancroft.

Resort Operators Open Convention

The fourth annual Kawartha Tourist Convention got under way this morning and, according to organizer and manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, James Fraser, attendance numbers were disappointingly small.

He could not account for the poor turnout though his office had issued more than 350 bulletins and invitations to resort members.

The One-Star rating of summer resorts was discussed first with James McHattie, chief inspector, and Al Venn, special assistant to the Deputy-Minister, both of the Department of Travel and Publicity, heading the panel. This was followed by discussions on advertising and publicity. The afternoon meeting was devoted to fish and game with Charles Weir of the Lands and Forests Department both giving out information and answering questions from the audience. The algae question was also discussed and a speaker from the Department of Health took the chair; by press time it was not known who the speaker was because of last-minute changes at Queen's Park.

Resort members of the Chamber who were in attendance throughout the day were from Peterborough, Lakefield, Bobcaygeon, Lindsay, Keene, Bridgenorth, Buckhorn, Harwood, Bancroft and Young's Point.

AN ASPIRING CARRIER PIGEON sits nonchalantly on messenger Ernest Browne's hat as he delivers a telegram at the hotel cigar counter to Mrs. Lillian Buss. The bird flew onto Browne's shoulder while he was wheeling along Simcoe St., and stayed with him throughout the morning. Whether it is just a friendly bird or one determined to gain winter employment no one will ever find out. It made most people look more than once and ask themselves if they were seeing things.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Co-Op Sells Feed Mill To United Co-Ops, $50,000

Announcement of the sale for $50,000 of the feed mill section of their plant and building at George and Dalhousie Streets to the United Co-Operatives of Ontario was officially made to the members of Peterborough District Co-Operative Services at their annual meeting Tuesday night. This transaction is a transfer by Peterborough Co-Op of part of the property which it originally bought from the Maple Leaf Milling Company through the agency of the United Co-Operatives.

Vern Campbell, president of the Co-Op, was chairman of the business meeting following the dinner at the Empress Hotel.

He introduced to the assembly of some 300 men and women Gordon W. Hern, the new general manager of the Peterborough business since early last summer.

Mr. Campbell and Clarence Mann were re-elected directors. The other members of the board are: Willard Waterman, Harold Millen, Clifford Johnston, Stewart Nelson, and Charles McMillan who is president of the Havelock Co-Op.

BOARD REDUCED

With the sale of Warkworth facilities to people of that area, the board was reduced from eight to seven members. That change eliminated the former Warkworth representative. By a sad coincidence, that member of the board was Harry Doxtator whose death early Tuesday was reported in the Examiner. His funeral will take place Thursday to Warkworth cemetery.

The after dinner speaker was Arthur Musgrave of Clarksburg, Ontario, a director of the U.C.O. Winners of two draws by Frank C. Paterson concluding the evening were: Mrs. C. E. Moore of Smith who received a pressure cooker, and Harry McBain of Cavan who is entitled to 500 pounds of Co-Op feed of his own choice.

Introduced by Clifford Johnston at the head table with him were: Mr. Campbell, Mr. Hern, Mr. Paterson, Claude Brillinger, Toronto, of U.C.O.; Mr. Musgrave and C. Croswell, representing G. H. Ward, C.A., auditor.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Mr. Croswell presented the financial statement of Peterborough Co-Op for its business year ending June 30 last, and in his address as president, Mr. Campbell also referred extensively to it.

Peterborough Co-Op is operating on a management agreement with the United Co-Operatives of Ontario, Mr. Campbell, said. Previous practice of management had carried merchandise in the inventory past the place where cost could be realized. Depreciation of inventory was something that happened generally in business, Mr. Campbell said. Appraisal of such stock and material recommended a write-down of $13,785, plus a further sum of $13,763 in doubtful accounts receivable, which were not, however, being cancelled. There were values in both these items.

The "write-down" of accounts did not mean that they were being written off, Mr. Campbell said. An effort would be made to collect them. In the book-keeping these two sums amounted to $27,548, still creditable in the year's operations.

NET LOSS

The statement of operations showed a net loss for the year of $21,846. When that was subtracted from the deductions for inventory and debts, the actual gain was $6,062.

J. E. Gillespie To Retire From Council

Ald. J. E. Gillespie said today that he was retiring from the municipal service when his present aldermanic term runs out at the end of the year.

"The plain fact is that pressure of business is going to prevent me from being a candidate again," Ald. Gillespie said. "Besides that, I rather think I have done my share, although it is something you don't feel like talking about. Still, 5½ years in the Army and 4 years in the City Council, make up about 10 years of one's life."

Ald. Gillespie said he really liked the work of the council, and possibly he might have been re-elected again if he were in the field of candidates.

"It takes time, and I don't mean only the meetings. Once in a while somethings happens that is not so pleasant, but, on the whole, I have really liked the work, and I appreciate the fact that citizens gave me a chance to be on the council. But, there is the other fact, that your own business makes its demands, and there you are."

Election Soon Says G. K. Fraser

Straws in the political wind from Ottawa indicate a Federal election before long, G. K. Fraser, M.P. for Peterborough West, predicted on Tuesday.

In a telephone interview from his Burleigh Falls home where he is recuperating from a recent operation, Mr. Fraser said "the rest Cabinet shake-up indicates something is in the wind."

One factor that may postpone the election until the summer, Mr. Fraser feels, is the desire of Cabinet minister's wives to attend the Coronation in June.

Ottawa newspapers carried stories last week that wives of Cabinet ministers are urging their husbands to make sure there is no election before the Coronation so they will have an opportunity of attending the ceremony.

Mr. Fraser says that he believes this is definitely true and a factor in preventing the government from not calling an election sooner.

"The government is aware of the fact that it has lost a lot of friends," he explained, "and will try to have an election as soon as they think it is possible to have it."

Although he is recovering satisfactorily from a recent operation at Civic Hospital, Mr. Fraser said he has been advised by his doctor not to attend any public functions for another week or so.

Police Seize Sheets

TORONTO (CP) — Police yesterday seized sheets recording more than $1,000 in bets in a west-end house. Fred Morris, 41, was charged with keeping a common betting house and recording and registering bets.

Pickets Peaceful After Incidents At Hobbs Glass

Peaceful picketing is going on today at the Hobbs Glass plant on Sherbrooke Street where 11 employees are out on strike.

The employees, members of Local 527, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (Indep.), began their strike Tuesday morning in protest at what they called company "stalling" in reaching a collective bargaining agreement. Local 527 was certified in September, 1951—13 months ago—and the two parties have not yet reached agreement.

Local 527 waited for eight days after the recommendations of the Conciliation Board—a legal waiting period before starting a strike.

TWO INCIDENTS

There were at least two incidents Tuesday on the picket line.

A truck with a load on tried to drive away from the plant, and after the pickets milled about the vehicle somebody shattered the windshield. A police escort was obtained to clear the way for the trucker.

The other incident was a minor one: A Peterborough contractor who went into the Hobbs Glass office to get some packaged glass, already ordered, was punched on the shoulder as he walked back through the picket line.

There were indications today that the company would be moving no more windows, for the present at least Company officials indicated that they didn't want any more untoward incidents.

The strikers' demands include a general wage increase of 15 cents an hour, paid retroactively; overtime pay; checkoff; eight statutory holidays with pay; and a change in the company's management rights.

A report from the Conciliation Board recommended only the eight statutory holidays.

Car Crashes Tree, Fire Breaks Out, Guts Auto

A 1941-model car was gutted by fire Monday midnight in a spectacular blaze on Highway 7, five miles east of Peterborough.

A short circuit or a broken gas line are believed to have started the fire after the car, being driven west on the highway by 23-year-old John A. Lewis of Percy township, crashed into a tree.

Lewis was coming toward Peterborough when the front right tire of his car blew out. The car swerved off onto the north shoulder and then into the north ditch where it struck a tree. Even before Lewis was able to get out, the front end of the damaged vehicle caught fire.

Both Lewis and a passenger were unharmed.

By the time O.P.P. Constable Harold Armstrong got to the accident, early Tuesday morning, the car was a mass of flame. It is a total loss and damage is tentatively estimated at $700.

4 District Men In Casualties Of Korea Fighting; Bridgenorth Man Listed

Cpl. David Boath Among Canadians Missing Peterborough, Foxboro Men Wounded One Other Missing After Action Last Week

Four men of the district were among those 66 Canadian casualties whose names were released Tuesday by the Canadian Army. Two men are listed as missing in action and two were wounded. The four men are Cpl. David H. Boath, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Boath, Bridgenorth, missing; Pte. Harry Watson, wife: Mrs. Irene Watson, 68 Sophia St., wounded; Pte. Louis Aylmer Reid, husband of Mrs. Faye Reid of Foxboro, wounded; and Pte. George Edward Griffiths, husband of Mrs. Barbara Ann Griffiths, R.R. 1, Brighton, missing.

Pte. Harry Watson, 26, a former resident of Peterborough, is another casualty in the ranks of the hard-hit R.C.R.'s. His wife, Mrs. Irene Watson of 68 Sophia St., has ben informed by the Director of Army Records that he received shrapnel wounds in his left thigh and right wrist.

MORTAR FIRE

The shrapnel was from a Chinese mortar and the wound was received Oct. 23, presumably during the fight for Little Gibraltar Hill.

Cpl. D. H. Boath

Cpl. Boath, 19, a member of the Royal Canadian Regiment, was supposed to be on leave, but was called back into the fighting. He had been looking forward to getting home in about four months. His family lived in Toronto before coming recently to Bridgenorth. His sister, Mrs. Walter (Sally) Gatehouse, of Bridgenorth has a husband serving in Germany. A brother Bill lives in Toronto.

Cpl. Boath joined the army in Sept. 1951 and sailed for Korea last March 17. His family received their last letter from him about a week ago.

He worked in Toronto and then with a cleaning and pressing company in Peterbroough.

JOINED IN 1951

Pte. Watson joined the R.C.R.'s as an infantrymen at the beginning of October, 1951, while living in Windsor. He had been working there for a couple of years after leaving Peterborough, his wife's home city. He lived here for about seven years and held several jobs, including employment at the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. Orignally he was from the Muncey Indian Reserve, near London, Ont.

Pte. H. Watson

A 1st Bn. infantryman, he landed in Korea last March and spent some time in front-line duty. Later he was a member of the Canadian detachment that went to Koje Island to quell the rioting North Korean prisoners-of-war.

He married the former Pearl Irene Martin, widow of Edward O'Connor who was killed overseas. They have two girls and a boy: Linda 8, Judith 4, and Donald 6.

Mrs. Watson moved back to Peterborough with her children after Pte. Watson joined the 25th Brigade.

20 Men's Suits Stolen By Thieves

DASHWOOD (CP) — Twenty mens' suits and 12 womens' sweaters were stolen from a local clothing store last night by thieves who didn't stop to try them for size.

The suits and sweaters were lifted from the racks of the Vernon Schatz store. Thieves jimmied the front door and broke the lock to get in.

Lindsay Officer Given Job Of Police Chief

LINDSAY (ENS) — Constable John Hunter, Lindsay's one-man "liquor control squad," was selected as the successor to resigning Chief of Police Art Webster, at a special meeting of Council held last night to examine applications for the position which had been advertised in Toronto and district papers for some weeks.

Constable Hunter, one of the veteran members of the Lindsay force, was selected over 17 other applicants, including two of his fellow members of the Lindsay force, Constables Gordon Eberts and Percy Mark.

Constable Eberts was raised to the rank of sergeant, and Constable Mark was granted an increase in pay, in the same measure which elevated Constable Hunter to the chief's position.

All but the three mentioned applications came from out of town, and many were from retired members of the R.C.M.P. especially from the Toronto district. Members of council, commenting on the choice of Constable Hunter, stated that they were of the opinion that giving local men the jobs and promoting them would give them incentive to stay with the department and rise in it. Chief Webster leaves early next month for his new position in Weston.

3 Young Servicemen Charged With Theft

LINDSAY. — Three teen-age servicemen charged with robbery Tuesday will qualify as the meanest thieves of the year if they are convicted.

After meeting the trio—two of them soldiers and the other an airman—Eugene House told police he treated them to dinner in a Lindsay restaurant, then he said they robbed him of his wallet containing $35.

House, who lives seven miles north of Bobcaygeon said he was in Lindsay visiting his wife who had just given birth to a baby, the eighth child in the House family.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—The name on everybody's lips when the patrol was over was that of its leader—25-year-old Sgt. John H. Richardson of Victoria.

Richardson, who quit an officers' training course to come to Korea with his unit, fought off one attack, suffered five wounds, fought off a second attack, directed the withdrawal, helped two casualties part of the way and guided artillery and mortar fire being sent down to help the operation. The 26-man patrol from the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, was out to catch a prisoner on the night of Oct. 15-16.

Instead, they lost two men to the Chinese—the first two Patricias listed missing in almost two years in Korea.

HILL WAS OBJECTIVE

Richardson's objective was the base of a 600-foot hill 2,800 yards ahead of the Patricias' lines. About 100 yards short of it he parcelled them out in two groups.

The first under Cpl. Ed Pachal of Yorkton, Sask., was a fire group to support any attack the other group might make onto the objective. Richardson's party was about 100 yards away from Pachal's.

Leaving L.Cpl. William E. Johnstone of Westville, N.S., in charge of the second party, Richardson went ahead with Sgt. Rhodes Prentice of Toronto, the sniper sergeant, and Cpl. Don Hastings of Calgary, one of Prentice's snipers.

The trio established that Chinese were working right on their objective and withdrew 100 yards to Johnstone's position, where Richardson radioed fire orders.

At once he had a fight on his hands.

AT CLOSE QUARTERS

Pte. C. H. Chute of Bear River, N.S., said:

"When I first saw them there were seven, and they were only six or seven feet away." Chute said he felled them all with his Bren gun.

The Chinese weren't discovered until they were right in among the Canadians, shooting low.

Richardson, Hastings, Prentice, Johnstone and the signaller—Pte. F. M. Holloway of Vancouver—were wounded.

The surprised Canadians fought back grimly. The radio set on Holloway's back probably saved his life. It was riddled by machine-gun bullets—putting the group out of communication with headquarters.

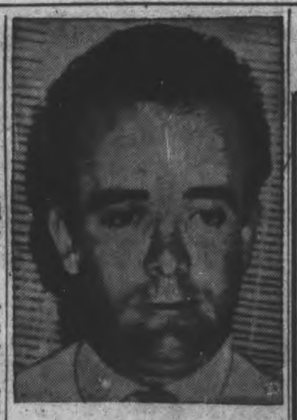
Richardson organized a withdrawal, shouting directions to Pachal's fire group. Chinese bullets laced the 100 yards between the groups, preventing them getting together.

Just as the withdrawal was starting the Chinese launched their second assault, mainly with grenades. It, too, was beaten off.

But Richardson, who had been supporting Prentice on one side and Hastings on the other, was separated from them by the blast of a concussion grenade.

Groping in the darkness, he found Prentice and drew him aside. He could not find Hastings. Nor could the other men find Johnstone, who had been severely injured.

MADE THOROUGH SEARCH



Richardson held up the withdrawal while the ground was searched thoroughly and finally ordered the men back.

It was a laborious process. Nine were wounded, some severely, and they had to improvise stretchers. About 800 yards back they joined forces with Pachal's men.

Hastings and Johnstone are both listed as missing.

Hastings is thought to be alive. Johnstone, however, was more severely wounded, and Pte. Reo Pilon of Duck Lake, Sask., said he doubted that Johnstone lived.

Others wounded that night were Ptes. George L. Mark of Carrot River, Sask., Fred E. Waugh of Woodstock, Ont., G. E. McEachen of Brandon, Man., and T. P. Nolan of Brandon.

SAYS WIFE ALIVE—George Lemay, Montreal real estate broker, says he has proof his wife, Huguette, who vanished while they were holidaying in Florida 10 months ago, is alive. He told reporters he plans a divorce action against her. However, members of her family and Florida police who investigated the disappearance believe the woman is dead.

Accidental Death

ST. THOMAS (CP)—A verdict of accidental death was returned last night by a coroner's jury, inquiring into the death of Peter Welken, 52, who died Oct. 3 from injuries received in a fall from a truck on No. 4 highway south of Union the previous night. The jury attached no blame to the truck driver, Douglas Bentley.

AN AWESOME cloud forms over the Monte Bello Islands off the northwest coast coast of Australia as thousands of tons of water, mud and rock climb skyward in the wake of Britain's first atomic explosion. This first official picture received from the United Kingdom was taken seconds after the blast flash had been enveloped in steam and smoke. The bomb, Prime Minister Churchill has now disclosed, was exploded in the hull of a navy ship.

THESE SCIENTISTS and naval officers witnessed the atomic explosion, Britain's first. Left to right are: Dr. D. M. Solandt, chairman, Canadian Defence Research Board; Prof. L. H. Martin, of Melbourne University; Dr. W. G. Penney, recently awarded a knighthood for directing the blast; Rear Admiral A. D. Torlesse; Capt. A. B. Cole, commanding H.M.S. Campania; W. A. S. Butement, chief scientist, Australian Department of Supply and Development; and Drf. L. C. Tyte, British Ministry of Suply Technical Director.

Brand Sergeant Traitor To U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. government yesterday branded a former American army sergeant a traitor who welcomed the Japanese enemy to Corregidor with the words: "I am at your service."

However, the defence described the veteran, John David Provoo, as a patriotic American prisoner of war, forced in pain of death to do the bidding of the Japanese.

Provoo is on trial for his life on 12 counts of treason growing out of his Second World War imprisonment by the Japanese.

After welcoming the Japanese, the government said, Provoo donned the robes of a Buddhist priest and set about betraying his American fellow-captives—one of them, Capt. Burton C. Thomson, to death.

The defence admitted Provoo broadcast propaganda for the Japanese but defence counsel Murray Gottesman told a federal court jury:

"He had no choice in the matter."

Deny Papers Not Giving Fair Coverage

By R.J. ANDERSON

NEW YORK (CP)—The President was hot under the collar.

He had just returned home after a strenuous give-'em-hell campaign tour on behalf of Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for president of the United States. The President was tired and out of sorts.

Harry S. Truman's exaggeration last weekend, therefore,, was understandable, when, in an off-the-cuff train-platform address to a crowd in Washington, he took a crack at United States newspapers. He asserted:

"They're against us a hundred per cent and they're trying to make everything we do appear wrong. I'm not licked yet and I'm not through till the fourth of November."

MOST SUPPORT IKE

The President wasn't quite correct. As of now, 75.16 per cent of the daily newspapers in the country support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the man the Republicans hope to put into the White House. Supporting Stevenson, Illinois' Governor who has leaped into national prominence, is 15.47 per cent of the press. The remainder support neither candidate.

Still, that's the greatest editorial support any presidential candidate has had in living memory. It represents 81.25 per cent of national circulation. Papers supporting Stevenson have 9.54 per cent of the circulation.

Most newspapers draw a line between editorial opinion and news coverage. Stevenson is given fair treatment in the news columns. The same couldn't be said in the controversial third-term campaign of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt when news-column invective in some opposition papers touched a low point never before reached in a 20th Century U.S. election.

The percentages of press support in the last five presidential elections:

	Rep.	Dem.
1932	55.5	38.7
1936	60.4	34.5
1940	66.3	20.1
1944	60.1	20.0
1948	65.1	15.3

On the whole, press coverage in this hard-fought, often bitter, campaign has been objective. Reporters covering both candidates repress personal opinions in their reports. That hasn't always been the case in past campaigns.

'PARTISANSHIP' CHARGED

One charge of "partisanship" in news presentation has received wide publicity. That was a statement by 94 American authors alleging that 22 papers singled out for criticism did not present the campaign news fairly in their news columns. A number of papers issued statements denying the allegations.

The authors' statement did not specify the candidate the signers said was being slighted, but four of the authors—John Steinbeck, John Hersey, Herman Wouk and Cleveland Amory—said at a press conference that most newspapers are "playing down" Stevenson and favoring Eisenhower. The four said they personally are for Stevenson.

The four authors said the conclusions of the statement were based on samplings from newspapers over a one-week period in seven "doubtful" states: Ohio, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania and California.

The authors said the papers were not free of one or more of the following faults:

(1) Slanted writing of news stores; (2) Prejudiced use of photographs; (3) Unfavorable placement of stories concerning Democrats; (4) Volume of coverage of Democratic news; (5) Inadequate general coverage of the campaign as a whole; (6) Omission of stories favoring Democrats; (7) Use of headlines reflecting meaning of stories inaccurately.

Typical of the newspapers' rejoinders was that of Don Weaver, editor of the Columbus Citizen, which backs Eisenhower:

"I doubt if the 94 authors have read the Citizen consistently all through the campaign. . .We are meticulous to see that coverage is equal."

Editors at a recent meeting of directors of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington said the 1952 campaign has brought more pressure on the press than any other pre-election news coverage. James S. Pope, executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, which supports Stevenson, said:

"I have become convinced of one thing: Readers cannot judge the objectivity of a newspaper in a presidential campaign for the simple reason that they cannot read objectively. Most of them do not want objectivity—they want their side favored."

SPECIAL TYPE

Problems other than those of news objectivity faced newspapers in this hard-fought election. One was how to get the 10-letter name "Eisenhower" into a one-column heading with another word to conform with good topography. To meet this, the New York Times designed a special type for the word "Eisenhower." Called "Latin Condensed," it literally squeezes Eisenhower into a column headline.

"Stevenson, nine letters, just fits in regular type.

Believes Private Patients Shouldn't Pay For Training

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Health Minister Phillips said yesterday it is time the private and semi-private hospital patient stopped paying for nursing training "and a lot of other things." He did not elaborate.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Ontario Hospital Association, Dr. Phillips said under the present set-up the province pays $1,000 a bed toward the building of new nurses' homes and the federal government $500.

Cheerful living quarters where a student nurse would not be ashamed to bring her friends or family would help attract young women to the profession, the minister said.

"I favor keeping the admission and other standards for nurses at the highest level."

AGAINST NATIONAL PLAN

Arthur A. Schmon, chairman of St. Catharines General Hospital board of governors, said subsidization of low-income groups to allow them to enrol in Blue Cross, prepaid hospital care plan "could be supported by those who believe in free enterprise."

He said a national health plan with the government running the hospitals should be "strenuously opposed." But the government should subsidize hospitals to the extent of 40 to 50 per cent.

More than $20,000,000 will be received by Ontario hospitals this year through the Blue Cross scheme, said D. W. Ogilvie, director of the Blue Cross plan, in a report to the convention.

The scheme now covers about 1,600,000 persons or 35 per cent of the people of Ontario, he said. Hospitals in Brantford, Toronto, Brockville, Cornwall, Oshawa, Port Colborne and St. Thomas will receive 40 to 50 per cent of their total patient income from Blue Cross this year.

Britain Training Special Guides

LONDON (CP)—A panel of specially-trained guides is being organized by the British Travel and Holiday Association to conduct visitors on sight-seeing tours around London during Coronation Year.

The successful candidates will be given a series of lectures dealing with the historical background of London and its environs, as well as a refresher course on the city's famous buildings, local government, transport system and other attractions of interest to visitors.

While in training, candidates will be required to read extensively on art and architecture and keep abreast of developments in the entertainment world.

"Our aim is to provide guides who will create a good impression on visitors," said an official of the association. "We want people to go home and talk so enthusiastically about their trip to London that many others will come over to see the sights of our great city."

OVER AGNEW SURPASS—PETERBOROUGH

GHOST TOWN—Ghosts look over your shoulder as you walk down the single, dog-legged dirt street of Barkerville, B.C., once a thriving gold-mining town. Billy Barker first discovered gold here in 1861 and $40,000,000 was dug out of the surrounding creeks and hills. Prospectors came nearly 400 miles from Vancouver. One of the relics of the once-busy community is the old firehall, second building from right.

Dust-Laden Glasses Line Shelves Of Nicol Hotel, Town's Old-Fashioned Bar Of 1860's

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BAKERVILLE, B. C. (CP)—They say that the day the salesman nailed the soft-drink sign to a post in Billy Barker's gold town, the graveyard heaved six inches.

It takes no more than a glance through the shattered windows of the abandoned, dilapidated Nicol Hotel to see that any soft-drink man who might have shown up here in the 1860s would have been, at the least, tossed promptly into Lightning Creek.

Though a few people still live here at the end of the Cariboo Road—most work in nearby Wells and some still shuttle the pan—ghosts lurk over your shoulder as you walk down the single, dog-legged dirt street. Over all, there is silence. Even the handful of people here seem to move noiselessly and speak in whispers.

60 MILES FROM RAILWAY

To get to Barkerville from Quesnel, 347 miles north of Vancouver and present northern terminus of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, you travel 60 miles and through the ghost villages — Cottonwood, where a general store built in 1864 is still in use, Wingdam, Stanley and part of Wells.

On either side of the gravel road you can see the litter of nearly 100 years of the feverish search for gold—tumble-down shacks, sluice boxes and heaps of gravel sifted from creek beds decades ago. From the creeks, the hills and mountains rise to the far wilderness horizon.

Gold was found in all these places—$40,000,000 worth of it—and it is still being dug out in small douses. Gold mining companies make the new Wells on Jack of Clubs Lake a thriving community with two hotels and a modern theatre.

Billy Barker discovered gold here in 1861. The men who scrambled north after him split open the interior of Cariboo and a few years later the Cariboo Road was built from Yale, 120 miles east of Vancouver, to Barkerville, a distance of nearly 400 miles. It is the same road one travels today by car or bus.

HOTEL RELICS

Most of the buildings here have been beaten naked by the weather. Some have fallen in. Others are badly bent. In the Nicol Hotel, dust-laden glasses still are perched on shelves behind the curving bar. Somebody has swiped the brass rail. Mooseheads, antlers and bear-skins still adorn the cobwebbed walls.

Near the western end of the street stands St. Saviour's, a tiny, wooden Anglican church built in 1869. An ancient, pot-bellied stove sits in its centre and the vestry is papered with drawings and ads clipped from magazines long since defunct. The vestry also contains an original vacuum cleaner, operated by hand pump.

There is only one plaque in the church, whose plank floor is scrubbed clean and white. In memory of a trapper drowned long ago, the plaque says:

"He bade no one a last farewell.

"He said good-bye to none.

"The Heavenly gates were opened wide.

"A loving voice said 'Come.'"

MODERN TOUCH

Next door to the old Nicol Hotel is a latter day tavern—beer only, as in the rest of British Columbia. Billy Barker and his cohorts would probably hold their sides on spying the sign on the door: "Open 4 to 6, 7 to 11 p.m."

Ghosts of prospectors march in ranks across the graveyards overlooking the town and the rushing creek.

The weather has washed the names from most of the wooden slabs marking the graves. Many, apparently, died with their boots on. One board says John Dunn, aged 24, of Wick, Glamorganshire, South Wales, died "1 o'clock a.m. Oct. 6, 1863." One speculates: a bullet between the eyes? a knife in the back?

Though the fence around the graveyard has collapsed and in some places disappeared, a rusty sign says: "Kindly shut the gate." You close it and tiptoe away from the ghosts of men who defied the wilderness in this still lonely place.

Soft drinks indeed!

TV Manufactures Asks Ruling Against Wire Service

OTTAWA (CP)—A manufacturer of radio and television sets has asked for a court ruling against a service which delivers programs to homes by wire.

The Canadian Admiral Corporation of Toronto has initiated a case in the Exchequer Court against Rediffusion Inc., which in some sections of Montreal rents radio and television sets and supplies programs by special wires to subscribers for a weekly fee.

The radio and television industry considers the service a threat to its business, and the Admiral claim is expected to become a test case.

In a statement of claim filed with the court, Admiral said its copyright on telecasting of Montreal Alouettes' football games has been infringed by Rediffusion. Admiral also claimed that newspaper advertisements sponsored by Rediffusion contravened the Unfair Competition Act. The Toronto firm asked for unspecified damages.

TO DEFEND ACTION

Rediffusion has a month in which to file a statement of defence. Then either party can ask the court to set a date for a hearing.

In Montreal, Real Rousseau, vice-president and managing director of Rediffusion, said in an interview:

"Our lawyers have been instructed to file a statement of defence. In the meantime, Rediffusion will give the two remaining Alouette football games to its subscribers. These programs will include advertising for Canadian Admiral Corporation as they have in our past broadcasts of the Alouette games."

The test case is expected to determine whether Rediffusion may continue to pick up radio and television programs and distribute them by wire without authority of the program originators.

TWO SERVICES

One service by Rediffusion in two Montreal areas provides subscribers with television programs on two channels and also the choice of radio programs on six channels and a "Muzak" channel of background music 24 hours a day.

A less expensive service provides the choice of three radio channels and the Muzak channel.

Television equipment rented to subscribers is made in Britain where Rediffusion originated more than 20 years ago.

The Admiral Corporation's statement of claim said Rediffusion's newspaper advertisements "made false statements to the effect that Rediffusion can offer all the programs from the CBC and absolute assurance at all times of perfect reception." It said the advertisements "discredited the wares" of Admiral Corporation.

Admiral said it undertook sponsorship of telecasting the Alouette games to increase the sales of its TV sets, but the "Rediffusion" of the games had reduced these sales.

Canadians Buy Big Skyscraper

DETROIT (AP)—The 47-story Penobscot Building, Detroit's tallest syscraper, has been sold to a Montreal family for about $17,000,000, it was announced yesterday.

The new owner is the Webster family, made up of four brothers and one sister who live in the Canadian city. Operating through a newly-organized Michigan corporation, they will take over the building Jan. 1.

The Websters are the sons and daughter of former Canadian Senator Lorne C. Webster, who died in 1940 leaving a fortune including large holdings in oil wells, banks, ranches and business firms, including Annis Furs of Detroit.

Robbed Newsboy

TORONTO (CP) — Dominico Deluco, 66, yesterday was convicted of stealing 46 cents from a newsboy who was trying to pay for his brother's funeral. Deluco, who had $250 in his pockets at the time, was fined $10 or 10 days. A week ago newsboy Roy Fegan's brother, John, was shot and killed in a police chase. His 13 brothers and sisters are trying to raise money to pay for his funeral.

Births Increase

TORONTO (CP — Figures released by the provincial government show a 155-per-cent increase in births in Ontario over the same month last year. There were 11,020 babies born this year in September compared with 9,224 last year. With September 1951 figures in brackets the report shows marriages 5,994 (5,495); deaths 3,547 (3,076); and still-births 179 (149).

Crash Toll Four

ST. THOMAS (CP) —A two-car crash on No. 3 Highway in which three persons lost their lives Sunday claimed its fourth victim last night. Mrs. Beatrice Tait, 30, of River Rouge, Mich., died in Memorial Hospital here from injuries received in the accident.

the future is the only sensible to wurrk all your life. Well a mon never gets any younger, ye ken,

so I maun follow the Captain's advice.
Ye might say it cuts down on benufishul effects o' Duggan's Dew

o' Kirkintilloch!"

Francis G. Peddie, Barrister

"We all play many parts . . . but few of us ever play a role more important than that of the Good Provider. My own everyday role of lawyer constantly brings home to me the importance of providing for the future. And I know of no other way of doing it than some form of saving. Putting something by against tomorrow is the hallmark of the Good Provider . . . and the good citizen."

Thomas Craig

"Like I was tellin' the boys, the saving habit just comes natural to farmers. Not the stingy, saving for saving's sake kind, but the healthy saving for a purpose . . .
Take the way we save our corn stalks—chop 'em up and put 'em in the silo—then 'long about late winter, we start withdrawin'
—to feed and fatten our cattle for the spring markets . . .
Same thing happens every day
'round the farm. It's the natural, sensible thing to do."

"In my experience everybody really wants to put something by to be able to fulfill some cherished wish later, to make life easier when our hairs get grey, or to be ready for any unforeseen but urgent need for funds.

For the average man and woman, it seems to me that Canada Savings Bonds furnish just about as convenient a method for saving as is available.

There is a mighty lot of truth in the old saying 'Money burns a hole in the pocket' but if you put your cash into Savings Bonds, it puts both you and it out of temptation.

There is only one thing that I like about Savings Bonds more than another and that is that you can get your money out of them at a moment's notice without any fuss or without a penny's loss on your investment.

Savings Bonds."

Socrates

"Wherein lies man's happiness? . . .
Then, what gives freedom from worry? . . . Well, what creates confidence in the future?
You're tired of my questions? . . .
That has happened before;
so let me give you an answer for a change . . . the simple practice of thrift creates confidence in the future, freedom from worry and a greater degree of happiness."

Flue-Cured Tobacco Has 42-Cent Minimum

SIMCOE (CP) — Flue-cured tobacco in this district will sell when the market opens Nov. 44 at a minimum average price of 42.25 cents a pound.

The market appraisal committee of the Ontario flue-cured tobacco marketing board agreed on this figure yesterday after five days of discussion.

The price represents a drop of 2.25 cents a pound from last year's record of 44.5. This year 81,703 acres of flue-cured tobacco were grown in Ontario and production is estimated at 123,821,811 pounds, an average yield of 1,523 pounds an acre.

In 1951, total acreage was 106,260 with a total production of 137,500,400 pounds and an average yield of 1,294 pounds. The drop in acreage this year is due to a 1-3 reduction ordered by the board.

Fined On Two Counts

KITCHENER (CP)—Clifford McLelland of Kitchener was fined $60 and costs on two charges when he appeared in court yesterday before Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick. Pleading guilty on both counts, McLelland was fined $50 and costs or 10 days on a charge of driving while his ability was impaired and $10 and costs for failing to notify authority of a change of address.

Charge Dismissed

KITCHENER (CP)—A charge of breach of the rules of the road against Eric Arndt of Brantford was dismissed in court yesterday by Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick. Arndt allegedly made a left turn in front of approaching traffic The magistrate ordered Arndt to have another driver's test

Car Ransacked

TILLSONBURG (CP) — Returning from a wedding in Chicago W. W. Macquillen, well-known St. Catharines druggist, was robbed of clothing valued at $400 when he decided to stay overnight with friends here. Mr. Macquillen parked his car in front of the home of ex-mayor William Sutch on Rolph Street. Yesterday he found that the car had been ransacked.

A GRIM PRIZE AT TERRIBLE COST—This is Whitehorse Hill in Korea, pocked and pitted by bombs, rockets, shells and napalm. It is a hill now in United Nations hands but one for which both U.N. and Communist troops fought bitterly in see-saw battles. Here troops of both sides dug caves for protection against the murderous exchange of machine gun and rifle fire.

Dr. D. W. Clark Best-Loved Man Says Minister

"He was like Luke in the New Testament — the beloved physician."

These were the words of the Rev. C. G. Boyd in his eulogy on Tuesday to Dr.. David W. Clark, who died suddenly Saturday.

"He held a lofty and even a unique place; he was the best-loved man in the city," Mr. Boyd declared, then quoted: "Know ye not that there is this day a prince . . . fallen in Israel."

Loved for himself, Dr. Clark was a humble man and yet a man of power, said Mr. Boyd. "To Dr. Clark, a patient was not a case, he was a person. Many will remember his deep-seated concern for everyone. He was an example for the whole flock."

CHURCH CROWDED

In the service at a packed St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Mr. Boyd was assisted by the Rev. A. T. Barr, formerly of St. Paul's and now of Penetang, and the Rev. Ivan Morgan of Murray Street Baptist Church.

Mr. Barr read the Scriptures, choosing the 23rd Psalm, and a part from Revelations: "I heard a voice from heaven say . . . blessed are the dead . . . for they shall rest from their labors. God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes."

In his prayer, Mr. Morgan said: "We give Thee thanks for this gracious physician. Raise up among us other men who will serve their generation without thought of self or gain."

Mr. Boyd said in his eulogy, quoting from Robert Louis Stevenson: "There are some men who rise above the common level, and the physician is the flower of our civilization."

MASONIC SERVICE

A Masonic service at the graveside in Little Lake Cemetery was conducted by John Fanning, Worshipful Master of the Corinthian Lodge. Members of the I.O.O.F. attended a special service Monday night at the Comstock Funeral Home, under Ernest M. Fowler, Noble Grand.

The Rotary Club attended Tuesday's church service in a body, and many of the medical profession of the city sat in a group.

Honorary pallbearers were: Dr. G. S. Cameron, Dr. Raymore Scott, Dr. C. Slemon, Bowmanville, Dr. H. R. McDonald, Kilbride, Dr. J. J. Hamilton, Bethany, Dr. N. D. Buchanan, Norman Hamley, James Juby, James Dutton, and James Anderson.

Active pallbearers were: Dr. Robert Bell, Dr. John McNeil, Dr. Douglas Kelly, Dr. Russell Magee, Dr. Ted Cragg, and Dr. Warren Gamble.

Exporters Given Assurance US May Drop Barrier

By FORBES RHUDE

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP)—The United States, whose trade practices have been under a considerable barrage of criticism at the current annual meeting of the Canadian Exporters' Association, received a few kind words yesterday.

At the same time, the shadow of shipment of strategic materials to iron-curtain countries showed itself.

The immediate subject, which stole attention from a host of other export discussions, was the recent action of the United States in refusing "in transit" permits to shipments through American ports of Canadian copper, Bronze, tungsten and products of these metals.

This action had been cited as a sort of added indictment against the United States to the longer-term charges of breaches of the Geneva General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, and of administration of customs regulations in such a way as virtually to set up an added tariff wall.

SEE SUNSHINE

But the copper-bronze-tungsten argument dissolved into relative sunshine.

Denis Harvey, director of the commodities branch of the federal department of trade and commerce told the exporters there is the "closest co-operation" between American and Canadian control authorities.

He said he believed a formula for solution of the matter would be worked out in a conference in Washington next week. Meantime, the metals are being allowed to move as long as Canada is satisfied with the circumstances.

Post-War Boom Now Becomes Serious Trade Decline

By LOUIS L. LECK
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The cold blasts of a trade recession are whistling around Australians' ears. Unemploment has become significant for the first time since before the Second World War.

The post-war boom has turned into a trade decline of serious proportions. The total of 27,595 receiving unemployment benefits in October may not seem high compared with Australia's total nonrural employment figure of around 2,500,000. But for years Australians have been accustomed to there being more jobs than workers.

Now the picture has changed. Until this year most employers had to pay more than the legal minimum to attract and hold employees, and many had also to offer overtime pay. Such bonuses now have disappeared.

WOOL PRICES BREAK

The recession really began 18 months ago when the world price for wool began tumbling. In the fiscal year ended last June 30 Australian wool exports were down to £320,000,000, less than half the total in the previous 12 months

Prices here began falling in the middle of 1951 but the inflationary effects of the war in Korea were still being felt as late as last December.

Now a serious situtation has arisen. Unemployment benefits were being paid only to 5,245 persons at the end of May. The figure amounted to 8,294 for June, 13,680 for July, 24,877 for August.

A recent slower rate of increase in unemployment benefits reflected a seasonal improvement in light industries. But the official benefits total by no means represents all unemployed, and there is no sign of improvement in the heavier trades.

CAUGHT UNAWARES

While Australia's post-war boom started to collapse with the sharp fall in world wool prices, it was a long time before anyone realized what was happening.

Importers had over-ordered as late as the first months of this year, and imports got so far ahead of exports that overseas balances were dwindling fast. Drastic curbs on imports then were imposed, but the damage had been done.

Huge imports of consumer goods had piled up in Australian warehouses and shops. The textile trade was depressed, and almost as badly hit were the light trades, such as food processing, radios, refrigerators, furniture and household accessories.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies and his Country Party were elected in December, 1949, on a "stop inflation" platform. The 1951 budget was a tough one, aimed at slowing down expansion of non-essential industries. But in face of the mounting criticism resulting from the trade recession, the last budget in August removed additional taxes imposed in 1951.

Despite the relaxation of the stern anti-inflation policy, criticism of the Menzies government is mounting In the last test at the polls, the Flinders federal by-election in Victoria this month, the Labor opposition won a convincing victory.

Millbrook Church Anniversary

MILLBROOK (ENS). — The 70th anniversary of St. Andrew's United Church was observed on Sunday. The Rev. Wesley Morris of Simpson Avenue United Church, Toronto, was the guest preacher for morning and evening services, which were condducted by the pastor, the Rev. A. M. Butler.

In the morning Mr. Morris took as his subject "The Church: A Fellowship." He said that worship was the supremely important part of Christian fellowship. The church must be a worshipping fellowship, a witnessing fellowship, and an aggressively missionary group. It was necessary, he said, to make the church service so beautiful that, impressed by the atmosphere of true worship, people would find it soul-satisfying and would want to come again to join in.

"A Call to Higher Manhood" was his topic in the evening. He said that those who had done most for man and for the world had first found the personal Christ. A purely social concept of Christ was not enough.

Special music in the morning was the singing of the anthem "Te Deum Laudamus," with Homer Ouellette taking the solo part, and "The Old Rugged Cross" sung unacompanied by the male quartette, comprising G. Might, D. McKnight, H. Ouellette and M. McDowell. In the evening the male quartette again sang, with the soprano solo being taken by Mrs. G. A. Spicer, and the tenor solo by Gordon Might.

It is believed that when all the contributions are in the $1,000 offering asked for by the board of stewards will be more than realized. The church was filled almost to capacity for the morning service, and a large congregation attended again in the evening. Services in Cavan United Church were withdrawn to allow its congregation to worship with St. Andrew's.

SHEATH DRESS — London's first coronation fashion parade in the spacious Royal Festival Hall included this sheath dress of anthracite rayon alpaca with beaded cumerbund. British designers are using synthetic materials to bring prices down to moderate levels in the revolution now taking place in fashion fabrics.

CORONATION FASHION — A "cloth of gold" evening dress has been designed by British stylists for coronation year. It is an entry in the race between synthetic and natural yarn fabrics—being made of rayon gauze and a real gold thread. The attractive gold dress is helping put synthetics in the lead.

Synthetics, Natural Yarns Seek Coronation Role

B MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—London's first coronation fashion parade, held in the spacious Royal Festival Hall, illustrated the revolution now taking place in fashion fabrics.

Older generations may still say there's nothing to beat a real wool or silk, but the race is on between synthetic and natural yarn fabrics —and synthetics are in the lead.

This is because business women in general have their money on synthetics. An anthracite sheath dress with deep, beaded cummerbund, three-quarter sleeve and high neckline in rayon alpaca, is cheaper than one of smooth worsted suiting. And many think the rayon looks every inch as smart.

FABRIC EXHIBITION

The show, featuring a parade of more than 60 models, was primarily a fabric exhibition and foremost theme of the dress display was to show the luxurious effect achieved by synthetic fabrics when handled by some of Britain's foremost couture designers.

Take, for instance, the group of models designed by Michael Sherard as a boutique collection. The fabrics are inexpensive haircord, rayon seersucker tipped with velvet, tailored denim and waffle cotton.

In black and gold check with slim lines and back pleating on the skirt, the rayon seersucker is a smart street dress with a couture look that is emphasized by the black velvet roll collar, cuffs and belt.

The royal look is seen in the constant use of velvets from cotton velvets to nylon and street velvets in everything from princess-line coats to the ermine-tipped coronation robes of a viscountess. The royal purple velvet was worn over a white satin damask gown woven with thread of gold heraldic symbols, the gown in traditional court style with square neckline, slim lines and folds of material forming a train.

Costumes Unusual

The Old Country Club had a jolly masquerade party at the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening with some very unusual costumes, mostly on the comical side, being worn. The ladies paraded before judges, two members of the Y staff, who finally picked five prize winners. These were Mrs. P. Taylor, Mrs. T. Craig, Mrs. R. Leach, Mrs. L. Custance and Miss B. Gilmour. A short business discussion led by President Mrs. E. Westall was to make final plans for the Christmas party and dinner which is to be on December 12th at the Empress Hotel. Special Hallowe'en refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Martin, Mrs. A. Acreman, Mrs. P. Taylor and Mrs. A. Burnett.

Discuss Child Training

About 120 small children enjoyed the Hallowe'en costume party at the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday afternoon. This was the first of a series of parties being held this week by the gym and swimming department heads. The committee assisting with this party was Mrs. B. Epston, Mrs. A. Wilkinson, Mrs. E. C. McKee and Mrs. W. Perks and these ladies also acted as judges of the costumes with Mrs. J. G. Nicholls assisting. From a grand march around the gym they picked groups of the prettiest, the funniest, the most original and the story book characters, but from any group, so each child there received a small prize as well as some noisemakers and apples. The apples were provided through kindness of Mrs. C. G. Collins.

Douro Sodality Elects Officers

Opening meeting of the Sodality of St. Joseph's Church, Douro, was held after Holy Hour, Sunday evening. The election of officers for the coming year was held, and the new executive is as follows:

President, Mrs. Monica Heffernan; 1st vice-president, Miss Ella O'Brien; 2nd vice-president, Miss Patricia Heffernan; secretary, Miss Audrey Keating; treasurer, Miss Frances Maloney. Convener of social committee, Miss Catherine Zenehenko.

Good literature, stamp, good works and paper committees were also chosen and the various duties outlined for the year.

The Sodality also joined other organizations of the parish in a retreat that day.

At the meeting it was decided to hold the annual fall "at home" at Assumption Hall Friday, November 28th. The girls were asked to help with decorations and supply lunch. Dress is to be optional.

Prospective Bride Wins Range At Cooking School

Miss Betty Jane Hinds of 141 O'Carroll Ave. is the winner of the grand prize at the Peter Robinson Chapter's cooking school. Her prize is an apartment-size, three burner electric range which was given by the local retailers for the stove company which sponsored the cooking school.

As Miss Hinds is to become a bride in the coming year she is indeed fortunate in receiving as a free gift one of the most essential appliances for her prospective home. Her ticket was drawn by the Chapter regent Mrs. P. C. Sanders and she was in the Tuesday night audience and formally accepted her prize. Also present was her mother Mrs. W. A. Hinds who is a member of Peter Robinson Chapter and was assisting for the evening.

The cooking hints for the second evening of the school were mostly to do with cakes, special party dishes and ice box confections. However a tasty looking and unusual dish was of dumpling filled with tuna fish and cooked in a combination of cream of mushroom and tomato soup.

A large crowd attended this final presentation of the cooking school and each person received a small gift at the door and recipe books. Drawing for prizes took place at intervals between cooking preparations and the demonstration of meat cutting. Winners were as follows:

Shopping bags: Mesdames S. Fennell, F. Foote, Carl Hill, A. Hewitt, H. Patton, C. Foster, G. MacMillan, R. Taylor, E. Page, W. C. McCreery, F. Jobbitt, R. Mounce, H. Matthews, L. Campbell, A. Darley-Bentley, C. Garskey, George Moore, E. Gordon, Ian McRae, R. Routley, N. Hamilton, F. W. Graystcok, and Misses Marion Ferguson and Leta Brownscombe.

Soft drinks: Mesdames R. C. Jackson, J. G. Ackford, Ray Nellist, G. Wallace, D. E. Bell, C. E. Allen and Misses Rose Sexsmith and Rachael Young.

Meat: Mesdames J. Mackay, G. H. Cunningham, J. H. Kinsella, G. Cooke, and Misses A. Jamieson, and L. Constable. Meat coupons: Mesdames M. Wood, F. W. Horton, R. Crowe, R. Goodfellow, R. Walker, E. Duncan and Misses Pearl Mullen, Rachael Young and Muriel Curtis.

Assorted prizes: Mesdames J. Gillespie, E. W. Watson, W. A. Hinds, J. Cameron, E. Heard, Miss Jean Green and Mr. Gerry Westlake. Theatre tickets: Mrs. M. McKenzie and Mrs. D. Miller; fruit cake, Mrs. M. Patton.

The food prepared during the evening went to Mesdames D. Westran, J. McGrath, A. Wigfield, F. Hotston, F. G. Wyman, R. Armstrong, and Misses Blanche Sloan and Dora Head.

Queen's Alumnists Annual Dinner At Kawartha Club

Ninety members of Queen's University Alumni, their wives, husbands and friends, attended the annual dinner Tuesday night of the Peterborough branch association, held at the Kawartha Country Club.

At the head table, presided over by Dr. T. E. Currier, president, were Mrs. Currier, the guest speaker, Principal W. A. Mackintosh of Queen's; Mayor and Mrs. Hugh Waddell, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Krug, the Rev. William McDonald (honorary president of the association), Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Young, Mr. Herbert Hamilton of the Kingston office of the Alumni Association, and Mrs. Monica McQueen of the endowment office.

Decorations carried out by Mrs. A. R. Stevenson and Miss Helen McGregor were in autumnal tints garnished with the Queen's colours of blue and gold. Waxed oak and maple leaves and bouquets of chrysanthemums were interspersed with table tapers in blue and gold.

Representatives of Toronto, McGill, McMaster and Western universities were guests, and Queen's graduates from Bancroft on the north, to Port Hope on the south were present, in addition to graduates in the immediate Peterborough area. All the senior professions were encompassed; theology, science, engineering, teaching, economy, finance and medicine.

Miss Rosemary Parker presented the secretary's report. Mr. J. S. Mark gave the financial accounting and Mr. T. J. Allen read the nominating committee's report. Miss Helen McGregor spoke briefly on matters connected with the student advisory committee and Mr. A. J. Noftall told about the Peterborough contribution to the university's general endowment fund. A renewed canvass for endowment is to be undertaken in this area next spring.

G.A. Girls Start At Leathercraft

From the sounds echoing in St. John's parish hall Tuesday afternoon a passer-by might have thought it was undergoing extensive repairs. However, it was 23 members of the Girls' Auxiliary hammering out holes in leather change purses in preparation for the leather lacing lesson to be given by Mrs. Claire Stuart. Enthusiastic attention to all instructions given by their teacher showed that this part of the handicraft badge and chevron work is proving popular.

The meeting commenced with second vice-president Patricia Gunn presiding for a short devotional service. Two new members, Barbara Maudsley and Anne Payne, were welcomed to the Auxiliary.

Leader Mrs. W. C. Boate praised the girls for the splendid way they managed the Hallowe'en tea held at her home Saturday afternoon with such good success. Thanks was extended to assistant leader Miss Gwen Sorby whose help in the tea room was much appreciated. Also, appreciation for the co-operation of the W.A. and C.W.A. members was expressed.

The girls all signed a "get well" card which they sent to Mary Sutton, one of the members now in hospital.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN F. WALSH of Hastings, the bride formerly Miss Mary Joan Marrin.—(Roy Studio Photo)

Walsh-Marrin Nuptials

In Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic Church, Hastings, Saturday morning, Mary Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Marrin, became the bride of John Francis Walsh, son of Mr. J. F. Walsh and the late Mrs. Walsh, all of Hastings.

The Rev. Robert Whyte of Toronto, cousin of the bride, said the nuptial mass and performed the ceremony. The music was played by Mrs. T. L. Daley and the church choir sang. During the signing of the register they sang "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a lovely gown of net over white satin with bodice of lace topped by a matching lace jacket with small collar trimmed with seed pears. Her circular veil fell to fingertip length from a crown of seed pearls and she was carrying a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Miss Maureen O'Shea, the only bridal attendant, was in a bouffant frock of peacock blue antique taffeta and peacock blue hat. She carried a bouquet of Queen Elizabeth yellow roses. The groom's attendant was his brother, Mr. Richard Walsh and ushers were John J. Marrin and James V. Gallivan.

The wedding reception was held at the Club Aragon, Peterborough. The bride's mother was receiving, gowned in midnight blue lace and crepe and wearing a hat in metronome wine shade and a corsage of variegated carnations. She was assisted by the groom's sister, Mrs. Neil Cark of Peterborough, who was wearing blue crepe with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Guests were present from Peterborough, Toronto, Kingston, St. Catharines and Hastings. A smaller reception was held in the afternoon at the bride's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh left later on a motor trip to the United States. The bride went away in a turquoise blue corduroy suit and matching hat with which she wore brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

They will live in Hastings on return.

Noted Authority Lectures ORMTA On "Ear Training"

Local branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association met Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Public Library. The meeting, which was open to the public, took the form of a panel lecture by the noted teacher Miss Cora B. Ahrens, Mus. Bac., L.T.C.M., of Stratford.

In his opening remarks, the president, Mr. Donald Kennedy, welcomed the visitors and called on Mrs. Ross Williamson to introduce the speaker.

Miss Ahrens, whose subject was "Ear Training," in which she is a widely known authority, traced the development of the training of a child's ear in music from the beginning through to the advanced grades. She illustrated her remarks by references to her own books on the subject, with the audience taking part by singing various songs as illustrations.

Following the lecture, a vote of thanks was moved by Miss Marguerite Rome.

In the business meeting a letter was read from the secretary of the Kiwanis Music Festival thanking the music teachers of the Association for their co-operation in the festival in May. Mrs. Donald Flett reported for the treasurer and Miss Eleanor Glover gave her secretarial report.

[illegible] all grades will take place Tuesday evening, November 18th, with Miss Agnes Logan Green as head of the program committee.

Refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Ben Smith.

Golden Wedding Reception Held

NORWOOD (ENS) — A reception was held Monday afternoon and evening for Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Thistlethwaite who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. James McConnell, of Norwood, and groomsman, Andrew Thistlethwaite, of 50 years ago were present to help the happy couple receive their friends. They were all wearing corsages and boutonnieres, the gift of the Elgin Sunday school.

Among the many flowers received were a beautiful bouquet of 50 bronze 'mums from the Elgin Sunday school and a lovely bouquet from the bride's only living brother, Ben Lobb, and Mrs. Lobb, of Brandon, Man.

The three-tier wedding cake was made by the groom's sister, Mrs. George Richardson, Sr. Among the many other gifts that were received was a new revised version of the Bible, presented by the Rev. H. K. Wright on behalf of the board of Norwood United Church, of which Mr. Thistlethwaite is a member. Other gifts were a sofa-bed, chesterfield and rocker, cushion and hassock from the community and friends. The Cottesloe church friends of which Mr. Thistlethwaite has been their lay preacher, presented them with a silk comforter and cushion to match. They also received a large purse of money.

The guests were received in the afternoon by Mrs. Willis Preston and in the evening by Mrs. Hilliard Neilson.

Those pouring tea in the afternoon were Mrs. Walter Rodgers, Mrs. Oscar Mason, Mrs. James Lobb and Mrs. Maud Lobb; in the evening by Mrs. Reynard Anderson, Mrs. Harvey Lobb, Mrs. Robert Leiper, Mrs. John Buck, Mrs. Charlton Gregg and Mrs. Ernest Burrison.

Friends and relatives were present from Regina, Stewart Valley, Sask., Chicago, Toronto, Mount Forest, Port Albert, Trenton, Peterborough, Campbellford, Roseneath, Hastings, Westwood, Cottesloe, Norwood and surrounding districts.

Crystal Chapter Tea Assistants

A lovely Hallowe'en tea and bazaar was held last Saturday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room by Crystal Chapter No. 19. Decorations were carried out with traditional Hallowe'en colors and black cats and witches.

The table was attractive with a lace cloth centred with a crystal basket of yellow and bronze 'mums and tall tapers in orange color.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Freda Pilling and Mrs. Sarah Deyman. Miss Rose Sexsmith and Mrs. Anna Smith poured tea.

Mrs. Alice Denall convened the tea room and was assisted by Mrs. Edith Benton, Mrs. May Rosborough, Mrs. Anna Thompson, Mrs. Bertha Ferren and Mrs. Mary Edwards. Mrs. W. Terrace replenished [illegible] Mrs. L. Burnille [illegible] tea [illegible].

Soft music was played during the afternoon by Mrs. E. Woods.

Assisting in the kitchen were Miss Rose Pritchard, Mrs. M. Gillespie and Mrs. R. Gibbs. Mrs. Olive Price was in charge of tickets at the door.

Attending the home baking table were Mrs. A. Maynard and Mrs. R. Ritchie. Mrs. E. Sweeting and Mrs. M. Found attended the fancy work table.

Mrs. R. Reynolds convened the candy, and touch and take table and Mrs. Charles Clee looked after tickets on a floral garden which was won by Mrs. E. Graham, 495 Aylmer St.

Mrs. L. Pickering was in charge of a basket of groceries draw which was won by Mrs. M. Sproats.

DOROTHY DIX

Handicap Is Trivial And No Barrier To Love

DEAR MISS DIX: What chance have I in life? I am hopelessly cross-eyed. The doctors say I cannot be operated on, so all my life I will be like this. I am 26 and know I can never find a man willing to marry me. I have become so shy and afraid of people that I have lost all contact with the outside world except for the people with whom I work. It's hard to watch the world go by and see others marry and raise children. A.M.K.

ANSWER: I am publishing your letter primarily in the hope that other women who, in spite of severe physical handicaps, have married and are happy wives and mothers, will write encouragement for you. Please let me have your name and address so I can forward to you what mail I receive.

Women with far greater handicaps than mere cross-eyes have been loved and wedded. I know many, and I have heard of many more. I know of one woman badly cross-eyed, who married three times, moreover each time to men of wealth and position. While it may be more difficult for a girl with a defect to find a man, it happens every day. As compensation, I can assure you that you'll probably find a man of far greater character than would be won by mere prettiness.

HANDICAP IS TRIVIAL

By withdrawing from the world, however, your are most assuredly missing every chance of meeting a young man. Your handicap is trivial to the rest of the world. It is up to you to try to forget it, and mix with other people. You have a job. Let that be the entering wedge to other activities. Seek friendships with other girls. You probably have been rejecting them. Get some outside interests, through your church, extension courses in a local school or college, sports through a community centre. Do not sit back and resign yourself to being alone and forsaken. No one ever is. Your worst enemy is your own frame of mind; improve that and your obstacle to happiness is conquered.

A pleasant, cheerful disposition will do far more to win a husband than a pretty face with a mean temper behind it. Cultivate your good points, acquire new abilities, face the world with confidence, gaiety and a smile. You'll feel better, the folks around you will feel better and you are more than likely to find romance lurking around the corner.

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife and I have been married for three years. We are of different faiths and nationalities; we haven't let that stand in our way, but we haven't been getting along. She wants to break up, and I don't want to because I love her. We have no children; she is 38, I am 37, and nothing I do seems to please her. She doesn't like my family — claims they don't like her because they didn't give her a shower when we were married. Can you suggest anything to help me B. H.

ANSWER: Judging from your gentle, honest letter, which I have had to condense, I would say your wife is very, very foolish to break up a marriage that holds as much promise as yours. She has picked out a ridiculous excuse for disliking your family — they were under no obligation to give her a shower; in fact, it's considered poor taste for the in-laws to give one. Your own clergyman should be able to assist you in settling your affairs, and an interview with a marriage counsellor would also help. You will find one in your telephone book listed under Family Service or Family Guidance.

DEAR MISS DIX: A few weeks ago a boy I had known in school came home on leave with a friend. In order to introduce this friend to our chums I had a little social for him. When he left, he said he would see me the next day, but I haven't heard a word from him since. Should I write him at camp? LYNNE.

ANSWER: Better let the matter drop. He may have failed to write from neglect, thoughtlessness, or simple bad manners. In any case, your writing would only embarrass him.

Millbrook Reunion Marks Golden Anniversary

MILLBROOK (ENS)—A family reunion was held Sunday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Hobbs in honor of his parents' 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hobbs of Harriston were married in Simcoe St. Methodist Church, Oshawa, in 1902 by the Rev. J. J. Rae. The bride was the former Alice Maude Mary Gibson whose birthplace was Pontypool.

At the time of their marriage Mr. Hobbs was on the staff of Glencoe high school. Since then he has served as principal of high schools in Arnprior, Lucan, Oakville, Gravenhurst, Harriston, Chapleau and Kenora.

Members of the immediate family who were present on Sunday were their son, Charles Hobbs and Mrs. Hobbs of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. R. J. Menzies (Laura), their only daughter; Mr. Menzies and son Tommy of Willowdale, as well as Dr. M. E. Hobbs and family. The only son not present was Dr. Leslie Hobbs of Sudbury who formerly practised dentistry in Millbrook, but who was unable to attend on account of illness.

Mrs. Lavinia Fisher of Whitby, sister of Mr. Hobbs Sr., who had acted as bridesmaid was also present. Other relatives attending the family party were: Mr. and Mrs. Hanley Norman and Noreen, Mr. Charles Gibson and Miss Eleanor Gibson of Peterborough; Mrs. Addie Thompson of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Moore and Murray Moore of Oshawa.

During the afternoon numbers of friends dropped in to offer their congratulations and to enjoy a cup of tea tea with Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs. All five grandchildren Janet, Judy, Patsy and Arthur Hobbs and Tommy Menzies helped their grandparents to celebrate.

CULTURAL CITY

WINNIPEG (CP)—Max Scheindel, formerly a member of a Viennese ensemble, says Winnipeg is known throughout Europe as a centre of culture. He said that was the reason he decided to settle here and form a Jewish theatre group.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Hallowe'en Supper Menu Special For Friday Night

If you have a hungry crowd invited serve them the works—the complete menu. But if they are not depending on this as a full-supper meal choose just the sandwiches, potato chips and "dip", apples, doughnuts and spiced cider.

HALLOWE'EN MENU

Broiled Wieners in Buns with Cheese
Rolled Sandwiches
Potato Chips
"Dip" of Cottage with Onion
Polished Red Apples Doughnuts
Brownies Spiced Cider

DIRECTIONS

If you like and serve the hot dogs, split your wiener rolls, place wiener in slit, flank it with ¼ inch strips of process cheese and place under hot broiler to broil wiener, toast bun and melt and brown the cheese. Serve piping hot. Some of your guests may want a little French mustard with this.

ROLLED SANDWICHES

Slice whole wheat bread the full length of the loaf—not crosswise as you would for ordinary sandwiches. Spread each slice with softened nippy cream cheese blended with soft butter and chopped walnuts or olives. Roll up with crusts on. Wrap in wax paper then in damp towel and chill for at least 2 hours. Unwrap and with very sharp knife cut off and discard (or eat) crusty ends, and cut remainder of roll into pinwheel sandwiches.

When you buy potato chips be sure they are fresh. Serve these in a generous border on a big plate around a bowl of "dip" with a small spoon in it to be dipped into and eaten on the potato chips. Mix creamy cottage cheese — about 1 lb. for 10 or 12 people — with 2 tablespoons very finely chopped green onions or chives and 3 or 4 tablespoons finely chopped parsley. Some finely chopped nuts may be added if desired. This type of "dip" is very popular so be prepared. It may be stretched and varied by adding mayonnaise.

DOUGHNUTS (cake-type)

Two eggs or 4 egg yolks, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons soft shortening or butter, ¾ cup buttermilk or sour milk, 3½ cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon. Beat the eggs or yolks until thick, then beat into them the sugar and shortening, and sir in the buttermilk. Sift together all remaining ingredients then stir them into the wet mixture. Chill for at least 2½ hours. While rolling and cutting out the dough you should heat the fat which should be 3 inches deep, to 380 deg. Fahr. (if you have no thermometer drop in a cube of stale bread—it will brown in 40 seconds). Turn part of the dough onto floured cloth-covered board. Keep remainder chilled. Turn the dough to lightly cover it with flour. Roll out to ⅛ inch thickness. Cut out with floured sharp doughnut cutter. Lift doughnuts from board with wide spatula and slide carefully and quickly into hot fat. Fry just enough that can be turned easily. As they rise to surface and show a golden color turn them. They require about 3 minutes in all for both sides. Remove from fat with long fork onto absorbent paper. If you want to sugar them when they are cool shake them in a bag containing granulated or icing sugar.

BROWNIES

Beat 2 eggs until light, add 1 cup sugar. Melt together ½ cup butter and 2 oz. unsweetened chocolate over hot water then add to egg mixture, stirring. Sift together ½ cup flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ⅛ teaspoon salt, and add to first mixture. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla [illegible] coarsely chopped [illegible] in greased pan. Bake 45 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. Cool before cutting into squares or bars.

SPICED CIDER (to serve 10)

Simmer 2 quarts cider with 1 teaspoon whole allspice, 1 stick cinnamon, and a few whole cloves for 15 minutes. Strain. If desired, just before serving add ¼ cup each fresh orange and lemon juice.

What's Right?

You give your order in a restaurant and one thing on the order is a mistake.

WRONG: Show your impatience by being high hat with the waiter.

RIGHT: Quietly explain what is wrong, without creating a scene.

6—In Memoriam

CURRIE—In loving memory of a dear husband Bob, and daddy, who passed away October 29, 1951.
He bade no one a last farewell,
He said goodbye to none,
His spirit fled before we knew
That he from us had gone.
At night the silent stars look down,
On a grave not far from here,
Where sleeps the one we can't forget
The one we loved so dear.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife Audrey and daughters Sharon and Sandra.

CURRIE—In loving memory of our dear son, Bob, who passed away October 29, 1951.
Though out of sight he's ever near,
Still loved, still missed, still mine,
He will live with us in memory
Until the end of time.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by mother and dad and brothers

CURRIE—In loving memory of brother Bob, who passed away Oct. 29, 1951.
Asleep in God's beautiful garden,
Free from all sorrow and pain,
Safe in God's wonderful keeping,
Until we all meet again.
—Sadly missed by Margaret and Harold.

CURRIE—In loving memory of Robert (Bob), who passed away October 29, 1951.
Love's greatest gift—remembrance.
—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Worrall, Jack, Betty and Linda.

MANN — In loving memory of our Brother, Sgt. James S. Mann, who died in Belgium, Oct. 29, 1944.
Deep in the heart lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest,
In memory's frame I shall keep it,
Because he was one of the best.
—Ever remembered by brothers and sisters.

MANN—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Sgt. James S. Mann, who was killed in Belgium, October 29th, 1944.
However long our lives may last,
Whatever lands we view,
Whatever joy or grief be ours,
We will always think of you.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife and family, Donna and Bobby

Court Reserves Judgment On Malan Body Legality

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (AP)—South Africa's Appeal Court reserved judgment today on whether Premier Daniel Malan's high court of parliament is a legal body.

The five-man bench under Chief Justice A. van der Sandt Centlivres recessed after hearing advocate Graeme Duncan claim that the union Parliament had exceeded its powers in setting up the high court.

Duncan is chief counsel representing the interests of four colored (mixed blood) voters who last August successfully challenged the legality of Malan's new body in the Supreme Court.

In a previous decision, the Appeal Court decided the Malan government's law restricting the rights of colored persons in Cape Province was unconstitutional. The Malan government then set up a high court of Parliament to be the supreme authority in judging whether its laws are constitutional.

APPEAL RESULTS

If the appeal court decides that the high court of Parliament is legal, then the Malan government could:

1. Slice the voting rights of any group in the population on grounds of race or color.

2. Proclaim Afrikaans as the one official language of bilingual South Africa where presently English is the second language.

3. Wipe out the powers of the ordinary independent courts to test laws passed by Parliament.

The constitution as originally written laid down these things could be done only if a two-thirds majority of the two houses of Parliament sitting together agrees.

Malan got his law setting up the high court of Parliament approved with only a simple majority. He claimed that the two-thirds majority requirement has fallen away.

The nationalist government already has used its high court of Parliament to over-rule an Appeal Court judgment which branded one particular racial segregation law as illegal.

Home and School Association News

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL

"Problems of the Primary Division" was the theme of a stimulating and informative panel discussion Tuesday evening at Prince of Wales Home and School Association's meeting.

Members of the panel were Mr. J. D. Londerville of the Normal School staff, and Mrs. J. Wishart, parent of children in the school, Miss Phyllis Moore, primary supervisor and Miss Doris Burgess representing the teaching staff.

The discussion, after reviewing contemporary educational theory and means by which the various subjects of study were used to promote the general development of the child, centred around the Unit System. It was explained that this system is one of the ways or providing flexibility in the school program so that each child may be considered as an individual and make the best progress of which he is capable. After the panel, the discussion was thrown open to members of the audience who showed their interest by a great number of searching questions.

Dr. J. Wishart thanked the panelists.

Mrs. J. Morley led the devotional period and introduced Master Roy Bacon who delighted the audience by singing "Bless This House." He was accompanied by his sister Lorraine Bacon.

Attendance prize went to Miss McGill's room.

Mrs. W. E. Baggs, president, discussing Association business, reminded parents of 'fun nite' to be held November 18th, and asked for their support and co-operation in this one money-making venture of the year.

The subject of recreation grounds for children in the Prince of Wales School area was brought before the meeting by Dr. Wishart. Referring to this matter Principal R. J. Bolton announced a skating rink will be built at the end of Hastings Avenue, and plans are under way for a new playground in the spring.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Pakenham and a committee of room mothers.

Co-Op Sells Feed

Mr. Campbell also explained that the present statement made full allowance for depreciation, amounting to $17,165 at Peterborough, Havelock and Warkworth. Add to that sum, the $6,062 above, and the total was $23,227.

Mr. Campbell recalled that the Warkworth business was sold to the people of that area for $12,000 under the book value. That sum was accepted partly to make amends for withholding sale when a Warkworth committee had previously bid for the business there when they desired to secure a location on the main street.

As to the write-downs on inventory and debts, Mr. Campbell said, "that is not all applicable to this year, but to last year, and the two years before that." The effect of the foot and mouth disease in the west, and the U. S. embargo against cattle, was reflected in "a reduction in the volume of our feed business."

When the accounting that was made under the new management agreement was fully considered, with the deductions for depreciation, doubtful accounts and write-down of inventory, Mr. Campbell remarked that the picture assumed a far brighter aspect than it appeared in the plain statement of the year's operations.

Mr. Hern told the meeting that he was proud to have been asked to come to Peterborough, and humble in realizing the extent and complexity of the Co-Op plant and business.

WILL DO BEST

"I did not come to Peterborough until your fiscal year was nearly ended (June 30, 1952)," he said. "I shall try to the best of my ability to manage your affairs as wisely and efficiently as possible, and I hope to be able to justify your trust in me."

Economies were put into effect, he said. The overhead was reduced. "With favorable conditions, I can forecast no loss in any department of your business for the coming year. My concern is largely about the total volume. It is your business. There is no pot of gold we can dip into. You can make it or break it. We have 1,500 members. If each member supports us to the full extent of his needs and ability, I'd have no problem at all, and in a short time we'd have some handsome dividends."

Thanks to the staff, necessarily reduced, for their co-operation [illegible] by Mr. Campbell and Mr. Hern.

Comment of Mr. Croswell was in brief: "Last year was not a profitable one, but it has shown very considerable improvement."

Fired At Hall

A statement Hall gave to O.P.P. Corporal John Munroe and Constable James Healy at Provincial Police headquarters was admitted for the purposes of the preliminary.

Robert Carley, who is defending Hall, argued there was nothing in the evidence to justify Magistrate Philp committing him for trial. Mr. Carley said the crown had failed to show any intent on Hall's part, which, he said, was the real basis of the offence.

Mr. Bradshaw said he was pointing out that Hall fired two shots. While there was no evidence he aimed at Tripp, Mr. Bradshaw said Hall knew there were at least two or three people in the cabin. "It is for a jury to decide whether he intended to or not," argued Mr. Bradshaw, in urging that Hall be committed for trial.

When Magistrate Philp said he was reserving judgment until Thursday, W. J. Arthur Fair, who is defending Tripp, asked that Tripp's hearing be adjourned until then, and the magistrate agreed.

Drew Demands More Population

WINNIPEG (CP) — Progressive Conservative leader George Drew said last night Canada should aim at increasing its own consuming population and should use its resources to create wealth and labor within the country.

Addressing a party reception in South Winnipeg constituency during a one-week tour of Manitoba, he said the United States needs more from Canada than Canada needs from the United States.

"Our course should be decided in Ottawa and not in Washington."

He said the present government was for those who believed in heavy taxation and inflation. Inflation resulted in the price of exports being marked up in terms of the receiving country's currency.

He advocated keeping open the "traditional markets in Britain and the Commonwealth." This was not just sentiment, he said, but a sensible measure to self-interest. The Commonwealth countries produced only 50 per cent of their own requirements and they offered the "surest and safest market for our surplus agricultural products."

G. Marryat Buried In Hastings Cemetery

HASTINGS (ENS).—The funeral of Gerald Marryat was held from Ashfield House to St. George's Anglican Church for service.

Born at Earlswood, Reigate, Surrey, England, he was the son of the late Rear Admiral J. H. Marryat, C.B.R.N., and the late Francis Short of Bickham, Exeter, England.

In ill health for the past two years, Mr. Marryat will be sadly missed by the townspeople as his soldierly figure was a daily personage around the village.

He leaves to mourn his passing his widow, formerly Helen Fowlds and several relatives overseas. The Rev. A. J. Patstone conducted a short service at the church. Rev. Patstone based his address on the seafaring and naval record of Mr. Marryat's family, and recited Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar."

The service was under the auspices of the Canadian Legion Branch 106 of which Mr. Marryat had been an unfailing worker. Committal service was read by Mr. Patstone and Iden Bonds Sr., for the Canadian Legion.

Pallbearers were: E. H. Richardson, J. Snowell, J. Ryder, F. S. Crate, S. Hogar, B. Scott, all Legion members.

Guard of honor comrades N. Herectko, Y. Calberry, K. McColl, I. Bonds Sr., W. Abbott, F. Reeve, A. Warrington, William Slesser.

Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Comrade Boate.

Communists Lodge Expected Protest

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — The Communists lodged an expected protest today against what they called large-scale massacre of Red war prisoners in the latest disorder on troubled Koje Island.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, senior Red armistice negotiator, coupled his protest with a renewal of propaganda charges. He declared the United Nations was plotting to extend the Korean War.

Nam Il's letter said 76 Communist prisoners were killed or wounded Sunday.

The U.N. Command had announced that one prisoner was killed and 74 were injured when North Korean P.O.W.s refused to stop military drills.

Otonabee Council Hears 20 Appeals

KEENE—Sitting as court of revision, with Reeve Dick Stewart as chairman, Otonabee council Tuesday heard 20 assessment appeals.

Clerk treasurer James McCarthy [illegible] were upheld and in the cases where adjustments were made, none amounted to more than $100.

They were all small property appeals Mr. McCarthy said and the relatively few appeals as compared with a year ago when more than 60 were heard indicates there is less dissatisfaction among the township's taxpayers than last year when the re-assessment had just been completed.

Huron Diocese Plans Take 100 Families

SARNIA (CP)—Fred C. Leaver of Point Edward, a member of the diocese executive of the Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen, said at nearby Corunna last night that 100 families from England will be settled in the diocese of Huron next year.

Speaking to a group of Anglican laymen, he said the immigration plan was proposed at the Anglican synod meeting in London, Ont., last spring, and that the brotherhood has undertaken to sponsor the plan.

George B. Stirling Resigns As Fieldman

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Secretary fieldman of the Middlesex Federation of Agriculture for the past four years, George B. Stirling has resigned.

He leaves Nov. 15 for Vancouver, and a new position with the British Columbia Credit Union League.

Reports Of Troops Not Special—Iran

TEHRAN (AP)—Foreign Minister Hossein Fatemi said today newspaper reports about concentration of troops on both sides of the Iran-Iraq border has no special significance.

Fatemi told a press conference: "If steps have been taken in the interests of internal security at certain points of the country's border they do not have anything to do with Iranian worries about Iraq or vice versa and will not affect friendly, sincere relations between the two countries."

The foreign minister said he understood Iraqi troops were engaging in routine manoeuvres near the border. Iranian troops were reported to be guarding the Iranian oil field area near the western border.

BIRDS OF WAR — A South Korean family, absorbed by the panorama of war being unfolded before them, watch as paratroopers of the U.S. 187th regimental combat team make a practice drop. The men are jumping from C46 transport planes of the 315th Troop Carrier Wing. The wisps of smoke curling skyward from the base of the hills in the background are from the ground exercises in which the paratroopers took part.

Dr. E. Murphree Wins Research Medal

QUEBEC (CP)—Dr. Eger V. Murphree, president of the Standard Oil Development Company, engineering and research affiliate of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), today was named 1953 recipient of the Industrial Research Institute medal.

The medal has been awarded annually since 1945 to honor "outstanding accomplishment in leadership in or management of industrial research which contributes broadly to the development of industry or the public welfare."

The announcement of the award was made at the closing session of the institute's fall meeting by Dr. Fred Olsen, vice-president in charge of research and development of the Olin Industries, Inc.

Dr. Murphree, a member of the National Academy of Science and the New York Academy of Science is president of the permanent council of the World Petroleum Congress.

Narcotics Sentence

TORONTO (CP) — Ford Lee Washington, the Buck of the Buck and Bubbles vaudeville team, yesterday was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $200 or an additional six months for illegal possession of marijuana. Jointly charged with Washington, Benjamin Winestone also was sentenced to six months and fined $200 or another six months.

U.K. Firm Building Supersonic Plane

LONDON (Reuters)—A British company is preparing a light, utility supersonic fighter plane which can be built cheaply, the society of British aircraft constructors said today.

Its designers believe it will have armament, equipment and flying qualities adequate for most operations which a single-seater fighter can perform, and equal or better speed and climbing powers than existing heavier types.

The company, Folland Aircraft, is building prototypes as a private venture.

New Safety Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The civil aeronautics board has drafted tentative new safety regulations for the airlines in the United States.

One important measure would require the use of a pilot warning device for each propeller on an airliner, to give an alarm when the propeller goes into reverse pitch.

Other proposed regulations would require that:

1. Life belts, rafts, flashlights and other "ditching" equipment be carried on planes operating over water.

2. Load limits be adjusted according to temperature and humidity. Pilots have found that a plane's ability to take off decreases under conditions of high temperatures and high humidity.

3. The frequency of flashing of airplane position lights be increased from the 36 to 60 cycles a minute now required, to 65 to 85 cycles a minute.

4. Red anti-collision lights be used on the tailfin or top of fuselage.

Report New Approach Studied To European Financial Crisis

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today an ambitious approach to a solution of Europe's recurring economic and financial emergencies is under discussion in Washington in conferences on next year's mutual security program.

The Times, in a dispatch from Washington by Felix Belair, Jr., said the solution sought is one designed to end huge annual appropriations for economic aid grants abroad.

Describing the reported plan, the Times said:

"Employing a multi-billion dollar currency stabilization fund to be called the Atlantic reserve system and an Atlantic economic board to co-ordinate trade and other policies affecting currency relationships, the new approach would seek to further Europe's related objectives of rearmament, solvency and rising living standards.

"A proposed Atlantic commodity board, subordinate to the economic board, would seek to stabilize production and prices of essential raw materials through long-term agreements with leading producer countries and thereby remove the need for restrictive cartel arrangements.

NEW CURRENCY SYSTEM

"By tying together the major currency systems of the Atlantic community, the dollar and the pound sterling and a third unit expected to evolve from the six-member European defence community, the new approach, those who take it hope, would end the preoccupation abroad with dwindling gold reserves that has prevented expansionist economic policies.

"With a new supranational backing provided through the proposed reserve system for each of the major currency units, it is thought that Britain and other members of the Atlantic community would be willing to initiate a 'managed convertibility' of their currencies in terms of the dollar and to modify or abandon restrictions and discriminations in trade and payments."

The Times said details of the plan are set forth in a secret "green book" prepared by the mutual security agency as a basis for discussion of next year's program.

Jury Decides Child Stabbed By Mother

WINNIPEG (CP)—A coroner's jury last night returned a verdict saying the death of a five-year-old Winnipeg girl Oct. 12 was caused by stab wounds inflicted by a bread knife in the hands of her mother.

The child, Sandra Eileen Hasler, was found slain in her home in suburban Brooklands.

No charges have been laid.

The child's mother, Mrs. Phyllis Hasler, 29, is in a psychiatric ward here. R.C.M.P. said she would be held in custody and a psychiatric investigation would be made.

The father, Frank, who also was held on a coroner's warrant following the child's death, has been released.

Women Carpenters

WINDSOR, N.S. (CP) — Some hubbies here can expect help with the household carpentry chores. Eleven women are among a class of 23 registered for the woodworking course at the handicrafts school, and most of them are married, with families.

Floated Across

BOGNOR REGIS, England — (CP). — More than three years ago J. Miller threw a bottle containing his card into the sea near here. Now he has a letter from an American who found the bottle on a beach in the Bahamas a few weeks ago.

He's Busy Man

TABER, Alta. (CP)—After 14 years as chief of the volunteer fire brigade, Angus McKay resigned because of pressure of other work. He is also public works superintendent, building inspector, plumbing inspector, gas inspector, electrical inspector and superintendent of the garage and waterworks.

Expect Steel Business To Remain Good

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel business is expected to continue excellent at least until the second quarter of 1953, and even then steel producers don't expect their operating rate to go into a tailspin, the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, said today.

It said: "This is being reflected in unrelenting pressure for early delivery from the mills. Industries sensitive to boom psychology have apparently decided to eat their steel cake now—and fight for more in the first quarter. . .

"The strongest drive for steel among civilian manufacturers is coming from Detroit. Here the competitive race for the consumer market is intense. Conversion deals which have been expected to wither in December, now hold the key to auto output in the early months of 1953."

The trade weekly said some manufacturers of small appliances say they don't have enough steel to get them past Dec. 31.

Fly Belgian Woman To Sick Brother

LONDON (CP)—Rigid service restrictions were brushed aside yesterday to provide emergency accommodation on a Canada-bound R.C.A.F. transport plane for a Belgian woman whose brother is critically ill in Winnipeg.

The woman, Mrs. Carl Wycknans, reached London yesterday from Malins, Belgium and a few hours later was aboard an R.C.A.F. North Star which took off for Montreal from the Canadian fighter base at North Luffenham, Rutlandshire. From Montreal Mrs. Wycknans will be flown to Winnipeg where her 19-year-old brother, Sgt.-Cadet Louis Lybaert, of the Belgian air force is in hospital. Cadet Lybaert has been in Canada training as a navigator under the R.C.A.F.'s North Atlantic Treaty Organization training plan.

Aid For Invalids

HARROWGATE, England (CP) —Rev. R. H. Baines of St. Peter's Church asked automobile owners in his Yorkshire parish to give invalids rides to church. Now he has more cars than invalids.

Heckled McCarthy Professor Arrested

CHICAGO (AP).—A college political science professor was arrested for heckling Senator Joseph McCarthy during his television and radio speech Monday night. He told the court yesterday he interrupted because "I am alarmed at what seems to be creeping Fascism in this country."

Dale Pontius, 46, a teacher at Roosevelt College in Chicago, was brought before Judge Harold O'Connell.

Pontius, wearing a Stevenson button, was asked why he heckled McCarthy.

"I happen to be a political science teacher," he said. "I am alarmed at what seems to be creeping Fascism in this country."

Pontius, charged with disorderly conduct, was granted a continuance until Nov. 19.

Ancient Skates

GALT, Ont. (CP)—Bill Hussey found a pair of skates here, without boots attached, bearing the stamp of a Massachusetts manufacturer and the inscription that the style was patented in 1666. They have a stationary heel clamp and movable front clamp.

Actress Returns To Hollywood After 7 Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tallulah Bankhead is again facing the film cameras after seven years in other pursuits. This time she's emoting for "Main Street to Broadway."

It's a double fantasy, and has Taloo all wrapped up.

In the first sequence, she plays a wicked woman who poisoned six persons, including herself. In the second, she is a demure housewife.

This consumed her time and she was not able to chitchat. However, she had presented me with a copy of her new autobiography which answers my questions.

NOT SO HOT

Her confession about her film career in the early '30s:

"I was no great shakes. I was victimized by the mechanics of the whole business. In Hollywood you do nothing for yourself. You don't even apply your own make-up. . . You play your roles in snips and driblets, harassed by delays, interruptions and stupidities."

She wrote of her invitation to a "strictly informal" dinner given by Joan Crawford. Taloo arrived in slacks to find La Crawford decked out as if she were attending the opera. Miss Crawford promised her a "surprise dinner companion." He was Jackie Cooper, 8.

Some time later, Walter Wanger arranged a blind date for Tallulah. Her escort turned out to be Gary Cooper, the "strong silent type."

"Silent is right," she adds. "Gary never opened his trap throughout the evening."

The next day a columnist reported the pair engaged. This prompted Reuters to cable from England: "Confirm engagement to Gary Cooper." Tallulah cabled back: "You have it all wrong. Am engaged to Jackie Cooper."

Her engagement to Ronald Colman, a man she had not yet met, was later reported.

Her first movie career was something of a fiasco. But she returned 12 years later and won the New York critics' award for her performance in "Lifeboat."

IF NOTHING ELSE, these kittens get plenty of mothering. Their natural mother, the black feline at left, takes care of the feeding operations, then the bantam hen takes over after meal time and uses her wings to cover the kittens. When exercise rolls around, the cat, the hen and the four kittens go for a walk together. All of them live on the Cecil R. Barnes farm near Mishawka, Ind.

Youth Pleads Guilty To Thefts At College

HAMILTON (CP)—A youth yesterday pleaded guilty to:

Stealing a $125 camera from one room at a McMaster University residence and an electric razor from another room; stealing a $100 wrist watch and $40 in cash from a girls' residence at the university; getting $14 from another girl's room; from another room, a $40 wrist watch; from another, $17.

Finally, in room 21, he wrapped a soft drink bottle in a cloth and hit June Jackson, 16, on the head. The girl testified 17 stitches were needed to close the wound.

Tafari Mukkunna, who said he was born in Eritrea, told court: "I am sorry I am a thief." Magistrate B. F. Hopkins asked a probation officer to talk with the youth.

SILVER EXPORT

In the first four months of 1952 Canada exported 5,745,661 fine ounces of refined silver, nearly 700,000 more than in 1951.

How To Save Money and Get Fast Cough Relief

Here's an old, tested, home mixture your mother knew . . . still a most dependable remedy for distressing coughs. Fast and effective, children like its pleasant taste.

Make a syrup by stirring two cups of sugar into one cup of water until dissolved . . . no cooking needed (or you can use maple syrup or honey instead). Now pour 2½ ounces of PINEX CONCENTRATE into a 16 ounce bottle, and add the syrup you've made. You'll have 16 ounces of fast acting, pleasant tasting cough medicine, more than you could buy for four times the money, with effective relief for the whole family.

Pinex—a special compound of proven medicinal ingredients—must help you, or money refunded.

Thinks Ban May Be Eased

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP)—The harmony which exists between Washington and Ottawa is highly-prized in both capitals, Denis Harvey, director of the commodities branch of the federal trade department, said today.

He made the comment to the annual meeting of the Canadian Exporters' Association in discussion of recent withdrawal by the United States of "in transit" permits from Canadian copper, bronze, tungsten and products of these metals.

Mr. Harvey said the U.S. action was not directed against Canadian goods, but that these Canadian items happened to get "caught" in an action that was intended to cover something else.

The object of the United States in such actions, he said, was to stop certain commodities from reaching Communist - dominated countries. There was the closest co-operation between the American and Canadian control authorities.

Representations had been made to Washington when the metals action was taken and Washington immediately advised that it was prepared to discuss the matter. Consultations would be held in Washington next week and he believed a formula would be found to solve the matter. Meantime, the Canadian items will be allowed to move on the issuance of a Canadian permit.

Ban On Coronation TV Stirs Up Political Stew

LONDON (AP)—The ban on televising the coronation next June 2 boiled up last night into a hot political stew.

Seventy-nine Labor members of Parliament headed by former defence minister Emanuel Shinwell introduced a motion on the subject. It criticized Prime Minister Churchill for refusing to tell the House of Commons of the Conservative government's attitude on the ban.

Since the present session ends Thursday, it seemed unlikely the motion would be debated.

Opponents of the ban contend millions of Britons have the same right as the peers to see Queen Elizabeth crowned. Those supporting the ban say the televising would place an added strain on the Queen and would detract from the dignity and religious character of the event.

If the ban sticks, only a few hundred peers and notables in Westminster Abbey will see the crowning. Films will be taken, but it is planned to edit these to remove any possible hitches in the complicated proceedings.

Actually, Churchill has no primary responsibility in this matter. The decision rests with the coronation commission headed by the Duke of Norfolk.

Newfoundland Gets Variety Of Industries

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Newfoundland is doing some strange things in its current drive to give the province a variety of industry as a backbone for employment and economic stability.

The new pressboard plant being erected at Donovans is a good example. Newfoundland saved $75,000 by having the factory building built in pieces in Switzerland and shipped to the site rather than having it constructed at the spot.

The price was $100,000 and the lowest quotation for having the job done on the spot was $175,000. The entire operation is much larger, involving an outlay of $1,000,000 and consisting of five separate buildings.

USE WASTE PRODUCTS

The factory building, where hardboard will be pressed into shape from birch chips and synthetic resin, is the largest. Others house a chipping mill, boilers, offices and living quarters.

The plant will use waste products from the manufacture of plywood, as well as low-grade birch unsuitable for either the veneer lathes or the planers in the flooring mills.

The buildings will probably be completed by the end of this year and machinery will be installed immediately. Production should begin early in the spring.

The industry is being created under the government's dollar-for-dollar scheme under which the government matches the $500,000 investment put up by the company. The government's cash takes the form of a long-term loan.

Dixie Crosby Ill

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Dixie Crosby, the wife of crooner Bing Crosby, was in a critical condition yesterday and has slipped into a coma. Larry Crosby, Bing's brother, said her condition is so serious that members of her family have been summoned here. She underwent a serious abdominal operation three months ago.

6 Desperate Convicts Foiled In Escape

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Six desperate convicts used fog as a cover for an attempt to escape from Oregon State prison early yesterday but ran into two obstacles: a line of armed guards on the wall and a gate that wouldn't break.

Three of the six are convicted murderers.

Two convicts suffered flesh wounds when guards opened fire. Five guards, nabbed and tied up when they went outside the segregation unit to see what was up, were not hurt.

RCAF Airmen Teach Rescue Work

NORTH LUFFENHAM, England (CP)—Canadian jet pilots from No. 1 Fighter Wing preach as well as practise safety first.

Using the fuselage of a Sabre jet as No. 1 exhibit, a team of six airmen has been touring the English countryside to show police and firemen the best ways of rescuing crashed fliers.

The men give short lectures, run through the rescue "drill" and show how to operate the charge-laden mechanism of the ejection seat.

In charge of the mobile unit is FO. Don Williamson of Ingersoll, Ont.

EVERYTHING WAS BATTERED but the two men who were in this panel truck that went out of control on Highway 7 near the Central Smith Creamery Wednesday night. Truck Clips Pole Rolls Over Two Men Unhurt

Two Oakwood men who were driving to Peterborough Wednesday afternoon were not even shaken up after their truck went out of control on the highway, near the Central Smith Creamery, knocked down a hydro pole and rolled over.

Harold Jenkins, 56-year-old Oakwood electrician, was the driver of the panel truck. His passenger was Roy Rich.

TIRE BLEW OUT

Jenkins was driving to Kesco Electric in Peterborough to get supplies. Just west of the Central Smith Creamery, more than two and a half miles west of the city on Highway 7, the right front tire blew out.

The truck careened along the south side of the highway for 250 feet, ran onto the shoulder, snapped a hydro pole, and rolled over into the ditch. Damage is estimated at $400.

Despite the violence of the accident neither man was hurt. They crawled out of the damaged truck as soon as it stopped; not even their spectacles were shaken off.

O.P.P. Constable Wallace Mohns investigated.

10 Fishermen Rescued In Bad Gale

Daring Seamanship Of Trawler Captain Saves Men From Sea

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Ships were tossed like matchwood Wednesday as sudden North Atlantic gales raked the Canadian seaboard with fury.

No casualties were reported but the seamanship of an unidentified trawler captain probably saved the lives of 10 fishermen some 300 miles off Newfoundland's storm-whipped coast.

In the Gulf of St. Lawrence, a disabled freighter and her tug escort barely held their own against the angry seas off the dangerous Magdalen Islands. And fishermen lost their boats.

Newfoundland took the brunt of the gales, worst of the season.

The Boston-based trawler Newton was left a floating derelict when her pumps couldn't keep ahead of a leak. First attempts by 10 crew members to abandon her were foiled when a lifeboat was smashed to splinters.

DARING RESCUE

Then the St. Nicholas, another of the American trawler fleet, manoeuvred to leeward. A risky dash to the side of the pitching, 130-foot craft was successful. The crew clambered aboard. None was injured.

The Newton sent an S O S in the afternoon but the crew didn't abandon her until nightfall. Her captain, Pete Doucette of Gloucester, Mass., reported that he left his running lights on so he could tell if his pumps were working.

His ship was still afloat at 11:30 p.m. EST last night.

Argentia, Nfld., air base reported that either the U.S. coast guard cutter Bareteria or U.S. Atlantic Coast patrol boat Half Moon would pick up the survivors from the Nicholas.

TUG HOLDING HER OWN

Near the Magdalen Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the Canadian Pacific Steamships freighter Beaverbrae and tug Foundation Vera received the blow's full fury.

The tug reported she was "holding her own" against the white-capped seas at the height of the storm.

The 9,034-ton freighter lost her rudder Monday while en route to the United Kingdom with a load of grain. Another tug, the Foundation Josephine II, was slated to put a line aboard her today, to assist towing her to Halifax.

She is expected to arrive there Saturday.

Illegal Hunting

TORONTO.—Hunters are reminded that, regardless of whatever hunting licences they may carry, gun licences are essential also. Recently, in court, a hunter who had been apprehended without a gun licence but with a deer licence only, claimed that the extra dollar charged for the deer licence this year, as compared with the 1951 deer licence fee was meant to include the use of the gun. This is definitely not so. In the published schedule of licence fees, the Department of Lands and Forests quoted separately: "Resident Hunting (Gun) .... $1."

Charles McCrea Ex-Cabinet Minister Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Charles McCrea, 74, former Ontario cabinet minister, died today. He was president of Toronto General Trusts Corporation.

He served as mines minister in 1923-24 and as minister of game and fisheries from 1923 to 1932.

He practised as a lawyer in Sudbury from 1901 to 1923. First elected to the Ontario legislature for Sudbury in 1911, he was re-elected at each successive general election until 1934.

As mines minister, he visited England in 1924 to interest British investors in the mining opportunities of the province, whose northern mineral riches were then being uncovered.

The mining fraternity expressed its gratitude for the part he played in northern development by presenting to him in 1934 his portrait painted in oils by Sir E. Wyly Grier.

He was a bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada.

Born at Springtown in eastern Ontario's Renfrew county Dec. 27, 1877, he attended separate and high schools in the town of Renfrew and later was graduated from Osgoode Hall here.

He married Edith Louise Dent, a banker's daughter, in Renfrew in 1903. They had three daughters, Helen Elizabeth, Mary Louise and Edith Hope.

Mr. McCrea was president and managing director of Negus Mines Limited; chairman of the board of the Mining Corporation of Canada Limited; vice-president and director of Normetal Mining Corp. Ltd.

He also was a director of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, of Hayes Steel Products Limited, of Jerome Gold Mines Limited, of Nipissing Mines Co. Ltd., and of Nipissing Mining Co., Ltd.

He was called to the bar in 1901 and created a King's Counsel in 1921.

He was a Conservative and a Roman Catholic. His recreation was golf.

Will Begin Grading Immediately

Expect Highway 2A Have One Lane Done By Christmas

TORONTO. — Tenders have been let to start work grading the route of the express road which will cut from Highway 28 to Highway 35 and give a speedier route to Toronto for Peterborough residents.

A spokesman for the Department of Highways in Toronto said today that work will begin on the 16-mile route as soon as the contractor could get on the job, maybe this week.

After joining Highway 35, the route will connect with Highway 2A which is being extended through from Oshawa to Newcastle. The connection will be just west of Newcastle.

ONE LANE BY CHRISTMAS

Highway 2A will have at least one lane completed as far as Newcastle by Christmas, said the spokesman. If the weather favors the contractor, both lanes could be finished by then.

The diversion road will connect Highway 28 at the five-mile turn just five miles west of the city and cuts into Highway 35 just south of Pontypool. It will cut Highway 7A between Cavan and Bethany.

It was described by the spokesman as an express highway which will have a 22-foot paved surface when completed. Although it will be a Class A road, it has not yet been decided exactly what type of pavement will be laid down.

The contract that has just been let is for the grading and preparing the route for the paving. The spokesman said that this preliminary work should be completed within a year and a half. He pointed out that it will be cutting through virgin territory as far as a road bed is concerned.

POSSIBLE DELAYS

It could be held up by lack of steel for culverts or other such shortages.

When completed, the diversion highway will take a good deal of the load off Highway 28 from Peterborough to Port Hope or Welcome to Newcastle and on to Oshawa where it is now very heavy.

The route will add up to about the same mileage, but it should be a quicker route because of lighter traffic.

Hydro Plans Boost In Rates; Starts January 1

TORONTO (CP)—Light bills for some southern Ontario householders will go up after Jan. 1 due to an average 14.8 per cent increase in wholesale prices to municipalities announced last night by Ontario Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders. In a radio address, Mr. Sanders said the main reason for the rise in wholesale rates is the increased cost of steam-generated electricity. Most southern municipalities use this power. He said the financial set-up in 184 of the 311 municipalities should be able to absorb the increase without passing it along to the householder.

NO INCREASE IN COSTS

These figures were based on the assumption that there would be no increase in local costs of distribution.

Mr. Saunders said all sections of the province receiving the more expensive steam-generated power will bear the additional cost. If costs are two per cent higher than anticipated, municipalities will receive an extra bill at the end of the year.

NIAGARA BEARS BRUNT

In Southern Ontario, the brunt of the increase will be borne by the Niagara division, the old 25-cycle area, partly because of a levy to provide for the cost of conversion to 60-cycle power.

The increase in the Georgian Bay and eastern divisions of the Hydro system will be substantially less because they are on 60-cycle now. Municipalities in these divisions will also benefit from the fact that rates paid by them in 1951 and 1952 are sufficient to provide a fund for the partial stabilization of rates in 1953.

Mr. Saunders gave three examples of the effect the increased wholesale rates might have on retail costs. In Toronto, the increase on a monthly domestic bill of $6.38 would be 70 cents. A London home without a water heater would pay a four-per-cent increase of nine cents on a bill of $2.32. Ottawa, however, would not get an increase.

Hungry Convicts Expected To End Strike

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—Acting-Governor Sherwood Dixon expressed strong hope today that 322 mutinuous but hungry convicts would end their rebellion at Menard State Prison and release their seven hostages.

The feeling among state and prison authorities that prospects for a peaceful settlement of the four-day deadlock were favorable grew swiftly last night as hunger began to show its effect.

The haggard prisoners have been without food since seizing the east cell block of this southern Illinois prison late Monday. Their hostages—a prison lieutenant and six guards—have been without food since noon Monday.

THREE HOSTAGES FEED

Three hostages already have been freed. That move came Wednesday when 38 psychiatric inmates surrendered and gave up the hostages unharmed on Dixon's promise to hear their grievances.

After that break in tension, Dixon told the remaining convict holdouts:

"As soon as you restore order and release the seven guards I will sit down with you and hear every grievance."

Late last night two prison chaplains entered the cell block at the prisoners' request. They returned with word that the seven hostages were apparently in good health. They also carried a list of 12 demands drafted by the prisoners.

Dixon summarized the prisoners' wants.

"They ask increased medical service," Dixon said, "and a better food supply. And of course, they all want to get out."

He added that he was confident that hostages would be released unharmed and the trouble ended, perhaps sometime today.

Hold 2 Teen-Aged Sons After Father Shot To Death

MONTREAL (CP)—A frail, 54-year-old post office worker was shot to death and his wife wounded early today during a quarrel with their two teen-aged sons, both captured by police soon afterward. Philippe Bedard, Second World War veteran, was found dead in his three-room home in Montreal's north end.

The body was found after his wife, Marguerite, 48, ran to a neighbor's home, blood streaming from her shoulder. She was taken to hospital where her condition was reported not serious.

Captain Henry Bond, head of the homicide squad, said Bedard's sons Robert, 16, and Yvon, 14, were held for investigation and will appear as material witnesses at an inquest set for tomorrow.

CAME HOME LATE

He said he wasn't sure, so far, just what started the quarrel in the home but thought the argument may have been provoked by the boys coming home late. The mother's purse, with about $48 and some jewelry, a revolver and a hunting knife were found on the boys.

They were arrested, less than a half-hour after the shooting, by Constables Gerard Charbonneau and Rene Mailloux, who were on duty in a radio car.

"When I saw the boys walking near some cars we decided to investigate," he said. "It was about 5 a.m. I searched the younger boy first and found a hunting [illegible]

"Then the second boy said: 'Okay, you've got us. I have the revolver.'

"I didn't know what he was talking about but I jumped on him fast. He had a .32 and it was almost fully loaded.

"They both got in the car then and I asked what he meant by 'You've got us.' He replied: 'You'll here about it on your radio'."

Bing Crosby's Wife Remains In Coma

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Dixie Lee Crosby's life continued to ebb away today. The 40-year-old wife of singer Bing Crosby remained in a coma and her doctor held little hope for her survival.

At her bedside were Bing and their four sons, Dennis and Philip, 18, who flew home from Washington State College; Gary, 19, who came from his studies at Stanford University, and Lindsay, 13, who attends school here.

Because of his wife's illness, Crosby won't appear on his radio show tonight. Judy Garland will pinch-hit for him.

Rob Card Party Of $75,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Seven gunmen invaded a west side charity card party last night and terrorized 150 persons while robbing them of cash, jewelry, furs and clothing.

The gunmen gained entrance to the Austin Jewish community centre and captured Barney Juvik, 57, a janitor who was guarding the cloakroom. They used Juvik as a shield as they marched into the auditorium where the 150 persons were playing cards.

The seven spent half an hour systematically collecting purses, jewelry and furs. They stripped rings and other jewelry from some women.

Decide To Send WD's Overseas

OTTAWA (CP)—The air force will send a group of its women members overseas to help man R.C.A.F. posts in Britain and on the continent, an R.C.A.F. spokesman said today.

The spokesman said he cannot say at this time how many of the R.C.A.F.'s 2,800 women members will go overseas or when they will be leaving.

The women will fill jobs similar to those they now are doing in Canada such as fighter control, communications, instrument and clerical work.

The spokesman said he does not know yet if the women will go to all four R.C.A.F. posts in England and on the continent. The air force has an air division headquarters at Paris, a fighter wing at Gros Tenquin, near Metz, France, another fighter wing at North Luffenham, Rutland and an air material headquarters at Langar in Nottinghamshire, England.

Typhoon Damages

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP) — A typhoon with winds of 120 miles an hour struck the central Indo-Chinese coast today. Reports said it caused heavy damage at the French air and naval base of Tourane.

There were no immediate reports of deaths.

It was the third such storm to hit Indo-China in 10 days The first, Oct. 21, caused nearly 600 deaths.

Korean War Vet Killed In Crash

HAMILTON (CP)—A 19-year-old United States veteran of the Korean war was fatally injured today in a traffic mishap.

Louis Worden Saliba of Barre, Vt., had been riding in a panel truck with Harley R. Folsom, 23, of Marshfield, Vt. Folsom suffered severe injuries.

Announce Grey Cup Will Be Televised

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Grey Cup game will be televised this year for the first time, Arthur Chipman president of the Canadian Rugby Union, announced here today.

In making the announcement, Mr. Chipman said details are still being worked out and will be released at a press conference in Toronto tomorrow by Harry McBrien, C.R.U. secretary-treasurer, and Harry E. Foster, who has the broadcast-telecast rights.

Factory Workers Flee Molten Glass Flow

LONDON (Reuters) — Workers at a bottle factory fled for their lives early today when 10 tons of white-hot molten glass gusned towards them from a cracked furnace.

The glass settled on the floor of the factory and gradually hardened under firemen's water jets. No one was hurt.

Five In Hospital After 3-Car Crash

HAMILTON (CP)—Five persons were taken to hospital and more than $2,800 property damage [illegible] involving a police cruiser here early today.

The cars involved were driven by Thomas Turner, 38, of Simcoe, Jack Turner, 39, Stoney Creek, and Morality Officer Louis Kingerley, 35, of Hamilton.

David Allan, 81, of Stoney Creek, was the only one admitted at the General Hospital. A passenger in the car driven by Jack Turner, he suffered from shock and a forehead cut.

Five others treated but later released.

Joint Strategic Plans Revised By NATO

PARIS (Reuters)—Atlantic Pact countries will revise joint strategic plans with the object of defending the borders of Turkey and Greece from possible aggression, it was announced yesterday.

Lord Ismay, secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, told a press conference the new strategy will be issued after the N.A.T.O. council meeting starting here Dec. 15.

The last "strategic guidance"—instructions from N.A.T.O.'s civil authorities to military commanders—was drawn up in 1951.

"Obviously, it needs revising because Turkey and Greece have joined N.A.T.O. since then," Ismay said.

Ask Greater Role In Coronation

LONDON (Reuters) — Coronation authorities were urged to bring Commonwealth countries into the ceremony today by an independent religious magazine, the British Weekly.

"It is no longer enough that the Queen of England should be crowned by Englishmen for she is, separately and distinctly, the Queen of four other sovereign [illegible] let them by silence," the magazine declared.

"In this changing world," it continued, "some welcome changes now might avert some unwelcome ones later on. And hard things are being said in the dominions."

Unofficial complaints have reached London from Canada, Australia and other dominions regarding the number of coronation seats allotted to Commonwealth visitors and on the absence of Commonwealth representatives in the ritual.

500 Africans Found Hiding In Jungle

NAIROBI Kenya (Reuters) — British troops, scouring the jungles skirting the Aberdare mountains, have rooted out more than 500 "underground" Africans suspected of aiding the anti-white Mau Mau society, the government announced today.

The drive concentrated on the thick bamboo jungle where thousands of young Kikuyu tribesmen fled last weekend.

Another swoop on the Nyeri and Naivasha areas put another 150 Africans under arrest for questioning, the spokesman added. It was in this district that an English farmer and two servants were killed earlier this week.

The entire Naivasha area will be put under a strict curfew from tonight, police headquarters here announced.

Mercy Flight Proves

[illegible]

TORONTO (CP) —A British wife lost out by eight hours in a trans-Atlantic race to see her husband before he died of injuries suffered in an automobile accident

Friends told her when she landed at nearby Malton airport of the death of her husband, Francis Exton, 30-year-old R.A.F. veteran, who was struck by a car last Friday while walking to a bus stop.

Exton came to Canada in April and took a job on a farm. His wife planned to join him here at Christmas with their 2½-year-old son.

Injured McNeil Out Indefinitely

MONTREAL (CP)—Gerry McNeil, Montreal Canadiens' goaltender injured in last night's National Hockey League game in Toronto, suffered a broken cheek bone and will be out of action indefinitely.

An X-ray examination today disclosed the fracture. McNeil will remain in hospital and undergo an operation.

Loss of the little netminder was a terrific blow to Canadiens, who lost the game, 7-5, and also the [illegible] for goals at 324.

McNeil was injured in the first period. There was a pile-up in front of the Montreal net and McNeil dived to the ice when he saw Ted Kennedy of the Leafs set to shoot. The low shot struck McNeil full in the face from close range and he had to be taken to the Maple Leaf Gardens clinic. He insisted on returning to the game although his face became swollen, the right side a massive bruise, and soon he couldn't see from his right eye.

Eden Plans To Make Visit To Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Anthony Eden, Britain's Foreign Secretary, is planning a three-day visit to Ottawa on Nov. 15, the United Kingdom Information Office said today.

The visit will depend on whether events at the United Nations General Assembly, which Mr. Eden plans to attend for two weeks beginning Nov. 7, allow him to get away for the private visit here.

U.K. officials emphasized that the visit to Ottawa will be private. The only public function Mr Eden will perform likely will be to speak before the Canadian Club Nov. 17.

He probably will see his son, Nicholas, aide-de-camp to Governor-General Massey.

Democratic Official Fired For Negotiating Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official of the Democratic national committee was fired yesterday for allegedly helping negotiate a $9,000,000 government contract while working for the committee.

Democratic chairman Stephen A. Mitchell identified him last night as Col. Lawrence Westbrook, a research and development engineer.

Westbrook has been helping House Speaker Sam Rayburn in the Democratic presidential campaign in Texas, and said by telephone from Dallas there was "nothing wrong" with the contract or his negotiations.

Westbrook's dismissal came shortly before midnight last night as a result of a copyrighted story by Bert Andrews in the New York Herald Tribune.

The Herald Tribune story said Westbrook and two other men stood to share a $450,000 commission.

Jess Larson, who signed the contract for the government in his capacity as head of the defence materials procurement agency said today Westbrook signed the deal for tungsten between a Portuguese company and his agency.

The contract, in effect since Sept. 11, was cancelled by the government Monday for the announced reason that the company had violated terms by going into the open market for tungsten.

Follows British Plan Closely

Egypt Agrees To Sudan's Self-Government

CAIRO (Reuters)—Egypt today officially revealed that she is agreeable to self-government for the Sudan by the end of this year as a first step towards the Sudanese deciding their own future within three years.

The plan is embodied in an agreement with Sudanese leaders signed last night and published today.

The move brings Egypt into virtual accord with Britain on the Sudan, a problem which not long ago loomed as a major rift between the two countries.

A year ago the then-King Farouk scrapped the treaty by which the Sudan had been ruled jointly by Egypt and Britain for more than 50 years and proclaimed himself king of the rich territory sprawling across Egypt's southern frontier. The annexation stand was modified after Gen. Mohammed Naguib ousted Farouk. The new regime has maintained close contact with Britain in working out a solution for the Sudan.

A British embassy spokesman here said today the new Egyptian-Sudanese agreement will doubtless be discussed when the British ambassador, Sir Ralph Stevenson, meets Naguib in the next few days. This was the only official British comment here on the agreement.

Though the Egyptian plan closely follows the British plan, there are still several differences between them.

As a prelude to self-determination by the Sudanese the agreement calls for evacuation of both British and Egyptian forces from the 1,000,000-square mile territory and complete "Sudanization" of the administration—the assumption by Sudanese of all posts now held by Britons.

It also lays down that the choice of the Sudanese when it comes to determining their future status shall lie between union with Egypt and complete independence.

Some Sudanese have wanted a third choice—admission to the British Commonwealth.

Expect Seaway Project Start In 1953—Chevrier

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government looks for a start on construction of the St. Lawrence seaway-power project next year, Transport Minister Chevrier said yesterday. Mr. Chevrier, elated by ago-ahead order issued by the International Joint Commission in Montreal, made the prediction before the National Federation of Liberal Women at a luncheon. The minister, who would be in charge of Canada's end of the huge development, expressed the hope that the last major obstacle—naming the United States agency to join with the Ontario government in developing power—would be overcome in time for a 1953 beginning.

"Given the same co-operation by the U.S. authorities as has been received up to now," he said, "there is in my mind no doubt that actual construction work will start next year."

GOVT. "DELIGHTED"

Mr. Chevrier said the government is "delighted" at the order of the commission, the six-man Canada-U.S. body that regulates use of boundary waters.

He did not disclose the terms of the I.J.C. order—understood to be highly technical—but he said Canada will abide by them. One of the points in the order, it was expected, would be that of making sure the huge hydro development in the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence River takes into account water levels in the Great Lakes.

High water in the lakes has caused heavy damage along the shoreline during the last few years. Recently, the Canadian government announced that if it got the seaway-power order it would remove Gut Dam in the river. The dam has been blamed by some for the rise of lake waters

In his speech, Mr. Chevrier placed the over-all cost of the hydro and navigation project at $750,000,000. Previous Canadian estimates have run to about $700,000,000.

The minister said in a later interview that his new figure is based on $450,000,000 for the hydro development on the international rapids just upsteam from Cornwall and $300,000,000 for the navigation system which the Canadian government will build alone concurrently with the U.S.-Canada power development.

Leftists Disband But Not For Long

LONDON (Reuters) — Aneurin Bevan's leftists announced last night they will obey a Labor party ultimatum to disband their organized group but will fight for its early restoration.

The ultimatum, approved by a vote of 188 to 51 among all Socialist members of Parliament last week, threatened party expulsion unless the Bevanites broke up their little band. The left-wingers had campaigned for a reduced defence program and less dependence on U.S. foreign policy.

Last night's announcement said: "We accept the majority decision of our colleagues and for our part, we will abide loyally by it.

"Each of us, however, will take every legitimate step to persuade the Parliamentary Labor party to reverse the decision and to restore as soon as possible to Labor M.P.s their full rights of free association."

Accuse 2 Firms On Fraud Charges

DETROIT (AP) — The government accused two Detroit area firms yesterday of a $657,000 fraud conspiracy involving padding of defence contract payrolls.

A federal grand jury also indicted three officials of the firms including Turkish-born Edward Mardigian, 44, immigrant boy who rose to fame in industry.

Payroll padding on air force subcontracts was charged to the Mardigian Corp., and the Marco Manufacturing Co., both headed by Mardigian.

The alleged fraud took place between March 19, 1951 and Dec. 31, 1951 on stampings and dies subcontracts for Kaiser-Frazer Corporation's manufacture of the C-119 "flying boxcar" cargo plane.

Assistant U.S. attorney James S. Koltesz said that K-F had no part in the fraud.

$12,000 Fire Destroys 60 Abattoir Animals

BRAMPTON (CP) — Sixty animals waiting to be butchered were burned to death early today when a $12,000 fire destroyed an abattoir half a mile east of here.

The slaughterhouse was owned by Jack and Archie Marshall, of this town 25 miles northwest of Toronto.

Watching crowds could hear the screams of the trapped animals as the flames raced through the building.

Bright New Norwood School Opened For District Pupils

NORWOOD (ENS) — An overflow crowd packed the auditorium of the new Norwood High School on Wednesday evening, to witness the official opening. L. S. Beattie, B.A., superintendant of Secondary education in Ontario, cut the ribbon to officially open the new institution.

Chairman for the evening was Edgar T. Buck, chairman of the Norwood District High School Board of Asphodel Township. Mr. Buck said the new school was a tribute to the far sightendness of the board. The idea of a central school was conceived many years ago, and it was through the efforts of the board that it was made a reality.

Rork Ferguson, Reeve of Norwood, welcomed the audience to the opening. He said that children of the district could now get the type of education that was second to none, and likened the new school to a high school in a large city, serving its own area. He said that the school was one which the people of the district could well be proud.

INTRODUCED BOARD

Mr. Buck introduced the members of the High School Board to the audience, as well as H. H. Roberts, the architect who designed the school, and J. H. Eastwood of the Eastwood Construction Company, who built the school. Members of the board are: Edgar T. Buck, Asphodel; Earl Hamblin, Norwood; Clarence Copp, Norwood; David H. Walsh, Hastings; Percy Davidson, Otonabee; John Davidson, Peterborough County; Clifford Scriver, Hastings; Reuben Doan, Belmont; Fred S. Richardson, Percy; Bert C. Haryett, Havelock; Keith Ross, Dummer; H. W. Roche, Havelock.

L. S. Beattie was the speaker of the evening. He is the superintendent of Secondary Education and was introduced by G. L. Gray, Hight School Inspector for the district.

In his remarks, Mr. Beattie paid tribute to the board for their efforts in providing the high school. He said that education was now available to everyone, and not to a few as it was many years ago. The modern schools now offer a greater scope of learning to the students. Increased enrollment in the rural school points to the need for more schools of the type now built at Norwood.

The people of the district, who must help to pay for the new institution, will have a dividend in the form of the graduates of the new school.

He commended the character of the present day graduates, and said that it was by these students that the future of Canada was moulded.

DREAM REALIZED

He said that the dream of equal educational opportunities for every child had now been realized in Norwood district and it was his hope that the new facilities would be used to the best advantage.

He said that the staff at Norwood High to be one of the best he had seen.

PIANOS PRESENTED

Two pianos were presented, one by the Literary Society of Norwood and another from the Lions Club of Norwood. J. H. Eastwood presented a desk set to the school, and the Havelock Student Council headed by Sandra Vansickle, presented a tape recorder to the school.

During the recreational portion of the program the Norwood District High School members of the Havelock Pipe Band played a number of selections, and the Glee Club of the High School entertained with group singing.

After the program, the audience was invited to inspect the new school, and to meet members of the staff, who remained in the classrooms until nearly midnight.

Lunches were served from the cafeteria, and parents had an opportunity to inspect the equipment with which their children work during school hours. Typewriting classes and woodworking equipment seemed to draw particular attention, while the home economics room made many of the mothers present wish they were back in school again.

2nd Court Appearance Costs Vet $5, Costs

LINDSAY (ENS)— A veteran of Korea, home on rotation leave, appeared for a second time in court in a day Wednesday afternoon when he answered a charge of careless driving following his conviction in the morning on a charge of theft of money from a Bobcaygeon man. Gerald Statham, 17, The veteran pleaded guilty to the charge which resulted from an accident two weeks ago, when Statham, driving his father's car collided with a truck on Kent St West the truck was not damaged but the Statham car received a crumpled fender estimated at $200. Statham was fined $5 and costs on the charge by Magistrate Gee.

Allied Troops Grab Back Hill

SEOUL (AP)—Allied infantry won back Pinpoint Hill with clubbed rifles and cold steel today. Earlier 2,000 Chinese Communists, bursting out of the mouth of a long, uphill tunnel, had gained control of the vital central Korean front peak.

Heavy artillery fire from both sides churned the rocky summit during the savage fighting and was continuing without let-up. An Eighth Army staff officer said it probably would rate as the most intense shelling of the war

The Allied troops were dug in 50 yards down the slope from the summit of Pinpoint, taking cover from the hail of shells which blistered the crest.

They drove the Chinese off that highest peak of Sniper Ridge at mid-afternoon.

SPLIT INTO 3 FORCES

Then they split into three assault forces and tried to smash the Chinese all the way back to the Yoke, a maze of caves and tunnels guarding the northern end of 1½-mile-long Sniper Ridge.

But intense Communist shelling and small-arms fire turned back the assault forces.

The United States Eighth Army said its troops had inflicted 5,789 casualties on the Reds in the week ended Tuesday, bringing the total for the first four weeks of October to 32,885—the heaviest month of the year. Comparative Allied figures were not released.

In 17 days of fighting, Allied soldiers have had to claw their way up Pinpoint Hill's shell-pocked slopes nine times.

Mrs. Isabella Mein

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Isabella Mein, 82, who died in Toronto on Sunday, was held on Wednesday at the Comstock funeral home. The Rev. Henry Cotton, of St. Andrew's United Church, officiated and pallbearers were Ernest Braund, Jack and Alex Campbell, William and Harry Drummond and Walter MacFarlane. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Mrs. Mein had lived in Toronto for the past four years and prior to that in Peterborough. She was born at Keene, daughter of the late Alex Campbell and Alison Scott. Her husband, William James Mein, predeceased her several years ago. She leaves one son, J. Gordon Mein, of Toronto, and a grandson, Gordon. While resident in Peterborough, Mrs. Mein was a very active member of St. Andrew's Church.

Feature Quantity of Blooms At Chrysanthemum Tea

Quantities of chrysanthemums were used to decorate the board room of George St. United church Wednesday afternoon, the occasion being the annual "Chrysanthemum Tea" of the Mothers' Auxiliary to the Baby Band. The flowers emphasized the lovely shades of bronze and gold of the autumn. They were in large baskets all around the room but appeared most prominently perhaps as corsages worn by each of the tea assistants.

A wicker basket held the particularly lovely bronze and gold blooms on the tea table. This arrangement was highlighted by lighted gold tapers on either side of a reflecting mirror. A hand-crocheted cloth in oyster shade covered the table.

Receiving at the door was the president Mrs. Ray Parnell, assisted by Mrs. Arnold Mathews and Mrs. E. W. Rowland and Mrs. E. P. Wellwood and Mrs. Douglas Spencer were taking the tickets.

Mrs. Otto Mackey was hostess in the tea room and was responsible for the table decoration. Joint conveners of the tea were Mrs. Reg. Kingdon and Mrs. Gordon Mullen.

Pleasing interludes of the afternoon were when Mrs. Stuart Saunders sang. She chose "At Dawning" and "Rose in the Bud." Piano selections were contributed by Mrs. I. Ellicott, Mrs. W. S. James, Mrs. Arthur Bacon and Miss Dorothy White.

Pouring tea the first hour were Mrs. W. R. Philp and Mrs. W. H. Morton and for the second hour were Mrs. E. Alton and Miss J. Schaefer.

Servers were Mrs. Jos. Stanton, Barnard, Mrs. [illegible], Mrs. M. Miller, Mrs. Donald MacDonald, Mrs. Archie Clysdale, Mrs. James Weaver, Mrs. Robert Camm, Mrs. R. H. Miller, Mrs. Ernest Beatty, Mrs. Ray Delahaye, Mrs. R. Nichols, Mrs. M. E. Nelson, Mrs. John Thirnbeck, Mrs. Stuart Saunders, Mrs. Donald Kingdon and Mrs. Kenneth Burnham.

The kitchen was in charge of Mrs. Lloyd Edwards with Mrs. David Fowler, Mrs. R. K. McKee, Mrs. Albert Mills, Mrs. Donald Metheral, and Mrs. H. [illegible] assisting. Mrs. Garnet Howe was keeping tea pots and cups and saucers replenished.

A nursery for the guests' small children was in charge of Mrs. R. F. Kelcey and her assistants were Mrs. R. Healey, Mrs. S. A. Bowman, Mrs. Arthur Jeffery, Mrs. Raymond Hunter, Mrs. J. H. Burtch, Mrs. J. Sage and Mrs. G. Laing.

In the bazaar room several layettes made by the group were on display in charge of Mrs. W. G. Scott and Mrs. Warren Gamble.

The home baking table was convened by Mrs. John Telford and her assistants were Mrs. L. Cockerill, Mrs. B. Gordon, Mrs. M. Howell and Mrs. F. G. Sargent. The candy table was in charge of Mrs. Walter Ward with Mrs. T. N. Fraser, Mrs. James Higgins and Mrs. M. Brown. Magazine subscriptions were taken by Mrs. Eric Mason.

Board To Try To Settle Dispute At Outboard

A conciliation board is being set up to try and settle an industrial contract dispute between union and management at the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co.

Local 230, Outboard Marine Workers Union, is the bargaining agent for some 450 production workers at the plant.

Union members are asking for a package increase of 29 cents an hour.

This includes a general increase of nine cents an hour; the cost-of-living bonus to be incorporated into the wages (at present about eight cents an hour); and reduction of the work week from 43 to 40 hours with the same take-home pay (the equivalent of about 12 cents an hour.)

The union also are asking for a general increase in the schedule of rates for day-rate workers; an improved vacation plan; and a general tightening of the contract.

Management have already made a package offer of about eight cents an hour. This includes a four-cent general increase, and a reduction of the work week from 43 to 42 hours (the equivalent of another three or four cents). They have also offered to give three weeks vacation after 15 years of service. But the union want two weeks after two years of service, as well.

Present starting rates for men vary between $1.11 and $1.68 an hour.

A membership meeting has been called for 2 p.m. Sunday in the Labor Hall on George St. so the production workers can accept or reject the company offer. A previous meeting was held and the offer was rejected but as the attendance was small the union have agreed to hold another.

In the meantime G. L. Fenwick, conciliation officer of the Ontario Labor Relations Board, has recommended the setting up of a conciliation board. He found that he was unable to get the two parties to agree.

The contract ended Sept. 30 and the parties have been negotiating since the end of August. Members of the union's negotiating committee are the chairman, Lou Durkin, Max Chambers, Victor Minicola, Gordon Lee and President Burrett.

Rehabilitation Of T.B. Patients

Rehabilitation of tuberculosis patients was the topic of an address given Wednesday night to members of the Peterborough Personnel Association.

Speaker was Dr. Norman K. Douglas, who is in charge of such rehabilitation under the provincial department of health. He discussed the preparation of patients about to be released for their return to working life.

Dr. H. M. Yelland and Dr. H. S. Dunham gave members added information during the discussion period that followed Mr. Douglas's talk.

The speaker was introduced by George Barnes and thanked by Al Metcalfe.

Prices Continue Climb On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Prices continued to improve in early afternoon stock market trading today with base metals in the lead

Volume for the first three hours totalled 625,000 shares.

Industrials advanced with good support for foods and papers while utilities, manufacturing companies banks and miscellaneous issues also gained. Agricultures slipped but most other issues were mixed. Canadian Dredge and Traders Finance A each gained more than $1 in the first three hours

Senior golds advanced but junior producers showed a majority of small losses.

Higher-priced base metals led their section upward and Barvue, Cons. Smelters and Golden Manitou gained. Silver Miller slipped.

Western oils recorded a majority of gains ranging to 15 cents while losses were smaller.

Drunk Driver Jailed 7 Days

Cecil Larabie, 26, 221 Rink St., was convicted of drunk driving and sentenced to seven days in county jail today.

Larabie was arrested by O.P.P. constables George Louth and Wally Mohns on September 26 at a service station on the eastern outskirts of the city.

Constables Louth and Mohns said they saw the car pull into the service station driveway and stop. Then Constable Mohns said he saw Larabie start to pull away and it was then Larabie was arrested.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw urged Magistrate W. R. Philp to accept the evidence of the officers that Larabie was unsteady on his feet, and smelled strongly of alcohol when he was arrested.

As to the suggestion of Larabie's counsel W. J. Arthur Fair that Larabie had been driving on private property and not on the highway, if he had been driving at all, Mr. Bradshaw said that it didn't matter. Larabie was guilty in any case, he said because the charge was laid under the Criminal Code, not the Highway Traffic Act.

Magistrate Philp said he "attached very little importance to Larabie's evidence "that the car had been locked when the officers arrested him and that there was little doubt in his mind Larabie was guilty of drunk driving.

Charbonneau checked headquarters by radio and learned there had been a shooting at the Bedard home. He said the boys then admitted their identity and Robert added, "I shot my father."

Following up the police broadcast, Constables Gerard Provencher and Andre Delongchamp were first to reach the Bedard house. They said they had recovered a stolen car earlier and thought the boys may have first taken, this in an attempt to escape.

IN NIGHT ATTIRE

Both Bedard and his wife were in their night attire at the time of the shooting.

Bedard's brother, Joseph, told police he knew Philippe owned a rifle but was unable to say where the boys got the gun. He said Robert and Yvon were "very shy" and seldom got into trouble.

At the house police found drawings of various kinds of guns and also the plan of a store. They said the boys may have intended robbing the place.

Bedard's body was found in the front-door entrance of the modest house which he himself had built. He apparently was running out when shot. There was a wound in his chest.

Police said Mrs. Bedard ran to the home of her neighbor, Armand Urbain, for help.

Frost, Abbott Sign Tax Agreement

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal and Ontario governments yesterday formally concluded a five-year tax rental agreement amid indications that neither party is entirely satisfied.

At a brief ceremony, Finance Minister Abbott signed for the federal government and Premier Frost for Ontario. Dr. W. C. Clark, deputy minister of finance, presented to Chester S. Walters, Ontario's deputy treasurer, two cheques totalling $61,600,000. They represented federal payments to Ontario for the first six months of the agreement.

In good-natured banter as they posed for photographers, Mr. Abbott and Mr. Frost exchanged views on the agreement. The Ontario premier said he wished to say before witnesses that he was prepared to sign a different type of agreement, one that would cover personal income tax alone.

"WRINGS MY HEART"

Said Mr. Abbott as he signed: "Here goes $60,000,000 and how it wrings my heart. The premier could have stayed out a while longer and I would not have minded a bit."

Mr. Frost smiled and replied that he was prepared to remain outside an agreement under certain conditions.

This was taken as a reference to Ontario's efforts in recent years to have the federal government collect a five-per-cent personal income tax for the province. The federal government declined to collect the tax for Ontario, but offered to allow taxpayers in the province a deduction of up to five per cent on their federal income tax.

Details of the agreement, ratified this month by the Ontario legislature, were made public Aug. 29.

Ontario agreed to give the federal government exclusive use of the personal income and corporation tax fields in return for annual payments based on population and the value of gross national production.

The province is expected to get between $120,000,000 and $130,000,000 during each of the five years of the agreement.

Quakes Shake Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Authorities today counted six persons dead, 50 injured and estimated proper damage of $50,000 in a series of four earthquakes that hit Haiti Monday and Tuesday.

Russia Asks UN Commission

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia's Andrei Vishinsky asked the United Nations Assembly last night to form an international commission to seek peace in Korea and unification of that war-torn country. United States delegates at the UN. generally viewed the proposal as the same old Soviet stuff. On the commission proposed by Vishinsky would be "the parties directly concerned and other states, including states not participating in the war in Korea." Vishinsky's resolution would open the door for the Soviet Union to become directly involved. The Russians so far have abstained from a direct, public role in the Korean conflict.

LASHES U.S. STAND

The new Soviet proposal came at the end of a fiery speech in which Vishinsky, for three hours and 39 minutes, lashed back at the U.S. stand outlined last Friday by State Secretary Dean Acheson.

Selwyn Lloyd of Britain was the first Western big-power spokesman scheduled to reply to Vishinsky in the assembly's political committee this afternoon.

But Acheson [illegible] foreign minister said "nothing we have not heard a thousand times before, at Panmunjom and here."

Acheson earlier had reiterated the West's determination not to bow to Communist demands for forced repatriation of prisoners. He told reporters Vishinsky "still argued that we must send prisoners home at the point of a bayonet, which, of course, we have no intention of doing."

Vishinsky Wednesday repeated the Soviet charges that U.S. capitalists touched off the Korean War to save a wavering economy.

He scorned the resolution Acheson introduced asking the General Assembly to approve the U.N. command's stand against forcibly repatriating prisoners of war and to urge Communist acceptance of a truce on those terms.

ENDORSES POLISH PLAN

He endorsed as the "only way to achieve peace in Korea" a Polish omnibus resolution which includes a call for immediate cessation of hostilities, repatriation of all prisoners and withdrawal of all foreign troops two to three months after the end of the fighting.

Vishinsky's own resolution asked the assembly to "establish a commission for the peaceful settlement of the Korean question with participation of the parties directly concerned and of other states, including states not participating in the war in Korea."

Patrol Turned Back

BERLIN (Reuters) — A United States Army patrol, the second this week to try to enter the 100-mile autobahn linking West Berlin with West Germany, was turned back by Russian soldiers at the border check-point today.

Two British patrols were sent back earlier this week.

To Plump Or Not To Plump

Plato disparaged democracy, saying it is "a charming form of government, full of variety and disorder and dispensing a kind of equality to equals and unequals alike." In the 23 centuries since Plato, democracy has proven to be much as he defined, but its variety and disorder have been its saving grace.

* * *

We have in mind these characteristics of democracy when we examine the Peterborough and District Labour Council's recommendation that "plumping" be allowed in electing aldermen to the City Council. Logically, in a democratic society, a voter should be free to vote or not as he pleases, and to vote for as many candidates as he pleases. Logically, it seems perfectly democratic to permit a voter to 'plump' for only one candidate, even when there are five vacancies to be filled. But as we pointed out above, logic and democracy are not necessarily good bedfellows.

If we look at the Peterborough situation logically, plumping should be allowed. If we look at it from the point of view of consistency, it should be permitted in voting for the Council as it is in voting for the Board of Education. (We remark in passing, that despite their opportunity, few voters plump when voting for the Board; even when women were anxious to elect women candidates, few voted only for the women.) If we look at the situation fairly, plumping might more readily result in some groups, not adequately represented on the Council now, securing a seat; for instance, women, south-enders and labour. But democracy in practice is neither perfectly logical, consistent nor perfectly fair; it dispenses a kind of rough justice.

Plumping is an even more drastic way than the ward system of providing special interests or power groups with a hand-picked alderman, put on the council to represent those who, by plumping, denied other candidates their vote. The ward system, abandoned in Peterborough in 1918, at Peterborough voters' majority request, ensured that each section of the town would be represented on Council. Unfortunately for good government in Peterborough, it also proved to the electors at large that this was not the best system of getting aldermen with all the city's welfare at heart, and not only that of one district. (Contrariwise, the ward system usually prevented any one group with special affiliations, for instance, Roman Catholics, from having a representative. So perhaps it is tit-for-tat.)

We are rather surprised that it is a labour organization which has come out in favour of plumping. Labour is the largest single group of qualified voters in the city, for Peterborough is primarily an industrial place. If any special interest group favoured plumping, one would logically expect it of a minority group, like bankers, doctors, teachers, businessmen or managers. It is they, not labour, who should have to worry about their interests being adequately represented on the Council.

The very fact that the real minority groups in the city have not proposed plumping shows that the system as it now exists is capable of looking after everybody's interests, city-wide: no ward [illegible] leaders. Plumping is a negative instrument, a knocking-down rather than a setting-up. It is the sort of thing favoured by fascists and other dictatorially minded people in the past.

Admittedly Peterborough's voting system is somewhat haphazard and illogical, and may at times not provide adequate cross-representation. But on the whole it has given Peterborough good and stable government, Councils with the well-being of the whole of Peterborough in mind, and aldermen not beholden to any special interests. It is true that Labour has in the past been poorly represented on the Council, but that is not the fault of the system but the fault of Labour—they are a majority, they can put up their candidates and get them elected. "Fault" is too strong a word; in the past, and now, we suspect that Labour has not put its finger specially on Labour candidates because industrial workers in the city (who are citizens first and 'labour' second) have been quite satisfied with the slates of candidates available on polling day. Incidentally, if Labour has only one alderman who is an industrial worker, management has none. Not a single executive, engineer or departmental manager from the C.G.E., by far the largest taxpayer in the city, sits on the Council or has been on it since Robert Cotton, and Mr. Cotton began his considerable service as long ago as 1926.

Democracy is indeed full of variety and disorder, dispensing a kind of equality. So is the Peterborough system, but it works, and sometimes charmingly.

The Past Recaptured At Cobourg

Cobourg has redecorated and put to use the beautiful theatre which is a part of Victoria Hall, the handsome building which is the most striking feature of its principal street. The Victoria Theatre is a handsome reminder of the past; its proportions are fine, its acoustics excellent, and its style of decoration is both pleasantly reminiscent of the past and pleasing to the eye of the present. It has been restored to its former beauty with great taste and skill, as a result of a campaign on the part of some of the ladies of Cobourg who were unwilling to see so fine a property decay. Cobourg now has a theatre and civic auditorium suitable to it in size and linked with its historic past and it has gained this great benefit at a cost immeasurably smaller than would be involved in building a new hall.

Cobourg's foresight in this matter deserves high praise; we are only sorry that it is too late for several other Ontario towns and cities to follow its example. Everywhere communities are confronted with a need for a civic theatre and assembly hall but most communities have either allowed their local theatres to slip through their fingers, or those theatres were purchased and pulled down or made into movie palaces during the lean days of the theatre. No one in particular is to blame for this; it was a trend of the 'thirties. But many a city would be glad now to buy and renovate its old theatre, and it might have done so for a tithe of what such a building would cost to reproduce at modern building prices.

As a result, many cities, like our own, have to use school halls for concerts, plays and assemblies, and as these school halls are not designed for such purposes, many inconveniences result from this necessity.

Cobourg has more than a hall; it has a hall with atmosphere. In the Victoria Theatre it is possible to believe that interesting, beautiful and gay things are about to take place on the stage. It is a hall designed for adults, not for children, and the depressing atmosphere of an institution is pleasingly absent from it. It is the perfect complement of the courtroom which is on the ground floor of the same building, and which must surely be one of the most beautiful and dignified courtrooms in Canada.

Congratulations to Cobourg, which has had the taste and good sense to recognize its architectural amenities, and preserve them!

Education Is Everybody's Business

Speaking to a convention of teachers from Oshawa and West Durham on October 24th, Mr. F. B. Smitheram of the Peterborough Normal School referred with disapproval and a considerable measure of personal rancour to the editorials on education which appear from time to time in these columns. They were, he believed, rooted in personal prejudice, and reflected the opinions of people who "do not want young people to think for themselves"; we quote Mr. Smitheram's own words in this instance because we think that they reflect the complete antithesis of what has been expressed by us, and we do not know how he could so utterly misunderstand our meaning. We are deeply anxious that young people, and all people, should think for themselves, but we do not believe that they can do so unless they have a thorough command of certain basic skills which make coherent thought possible. So desirable do we consider these skills to be that we are ready to face the fact that some degree of drudgery may be necessary to give every child a firm grounding in them. It appears to have been our reference to drudgery which excited Mr. [illegible]'s disapproval. He [illegible] comment on our educational system from the laity.

We must point out, however, that education is not the exclusive concern of those professionally engaged in it. Indeed, it would be a sad day for all teachers—and teachers of teachers—if the general public ceased to take a lively interest in education; it is greatly to be desired that the public as a whole should take an even keener interest in education than it does at present. The public pays for it; the public is directly and strongly affected by the results; the intellectual strength of the nation is directly dependent on it. If anything is public business, and a fit subject for public comment, it is education. Is it not unreasonable, therefore, to represent it as a sacred mystery upon which only a priesthood of professional educators may express their views?

Forty thousand former Hitler SS men assembled recently in a West German city and shouted "Eisenhower, filthy swine!" to their hearts' content. Any last-minute Democrat attempts to get them on the voters' list, however, is doomed to failure.

Revolution! O Latin America

By

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

(Ed. Note: This is the first of three articles by J. Halcro Ferguson, who has just returned from a year's trip round Latin America. We shall publish the next two articles on Friday and Saturday.)

SINCE MY RETURN from a year's tour of Latin America, I have repeatedly been asked the same two questions: "Where were you when Evita Peron died?" (Answer: Porto Alegre, Brazil) and "How many revolutions were you in?"

The second question, in regard to an area which is in some ways progressing faster than any other part of the world, reveals a basic misconception of the situation — Latin Americans could with some justice counter by asking a European or Asian, "How many major wars have you been in?"

It is, of course, true that there is a lack of internal stability in many Latin American countries, but this is not necessarily a sign of backwardness. As a Peruvian Negro headmistress put it to me: "You must remember that here in Peru our Norman Conquest, so to speak, was only four hundred years ago, not a thousand, and our independence is only just over a hundred years old. We are still fighting our Wars of the Roses, our Cromwellian rebellion." A male colleague of hers added "And seventy-five per cent. of our population is still illiterate."

PERU IS, of course, a very old country, but the Spanish invaders virtually wiped out its previous Inca culture, leaving the Indian masses without leadership or hope. As a result today Peru's first part-Indian President, Manuel Odria, exercises a benevolent and, it is hoped, transitory autocracy which lays principal stress on education and economic development.

In Mexico, the only other "Latin" American country with a long pre-Latin history, the picture is very different. In Mexico, after a long period of adjustments and mutual hostility, the Spaniards and the Indians merged to form a more or less homogeneous race, the Catholic Church's temporal power (still strong in Peru) was broken, and today Mexico is a country with party politics, heading towards socialism and racial equality. But this point has only been reached after a bitter ideological civil war lasting from 1920 till 1934, preceded by a similar conflict in the last century and complicated by foreign invasion.

THE CONTRAST between Latin America's two oldest countries underlines the differences in history and developments between all the other nations of the continent. Uruguay—pastoral and peaceful—is a prim, sedate Parliamentary democracy which has recently gone so far as to replace the office of Presidency by a nine man all-party Council with a rotating chairmanship, thus becoming the only country in the world with no titular Head of State. Jungle-covered Paraguay, unlike Uruguay in all but name, is a primitive country, Guarani-speaking and still partially tribal, ruled by a succession of Strong Men not very different from mediaeval barons.

Paraguay averages a "ruling-class revolution" every two or three years, a change-over in which the great majority of the inhabitants is not consulted. Neighbouring landlocked Bolivia, with its ninety per cent. indigenous population, has averaged more than one revolution a year during its century of independence. But of recent years the Bolivian people have begun to take a hand in shaping their own destiny, and in April of this year illiterate Indian miners, led by a Doctor of Economics, routed the nation's armed forces and set up a "workers' state", bridging centuries at one dangerous jump.

CHILE, stretching like a snake between the Andes and the Pacific, is the most European of the South American countries, and has developed into a kind of Southern Hemisphere France, with seventeen political parties, a strong and belligerent trade union movement, and a hard-working, practical population. Political advancement, however, is not necessarily dependent upon climatic or racial factors. Brazil, with a population ranging from blond to black and, in many areas of it, a tropical climate, is not only the largest but one of the most progressive American countries, and has reached its present state of prosperity and comparative stability by empirical and—it would seem sometimes—almost haphazard methods.

ALL THESE COUNTRIES, if left in a political (though necessarily not economic) vacuum, would probably have been able to work out their salvation by themselves. But inevitably in our age of swift communication they have been exposed, often prematurely, to the influence of foreign ideas which are not necessarily applicable to local conditions.

The break from Spain which began in 1810 was partly inspired by the ideas of Jean-Jacques Rousseau and the French revolutionaries; during the nineteenth century Britain's influence was great and, particularly during the last few decades, two separate influences have had a profound effect on Latin American political thought: the free-enterprise materialism of the United States and the twin totalitarianisms of Europe, Fascim and Communism, all of which appeal in different ways to confused peoples searching for efficiency and order.

The country most affected by these alien ideas has inevitably been Argentina, whose people, ninety-five per cent. of them of European descent, have always looked at France, Germany and England as their spiritual brothers and up till recently have paid very litlte heed to their less-developed neighbours.

UP TILL 1930 Argentina followed, however slowly and erratically, the footsteps of Western European democracy, but with General Uriburu's coup d'etat in that year, she began to move more and more in the direction of an equally European-inspired totalitarianism, culminating in the triumph of Peronismo, with its single-party system, its worship of the State, its rigid centralism only thinly disguised to preserve the fiction of a Federal Republic, its falsification of history, its educational indoctrination, its parades, its banners, and its total domination of every medium of public information.

If Costa Rica or Cuba had developed such a system it would have worried almost nobody except Costa Ricans or Cubans, but Argentina is a different matter. With a population of sixteen million and an area greater than that of any European country except Russia, Argentina is technically the most advanced of Latin American countries, and its Government has adopted yet one more concept of European totalitarianism: Peronismo is for export. The late Senora Peron is on record as declaring that "Peronismo is destined to triumph far beyond our borders".

IT IS UNLIKELY, unless another world war breaks out and diverts United States' attention and man-power elsewhere, that Argentina will attempt to spread her system by force of arms, but she is already doing so by peaceful penetration. Her goal at the moment is limited to a "River Plate Basin Alliance" with Chile, Uruguay, Bolivia, and Paraguay.

In Uruguay, Peron enjoys the support of a powerful section of the opposition Blanco party, headed by Luis Alberto Herrera, which backs the Alliance. Recently Argentine labour agitators almost succeded in paralysing Uruguay by fomenting a general strike, but the Council of Government acted swiftly, crushed the strike, and expelled two Argentine Labour Attaches.

In Bolivia, the new "Workers' Government" owes a debt of gratitude to Argentina for sheltering its leaders in exile and for an unknown amount of assistance in the revolution. It is unlikely that Peron will allow the debt to go unpaid. Paraguay is already virtually tied economically to Argentina, a process initiated by the de facto military Government which preceded Peron's presidency.

IN CHILE, newly enfranchised women have tipped the scales in the presidential election and put into power the aging General Ibanez, who has promised to reduce the cost of living. He is a former "Strong man" President of Chile and his campaign was actively supported by Argentine's Government-controlled Press. His age, natural inclinations, and dearth of capable collaborators, may well make him a pliable ally of Peron.

Outside the Peronista block—notably Ecuador, where the irresponsible Velazco Ibarra, twice ex-President, has recently been re-elected after exile in Argentina — Peron's Government is spending considerable sums on radio and publicity to further the formation of an Argentine-sponsored "Third Force" opposed to both Eastern and Western blocs in the cold war, but principally aimed against the United States.

As far as the two principal world blocs are concerned, the Communists seemed to have suffered a set-back in their headquarters in the small Central American Republic of Guatemala, but are saved money and effort by Argentina's anti-United States propaganda. The United States is influencing people but not always winning friends by such programmes as Point Four (technical assistance) and such organisations as the Rockefeller Foundation (for medical and social research and welfare). It is against this complicated international background that the apparently turbulent state of many Latin American nations today must be judged.

"WE'RE ABSOLUTELY SURE—THAT WE'RE NOT SURE"

Letters To The Editor

FREEDOM OF FRANCHISE

Sir: In a news column in last night's Examiner the following statement is made: "The requirement of voting for four was started in 1921 after a special bill was put through the Ontario Legislature. Its purpose was to eliminate pressure groups from plumping for one alderman, favourable to their cause."

The latter part of this statement is not attributed to any person, and can only be regarded as an opinion of the Examiner, or its reporter. To say the least, Mr. Editor, it was not objective reporting.

It brands the Labour Council, by implication, as a "pressure group."

I believe the people of Peterborough want, and are entitled to, complete freedom to vote for, or to vote against whom they wish.

The present system is actually a restriction of the franchise, and is I believe, one of the reasons we get such a small turnout of voters for our municipal elections.

Yours sincerely,
W. J. TRIGGS.

WANTS WARD SYSTEM BACK

Sir: Needless to say I am pleased the District Labour Council have decided the present ways of conducting our municipal elections are, in using a slang expression, the bunk. I have advocated returning to the ward system for years, but got nowhere for as usual there is a private bill which brings in the Bible saying as an example, it is easier for an elephant to go through the eye of the needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of Heaven. The elephant had to have the load on his back removed and go through the gate on his knees. Well, the electors do not have to go on our knees to the city council but we do have to burden ourselves with getting a petition signed by 20 per cent of the electors and ask that a bylaw be drawn up and presented to the electors for endorsation, or defeat. Now fellow electors this requires work. I am getting together volunteers to canvass the electorate. If there are any who will canvass a few homes I will be pleased if they will advise me.

I would not care to say what the electors will do when they vote on the bylaw. I presume City Clerk E. A. Outram does not care for the change and he has every right to his opinion but my opinion does not go along with him.

Now what interests me is, how a change of the ward system could be changed to the general and as it stands and has stood since the year 1918.

Was it changed by 20 per cent of the electorate having to eat the humble pie as we are having to eat now? If it was passed in that way then the present way to repeal the change is justified.

You may expect me to throw some light on the subject as soon as I can get it. As it is I will continue rounding up volunteers to canvass for the petition.

No doubt after I see the Private Bill as passed by the Ontario Legislature I will not be any more pleased than I am with the Private Bill and bylaw in respect to the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre.

I am beginning to think that Private Bills are in many cases just a joke, but who gets the biggest laugh?

Yours sincerely,
MAURICE KETCHESON.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus. . . . For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God. . .

For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them. (Eph. 2:4-6, 8, 10.)

And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation. . . .

Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. (II Cor. 5:18, 20.)

New Iron Ore Find

(News of Norway)

Diamond drillings in the Dunderland valley, North Norway, have disclosed new iron ore deposits sufficient to meet the two million ton annual requirements of the large Mo I Rana steel plant for many years ahead. Located near the ore field, the all-electric steel rolling plant will be the largest in Norway. Now under construction, it's scheduled to be ready for production in about two years.

Engineer Andreas Eriksen, who has been in charge of drilling operations, says preparations for mining the Dunderland ore will be started shortly. Six ore fields in the valley have been tested during the last four years, involving drillings of some 120,000 feet all told. The Dunderland deposits have formerly been roughly estimated to contain one billion tons of iron ore. So far, no estimate is available of the new finds.

BIG GAME HUNT IN KENYA

Japanese Tar Makes 3rd Try To Get Married

VICTORIA (CP)—The destroyer Athabaskan sailed today for her third tour of duty in the Korean war zone, as a small group of friends and relatives waved from the dockside.

With new officers and crew, the ship will spend at least a year away from her home base at Esquimalt.

She will make port at Pearl Harbor on her way to the Far East, and will have her final workups with units of the U.S. fleet based there. Ten days later she will leave for her duties in the Orient.

Athabaskan carries three veterans with a service record to equal her own. PO. Fred Wood, PO. Hal Zerbin and AB. John Kobayashi are returning for their third tours.

Kabayashi, a Canadian-born Japanese from Fort William, plans to marry his Japanese sweetheart when his ship arrives in the Far East, despite two unsuccessful previous attempts.

Naval photographer CPO. Norman Keizere has been assigned to the ship to take a motion picture record of her winter patrol activities.

Return Suicide Verdict In Death Of Bride

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters).—A board in inquiry today returned a verdict of "presumed suicide" in the case of Mrs. Bonita King, 22-year-old Canadian bride who disappeared July 30 from the Cunard liner Ascania on a honeymoon trip to Europe.

The ship's commander, Capt. Andrew Mackellar, testified that Mrs. King had acted distraught and "a little highly strung" when last seen.

"I consider, in view of the reports and evidence, that the lady had taken her own life by going over the side," he said.

Mrs. King, from Edmonton, Alta. was married to Robert King, an Edmonton electrician, two weeks before her death. Her scarf, jacket and purse, containing wedding and engagement rings, were found on the deck of the ship.

Orderly Hallowe'en

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Town council will again sponsor a mammoth Hallowe'en night celebration where a friendly eye can be kept on the youngsters. The parade and entertainment Oct. 31 is expected to be held again at the Memorial Centre.

False Alarm

ESTEVAN, Sask. (CP)—Nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital here got busy fixing up their hair and polishing their make-up when it was reported Wayne King had been admitted. It turned out to be 12-year-old Wayne King of Estevan, not the orchestra leader.

Ship Makes First And Last Voyages Headed For Scrapheap

LONDON (CP)—The only sailing ship ever built by Sir Stanley Goodall, designer of Britain's largest and most modern warship, will soon be on her first and last voyage—a short trip to the scrapheap.

The ship is the 755-ton Research, whose construction was started back in 1936 and although never completed cost the Admiralty more than £100,000.

Moored these many years at Dartmouth where she was built, the rusted old hulk is to be towed to nearby Devonport and broken up.

Sir Stanley, director of naval construction at the Admiralty from 1936 to 1944, recalled that no ship he designed had ever presented such a sequence of problems and difficulties as the Research.

"She was to go to the Pacific for research in the magnetic field," he said. "It was essential that all metal which might interfere with her work should be excluded from the ship."

The builders overcame the hull difficulties by using wood on a metal alloy frame. Ordinary lighting installations had to be scrapped and a new system devised, posing many complications. In an effort to speed up the ship's construction experts were assigned to other sailing vessels for practical experiments with gadgets and installations intended for the Research. As far as one problem was solved another arose.

"It is sad to think," Sir Stanley said, "that because of the advance made by science, there now is no job the Research can usefully do."

A common sight around town these days to see kids toting skates over their shoulders, though the canal has not frozen over yet. They are off to P.M.H.A. practices at Civic, either before school or in the evening. Schedule opens within two weeks. Drills tonight from six on are: Bradley's bantams, Swartz bantams, Otonabee and Norwood midgets together at eight, Shamrock midgets, Shamrock juves, and at 11 the Tropan juveniles. Tomorrow morn at 7:30, Bradley's juves and midgets practise. Board of directors for the minor puck setup includes: Ray Tanner, Bill Dawson, Sam Micelli, Phonse Brioux, Jack Miller and Moon Wootton. A dozen teams in, four to each section, bantam, midget and juvenile, the loop being affiliated with the O.M.H.A.

Yeah, winter is here when hockey starts and it's a long season, sometimes running six months. O.H.A. senior "B" schedule begins tomorrow night here with Belleville Glens playing the Petes. We haven't the haziest what lineup Jim Ellis will start for the local club, but here's the list he had out at a prictice earlier this week: Harding, Byers, Collins, West, Floyd, Gus Leonard, Fryia, Mason, Garvey, Fennell, Greenlaw, Lough, Wasson, Jack Mortimer, Landry, Adams, Henderson, Spiker—the last three being newcomers here—and one or two more. Alfie Moore will bring a strong squad of Quinte hockeyists, and it promises to be a lively senior struggle to open the puck season.

H. S. Footballers Busy

Turning to the football scene, our high school teams are still occupied in rather important competition, while the season is nearing a finish. It'll be all over in about two more weeks. St. Mike's and St. Peter's senior settle the Catholic Conference title at Morrow Park tomorrow, each having won a game in the final series. Same day sees P.C.V.S. seniors playing in Oshawa, with C.O.S.S.A. playoffs just around the grid corner. Only high school game here Saturday has Lindsay tackling Collegiate juniors in Riverside, but St. Peter's are off that aft to mix it with Oshawa Central in the Motor City. Of course, our O.R.F.U. intermediate Orfuns are still on the scene. Grid season is a short, hard and exciting one before hockey and basketball take over.

* * * * * *

Tony Kotowski's local Orfuns downed Oshawa Red Raiders 21-11 here last gloaming to capture their O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" championship, the first such to come this way in 15 years. A long time to wait, but of course Peterborough stepped up to senior in '38 and played no football at all during the war or for several years after. Re-organized in intermediate ranks in 1947 but bowed regularly since to Cobourg Ghosts, with the exception of last fall when Oshawa took it. As runners-up this autumn, the Ghosts go into provincial "B" playdowns, while the victorious Orfuns proceed into Ontario intermediate "A" finals.

For Provincial Honors

That final series is a two-game one, total points counting, and it opens here Saturday aft at two. Return tilt with Hamilton Panthers will be the following Saturday in the Ambitious City. Winner of the provincial crown takes on the Quebec-Ottawa Valley victor in a sudden-deather the next Saturday for the Eastern Canada crown—and may then hit west after the Canadian championship, also a sudden-death joust a week later. It could be Port Arthur or Winnipeg. Orfuns will be without two of their stars Saturday, Bill Huntley suffering a shoulder injury and Don McGillis getting a nasty abdominal smash last night. This pair will be missed plenty. It is hoped to have Jerry McGillis and Jack McIntyre back in action for the Hamilton series.

* * * * * *

Clive Naismith tallied six points for the champs last eve, Lou Nickle and Bill Huntley getting five each, Roy Armstrong three and Jack Matthews two, the latter showing some tremendous hoofing. The local line was outstanding and opened up big gaps repeatedly as the backfielders tore through the Oshawa wall in a highly effective ground attack. Just took to the air occasionally to keep Raiders off-balance. Orfuns had to work for it as Oshawa fought them hard all the way, and almost all the penalties were handed to Peterborough. A dandy to win, though costly enough, and our congrats to the group victors. 'Tis hoped the grid fans will be out in force for the Saturday fray to see Orfuns go after a provincial championship.

JIM'S PITCHING ARM—Peterborough Orfuns romped 21-11 over Oshawa Red Raiders at Morrow Park Wednesday night to capture their first group title since 1937. The passing arm of Orillia's Jim Milligan, Orfun quarter, contributed a great deal to the group honors, while homebrew Don McGillis and Clive Naismith were on the receiving end. Coach Tony Kotowski shows Naismith (right) Milligan's muscle after Wednesday's game and warns Hamilton Panthers to beware in the opening game of the Ontario intermediate "A" final series Saturday at Morrow Park. — (Examiner Staff (Photo).

Orfuns Outplay Oshawa To Take 21-11 Win For Group Championship

It took the Peterborough Orfuns 15 years to do it, but they finally captured their O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" group championship for Central Ontario last night in Morrow Park by beating Oshawa Raiders 21-11 before a crowd of about 1,200. The win clinched the title which they practically won in Cobourg last Saturday by holding the Ghosts to a 6-6 tie. Oshawa won group honors last year, but Cobourg held a monopoly on this since the Second World War. Cobourg now goes into provincial intermediate "B" playdowns, while the Orfuns meet Hamilton Panthers — last year's Canadian champions — here Saturday to open a two-game provincial "A" final series.

PROVED COSTLY

The victory last night was costly to the Orfuns. They lost Don McGillis, starry outside, and plunging half Bill Huntley, for an indefinite period through injuries. McGillis suffered an abdominal injury as two opponents crashed him, and Huntley came off with a bad shoulder after a hard plunge. Jerry McGillis and Jack McIntyre, already out with injuries, are expected back in action soon.

It was not a gentle game, as Oshawa (well out of the running) put up a stiff fight all the way. Nearly all the penalties were called against the Orfuns, or the score might have been a lot higher. Oshawa went in for more passing than the Petes, but the latter clicked on some nice ones, including a touchdown pass. Tony Kotowski's crew turned in a brilliant effort along the ground, reeling off first downs regularly as the strong line opened up gaps for the plunging backs.

LED FROM START

The score was 6-0 for Orfuns in the first quarter and 8-5 for them in a tight first half. They rolled hard in the third for 12 points without a return, but Oshawa outscored them 6-1 in the fourth, as the Orfs took it easy with the wind at their backs and did no gambling to grab off the triumph and the group title. They had terrific hoofing from Jack Matthews all the way, plus a very strong line and a good backfield. Oshawa banked heavily on Jim Loreno, who starred throughout, and put up a good battle against the champions.

Beak Bartley recovered a fumble by Oshawa early on the visitors' 30 and Huntley and Armstrong bucked for yards. Milligan threw a third-down pass to Huntley for 10 more and the latter then plunged for seven before going over next time for the try, Armstrong kicking the convert. Loreno took Stukus' pass to the Petes' 46-yard chalk and then they kicked, recovering on a local fumble on the Orfuns' 35. A [illegible] por snaps all night, and Jim [illegible] bucked for eight as the quarter ended.

LORENO SCORES

After a home hoof, Loreno broke through for 15 and a local penalty put the ball back on Petes' 30, but they fumbled then and Jensen ran back Beaton's kick to Orfuns' 20. Matthews kicked to centre but Oshawa drove up again on short passing plays and end runs to the Peterborough 38-yard strip. Loreno shook loose on a plunge to go all the way for a touchdown, the convert being blocked. Play moved up and down then with Matthews' kicking keeping them well back. Jack finally got away a 60-yard boot that rolled to the deadline for a point. Smith skirted end for eight and Beaton later booted to White on Oshawa's 47. Jensen bucked five and Matthews faked a kick but got yards on a run. A pass to Don McGillis moved the sticks again but Don was hurt and left the game. Matthews later kicked another point. White intercepted a pass as the flag went down.

Huntley bucked 18 and Army followed to get the ball at centre in the third quarter. Wilde, White, Army and Jensen moved it right up but Orfuns lost their big chance for a TD then on a fumble, Oshawa recovering. Smith got around end for yards but later they kicked to Nickle on Oshawa's 52. White, Jensen and Milligan on a QB sneak moved the pigskin ahead and Milligan threw a touchdown pass to Clive Naismith, with Armstrong converting. Beaton booted to Groves at centre and Russelle bucked to move the sticks. Army and Wilde moved them again, and Nickle and Russelle repeated on some fine line work. A pass to Army put it on the two-yard strip and Nickle bucked over, Army converting as the quarter finished.

A GREAT KICK

Nickle and Groves got yards in the fourth and on a 65-yard kick by Matthews, Naismith got in fast to rouge Berguson for a point to make it 21-5. Oshawa opened it up on Stuke's passes, Edwards and then Pronych taking it to the Petes' 20. A Statue of Liberty play got seven more around end and Loreno tore around to put it just two yards out. Loreno then bucked over, and Stuke threw a convert pass to Pronych to end the scoring. Orfuns were driving toward the end again on an end run by Nickle, two bucks by Armstrong and a dash by Jim Wilde when the final whistle went.

As shown above, Naismith accounted for six points, Nickle and Huntley five each, Armstrong three and Matthews two. But that isn't the whole story. It was a solid team effort by Tony Kotowski's classy crew. There were many more stars than that in the lineup, every player turning in a fine effort against some stiff opposition. Milligan certainly shone as did the whole front line and the replacements. Also the two stalwarts who were lost through injuries. And Oshawa went down battling to the finish in a game that menat nothing to them. They fought as though the title depended on the outcome in a good, rugged struggle. Teams:

Oshawa—Walsh, Harrell, Beaton, Craweck, Lysun, Berguson, Wootton, Loreno, Stukus, Ford, Schanks, Smith, Martin, Peeling, Morris, Edwards, Harper, Pronych, Linthwaite, Freeman, Calder, Hood, McIlmoyle, Rorabeck, Mozewski, Howse.

Orfuns—Wilde, Hodson, Beatty, Huntley, Armstrong, Berry, White, Naismith, Russelle, Thompson, DeCarlo, Beavis, Ouel[illegible] Conlin, Trimm, Howe, McGillis, Groves, Barthelot.

Officials, C. Bush, J. Rowntree, C. Rowntree.

G. Baird Hits 390

G. Baird hit a high single of 390 this week in the Major Bowling League, as C. Signorotti rolled top triple of 832. Plazas led teams with 3582, McLeod's getting best single of 1327. The 7-0 wins went to Plazas, U.E.W., Deeth & White, Revenoors and Cherney over Clapper's, Studebaker, O.P.P., Hollingsworth and Silents; while 5-2 victories were taken by Crowley, Edwards, Bickell, Herb's, Odeon, McLeod and Irwin-Godson over Burtol, Wonder, Brewers, Selkirk, Examiner, Sunshine and E. & B.

Good scores included: A. Caccavella 822, A. Whiteside 805, M. Doris (312) 801, G. Baird 791, E. Reynolds 768, F. Willison (334) 738, T. Doughty (368) 721, N. Collins 720, J. McKenzie 717, L. Murray 793, A. Pilling 706, R. Pearson 702, J. Patterson 712, and a single of 331 by C. Signorotti.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

We dropped into the curling rink early this morning, just to see what was going on and were in time to see the boys put the first flood of the season on the dink—so that means if everything goes along on time we should be curling late next week.

We noticed several announcements, regarding out-of-town bonspiels, posted on the board.

Both the ladies' and men's schedules have been drawn up and the schedule books are now in the printer's hands.

Dr. R. Clark and Gar Braund will skip our Tankard rink. District games will be played here.

F. Stenson and Vic Brown will skip the District Cup rink. District games will be played at Lindsay.

Mrs. V. Selkirk and Mrs. J. Watts will skip the ladies' Tankard rinks with district games to be played at Oshawa.

Looking over the schedule we are in for a very busy season; it runs right through until March 31.

And now, curlers, don't forget the "smoker" tonight at the Empress Hotel at 7:30 o'clock. No doubt the skips and vices will be on hand but the executive is anxious that all leads and seconds come along. Moving pictures of the MacDonald Brier competition held at Winnipeg last season show our local boys in action.

4 Rugby Players "Quarantined"

Four P.C.V.S. Garnet and Grey seniors will be staying home for the next 17 nights. They were given a choice of the 17-night penalty or resigning from the football team for jumping billets assigned to them in Toronto Friday night during the Red Feather tournament.

This is the second time this year that a football club from the high schools has penalized players for misdemeanours. Several weeks ago the St. Peter's High School junior team suspended players for skipping school to watch a senior game in Cobourg.

As in previous years, the tournament officials arrange billets with Toronto Collegiate football players for the teams from out-of-town. These boys meet their billets at the C.N.E. Stadium.

The Garnet and Grey will again start rounding out the league play Friday night when they meet Oshawa Collegiates' Combines in Oshawa. In the game played at Riverside earlier this season, they won 40-0.

Next week the seniors will wind up the season against Belleville Collegiate who absorbed a 37-6 shellacking in the first game.

If successful in these games, the Garnet and Grey will defend their 1951 C.O.S.S.A. championship against the Stamford Collegiate Hornets on November 15 in Stamford.

Queen Alex Victors

Queen Alexandra Seniors defeated King Edward in senior school soccer on Wednesday. Fine defensive work by R. Druce and Macklin and some neat passing plays by the forwards gave the victors the only goal of the game. Johnston was the goal-getter about midway in the second half. Teams:

Queen Alex.—Macklin, R. Druce, Madigan, Stewart, MaGee, Downer, Kilborn, Hamilton, Johnston, Lech, Moore, K. Druce, Ingram, Dallin, G. Stewart.

King Edward—R. Rowe, W. Rowe, Livingston, Tushingham, Waldie, Walling, Heard, Warner, Elmsly, Murduff, Jones.

Referees—McNeil and Watson.

St. Peter's Juniors Win Over P.C.V.S. Squad To Keep On Titular Trail

Coach Johnny Lynch's St. Peter's High junior Saints moved another step towards the lakeshore group title Wednesday afternoon when they trimmed P.C.V.S. Garnet and Grey juniors 34-0 at Riverside park. The Saints must win in Oshawa Saturday against Central Collegiate to get district honors and the right to meet Belleville Collegiate juniors in the C.O.S.S.A. semi-finals. St. Peter's boys topped the Garnet and Grey in every department. They were sparked by the running of Bob O'Rourke, Gary Kearns and Don Chambers, the passing of John Hickey, and the punting of Chambers. The Saints' line did more than their share in the victory both offensively and defensively.

Meanwhile the Garnet and Greys' play was spotty. They received some fair running by Dave Coit, Keating and Bob McKinney. Stew Brooks and Terry Roberts handled only a fair job of passing while Brooks' punting was rushed by the surging Saints.

SCORED EARLY

In trouble for a minute the Saints quickly took advantage of a poor snap by P.C.V.S. on a punt on a second down which forced P.C.V.S. back to the 10. A high kick gave the Saints possession on the 10-yard line where Kearns scored easily and Chambers converted.

A third down gamble by P.C.V.S. set the Saints up for their second score at the 15-yard line. O'Rourke scored on a quarterback sneak for an 11-0 score. Minutes later, Ron Board intercepted a P.C.V.S. pass to start another major score. After a roughing penalty to P.C.V.S. Hickey romped 35 yards to score and Chambers converted.

In the last minute of the half P.C.V.S. fumbled on the 10-yard line, the Saints recovering. Kearns plunged and then Hickey crossed over. Chambers again converted for a 23-0 score at the half.

GOT ANOTHER

O'Rourke dashed for 22 yards early in the third to set the Saints in scoring position again. Board and Kearns made first downs for the Saints before O'Rourke again scored. Chambers converted.

Another P.C.V.S. fumble late in the fourth provided the final score. Chambers charged to the one-yard line where newcomer John Martin scored, making the final count read 34-0.

The second quarter was one of the longest played this year in Peterborough. Despite the cold the teams ploughed through a 35-minute quarter—the timer was taking time out for the huddles. The temperature was hovering at freezing point and the odd snow flake fluttered across the park.

The Garnet and Grey Collegians will wind up the season on Saturday at Riverside Park with a league game with Lindsay Collegiate.

Junior Arrested In Bribery Case

WASHINGTON (AP) [illegible]-year-old Maryland Universi[illegible] junior surrendered last night to District of Columbia police as a fugitive from a Maryland warrant charging attempted bribery of three Maryland football players.

Police identified him as Louis Leonard Glickfield. He was released under $1,000 bond on a fugitive charge for hearing today.

Disclosure of the alleged bribe attempt touched off a campus sensation earlier yesterday.

Three Maryland players, including star quarterback Jack Scarbath, were revealed as having alleged they were offered $1,500 to hold down the score in last Saturday's game against Louisiana State University.

Baseball Council Changes Waiver Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball's major-minor executive council yesterday drew up a new waiver rule designed to curb the sale of star players from one league to another during the season.

The move was believed to be aimed at New York Yankees, who in the last few years have taken advantage of the current waiver rule by purchasing such stars as Johnny Mize, Johnny Sain, Ewell Blackwell and Johnny Hopp. Each player was instrumental in helping to bring the championship to the Yankees.

The proposed new waiver rule will require each club to obtain waivers from the other 15 clubs before it can sell a player to a club in the other league after July 31. As the rule reads now, a club needs only to receive waivers from the seven other clubs in its league in order to sell a player to the rival circuit for the waiver price of $10,000.

The Yankees acquired Mize, Sain and Blackwell for various amounts, all above the waiver price, after the July 31 date and before the Sept. 1 deadline when a newly-acquired player becomes ineligible to participate in the world series.

The new waiver rule must be ratified by a majority of the clubs in each league to become official.

Chihawks Sneak Into NHL Lead; Toronto Wins 7-5

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Maurice Richard made the N.H.L. headlines last night, but in all the excitement over his tying the N.H.L.'s all-time scoring record, Chicago Black Hawks slipped almost unnoticed into the league leadership. The great Montreal Canadiens star got two goals against Toronto Maple Leafs to bring his mark to 324, the same number set by Nels Stewart, star of the '20s and '30s, before his retirement. But the Canadiens fell two goals short of Toronto and lost the contest 7-5.

Meanwhile the Hawks, who hadn't hit the win column in the last five games, skated rings around the Rangers in New York to beat the tail-enders 3-1 and take over first place by one point. Canadiens' loss left them in second place with nine points, one ahead of Toronto.

LEAFS RALLY AGAIN

The Leafs, setting a reputation as the league's come-from-behind club, trailed 3-1 at the end of the first period, then stormed back with three straight in the second to make it 4-3 and, in a free-scoring final period, added three more to Canadiens' two for the decision.

It was a bruising game in which 15 penalties were called. Bert Olmstead duplicated Richard and collected two goals for Montreal. Dollard St. Laurent got the other.

The Leafs were paced by Harry Watson with two, while the other markers were split among Ted Kennedy, Sid Smith, Max Bentley and Gord Hannigan.

Montreal goalie Gerry McNeil was hit in the face with the puck in the first period. He returned after receiving medical attention but was hampered with a puffed cheek and his right eye had all but closed at the game's end.

BROKEN STICKS HELP

The Black Hawks outclassed New York before 7,054 fans, but two of their goals came with some help from broken Ranger sticks. Allan Stanley went to get a new one in the opening minutes of the second period and Jim McFadden capitalized on the break to score. Soon after, Nick Mickowski also broke his stick and the Hawks charged into the Ranger end while he sought a replacement. Cal Gardner scored on this break. The The first Hawk goal came in the first period when Gus Mortson got his first of the season.

Al Rollins had his second shutout of the year going until 18:53 of the final period when Mickoski caught the right-hand corner.

Boston and Detroit meet tonight on Red Wings' home ground. New York goes to Chicago for a return engagement.

NORWOOD AND DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL features the latest equipment throughout its boys' metal and wood shop classes and the latest in home economics household goods. The girls (top photo) work in the modern kitchen which is equipped with two stoves, electric and gas, spacious cupboards, chrome dinner sets, and other modern conveniences. A special laundry section features washing machines, spin dryers and various types of ironers. The boys' shops have the latest in metal and wood machinery and class projects have already started despite the fact that some machinery has not arrived. A student (lower photo) begins a wood assignment.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Modern Building Pleases Norwood

From the front to the back door the Norwood and District High School is as modern as any new high school in Ontario could be.

It has a spacious gym-auditorium, a home economics room equipped with household machines not yet in most modern homes, an industrial arts shop for metal and wood working with all the latest and best machinery, a library classroom, scientific lighting in all rooms, an intercommunication system through the school, modern equipment in the commercial department and the latest in science laboratories.

Let's take a tour throughout the school.

Once inside the front door you'll notice the corridor walls appear to be covered with leather. Actually this is a new wall covering of plastic which is intended to take the wear and tear of corridor activities.

GYMNASIUM

Then into the gym-auditorium. In light-colored brick, the gym appears spacious and well-lighted, with large screen-covered lights in the ceiling and spot lights aimed at the stage, curtained at the north end.

The floor is marked out for basketball, volleyball and badminton for the sporting set of the school and community. Just off to the right there are showers for boys and girls as well as lockers for school gym equipment. There are also two smaller rooms for gym equipment storage space and a teacher's office.

With a flock of chairs lining the wall the gym may be turned into an auditorium within minutes. The [illegible] for musical concerts and plays for district audiences.

Then down the hall and into the boys' shop classroom. There some of the equipment hasn't arrived yet but there are saws, drills and other machines for work with wood and metal. There the boys will make tables and other class projects as conducted in larger high schools.

Just up the hall is the commercial department where typewriters can be heard clicking away practically any time throughout the day. There the students will have the advantage of learning the how and why of an assortment of business machines.

HOME ECONOMICS

A little further along the corridor is the home economics room or rooms; any school would be proud to have such a modern department as Norwood's.

When you walk into the room, you walk into a very modern kitchen, complete with the latest electric and gas stoves, refrigerator, water system, cupboards and all. There is also a chrome set of chairs and table, knives, forks, spoons, dishes, pots and even a dish rag and driers for washing all.

Farther along is another section, the laundry room. Here the girls will work with the very latest washing machines, spin drier, electric ironers and hand ironers, ironing boards which fold into the wall and the common ironing board.

To make new clothes and fix old clothes the girls will learn sewing on five electric sewing machines and one tredal machine.

The ultra modern feature of the home economics room is the closet doors and some cabinet doors. Instead of the old-fashioned catches to close, these doors have the new magnetic holders.

Down the other corridor are the laboratories, one for the science classes and the other for agricultural science. Between these rooms is a smaller room used to store the various chemicals used by both classrooms. Again all the equipment is the latest obtainable.

Of the remaining classrooms the English room rates special mention. For this classroom is called a library classroom. Along one side is the beginning of a school library which will be enlarged in the future.

All the rooms are lighted by indirect lighting as well as special spot lights over the blackboards. Each room is glassed, square and ordinary, for the most natural light.

Connecting the rooms as one room with the main office is an inter-communicaion system which allows talking back and forth from room to room without a teacher leaving the classroom.

All in all it's a high school to be proud of.

Laity, Clergy Meet At Trenton Conference

MAMORA— (ENS). — Sunday School teachers and clergymen of the Anglican Sunday Schools of St. John's, Madoc, St. Mark's, Bonarlaw, St. Paul's Marmora, St. John's Stirling, Holy Trinity, Frankford, and St. George's Trenton, attended a conference in Canterbury Hall, Trenton, on Tuesday evening. Field secretary for the G.B.R.E., the Rev. T. R. Harris, showed a strip film, organized group discussion, and delivered a message on Christian education. He pointed out that Christian education was more than the presentation of religious facts. It meant factual knowledge, an area of worship in which attitudes were to be developed and the development of Christian character.

Attending from St. Paul's, Marmora, were Canon J. M. Brownlie, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lavender, Mrs. H. Price, and W. J. Cottrell; from St. Mark's, Mrs. Jennie Wellman and Charles Wellman, Mrs. Wiliam Neal and Mrs. Eva Phillips.

Move For Winter

CALGARY (CP) — The Prairie winter is too cold for Nat and Stony, sea lions in the Calgary zoo. They have been moved to balmy Vancouver to keep warm while hardier animals remain here.

Services Mark 55th Bancroft Anniversary

BANCROFT — (ENS). — Two special services, morning and evening, last Sunday marked the anniversary of St. Paul's Anglican Church in this village. It was 55 years ago that the cornerstore was laid.

It is more than 78 years since the beginning of worship in this community, when pioneers built the original church, just behind the location of the present one.

The Rev. A. E. Larke, Springville, was guest speaker, and his sermons, together with those of the Rev. Walter Smith, resident minister, were well received.

Ranked high as a food and game fish, grayling is a freshwater fish of the sub-Arctic regions.

First School Built 1832 In Norwood

NORWOOD (ENS) — Norwood's new high school, opened officially Wednesday night, calls back memories to older citizens of the village of the old Norwood model school, and the "new" Norwood High School which replaced it in 1892.

Best-remembered of the principals is John Davidson, a six-foot-six-inch Highland Scot, black-bearded and weighing 250 pounds, whose authority was absolute in the new high school of which he was first principal.

There were others who are well-remembered, Harry Bewell was one of these, an International soccer star whose teams were tops for years in Ontario, winning the provincial school championship. The provincial cup won often by his teams is still the property of the board.

Others included A. W. McPherson, later a well-known physician in Peterborough, a Mr. Merrett, who now practices medicine in Calgary, R. G. Lawlor, successor to Mr. Davidson, remembered as an outstanding principal.

J. H. Caskey took over the principalship this year from S. S. Breckon, who was principal from 1933 until the end of the 1951-52 term this year.

LOG SCHOOL IN 1832

Norwood's first school was built of logs in 1832, and when opened had an attendance of 22 students. Teacher was J. Wilkins. By 1854 the first board of High School trustees was appointed, and the grammar school, a rather pretentious brick building for those early days was built on the south side of Colborne St. where the home of Mrs. P. M. Grover now stands.

This school not only provided accommodation in those days for both public and high school pupils, but its upper part served the useful double purpose of town hall and court house.

Pioneer families—the Grovers, Birdsalls, Butterfields, McNeely's, Dewarts, Burgess's, Fowlds, Reynolds and Pearces—provided the student body of that period.

The present public school building was erected on its site adjoining the fair grounds and for some time served in the dual capacity of providing accommodation for the pupils of both public and high schools of those days.

Some of the principals and assistant teachers of that time were: a Mr. Jackman, Mathew McDay, E. H. Dewart, Colin Fraser and Richard Lees (later Peterborough county inspector).

"NEW" HIGH SCHOOL

In 1892 the "new" high school was built and the former high school became a training school for teachers. It lasted until the present Normal School was built in Peterborough. Its pupils were drawn from Peterborough and Norwood.

Nearly 200 students were enrolled in the 1892 high school, which had Mr. Davidson as principal for the first 16 years. Teachers that older citizens of the district may remember are: Misses Louise Ryckman, Minnie Garrett and Mary Campbell.

Teachers As New To Norwood As High School

With the exception of the principal and one teacher, the staff at the Norwood and District High School is like the school—they're all new to Norwood and district.

Heading the staff as principal is J. H. Caskey, B.A., who returned to Norwood High School this year after an absence of three years. During that period he never has actually left the Norwood area, being principal at the Havelock high school.

He's no stranger in Norwood, especially around the high school. For before his three years at Havelock Mr. Caskey spent seven years teaching in Norwood high school.

Mr. Caskey brought with him from Havelock one of his teachers, Allan B. McNab, who taught in Havelock for three years. A specialist in English, Mr. McNab is already popular with the students. He runs the school library.

EXCELLENT STAFF

In Mr. Caskey's words, "The rest (meaning the teaching staff) are new. They're an excellent staff; they're all trying to make a success of the new school."

Besides Mr. McNab, the teachers are: Mrs. Wilmelmina Turpin, household economics; Miss Mabel Pacey, B.A., mathematics and science; Miss Martha Lowdes, B.A., music, French and Latin; Miss Doreen Simpson, B.A., history and Latin; Miss Constance Brummel, B.A., girls' physical education, Latin and art; Harry Gyde, B.A., commercial, geography and guidance; Arnold Perry, general shop and English; Miss Mary O'Brien, B.A., French, Latin and English; John Auckland, B.S.A., boys' physical education and agricultural science.

These teachers are all loaded with more subjects than in larger city schools, meaning more hours of preparation. In other words more work. They're all making the most of the modern facilities and between the two (more preparation and modern facilities) are attempting to give the students an education comparableto larger high schools.

But school work isn't the only worry of the teachers; they want to develop a good school spirit. They plan increased student activities in extra-curricular work apart from classroom projects.

One of the most interesting of the classroom projects will be developed by Mr. Auckland's department of agricultural science class. There the students study science in a more practical line and next year will be doing work in school garden plots, bees (manufacture of honey) and flowers.

But school spirit seems to thrive on school sports. Norwood will have an excellent school spirit in that case, for the teachers are planning basketball and football programs similar to other high schools.

LEARNING FOOTBALL

This year the school didn't have football teams because it takes time for the boys to learn the fundamentals. They played some touch football, gradually picking up ideas of the game. Next year they'll likely branch into tackle football against schools more their own size, such as Marmora and Campbellford.

The situation is almost the same for basketball which is practically an unknown game in Norwood. But with the new spacious gym, the winter indoor sport will likely thrive, both among the boys and girls.

All in all the teachers are planning a good scholastic and athletic program for the students so that after the boys and girls have been out of school several years, they'll say with pride, "I went to Norwood and District high school."

MODERN THROUGHOUT, the Norwood and District High School attracted a number of former secondary school students back this year. One of the school's many features is the modern spacious gym-auditorium which will be the scene of basketball games, plays, meetings and musicales. Girls (top photo) swing through a series of exercises in the gym. The two laboratories also are equipped with the most modern teaching facilities; a group of students gather about a lab desk (middle photo) during an experiment. The commercial department offers typing (lower photo) and many other modern business machines.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Mission Club's Dinner Proceeds Total $380

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Mrs Wilbert Frankish was in charge of the devotions when the Missionary and Service Club of the United Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. S. A. Grylls for their October meeting. The scripture lesson and meditations were taken by Mrs. William Whetung and Mrs. Stanley Richardson led in prayer.

The concluding chapter of the study book, "From Lakes to Northern Lights" was dramatized by Mrs. Clarence Coons, Mrs C. H. Hunter, Mrs. Robert McCracken and Mrs. J. Keller. Bill Hunter was guest pianist and played Handel's "Largo".

Main item of business on the agenda was the final plans for the Christmas bazaar and tea, which will be held December 5 in the Sunday school rooms Mrs. George Tanner, general convener of the event announced the following committees had been selected. Aprons, Mrs. Allen Graham, Mrs. Ralph Jackman, Mrs. Grylls; handicraft, Mrs. Tanner, Mrs. Whetung, Mrs. E. Anderson, Mrs. McCracken, Mrs. Keller; fish pond, Mrs. J. O. Huddart and Mrs Lloyd Bailey; home baking, Mrs. A. W. Newson, Mrs. George Graham, Mrs. Alex Graham, Mrs. Stanley Hart; Mission Band booth, Mrs. George Carey, Mrs. T. Payton, Mrs. L. Poole and Miss Irene Darling; tea tables, Mrs. W. Frankins, Mrs. Theo. Down, Mrs. S. Henderson, Mrs. J. Bell, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Clare Chittick, Mrs. S. Richardson and Mrs. A. W. Stewart; kitchen, Mrs. Carmen Payne, Mrs. J. R. Hull, Mrs. Douglas Davis and Mrs. G. Staples.

The treasurer, Mrs. S. Hart, reported a balance on hand of $328.50, and that the proceeds from the turkey dinner held Monday evening was $380 with some money not turned in as yet. This money has been turned over to the Board of Stewards. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. R. McCracken.

Literature secretary, Mrs. C. H. Hunter, in giving her report, gave a resume of an article from the Missionary Monthly written by the Rev. Harold Steed, who at present is on furlough from Africa, and in whom the Club has been interested. Mrs. W. W. Leonard then referred to the "African Bookshelf" and the members decided to purchase this set, in conjunction with the Women's Missionary

A sincere vote of appreciation to Mrs. Theo. Down, Mrs. George Graham and Mrs. J. Keller, who convened the turkey dinner for the Club, was recorded The dedicatory prayer was given by Miss I. Darling.

It was decided that the film, "Royal Tour" would be shown on November 26th and Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Payton and Miss Irene Madill will be in charge of arrangements.

It was decided to withdraw the November meeting and Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Payne were appointed a nomination committee. Mrs. Clarence Coons and Mrs. G. Tanner will assist members of the W.A. and W.M.S. in forming a visiting committee.

Mrs. McCracken, Mrs. Payne and Mrs. Carey assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

New District Formed For High School

When the Norwood and District High School area was officially formed three years ago to include both Havelock and Norwood areas, the district's far-sighted educationists realized that a new district school would be required. They worked toward that end and reached the climax with the official opening on Wednesday.

Three years ago there were two high school areas, Havelock and Norwood, both drawing funds from their municipalities and two separate grants from the government. These two groups were combined and thus benefitted from the department of education by receiving a larger grant than both previous grants combined.

The suggestion for a new district school was planted almost immediately. With representatives from the department of education a new school project was discussed and the department agreed that a new school was badly needed.

TENDERS IN 1951

One of the first moves was to get the consent of the various municipalities and once they were obtained, preliminary plans were started. The approximate cost was the next major step, as well as how the school would be paid for. After numerous meetings and arguments, carrying over a two-year period the plans were completed and tenders called for in April, 1951.

The bid of the Eastwood Construction Company of Peterborough was accepted and work on the building, designed by architect, H. H. Roberts of Westport, was started in May.

Work progressed along fairly well until there was a slight snag in the sale of the debentures, amounting to $390,000. The holdup in the sale caused a work stoppage for about a month but the school was completed in time for school opening in September.

Principal J. H. Caskey said there were a few small jobs yet to be completed but no major undertakings.

All of the $390,000 has not yet been spent and so far this is one of few schools in Ontario to stay under its building estimates. The debentures, sold by the county to obtain a higher rate than if sold by the municipalities, extend over a period of 20 years.

The school board which has worked to provide boys and girls with the modern high school includes: Edgar T. Buck as chairman, Earl Hamblin, Clarence Copp, David H. Doan, Fred S. Richardson, Bert C. Haryett, Keith Ross and H. W. Roche. All are appointed by the municipalities in the district.

Plainville News

Mr. Herbert Lander of Camborne was the guest speaker at the United Church on Sunday in the absence of the Rev. A. Y. Robertson.

Misses Enid King and Yvonne Brisbin have returned from Oshawa, where they were delegates from the Plainville Young People's Union at the Y.P.U. conference in that city. Messrs. Leighton Westington and Warren Buttars were also at the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. William Herriott attended the 100th anniversary at Warkworth on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buttars were recent guests at Warkworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart King, Murray and Laird were Sunday guests in Peterborough of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Bowman and attended the anniversary services of George Street United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Manley, Larry and Neil, accompanied by Mrs. F. Greatrix of Peterborough, visited their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Manley in Picton Sunday afternoon.

Buy 60-Acre Tract

Maurice Evans Tries Hand At Murder Play

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Maurice Evans found last night that it needed only a good murder mystery to wipe out that "damn'd spot" which had associated him so much with the classics that he couldn't make a personal profit.

So closely had his name become connected with Shakespearean, Shavian and other classical roles on Broadway that he found his press clipping book full and his bank book thin.

Last night at the Plymouth Theatre he arrived in a good murder mystery called "Dial 'M' for Murder."

DONE WITH TASTE

This play by Frederick Knott is done with taste and undoubtedly will earn for Evans the necessary royalties he needs to do another "Richard II" or "Man and Superman."

Evans, usually a forceful character, sublimates himself in the role of a husband who wants a murder committed but doesn't want the blood on his own hands.

He is eerie, scheming, coy and afraid in the many faces he assumes to the various people who are suspicious of him.

No Exit Visas Needed

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters)—Foreign tourists in Egypt no longer need exit visas to leave the country, providing their stay does not exceede two months and they have entry visas. Premier Mohamed Naguib last night issued a military order rescinding a proclamation issued after his July coup requiring exit visas of all foreign tourists.

Five Speakers Advance To Durham Final

MILLBROOK (ENS.) — Ten speakers from Cavan, Clarke and Hope townships competed in the semi-finals of Durham county public speaking contest in Millbrook town hall on Tuesday evening. Contestants were not ranked 1, 2 and 3, but of the 10, five were chosen to speak in the Durham county finals in Port Hope on November 4.

Those chosen to go on were: Carol Watters of Dr. Powers' school, Port Hope, whose subject was "Sir Ernest McMillan"; Gladys Ferguson of Welcome (Steel); Helen Ingham, Millbrook (Winston Churchill); Helen Marston, Ceneral School, Port Hope, (Canada's Place in the Commonwealth of Nations), and Stella Bojeczko, S.S. No. 10 Hope, (Courage). Helen Ingham is the only one to go on from Cavan township, all the four others are from Hope. Five contestants are also being selected from the townships of Manvers, Cartwright and Darlington.

The other five speakers competing Tuesday night, each one a winner in his own section were: Gerald Hallowell of Crooked Creek School (Jenny Lind); Joanne Rutherford, Orono (Why I Am Proud to Live in Durham County); Bryce Bonner, Fairview School (Alexander Graham Bell); Ruth Grice, Fairmount School, (The World's Tallest Building—the Empire State Building); Marie Kent, S.S. No. 9, Clarke (What You Should Know About Your Watch).

Mr. Jordan, principal of Dr. Powers' School in Port Hope, acted as chairman and welcomed the filled hall on behalf of the Trustees and Ratepayers' Association. He presented each of the 10 competitors with a book.

During intermissions in the speaking the senior room of Millbrook Public School sang two choruses under the direction of Miss Dianne Hogaboam. Fairmount school, directed by their teacher, Mr. Stevenson, gave a choral reading selection.

While the judges' sheets were being tallied Lenore and Jane Ouellette sang a duet accompanied at the piano by their father, Homer Ouellette. Mr. Ouellette also played novelty numbers on the piano.

The judges were Mrs. W. E. Lewis, Welcome; Mr. Grant Sine, Cobourg; and Mrs. W. W. Kennedy, Millbrook.

Plan Kinsmen Parade Cut Hallowe'en Pranks

COBOURG (ENS) —Taking the sting out of Hallowe'en insofar as pranks are concerned, the annual Kinsmen Club Hallowe'en party will be held Friday night at the pavilion in the park. The usual parade will start of at the armouries at 6.30 p.m. and proceed down King street to the park. There the youngsters will be filled up with ice cream and candies and will receive prizes for the 18 best costumes. The hope is that the youngsters will be so fill of Hallowe'en confectionary that they will lack the ambition to haul down fences and rip up the odd board sidewalk that is still to be found.

Health Unit Uncovers Cramahe Polio Case

COBOURG, (ENS)—A case of polio has been diagnosed in Cramahe township the first new case of polio in Northumberland and Durham counties since the summer. The patient is a 16 year old boy and some paralysis is present.

As predicted by the health unit early in the summer, no epidemic of polio was expected this year. The number of cases was smaller than last year and the cases were scattered through the two counties.

Chinese Girl 16 Killed As Malaya Guerrilla

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) —British-led security forces reported today they killed one guerrilla —a 16-year-old Chinese girl—and lost one of their own home guards under Communist fire in Malaya during the last 24 hours.

The government said five other Reds surrendered voluntarily and two guerrillas were wounded but escaped.

Death Car Skidded 500 Feet Cain Denies Being Driver

HAVELOCK (ENS).—A coroner's jury presided over by Dr. Herbert N. Young of Peterborough returned an open verdict here on Wednesday afternoon, at the inquest into the death of Raymond Belford Nobes, 36. The jury found Nobes died as a result of an auto accident on Highway 7 about five miles east of Havelock on the morning of September 14.

CAR SKIDDED 500 FEET

The car in which Nobes died skidded out of control for nearly 500 feet, taking out a telephone pole in its plunge, turned end over end and came to rest in heavy bush on the south side of Highway 7 near the home of Mose Amyott.

First witness was constable George Rose of Campbellford, who assisted in the investigation of the accident. He described the scene and said a man later identified as William Cain was being assisted into an automobile by Dr. D. J. Holdcroft. He then went to the wrecked car and saw the body of Nobes in the back seat. He gave measurements taken at the scene, but said he had no definite proof as to which of the two persons involved had been driving the car.

Under questioning by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw of Peterborough Constable Rose said he had made three attempts to see William Cain to question him while he was in the Havelock hospital. He said on each occasion he was informed that Cain was in no condition to be questioned as he was still suffering from shock. Dr. Holdcroft, he said, told him that Cain was being transferred to hospital in Peterborough, and that Mr. Rose could question him there. Constable Rose also testified that Cain had given him the wrong name of the other person in the car when he was questioned immediately following the accident, and that in his opinion, Cain was in a state of mental confusion as a result of the crash.

William Reid, photographer, told of receiving a call on the morning of September 14, and of arriving at the scene of the accident. He identified photographs taken and explained the photographs to the jury.

BODY IDENTIFIED

Next witness was Arthur Nobes of Marmora, brother of the deceased. He identified the body of his brother.

Arthur Nobes said that his brother, Raymond, was apparently in good condition when he left his (Arthur's) home early in the morning of September 14. There had been a party to celebrate Mrs. Arthur Nobes' birthday on the Saturday evening prior to the accident, and Raymond had come to the party at 11:30 p.m. He consumed some beer, but not enough to make him drunk. Cain came to the party looking for another man at about 1 a.m., and spent some time outside the house, returning about two hours later. Cain and Raymond Nobes left to go home in Cain's car, but Arthur said he could not be sure who was driving. He said he heard Cain say he would drive Nobes home.

DID NOT GET UP

accident happened, told of hearing a noise about 5 a.m. but did not investigate because noises are quite common on the highway. He said the telephone wires, connected to the pole which the car took out in its plunge, ran past his bedroom window, and it was the rumbling on these wires that woke him up. His dog started to bark but he did not go outside. The first he knew of the accident, was when he was informed by a passing mortorist, Morley Chard, who said he saw the skidmarks on the pavement, and the wheels of the car sticking up in the air through the bush, at about 7:05 a.m. the same morning. Amyott made a quick examination of the body of Nobes, and satisfied himself that the man was dead. Chard notified Dr. Holdcroft, who went to the scene immediately.

Constable Rose was recalled and testified as to finding a 12-pint carton of beer in the back seat of the car. The bottles were nearly all broken. He also made an estimation of the speed at which the car would have to be going to skid as far as it did, and placed the speed at not under 80 miles-per-hour.

NOT DRIVER OF CAR

William Cain, owner of the car, claimed to be a passenger and not the driver.

He told of being at the party at the home of Arthur Nobes and of having had so much to drink that he did not consider himself capable of driving the car. He went back into the house the second time, he said, to ask someone to drive the car home. He said he asked Nobes, who agreed. He got into the front seat of the car on the right side, and left the keys in the ignition lock. He was drowsy, he said, partly from being tired and partly from the effects of the beer, and started to go to sleep. He stayed awake long enough to see Nobes light a cigarette, get into the car and start it and drive away. At that point, Cain said he went to sleep and did not remember anything else until being assisted into a car at the scene of the accident some two hours later. He said he could remember nothing of the accident itself.

SUFFERED SHOCK

Mrs. Grace Findlay, head nurse at the Havelock Hospital testified that she was acting under the orders of Dr. Holdcroft, who supervises the hospital, when she refused to let Constable Rose interview Cain. She said Cain suffered shock.

Dr. Holdcroft was called and said he attended Cain. Crown attorney Bradshaw asked Dr. Holdcroft why he had allowed relatives and Cain's lawyer to see him, but refused to allow Cain to be questioned by the police. Dr. Holdcroft said he felt he was responsible for Cain and that he could not be subjected to any mental stress through questioning before a full diagnosis through X-rays and an examination of his nervous system was completed. Mr. Bradshaw asked if seeing his lawyer would not cause any stress or strain on the mental faculties of Cain, and Dr. Holdcroft said that he felt that by allowing Cain to see his lawyer, he would relieve some of the mental stress he might be under.

FRACTURED SKULL

Dr. Holdcroft was recalled to the stand a few minutes later to give the cause of death of Nobes. He said Nobes died from a fractured skull and multiple chest injuries. He also added that he resented the inference made by the crown that he had obstructed the police from interviewing Cain. He said that on several occasions he had helped the police and reiterated what he had previously said that by letting Cain see his lawyer, he felt he would be aiding Cain's mental condition.

After deliberating about 15 minutes, the jury returned an open verdict. The foreman said there was not sufficient evidence to show that Cain had driven the car, and that Cain, by his own testimony said he had not been driving. They attached no blame for the death of Nobes, but said he met death through an accident, involving the motor vehicle in which he was driving.

Barrister Ill

Football Fever Raging In Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — Football fever climbed at a palpitating pace in Edmonton this week as frenzied fans, still suffering from the shock of the Saturday Slaughter here last week, built up hopes that their Eskimos can whip Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

And Coach Frank Filchock's green-and-gold gridders, who crushed Calgary Stampeders 30-7 last Saturday to win the two-game total-point Western semi-final 42-38, are just as optimistic as their fans.

ESKS IN FINE SHAPE

Filchock reports his camp in fine condition, physically and mentally. Don Lord, blonde Vancouver product, and Ray Enright, 23-year-old Edmonton homebrew, weren't in action last weekend, but both will be in the backfield Saturday for the first game of the best-of-three western final against Bombers.

Rollie Miles, sensational all-star scatback who has twice won the Eskimos' most valuable player choice, says his ankles are coming along fine and Montrealer Jimbo Chambers, who caught Miles' game-breaking forward to spell Calgary's doom, expects his shoulder separation to be healed well enough for the opener.

In Winnipeg, where the odds favor Bombers 5-3, Coach George Trafton indicates he and his Bombers have plenty of respect for Eskimos, though they don't fear them.

"We're up against a terrific ball club," Trafton says. "But we're not afraid of them."

ZALESKI STILL OUT

Joe Zaleski, second-string Winnipeg quarterback, is the only big injury in the Bomber camp. He has a broken finger on his pitching hand. Guard Al Wiley isn't expected in the line-up because of an injured arm, but Buddy Tinsley, all-star tackle, will dress. He had a mild case of 'flu.

Flying wing Ian Gibb has been sidelined for the rest of the year with vision trouble.

Bombers are expected in Edmonton Friday. The two clubs will return to Winnipeg for the second game of the series Saturday, Nov. 8 and the third, if necessary, will be played there Tuesday, Nov. 11.

Leo Keeps Silent About His Decision

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Leo Durocher was keeping his lip buttoned today after an ultimatum from president Horace Stoneham of New York Giants to make up his mind between baseball and the movies.

The Giant manager who didn't get his "Lippy Leo" tag because of excessive silence, said only: "I haven't made a definite decision."

Said Stoneham: "I have asked him to let me know of his decision before the winter meetings conclude."

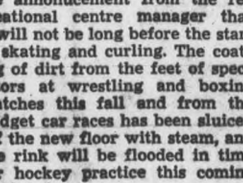
The major league owners meet Dec. 5-6-7.

Give Cobourg Curlers Two Nights Weekly

COBOURG (ENS). — There is a decided nip in the air this week and appropriately enough comes the annonucement from the recreational centre manager that it will not be long before the start of skating and curling. The coating of dirt from the feet of spectators at wrestling and boxing matches this fall and from the midget car races has been sluiced off the new floor with steam, and the rink will be flooded in time for hockey practice this coming weekend.

Something new for the curlers will be tried this year. For several winters the curling club have been unable to use the old curling rink down on Queen Street due to mild weather, and accordingly they have been putting on a big bonspiel at the recreational centre arena after the hockey season is over. This season they will have two nights a week to curl instead of waiting until the hockey season is finished.

Poor Counterfeiter Turns Out Army Bills



OKINAWA (Reuters) — United States authorities here issued a warning today against a flood of [illegible] Army bills [illegible] by "the world's worst counterfeiter."

The bills aren't hard to spot. The inscription "E Pluribus Unum" appears as one word spelled: "Elurirus."

Normie Kwong's Biggest Thrill Stamps Grey Cup Win In 1948

By LORNE BRUCE

EDMONTON (CP) — Normie Kwong, the only Chinese player in top-flight Canadian football, thinks that playing on a Grey Cup champion team in the first year out of junior ranks was the greatest thrill he has had in the game.

The 24-year-old China Clipper, a Calgary product, was with that city's Stampeders when they won the Grey Cup in 1948 with a stunning 12-7 upset over Ottawa Rough Riders, and the following year when they were beaten in the final by Montreal Alouettes.

TRADED TO EDMONTON

Before the 1950 season he was traded to Edmonton and won his greatest glory with the Eskimos now coached by Frank Filchock.

Kwong won selection on the 1951 Conference All-Star team and led the loop in ground gained rushing. He picked up 984 yards, believed a Conference record, better than five yards each time he carried the ball. And he carried the ball nearly 200 times in 14 games with those free-wheeling, single-wing 1951 Eskimos coached by Annis Stukus.

Former American professionals who have played with and against the China Clipper say he is one of the few Canadians who could make a place on a United States pro outfit. He weighs 190 pounds and is five feet nine inches tall.

NO TROUBLE OVER RACE

His race has caused him no trouble.

"Everybody on my own team kids me," he said. "I have never heard any opponent make any remarks about my race."

"We're not related but I know him well,' Normie said of Larry Kwong, the Vernon, B.C., product and the only Chinese to make an appearance in the National Hockey League. At present Larry plays hockey for the Valleyfield (Que.) Braves.

ABOLISH TEAM EVENTS?

AMSTERDAM (AP)—Col P. W. Scharroo, Dutch representative on the international Olympic committee, announced yesterday he would propose the abolition of team sports events in future Olympics. In a press statement, he said the Olympic program was too full and needed simplification to bring down the costs of the games and their preparation.

Wins Feature Class

OTTAWA (CP)—Black Velvet, the entry of Green Gables farm of Brampton, won last night's feature class at the Ottawa Winter Fair horse show. Ridden by Dick Day, it topped 16 entries over the eight-jump course and then won a jump-off with its leading competitor, Revlon's Black Magic owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Thomas of Ottawa.

Durocher Told Make Up Mind: Ball Or Movies

NEW YORK (AP)—President Horace Stoneham of New York Giants has delivered an ultimatum to manager Leo Durocher to make up his mind by next month between baseball and the movies.

"I have read where Durocher has stated he may leave baseball for a career in the movies after his contract with us expires at the end of next season," Stoneham said yesterday. "If that's what he wants, that's all right with me.

"However, if he is not going to be back with us after next season we have a right to know so we'll have time to prepare.

"I have asked him to let me know of his decision before the winter meetings conclude at Phoenix."

The major league owners will meet in a three-day session at Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 5-7.

Durocher currently is working on a picture with Tallulah Bankhead and other stars. He recently signed a contract to pilot the Giants for the 1953 season at a reported $60,000.

Guelph Franchise Draws Nibbles

GUELPH (CP)—Jim Kendrick, secretary-treasurer of Guelph Maple Leafs of the Intercounty Baseball League, said yesterday four buyers are interested in the local franchise.

The team put the franchise on the block a few weeks ago. Kendrick said he has had queries from two out-of-town prospects and two from Guelph. He described the local offers as "not too encouraging."

Leafs finished in second place last season but lost heavily at the box office. The club directors decided they would not operate the team again and if a buyer could not be found they would drop out of the league for one season. This is permitted under league rules.

Kendrick said the league should revise its policy toward imported players to encourage clubs such as Guelph and Galt to remain in the league, Galt also suffered financial reverses last season and it is doubtful if they will return next year.

It is believed that London and Galt will back Kendrick's proposal but Kitchener and Brantford have indicated that they prefer the present system.

Maroons Trip Redmen 5-4 As Indians Down Hamilton

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Black Jack Stewart's Chatham Maroons are rapidly turning into the team to beat in the Ontario Hockey Association senior A race.

The Maroons last night moved into first place by tripping Brantford Redmen 5-4. It was Brantford's first loss.

The Redmen dropped into a second-place deadlock with Owen Sound Mercurys who were idle, Sarnia Sailors who beat Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 5-3 and Stratford Indians who downed Hamilton 11-1.

The Dutchmen have won once in three starts and Hamilton have yet to win a game.

The Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior series started last night after the opening was postponed one night when Sudbury's new arena was not ready for ice.

TRAPPERS TIE SOO

In North Bay the local Trappers battled the Soo Greyhounds to a 4-4 tie in overtime while Soo Michigan Indians overcame a 2-1 first period deficit to beat Sudbury Wolves 3-2 at the Soo.

Ernie Dick scored the winner for Chatham in the third period while his club was a man short to hand Brantford their loss. Other Chatham goals went to Jack Price, George Edwards, Ed Didone and Al Plouff.

Bill Schell paced the Brantford attack with two unassisted goals while Don Oberholtzer and Wally Hnatiuk got others. Brantford finished the game under protest after a third period penalty called by referee Hugh McLean.

Sarnia trailed for two periods in Kitchener before rallying in the third. Don Rook and Charley Brooker put the Dutchmen up 2-1 after the Redmen had taken a 1-0 lead thanks to Clarke Horner.

Maurice Levesque scored for the Greenshirts in the second, then Rolly Beauchamp made it 3-2. Harry O'Connor and Don Emms, scored two quickies for Brantford a short time later then Skip Frezell clinched it.

HAMILTON SWAMPED

It was another woeful evening for Hamilton Tigers in Stratford. Lloyd Ferguson made an auspicious debut with the Indians by scoring three goals and getting three assists. Jackie White and Ken Schultz scored two each for the winners while singles were slipped in by Roth, Flick, Flanagan and Wilson.

Hamilton made their single counter an unusual one as Hammond scored a screen shot on a pass from Al Bennett, the Bengals' goalie, who had plenty to do as he was handling 48 shots.

In North Bay the Trappers staged an uphill fight to overcome the Greyhounds second period lead and force an overtime draw. Greyhound goals were scored by Jimmy Johnson, Hec Pozzos, who got two, and Joe Bumbacco. Ab Demarco opened the scoring for North Bay, then George Gosselin, Chick Cecchini and Bill Dwyer each added one.

Sudbury Wolves took a 2-1 lead in the first period at the Soo on goals by Nick Tomiuk and Stan McClelland against a single for the home-towners by Johnny Joreck.

The second period was scoreless but Johnny Lumley tied it up in the third. Then Claude Watters sank the winner after stealing the puck from the Wolves' defence.

Friday night action in the Senior A sees Owen Sound at Chatham and Kitchener-Waterloo at Brantford. The Indians return the Wolves' visit in the N.O.H.A. schedule.

Hornets Blank Lordly Reds 7-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The top-running and previously-undefeated Providence Reds suffered their first defeat of the 1952-53 American Hockey League Wednesday night—a humiliating 7-0 shutout at the hands of the lowly Pittsburgh Hornets.

In the only other game scheduled Buffalo Bisons moved into third place by shading St. Louis Flyers 2-1.

At Pittsburgh, Bob Sabourin and Phil Maloney led the way with two goals apiece. Frank Sullivan, Pete Backor and Ray Timgren got the others.

The Providence goalie had 56 stops while goalie Gil Mayer nade only 19.

At Buffalo, Vern Kaiser sent the Bisons ahead in the second period and Hartley McLeod made it 2-0. Motto McLean made the count 2-1 when he scored in the third period.

Home Run Production Drops 10 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league home-run production dropped almost 10 per cent during the 1952 baseball season.

Final Associated Press statistics today disclosed that 1,701 homers were hit in the big leagues last season compared with 1,863 in 1951. National League circuit wallops tailed off by 117 and the American League by 45.

Maurice Richard Ties NHL All-Time Scoring Record

By JIM BASTABLE

TORONTO (CP)—The incomparable Maurice Richard, The Rocket with the straight black hair and blazing stick, tied professional hockey's all-time scoring record last night. And the time is near for him to take over from Nels (Old Poison) Stewart.

The great 31-year-old rightwinger did it with two quick goals in the first period, but his Montreal Canadiens dropped a 7-5 National Hockey League decision to Toronto Maple Leafs.

It was fitting that the partisan crowd of 14,069 whooped it up every time the fiery Rocket gathered in the puck and that they nearly brought the roof down when he fired the goals to equal the mark of 324 goals set by Old Poison 11 years ago.

JUST ANOTHER NIGHT

It was just another night for Joseph Henri Maurice Richard. Even when they pressed telegrams and notes of congratulations into his sweaty palms he had little to say.

His only comment:

"I have nothing to say about the record. The game is the thing. The goals have got to come some time. It's the game that counts."

And in his Port Colborne home, Stewart said:

"That's all right. That's what record are made for—to be broken and Richard is a good man to make it.

"If he didn't make it tonight he would have made it Saturday, so it didn't make much difference."

ROCKET WAS "DUE"

Even most of Toronto's hockey cynics figured this was the big night for the five-foot-ten dynamo—despite the fact that he has never had big scoring nights at the Gardens. Richard had scored only three goals in eight previous games this season and he was "due."

It was after Olmstead put Canadiens into a 1-0 lead at 11:01 of the first period that Richard got No. 323. He got it on a neat passing play with Elmer Lach, the Rocket's linemate during his entire 10-year N.H.L. career, and Olmstead.

Leafs got back into the game then with Gord Hannigan finishing off a play at 15:42.

Then Richard came through for No. 324. The goal was scored at 17:07, with Lach again getting an assist. The crowd went wild, as Referee Red Storey handed the puck to the 175-pound ace.

Galt Trips Marlboros 7-2 After 1st Class Brawl

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The dead heat between Galt Black Hawks and Barrie Flyers for the Ontario Hockey Association junior A lead continued last night as both won their games.

Neither of the leaders can afford any mistakes. Guelph Biltmores, apparently unhampered by the loss of four top performers to the parent New York Rangers, are hot on their heels only two points behind with 11.

Three Rivers Reds were the Bilts' victims last night as they dropped the second game of their Ontario tour 4-2. Barrie took Kitchener 6-3 and Galt beat Marlboros 7-2. There was no action in Quebec.

Biltmores can't afford any mistakes at this point either Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts are only one point behind them and St. Michael's Majors are fifth.

THREE FOR CHALMERS

Chick Chalmers was top man for Guelph as he had his first three-goal night since entering junior hockey. Gerard Bergeron opened the scoring in the first period for Three Rivers, then Chalmers tied it up. The second period was scoreless. Chalmers broke the game up in the third. After Jean-Guy Gendron had given the visitors a 2-1 lead he scored two quick ones to make it 3-2. Irv Scott added an insurance marker.

In Barrie three new players helped the Tigers bounce Kitchener-Waterloo 6-3. Barrie took a 2-0 lead in the first, made it 4-2 in the second and were never shaded. The Flyers spread their goals among Ralph Willis, Skip Teal, Ivan Tennant, Orin Carger, Doug Mohns and Don McKenney.

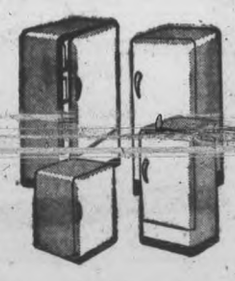
Greenshirts' goal-getters were Greig Hicks, Graham Joyce and Harry Collins.

ROUGHHOUSE AT GALT

Galt and Marlboros staged a first-class brawl in Galt as the Marlies lost their fourth of the season 7-2. It was one of the roughest contests so far with 25 penalties, six of them majors.

Red Hamill used Ralph Markarian on defence for the first time since his arrival via the trade route from St. Catharines Teepees. Forward John Whalen went to St. Kitts.

Goals by Jim McBurney, Eddie Switzer and Tony Poeta put the hawks up 3-1 at the end of the first. Eric Nesterenko scored for the Dukes.



The penalty box was full during most of the second and third periods. Galt added two goals in the second by Ken Wharram and Poeta. John Sleaver and Switzer flashed the light in the third for Galt while Parker McDonald got the visitors' last.

The league gets into action again Friday when St. Michael's Majors play at Guelph and Oshawa travels to Barrie.

U.S. Troops Start Alaska Exercise

EDMONTON (CP)—Swarms of United States air force C-119 "packet" troop carriers dropped on the Edmonton R.C.A.F. station yesterday and later droned northward to the Arctic.

By late today, some 86 of the huge transport craft, bearing men and equipment from Kentucky to Alaska for "Operation Warmwind," will have landed, refuelled, been checked and taken off again.

The airlift, under the command of Col. James L. Daniel, Jr., of Miami and made up of troop carrier squadrons from South Carolina and Texas, is making a 3,247-mile hop from Nashville, Tenn., to Big Delta, Alaska.

Operation Warmwind is designed to test for about 30 days men and equipment, new clothing and rations under Arctic weather conditions.

Favor Russian Visit

TORONTO (CP)—The Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto voted 15-6 last night in favor of a proposal that Russian university students visit Canada. A similar proposal was defeated recently by the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

Bond Sales Mount

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada yesterday reported total sales to date of $120,000,000 of the new issue of Canada Savings Bonds under payroll savings plans. The bonds have been sold to 460,000 employees. The payroll sales, together with public sales reported up to last Friday, add to a total of $155,000,000.

ONLY ONE GOES HOME—British Private Albert Pring bids farewell to his brother, Ron, as Albert prepares to leave Korea. The brothers came to Korea together as members of the Queen's Shropshire Light Infantry, which is returning to England after months of bitter fighting. Ron is buried in the U.N. military cemetery at Pusan.

Red Confession Doesn't Affect Hayden Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What happens to an actor's career after he confesses he has once been a Communist?

Some actors have fallen into obscurity, others have managed to continue their careers. One of the latter is Sterling Hayden, who testified last year in Washington that he had been a member of the Communist party for six months in 1946.

How did the Washington headlines affect his career immediately afterward?

BETTER OFF

"If anything, I was in a better position than I was before. Before I had testified, there was a cloud over my name, a sort of uncertainty about whether I was 'safe' or not. Afterward, everything was out in the open.

"As to the immediate reaction, I don't know. Nobody wanted to hire me, because they didn't know how public opinion would turn. I never heard of any producers who said they would not hire me. There may have been some, but my agent didn't tell me of any."

Since then he has made eight pictures, including "The Star" with Bette Davis and his current "Flame of Timberline" with Ann Sheridan.

What was the personal reaction to his confession of Red membership?

"With two exceptions, I have had no adverse comment made to me personally. The exceptions were a couple of guys whom I suspect of still being Commies. . .

NICE HAND

"Once it came up during a forum some of us were attending at a drama festival in Rochester, N.Y. Someone asked about communism in Hollywood and we had previously agreed that I would answer such a question if it came up. I talked for 10 to 15 minutes on the subject and got a nice hand when I sat down."

Why has Hayden's career continued while Larry Parks has not had a film job since he also testified he had been a Red?

"I don't know," replied Hayden. "I've thought about it a great deal. It could have been the difference in presentation."

Hayden had testified that joining the party "was the stupidest thing" he had ever done and talked freely. Parks admitted his membership, but first said he "didn't want to crawl through the mud as an informer." Later he named names.

"I was fortunate to get mine over with in one shot," Hayden added.

Meeker May Stand For P.C. Presidency

KITCHENER (CP) — Trevor Jones, president of the Western Ontario Young Progressive Conservative Association, said that Howie Meeker is seriously considering allowing his name to go before the convention of the Ontario Young P.C. Association in Toronto Nov. 3 as a candidate for the presidency.

Mr. Meeker, 28, is member of Parliament for Waterloo South and a Toronto Maple Leaf hockey player. He resides at nearby New Hamburg.

Massey Enjoys Ballet Effort

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Lady known as Lou and all her glittering cast from the Klondyke strutted their stuff last night for Governor-General Vincent Massey, guest of honor at the opening performance of the Winnipeg Ballet's 14th season.

It was a 24-carat success.

The same company that drew praise last October from Princess Elizabeth at a command performance drew favorable comment last night from Mr. Massey. He said he especially liked "the Shooting of Dan McGrew," adaptd from Robrt Service's immortal ballad.

WORLD'S LARGEST HELICOPTER—The U.S. Air Force's HX-17, above, is believed to be the world's largest helicopter. Designed by the Hughes Aircraft Company at Culver City, Calif., the mammoth machine dwarfs two full-size cars which rest beneath it. An experimental heavy-lift machine, with rotor blades extending 125 feet from tip to tip, and with an over-all height of 30 feet, the HX-17 is the forerunner of cargo-carrying helicopters which will deliver heavy military cargo in areas inaccessible to conventional aircraft. It is powered by two turbojets as the rotor tips.

Weary Election Campaigners Seek To Present New Angle

By R. J. ANDERSON

NEW YORK (CP)—Weary veterans of the campaign trail sought desperately today for something new to say, some new issue to sway the last waverers among the United States electorate.

The lines were drawn, the decision probably made, but still the torrent of words poured out as one of the most bitter campaigns in years drove to a roaring finish.

Five days before the vote, the Korean War was still the dominant issue. It seemed that nothing new could be said about it.

Seeking the presidency are Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republicans and Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democrats. President Truman is campaigning so vigorously for Stevenson that he's almost a candidate, too.

KOREAN RESPONSIBILITY

The brick-bats about Korea—who is responsible for the war there and what should be done about it—flew freely last night as the campaigners moved about the country in their final pre-election tours.

Eisenhower has said that more South Korean troops than now are used should be trained and thrown against the Communists, with United Nations troops pulled back to defensive positions.

The General, who led the Allied forces to victory in Europe in the Second World War, blames the Administration for starting something it can't finish. He said in New York that "American boys" are fighting again for freedom and he asked: "Did they have to do it?

Stevenson, campaigning through Pennsylvania, claimed that his opponent had made "soft promises about bringing our troops home from Korea soon—promises that he knows as well as you and I that he could not keep."

Truman in Chicago accused Eisenhower in effect of posing as a superman—of promising quick, easy solutions to Korean and other problems that actually are too big for him.

Over and over Eisenhower reiterated his pledge that, if elected, he will go personally to Korea to seek a settlement of the war.

NIXON IN NEWS

Another tempest blew up over the financial affairs of California's Senator Richard Nixon, the Republican vice-presidential andidate. Nixon branded as a "lie" a Democratic statement that he and his relatives own real estate valued at $250,000.

He has said that when he got out of the Navy in 1946, he was "too poor to buy stamps for political campaigning."

The Democrats demanded, too, that Nixon produce his income-tax returns for public inspection.

Indicative of the level of this campaign was a full-page advertisement today in New York newspapers, published by the New York Citzens' Committee which works for Eisenhower's election, of a picture of a good-looking boy of perhaps 12 or 14. The caption says: "Is your boy America's only answer to Korea?"

Economic Hazard

TROWELL, England (CP)—To raise funds for coronation celebrations councillors of this Nottinghamshire community decided to baby-sit in the village hall. But more than half the money they made went for renting the hall and they said more children would be needed to make the scheme pay.

Don't Like Red

THETFORD, England (CP)—To brighten municipal houses in this norfolk town officials painted some front doors red, some green, others blue. All were pleased except the housewives with red doors. A new shade will be found for them.

Getting Even

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Alta. (CP)—It was tit-for-tat when Dr. Norris West trapped and shot a grizzly bear on his ranch west of here. Last spring one of his calves was killed by a bear.

Queen's Speech Closes Parliament In Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — The Queen's speech closing Parliament today said she had watched with hope and confidence the measures taken by the Atlantic treaty countries to secure themselves against the threat of armed aggression.

The royal speech, traditional method of winding up a session of Parliament, was read for the Queen in the House of Lords by a commission of peers headed by the lord chancellor, Baron Simonds. As usual it was mainly a recital of the government's achievements in home and foreign affairs during the session.

The address closed Parliament for a week's recess. It will reassemble for a new session Nov. 4.

The address stressed the United States leadership of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, paying tribute to "the notable contribution made to the strengthening of the organization and of its member countries by the people of the United States of America who are bearing so large a share of the heavy cost of mutual defence."

On Britain's fight for economic recovery the Queen said: "My government, with the help of other Commonwealth governments and of the sterling area as a whole, have taken effective steps to redress the balance of payments and to maintain the strength of sterling as an international currency."

The address, written by the cabinet, began with a reference to the late King: "My beloved father whose death was so deeply mourned throughout the Commonwealth and beyond."

It added: "The countless expressions of devotion to him have moved me deeply and encouraged me in my resolute determination to prove worthy of a sacred trust."

On Korea, the speech said Britain had "worked ceaselessly to achieve an armistice agreement in conformity with the principles for which the United Nations stand."

On the war in Malaya: "My forces and the civil administration are carrying out a difficult task with patience and determination. In spite of great loss and suffering all communities are playing an ever more-active part in the defence of their freedom."

NEW RELATIONSHIP

"My ministers have supported the inclusion of the German federal republic in the European community and by ratifying the Bonn conventions have formed a new relationship between the United Kingdom and Germany," the speech continued.

"I regret, however, that prolonged exchanges between my government and the Soviet government have not yet ended in agreement upon the unification of Germany."

Wait Permission To Join Project

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey and the New York State Power Authority looked hopefully to the Federal Power Commission today for its permission to join Ontario in construction of the St. Lawrence River power project.

Dewey's office said the governor was pleased at the green light given yesterday in Montreal by the International Joint Commission to the project, now estimated to cost $450,000,000.

John E. Burton, chairman of the State Power Authority, said in Ithaca that he is "hopeful that the F.P.C. will now. . . designate the authority as the agency" to join Canada in the 2,200,000-horsepower development on the international rapids section of the river.

Canada has named the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission as its agent in the project, which engineers estimate will yield more than 13,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy a year.

Bancroft Red Cross Asks Sickroom Pool

BANCROFT (ENS)—The local branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society is appealing to the general public in this community for assistance in establishing a pool of sickroom equipment to bring comfort to sick persons of the district. It is felt that a pool of this type should be established in each branch area to make available to persons in need of them, everything from hot water bottles to hospital beds.

In every community, on many occasions, families find themselves in need of crutches, back rests, wheel chairs, hospital beds, and many other items of this nature which are rarely used, difficult to obtain and, in many cases, beyond the reach of the average family.

Belfry Dangerous

TRANI, Italy (AP)—Three hundred persons living near the local cathedral were ordered out of their homes last night because the church belfry was believed about to collapse. The 200-foot-high belfry is a monument to Romanesque art in southeastern Italy.

3 Servicemen Plead Guilty

LINDSAY (ENS).—Three teenage servicemen were Wednesday given suspended sentence when they pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of a wallet containing $25 from a Bobcaygeon man.

Magistrate E. A. Gee gave the trio suspended sentence, ordered them to pay $15.50 costs and castigated them for a "low" crime.

The victim, Eugene House, told police he had entered a restaurant and noticed the boys in uniform. He sat down at their table and later paid for their meal. Outside one of the boys grabbed him by the shirt and asked House what "I'd give them if they left me alone."

House pulled out his wallet, one of the trio grabbed it and ran. The other two said they would get the wallet back. They followed the third, but didn't return.

ALL DRINKING

In statements admitted into evidence, the boys said they took the wallet for a joke. Constable Hunter said all three had been drinking.

The three are Privates J. Wilkinson, 18, and Gerald Statham, 17, and L.A.C. Hugh Curry, 18.

House had been in Lindsay on Tuesday when the robbery occurred, visiting his wife, who recently presented him with their eighth child at Ross Memorial Hospital. House is unemployed.

Statham, a veteran of Korea at 17, is facing a charge of careless driving, in connection with an accident on Kent St. two weeks ago.

Election In Saar

SAARBRUCKEN, Saar (Reuters)—A general election will be held Nov. 30 in the Saar, Parliament was told Wednesday. Pro-German parties will not be allowed to enter candidates. German spokesmen said they will refuse to recognize such "elections."

Israeli Soldiers Jailed

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters)—An army spokesman disclosed last night that prison terms had been imposed on soldiers who recently incited two Israeli army units to mutiny against extension of the draft period from two years to 30 months. The small but vocal Israeli Communist party has been active in campaigning against the extension of military service, which was approved by Parliament last August.

Says Nazi Hurled Babies Into Truck

BERLIN (Reuters) — Heinrich Schwindt "took small, crying babies by the scruff of the neck like little cats" and hurled them from upper-storey windows into crowded trucks below when he was a Nazi chief in the Lodz ghetto in Poland, a court was told today.

Lias Katz, former inmate of the ghetto giving evidence at Schwindt's trial, said he saw this happen when the Germans evacuated it in the face of the advancing Soviet armies during the war.

Schwindt is accused of 72 murders, three attempted murders and one rape. He has pleaded not guilty to all charges.

HomeOwners Protest Assessment

Cancel Allowances Given Owners For Lack of Service

Some 20 of the assessment appeals to come before the Court of Revision next month are from property owners in Claraday Ward.

They are protesting the action of Assessment Commissioner J. E. Davis in cancelling a certain allowance which was made to the property owners south of Lansdowne St. in consideration of the fact that some of the municipal services had not been extended into all parts of that south end ward.

"We all know there were annexations comprising the whole ward," Mr. Davis said today.

ALLOWANCE GIVEN

"It was impossible to extend sewers, sidewalks, water, lights all at once all over the area. So a certain allowance was made on assessments of land and buildings. Variation of the extent of temporary exemption was from 10 per cent. up to 45 per cent., depanding on such factors as distance, etc.

It is now felt by the department that the city has succeeded in providing the municipal accommodations to the whole ward, and that the allowance on buildings may now be properly cancelled.

About 20 of the property owners south of Lonsdowne St. do not agree with that course, and so they are appealing to the Court of Revision."

90 APPEALS

Number of appeals totals about 90. Many of them are simply corrections in assessment details, school support, removal of business from the city, and so on. There are some 40 appeals directly linked with property valuations.

"It is not a heavy list," Mr. Davis said. The Court is sitting in the evening of Nov. 12 and will probably cut the list into two sessions, hearing appellants whose names begin with any of the letters from A to M; and the others on the 13th.

Members of the Court are Sheriff J. A. Harstone, Fred Finnie and Thos. E. Ephgrave.

Canada Received $10 For Every $1 To Bring Visitors

Members of the Chamber of Commerce gathered in full force on Wednesday evening to bolster the sagging fourth annual Kawartha Tourist Association convention and especially to hear "Mr. Canada", director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, Leo Dolan.

In rapid-fire and humorous fashion Mr. Dolan drove home often-repeated advice pertaining to securing, and the holding of, the American tourist dollar. He also brought his speech to a district level. The following were some of the highlights of Mr. Dolan's talk:

The Dominion Government spent a million dollars in advertising in 1951 to attract tourists to Canada from which a return of $10 per tourist head was secured this year.

The Government agencies can only give direction to tourist masses but it is the work of municipalities to make their vacations enjoyable.

THIEVES AND ROBBERS

Conservation of fish and game is the direct concern of district citizens. Mr. Dolan called poachers and law-breakers "thieves and robbers" and warned resort operators of their responsibilities to "guide their guides" since fish and game, and its guardianship, was the basis of tourist operators, and all accrued district business. If this were not done, Mr. Dolan said, tourists would soon by-pass the Kawarthas.

Canadians did a good job of handling the dollar parity problem during the current year. They still will not make the most of local historical attractions, perhaps because citizens did not know of the stories back of them.

Peterborough merchants should realize the importance of tourist spending more than they do.

Convention head and Chamber of Commerce manager James Fraser was doing an outstanding job for the tourist industry in the Kawarthas.

Mr. Dolan was introduced by H. L. Garner, general manager of The Peterborough Examiner, and thanked by past president of the Rice Lake Tourist Association Art Elmhirst.

Head table guests were Lands and Forests biologist Charles Weir, Jr., and Mrs. Arthur Elmhirst, Department of Travel and Publicity's Al Venn; Mrs. Bus Mitchell; Mr. and Mrs. Garner; president of Peterborough Chamber of Commerce Gordon McGavin and Mrs. McGavin; Mayor Hugh Waddell and Chamber vice-president John Madden.

Entertainment was provided by the P.C.V.S. Choral Club Triple Trio who sang three selections and by Robert Johnston with piano dinner music.

Socialism Failed In Europe Get No Chance Here—Starr

No nation can take a chance on Socialism which has proven itself as a wrecker of democracies in Europe. Michael Starr, M.P., delivered this indictment of Socialism and the C.C.F. party in an address on Wednesday evening to the annual meeting of the Peterborough Young Progressive Conservative Association.

The Mayor of Oshawa who won Ontario riding for the Progressive Conservatives in a by-election last May said Canadian Socialists do not reveal themselves in their true colors.

CONSERVATIVE C.C.F.

For example, he said, "In Saskatchewan, they are not giving anything but a good conservative government."

Warning his audience that Canadians must protect their democracy from the threat of Socialism, he said that European democracies where left wing parties have gained power show that the first stages of socialism eventually turned into something that destroyed the governments.

"Here?" he said "we don't realize the danger of the propaganda we are being instilled with of socialism camouflaged to make us think we can pick pears off apple trees.

"No nation can take a chance on something that has proven a failure elsewhere," said Mr. Starr.

Commenting on a recent trip to the West, Mr. Starr said, "Living in our area here, we don't grasp the significance and tremendous potentialities this country has for development and settlement."

High taxes and high prices were the issues he successfully fought the by-election in which he was elected, Mr. Starr said, and the issues are still the same. "They are foremost in the minds of the people, because they are affecting people in their pocket books."

"Economic conditions kill governments and they certainly killed the Conservative Party," he said refering to the decline of the party's fortunes after the defeat of the Bennett regime which was in power during the hungry thirties.

EXPLOIT GOOD TIMES

"The present government (at Ottawa) under good times is exploiting the people of Canada, he went on. Turning to tax cuts hinted by Prime Minister St. Laurent and Finance Minister Abbott, he charged them with trying "to bribe the people, the same as in 1949.

I am sure that twice repeated, the people of Canada will be sensible enough not to be hoaxed by that type of strategy in the coming election," said Mr. Starr.

Even if the federal government's record [illegible] Mr. Starr said "seventeen years in power is too long for one party in a democratic country like Canada, because it loses its ambition and becomes stagnant."

He urged everyone to take a more active interest in politics, because, "interest in politics makes good citizens who want to work for a better government to make democracy safe."

The Liberal government's immigration policy came under Mr. Starr's criticism because he said the government had not seen to it that new Canadians had jobs to go to on arrival, nor provided housing for them.

"Families who have [illegible] destitute said Mr. Starr. "They are either thrown to the wolves or left to the already overburdened municipal social agencies and services. The government is not taking its proper responsibilities," he charged.

Robert Faulkner Heads PC's

Robert J. Faulkner was elected president of the Peterborough Young Progressive Conservative Association Wednesday night in the Y.P.C. annual meeting held in the Orange Hall.

The meeting approved a slate of officers presented to the meeting by Jim Lillico, chairman of the nominating committee.

The other officers are: Miss June Fraser, former secretary of the association, who is first vice president, Allan Drummon, second vice president; Miss Doreen Thompson, secretary and Gordon Lupton treasurer.

Retiring president Paul Thompson was chairman of the meeting until Pete LaBranche took over as chairman during the election of the new executive.

Miss Fraser read the minutes of the last annual meeting and a report on the activities of the association during the year.

Michael Starr, M.P., Mayor of Oshawa, was guest speaker.

Senator Iva Fallis and Hon. Harold Scott also spoke briefly.

Brush Fires Rage No Rain In Sight

CHICAGO (CP)—"No rain" was the dismal forecast again today as thousands continued fighting forest and brush fires over wide areas of the eastern half of the United States.

Dry weather continued over almost the entire country? Winds diminished during the night, affording some relief in halting the spreading flames over the burning wooded areas.

Ghosts On Leave Through District For Hallowe'en

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Watch out, folks. It's Hallowe'en again Friday night, and the kids will be on the loose. A lot of the grown-ups will be sharing the fun at parties across the country.

Maybe this new-fangled television thing will keep some city slickers quiet with fancy pictures of ghosts and hobgoblins in those parts of Canada that get television programs. But many more are going to be celebrating the night in the age-old fashion.

The wild pranks that used to cause alarm have gone out of fashion and many cities and towns now have their community celebrations perfected to the last detail, with the object of obtaining the maximum enjoyment with the least damage.

CENTURIES OLD

But Hallowe'en has been a tradition for a long time, from the days of the Romans and the Druids and the early Christians. Now it's the eve of All Saints Day, in honor of all saints known or unknown, and it has been observed as such since the eighth century.

There's always an age group of children to whom the great night is something brand new. They and the older youngsters will be roaming the streets in weird costume, knocking on doors and crying "shell out" or some such phrase.

And the wise housewife will have a stack of goodies on hand to appease the invaders. A lot of them will have made themselves hoarse yelling "shell out, shell out." Then there's the "trick or treat" group. In Montreal, the kids use the old cry "charity," while in parts of the Maritimes they still say "help the poor."

They'll be seen on all the highways and by-ways in fantastic garb—witches and skeletons, white-sheeted ghosts and more modern apparel like cowboy suits, but all masked and still looking for more loot.

4 Koreans Killed In Escape Attempt

PUSAN, Korea (AP) — Four Koreans were killed and three wounded today when 114 former guerrillas attempted a mass prison escape at Kwangju, 80 miles west of here.

Guards quelled the riot after 45 minutes by firing into a group of prisoners who [illegible] The prison commander said all the rioters formerly were members of communist-led guerrilla bands.

Two Men Must Face Trial On Charge Of Shooting At Each Other Near Apsley

Melvin Tripp, Donald Hall Both Committed At Preliminary Hearing Hall Wounded In Shoulder In Affray

Melvin Tripp, 30, and Donald Hall, 29, of Scarborough Junction, were committed for trial today on charges of shooting a loaded shotgun with intent to go grievous bodily harm. Bail was fixed at $2,000 each. Hall is charged with shooting at Tripp, and Tripp, a Burleigh township construction worker, is charged with shooting at Hall. Evidence on the charge against Hall was heard at a preliminary hearing Monday and Magistrate W. R. Philp reserved judgment on committing Hall until today.

Both were charged after three shots were fired, two by Hall and one by Tripp on the late afternoon of September 27, at a cabin in a clearing eight miles south of Apsley where Tripp and his wife and five children were living.

WOUNDED

The charge from the shotgun fired by Tripp hit Hall in the right shoulder and Hall was in hospital two weeks recovering from the wound. The one shot fired by Hall went into the air, and the second went through the cabin wall, above Tripp's head, and imbedded itself in the cabin roof.

Both shots fired by Hall were fired before Tripp fired.

Tripp was the main crown witness at the Hall preliminary and after Magistrate Philp said "it is a decision to be arrived at by a jury" if Hall intended to shoot at Tripp. Hall testified for the crown at Tripp's preliminary hearing today.

Hall said he went with Bill Clinton and his wife to the cabin where Tripp was living. He said he had been drinking but was "fairly sober."

Under cross examination by Tripp's counsel, W. J. Arthur Fair, Hall said he knew the Clintons were going to try and collect rent from Tripp and he said he also knew the cabin was owned by a James Guiry of Toronto and that Clinton "had no business to try it."

TOLD TO SHOOT

In answer to a suggestion by Mr. Fair that Mrs. Clinton had ordered him to "shoot the legs from under Tripp" when she, Clinton and Tripp were, according to Hall, arguing in the cabin, Hall said he recalled being told to "shoot."

He denied he intended to shoot Tripp, when he fired the second time.

Hall said Clinton and his wife were trying to hold the barrel of the gun Tripp was threatening Clinton with, toward the ground. He said when Tripp got it free, "he fired at me."

"I figured somebody else was going to get shot," said Hall in explaining why he "fired in the air twice."

Hall claimed Tripp had the gun aimed at Clinton's stomach after he had ordered him to leave the cabin and before the struggle over the gun started.

ONE SHELL LEFT

He admitted to Mr. Fair there was still one shell in the semi-automatic shotgun from which he had already fired two shots, when Tripp fired, wounding him in the shoulder.

After he was shot, Hall said Tripp's wife washed the wound and Tripp drove him in his (Hall's) car first to the Red Cross Hospital in Apsley, then to Lakefield for further medical attention.

Both Tripp and Hall, who is being defended by Robert Carley, testified for the crown under protection of the evidence act.

Truce Declared 11 Strikers Back To Work

The 11 strikers at the Hobbs Glass plant on Sherbrooke St., went back to work at 8 a.m. today, but there is no word from either management or the union that the strike is settled.

At noon representatives of management and Local 527, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (Indep.) were meeting in the Empress Hotel trying to reach agreement on their contract dispute.

The 11 production employees formed a picket line for two days and brought work at the Hobbs plant to a standstill. Today they went back as the result of a temporary truce between the union and management. Discussions on how to end the strike started at 11 a.m.

NEGOTIATIONS

C. R. Sullivan, U.E. area representative, issued this statement today: "As a result of an understanding reached between top officials of the company and union officials, the workers returned to work today. The understanding was that negotiations would start at 11 a.m. with a view to completing a settlement sometime during the day."

He refused to comment when asked what the employees would do if no agreement was reached today.

Top company officials were not available for comment, but an office worker said that work was going ahead in the plant as usual.

The strikers want a general increase of 15 cents an hour, paid retroactively; overtime pay; checkoff; eight statutory holidays with pay; and a change in the company's management rights.

Picketing on Wednesday was peaceful. On Tuesday, the first day of the strike, a truck had to have a police escort to get through the picket line. And a contractor was jostled when he left the plant with some glass.

Young Student Painters Featured In Weekend

A picture story on the Examiner's painting course for Peterborough school children will be featured in this Saturday's Weekend.

Articles on Peterborough, or former residents of the city who still have connections in the city, appear frequently in Weekend, the popular picture magazine distributed with the Saturday Examiner.

A few weeks ago, the cover girl was the granddaughter of a Norwood couple, and last week "Life of a Salesman" featured Joe Batten, now of Fairville, New Brunswick, who was born and raised in the city.

This week's feature, "Teenagers at the Easel," is a page and a half photo story, part of which is in color, about the summer art classes sponsored by the Examiner.

It tells how H. L. Garner first thought of giving youngsters, with a desire to paint, an opportunity to learn. The Kiwanis Music Festival last spring gave Mr. Garner the idea, and a survey of 17 schools in the city revealed that 34 would like to take instruction in painting.

Oscar Schlienger, Swiss born artist, now living in Lakefield, was engaged as instructor and during the summer gave 10 lessons in the fundamentals of drawing and painting.

Among the youngsters whose pictures appear in the photo-story are: Gary Stewart, Carol Newsom, Bill Jeffrey, Marjorie Barry, and Brendon Lincoln.

Warkworth Ends Centennial Week

WARKWORTH (ENS) — St. Paul's United Church was again filled Sunday to capacity at the morning and evening services. This was the last of a series of services celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founding of the congregation.

On Sunday, the Very Rev. J. H. Arnup, of Toronto, former moderator of the United Church and general secretary of the Overseas Mission Board for many years, was guest speaker for the day. In the morning, his sermon was "The God of Yesterday and the God of Today." The Rev. A. L. Sisco, pastor of St. Paul's, was in charge of the services and the St. Paul's choir, with Mrs. Douglas Knight, church organist, led in the service of song, with Mrs. Jim McCleary taking the soprano solo part. Frankford Male Quartette, of the Frankford United Church, composed of Messrs. A. Southworth, E. Wallace, A. C. Bates and H. Slingerland, with Mrs. S. Martin pianist, gave two numbers.

In the evening, the Rev. A. L. Sisco was again the guest speaker, using for his topic "The People That Walk in the Darkness." The Rev. A. E. Baker, of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, was also present and led in prayer. The visiting choir was from Stirling United Church, with Mrs. A. E. Baker in charge. Soloist was Mrs. Walter Warren, of Stirling. A male quartette, composed of Messrs. Harry Brown, Jack Bush, Grant Richardson and William Aylsworth (also of Stirling) sang.

At the closing of the evening service Sunday, the Rev. A. L. Sisco closed with contgratulating the officials and all who had helped in every way to make the Centenary Week such a success.

3 Football Players Asked To Lose Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Three University of Maryland football players, including its All-quarterback candidate, Jack Scarbath, have sworn that another student offered them bribes to hold down the score in Maryland's game last Saturday with Louisiana State University.

The players, who rejected the offers, and reported them to authorities, are:

Tom Cosgrove, centre, 21, who said he was offered $1,000.

Frank Navarro, a guard, 22, who said he was offered $400.

Scarbath, 21, and considered by many to be the best college quarterback in the U.S., who said he was offered $100.

All three players said they were asked to hold down the score so that Maryland would beat Louisiana State by less than 21 points.

THEY LOVE A PARADE—Popcorn is almost forgotten by these three youngsters at the opening parade of the 54th American Royal Livestock and Horse Show in Kansas City, Mo. The youngsters were among the many thousands that lined the parade route through downtown Kansas City. The many inflated balloon-like cartoon characters in the parade fascinated the children.

2,800 Workers Walk Off Jobs

SARNIA (CP) — About 2,800 workers of all trades working on defence housing projects here walked off jobs Wednesday and formed picket lines in protest against low pay and what they termed "scab" labor.

Picket lines in three areas turned away non-union workers and trucks loaded with construction materials.

Companies picketed were Huron Construction; Harron McCance; Junek and Jamieson; Fassel-Baglier and Elliot Construction.

Mount Pleasant W.A. Plans Church Supper

MT. PLEASANT — The Mt. Pleasant Women's Association met in the church. Mrs. Norman Fee read the Scripture lesson. The devotional topic, "Thanksgiving," was taken by Mrs. Hubert Gardiner. The president, Mrs. G. McLean, led the business discussion. Mrs. E. Lawson consented to look after the sale of Christmas cards. Plans were made for a supper to be held November 21 in the W.I. hall. Committees appointed were: Supper committee, Mrs. S. Tully, Mrs. D. Hayes, Mrs. E. Garnett; table committee, Mrs. H. Jamieson, Mrs. E. Whitmore, Mrs. K. Morden; program committee, Mrs. D. Lawson, Mrs. H. Gardiner, Mrs. R. Carr.

Letters of appreciation were read from Mrs. A. Tully, Mr. Ira Lowe, Mrs. Bellanger, and Mrs. Ritchie. Mrs. L. Handley and Mrs. D. Lawson were responsible for the following program:

Readings, "The New Church Organ," Mrs. E. Garnett; "The Singing Kettle," Mrs. D. Hayes; "Do Something," Mrs. A. Bland; "The World's Bible," Mrs. S. Tully; "Widder Green's Last Word," Mrs. E. Lawson; Bible contest, Mrs. F. Jamieson; contest, Mrs. D. Lawson.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah. Lunch was served by members of Group 4.

Sell Anti-Freeze 2 Airmen Jailed

LONDON (CP) — Two airmen were sentenced to 50 days and 45 days respectively in the service detention barracks, Camp Borden Wednesday for theft and sale of anti-freeze from R.C.A.F. station, Crumlin airport.

AC. 1 Allan Prentice will be detained 50 days and LAC. N. Kasawan, 45 days following their appearance before Wing Cmdr. J. A. Sproule.

The two men were arrested at Woodstock by provincial police investigating the sale of anti-freeze to garages on highway No. 2 near Thamesford.

U.S. Has Announced Casualties High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defence department announced the largest weekly increase in Korean battle casualties in nearly a year—1,278 killed, missing and wounded.

The new total reached 123,395 since the beginning of hostilities.

The rise of 1,278 last week compared with a weekly high of 3,536 announced Oct. 5, 1950 and a low of 123 reported last March 26.

The weekly casualty toll has been comparatively high since early September, reflecting the bitter fighting which has taken place during the localized but intensive battles for hill positions all along the line in Korea.

14 Wounded Vets To Be Flown Home

OTTAWA (CP)—Fourteen sick and wounded veterans of the Korean War will be flown to hospitals near their homes from Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 31 and Nov. 1, army headquarters announced today.

An R.C.A.F. plane will leave Tacoma Friday for Winnipeg, London, Ont., Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. It will arrive in Winnipeg Friday and the other points Saturday.

Pte. W. G. O'Connor, P.O. Harrow, Ont., is bound for London and Pte. A. M. Bostrom, Sudbury, will be evacuated to Toronto. Bound for Ottawa is Pte. D. K. Coates, Carleton Place.

Associate Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale Dies In Quebec

MONTREAL (CP) — Associate Chief Justice O. S. Tyndale of the Quebec Superior Court and former chancellor of McGill University, died last night in his 66th year.

He died in Montreal Neurological Institute from a cerebral haemorrhage. He suffered an attack about a month ago and appeared to be recovering but re-entered the hospital more than a week ago. He suffered a second attack yesterday.

He retired from the chancellorship of McGill last May after serving five years. He was succeeded by B. C. Gardner, president of the Royal Bank of Canada.

He was the first graduate of McGill to become its chancellor and also the first chancellor who had ever been a member of the McGill faculty prior to his election.

Orville Slevwright Tyndale was born in Montreal June 4, 1887, and was educated in this city, later graduating from the Sorbonne in Paris.

SERVED IN ARMY

Immediately after his admission to the Quebec bar in the summer of 1915, he entered the armed forces to serve in the First World War. He was gazetted a lieutenant in the 5th Overseas University Company and joined the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in June, 1916.

Wounded in September of that year, he returned to Canada and served on the headquarters staff in Ottawa until December, 1918, when he was demobilized with the rank of brevet major.

He started law practice at the start of 1919 and in the same year became a lecturer at McGill in the faculty of law.

He was named associate chief justice in 1942, succeeding the late Mr. Justice W. L. Bond.

Burton Graham Wins Acquittal

LINDSAY (ENS)—Burton Graham was acquitted on three driving charges resulting from an accident earlier this month when he appeared in police court here yesterday. Graham was charged with failing to stop and give his name and address, driving while his license was under suspension and driving with his ability impaired. The accident occurred on Lindsay St. north on Oct. 6. Fred Tilcock of Lindsay testified that he had pulled into a parking spot on the street, as the Graham car pulled out. After the latter vehicle had gone about three car-lengths north on the street, it suddenly stopped and began to back up. The car struck the Tilcock vehicle, causing damage to the front fender. Tilcock, Constable Mark of town police and Constable Plumbtree of the Lindsay O.P.P. failed in their evidence to place Graham behind the wheel of the car.

Graham claimed that in the car with him were his father and his nephew who was driving at the time.

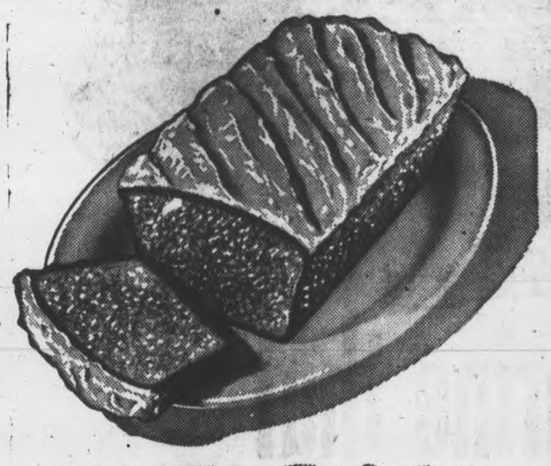
Hospitals Need Help To Run Nursing Schools

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hospital Association last year approached the provincial government concerning a possible grant to help maintain approved schools of nursing within Ontario hospitals, John Hornal, chairman of the hospital convention's resolution committee, said yesterday.

Mr. Hornal is superintendent of the Peterborough Civic Hospital.

In spite of pressure, he told the 28th annual convention, nothing had yet been heard from the government in the matter.

Mr. Hornal said the public hospitals in the province carry on approved schools of nursing at great extra expense to themselves and so provide, in addition to their usual services, an important public service.



Mr. Hornal reported that the cost of hospital care has increased substantially during the last few years. Municipalities are in many cases refusing to supplement the statutory rate to make up the loss incurred in caring for their indigent sick.

Dr. G. Harvey Agnew, professor of hospital administration at the University of Toronto, said that to go on providing more and more beds at present day costs, and with continually rising standards in facilities and equipment is fast becoming a financial impossibility.

A total of 132 cases of tuberculosis were discovered in Ontario in the year ending last March 31 by a program of X-raying patients admitted to general hospitals, Dr. S. A. Holling of the provincial department of health said.

There are no railroads in Iceland, North Atlantic island of volcanic origin close to the Arctic Circle.

Famous Shorthorn Herd Sold In UK For £134,176

PERTH, Scotland (CP)—The famous Cruggleton Herd of pedigree Scottish Shorthorns, whose strain is known among cattle breeders throughout the world, has been sold at auction for a record turnover 134,176.

The herd of 240 animals was reared by the late "cattle king," A. J. Marshall, of Bridgebank, Stranraer, who died last January.

Shorthorn breeders from all corners of the earth converged on Perth as well as nearby Crieff, where a consignment of another noted herd, known as the Millhills, was offered for sale.

After two days of brisk, competitive bidding nearly 100 of the pure-breds were purchased for export with 22 head going to Canada.

The prize of the Crieff auction, a dark roan bull, "Millhills Jubilee," went to the southern Alberta cattleman, F.E.B. Gourlay, for 2,000 guineas, approximately $5,400 at current exchange rates.

Born in March of last year, the young bull has been described as one of the finest prospects to show in years. He is sired by "Kinsman" out of a cow by the consistent prize-winner "Colbynie Elect."

Mr. Gourlay also acquired several head of the Cruggleton Herd. Other Canadian buyers included Grant Campbell, of Moffat, Ont., A.R. Cross, Calgary, Alta., and representatives of the E. and J. Cammaert Farm, at Rockyford, Alta.

Although the total realized at the Perth sale is the highest ever recorded in Britain, the average price of around £560 a head was well below the previous peak. Before the second world war a Morayshire herd of Herefords averaged about £735, but that sale involved only 38 head.

FRANCE'S ENTRY IN SUPERSONIC RACE—Powered by two French "Atar" jet engines, the "Vulture," above, is the latest thing in French jet plane design. The two-place, swept-wing interceptor is expected to reach supersonic speeds and no details of its performance are yet available. This is the first official photo of the new craft.

Electoral-College Vote For Year 1948 Reviewed

NEW YORK (CP)—When Harry Truman was elected President of the United States in 1948 he ran up an Electoral-College vote of 308 against 186 for Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican candidate.

Democrat Truman, who succeeded to the White House on the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1945, received a popular vote of 24,104,836 compared with 21,969,500 for Dewey.

The only other party to receive any electoral votes was the States Rights Party whose presidential candidate, Strom Thurmond, garnered 37 electoral votes and polled a popular vote of 1,169,312.

This year's candidates are Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for the Democrats and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for the Republicans. No third party candidate has come forward in 1952 with the apparent show of strength Thurmond had in 1948 as leader of rebellious South Democrats.

Under the U.S. voting system, a total of 531 electoral votes is apportioned among the states, each state having a number of votes equal to the number of Congressmen it sends to Washington.

The candidate who polls the biggest popular vote in any state wins all that state's electoral votes. A total of 266 electoral votes is needed to win the election.

The following is the present electoral vote for each state along with any gains or losses from this year's redistricting.

Alabama, 11; Arizona, 4; Arkansas, 8 (loses 1); California, 32 (gains 7); Colorado, 6; Connecticut, 8; Delaware, 3; Florida, 10 (gains 2); Georgia, 12; Idaho, 4; Illinois, 27 (loses 1); Indiana, 13; Iowa, 10; Kansas, 8; Kentucky, 10 (loses 1); Louisiana, 10; Maine, 5; Maryland, 9 (gains 1); Massachusetts, 16; Michigan, 20 (gains 1); Minnesota, 11; Mississippi 8 (loses 1) Missouri, 13 (loses 2); Montana, 4; Nebraska, 6; Nevada, 3; New Hampshire 4; New Jersey, 16; New Mexico, 4; New York 45 (loses 2); North Carolina, 14; North Dakota, 4; Ohio 25; Oklahoma 8 (loses 2); Oregon 6; Pennsylvania 32 (loses 3); Rhode Island 4; South Carolina 8; South Dakota 4; Tennessee 11 (loses 1); Texas 24 (gains 1); Utah 4; Vermont 3; Virginia 12 (gains 1); Washington 9 (gains 1); West Virginia 8; Wisconsin 12; Wyoming, 3; Total 531.

Narrow Escape

PUSAN, Korea (Reuters)—President Syngman Rhee's cabinet today narrowly escaped being forced to resign. A "no-confidence" motion was carried in the National Assembly by 103 votes to 45—just short of the two-thirds majority needed to force resignation. The motion was based on charges that government favoritism had enabled traders who supported Rhee to make profits totalling $4,000,000 in controlled foreign exchange.

Jewels, Metals Part Of New S.W. Africa Crop

By OSCAR TAMSEN

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—Diamonds, copper, karacul sheep and fish are bringing wealth to the barren wastelands of Southwest Africa, one-time German colony mandated to South Africa by the old League of Nations.

In the last five years, the territory has been transformed into one of the continent's fastest-growing industrial and commercial centres.

Largely responsible are the diamond and copper mining industries. Sales of diamonds and copper reached a new mineral production record of $43,400,000 at the end of last year.

FISHING AIDS INDUSTRY

In addition, a new large-scale fishing industry, and the exporting of karakul pelts have injected new life into the economy of this arid stretch of African coastline.

Southwest Africa is a vast territory 900 miles long and 350 miles wide, with a coastal strip of desert bordering the South Atlantic ocean and rising to a central plateau running from north to south.

Politically it is a separate territory under mandate to South Africa, although the ties between the two countries are growing closer and its economy has in most respects been integrated with that of South Africa.

DIAMONDS FROM SEA

Most of the diamonds produced are gem stones obtained from marine terraces under heavy layers of sand found along the rugged coastline.

Copper also is found in abundance in Southwest Africa. The largest mines are in the north.

The territory is often afflicted by droughts and it is only recently that many farmers have been able, through the breeding of Karacul sheep, to derive more than a bare subsistence from their lands. About 2,500,000 karacul pelts were sold last year for $15,400,000 on the luxury-trade markets of London and New York.

In only five years, the fishing industry has grown from almost nothing to a vast enterprise exporting over 40,000 tons of fish products a year.

Hastings Soldier Believed Prisoner Night Patrol Ambushed By Reds

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA — (CP) —Quick-thinking Sgt. Tom R. Scoular of Petawawa, Ont., got high marks when a Chinese Communist ambush of a Canadian patrol was frustrated recently.

A compnay of the 1st Battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment, was out on patrol under Maj. El Cohen of Pembrokke, Ont., and Ottawa the night of Oct. 12-13.

Platoons under Lieuts Ross Gardiner of Carleton Place, Ont., Sam MacDonald of Glace Bay, N.S., and John Clark of Beebe, Que., were involved. Gardiner was to screen off the operation MacDonald to provide the "firm base," and Clark to assault.

MacDonald's two scouts—L.Cpl. John Fairman of Hastings, Ont., and Pte. Edward J. Kilpatrick of Montreal—were leading when suddenly the Chinese opened up on the Canadians. The shooting came from the front and both sides. (L.Cpl. Fairman is son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Fairman of Hastings.)

Scoular, wounded deeply in the shoulder, had the platoon mortars brought up and directed their fire onto the area.

KEEP REDS BUSY

Then he forced his way along a narrow communication trench, hurled his own grenades at the Chinese, and had other soldiers pass along theirs so he could throw them.

Scoular kept the Communists busy until MacDonald had formed his plan.

Though almost all his platoon had been caught in the ambush, MacDonald, using mortar, grenades and machine-gun fire, was able to get all his men out except the two snipers.

Pulling back 100 yards he let the assault platoon go in under Clark.

Clark's men swept the area calling out the missing men's names, but couldn't find them.

Kilpatrick is believed killed. Fairman is believed a prisoner. Of the 11 men wounded, seven were evacuated.

Scoular walked back to the medical men and then allowed himself to be put on a stretcher.

FLUKE BOMBING

Elsewhere the same night a fluke cluster of four mortar bombs caught an entire R.C.R. standing patrol of eight men. Under L.Cpl. Bernard Rice of Ottawa, the patrol's job was to police part of the front two or three times an hour.

Enemy mortar had just been touching it up, 30 bombs having landed during the preceding 24 hours. Had this cluster fallen seconds earlier or later the men would have been missed. As it was, three were killed outright and the remaining five wounded.

Killed were Rice and Ptes. Mervyn Latham of Severn Bridge, Ont., and Charles L. Stowe of Miniota, Man.

To Deport Koreans

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japanese police today were ordered to prepare to deport about 70,000 North Koreans who have ignored orders to register as aliens. Only 83 per cent of the North Koreans resident in Japan had registered by the Oct. 28 deadline.

Witnessed Explosion

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese fishing-boat skipper today reported that he recently saw a huge volcanic explosion on Uracas island in the Mariannas group.

SHE'S FOR THE BIRDS—Rhoda Wetz thinks that the Macaws who live near Miami, Fla., are fine birds. The Macaws, members of the parrot family, haven't said a word about Rhoda, but as long as she's around, they'll always come home to roost. Macaws are smart birds.

Senator Iva Fallis Predicts Election In May 1953

A federal election in May was forecast by Senator Iva Fallis Wednesday night.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Young Progressive Conservative Association, Senator Fallis said recent speeches of Prime Minister St. Laurent and Finance Minister Abbott have set the stage for a repeat performance of 1949.

"Lay plans and prepare for an election in May," she urged. "Everyone is talking about an election in the fall of 1953 but I wouldn't disregard the possibilities of one in May."

In a blistering attack on the federal Government, the woman Progressive Conservative Senator charged the Liberals with shelving the defence program to cut taxes and get itself re-elected.

Comparing the present situation of "high taxes" with the period just prior to the last federal election, Senator Fallis said the stage is set for a repeat performance of the tax slashing 1949 budget when "the Liberals swept the country. Since they've been in office, taxes have been going up, up and up."

AWAKE TO SITUATION

This time, Senator Fallis predicted "the people are awake to what is going on" and the Liberals "will not be so successful".

"How long?" she asked, "will the people of Canada stand for hundreds of millions being taken from their pockets, more than is needed, only to find that when an election is coming it is not needed"

Basing her criticisms on recent statements of the Prime Minister and Mr. Abbott who have been quoted as stating "substantial tax reductions may be possible" Senator Fallis said, "Of course they are possible in an election year."

After emphasizing the need for defence spending the Government now indicates the need is not so great continued Senator Fallis.

Turing to the local scene the Senator warned the young P.C.'s against being overconfident in Peterborough West, just because Gordon K. Fraser has represented the riding for 12 years.

"There is no certainty about an election," she warned. "The only certainty is that by being overconfident, you may easily lose the riding. There is always danger in an election, particularly when people are too smug and complacent to exert themselves"

Start Exploratory Talks To Rid U.N. Of Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—American sources said last night that the United States delegation has decided to initiate exploratory talks with U.N. legal experts to see what can be done about ridding the U.N. secretariat of American Reds.

These sources said the discussions were authorized yesterday at a meeting of the U.S. delegation.

Under the decision, American legal officials would meet with the lawyers of U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie's office to look into the whole question, with the idea of working out concrete procedures to rid the secretariat of U. S. citizens considered undesirable by the U.S. government.

Brand Ordered Guards On Duty Outside Cells

TORONTO (CP) — T. W. Brand, Don jail governor suspended after the Boyd gang's break last month, yesterday said he had given instructions for a guard to be placed at all times outside the cells which housed the four desperadoes.

He said that such a guard would be about two feet from the door of the cells. Had his instructions been followed, he added, Edwin Alonzo Boyd, Steve Suchan, Leonard and Joseph Jackson would not have escaped.

Brand told a Royal Commission investigating conditions at the east end jail, which the city owns but the province administers, that on the night of the escape Deputy Governor Alexander Noble had enough guards to follow the special precautions.

He said he had been told by officers of the reform institutions that "Mr. Noble was a legacy that was left to them." He did not elaborate.

HAD INSTRUCTION

Brand, 43, who rose from jail guard to governor in six years, said that two night guards patrolling the jail were supposed to relieve two special guards stationed near the Boyd gang, every half hour after completing their inspection.

In this way there would have been a man constantly outside the Boyd cell from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., the hours of the all-night shift.

He said that orders about the special guards were given orally. Asked by George Walsh, chief counsel for the crown, how he communicated the instructions to the shift on duty at the time of the escape, Brand replied he had done it "individually and personally."

Debts, Unpaid Taxes Deplete Farouk Estate

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters)—Debts and unpaid taxes former King Farouk left in Egypt when he was ousted from the throne amount to about three times the fortune in property he left behind, it was reported today.

A government custodian of Farouk's property told a reporter that the vast property holdings and personal possessions will soon be auctioned off toward settling the debts.

The Arabic newspaper Al Akhbar printed the interview with Hussein Fahmy, one of the two custodians.

To Coach Swiss

KIMBERLEY, B.C., (CP)—Frank Sullivan has left for Zurich to coach Swiss hockey teams this winter. A standout centre with Kimberley Dynamiters, he has been named several times as most valuable player in the Kootenay Hockey League.

Bigger Game

Ernest MacMillan went hunting for ISAAC'S HARBOR, N.S. (CP)—deer but returned with a black bear estimated to weigh 900 pounds. MacMillan was hunting alone when attacked by the bear which he promptly shot.

Old-Time Racer

BARNES, England (CP)—Henry William Payne, cycle track star of the early 1900s, died in this Surrey district. In his prime he held four world records, and once won every race from ¼ mile to five miles at the same meeting.

Oldest Farmer

TUNSTALL, England (CP)—John Goddard, Suffolk's oldest farmer, is retiring at age 98 after 76 years on the land. He boasts that he was one of the first farmers to use the steam plow, a great invention many years ago.

DOROTHY DIX

Man Objects To Brand Of Husband Material

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young unmarried man of 28. I am rooming away from home and recently a girl and her mother came to stay at the same place. I dated the girl several times, and now I can't leave the house without her wanting to know where I'm going. She and her mother seem to think nothing of asking me to take them places without first talking it over with me. Recently I found out the girl is ten or fifteen years older than I. I don't mind doing favors for people but I don't like the idea of being considered husband material for every middle-aged girl I meet.

L. H.

ANSWER: Yours is the predicament most unattached males find themselves in sooner or later. Every unattached female considers them fair prey and goes a-hunting. With the extra, added ambition of a mother who is intent on seeing daughter married, you really don't have much chance of escape. With a full realization of the fact that you'll have no peace in your present quarters, I suggest a move. And next time be less friendly to your fellow (or girl) lodgers.

DANGER TO CHILDREN

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I saw a 6-year-old holding a stick which her 9-year-old brother was pounding into the earth. I drew the incident to the attention of the mother who said they were used to playing with such tools. Later, neighbors told me the children have a habit of chasing other youngsters with hammers, axes or whatever implement is at hand. How can one cope with such a situation?

MRS. M.

ANSWER: If the offending children actually constitute a menace to the rest of the neighborhood, legal steps can be taken to restrain them. A neighborhood in one of our large cities was recently plagued with a young bully who took delight in physically mistreating other children. His mother, who accepted his misdeeds as childish pranks, is now facing a possible jail sentence. In her case, the neighbors got together and brought charges, which is the only way to handle such a parent after all else fails.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married to a divorced man for three years. His wife divorced him after twenty-five years and took his house and life savings. He was penniless and jobless when I married him. I am 62 and he expects me to work and help pay all the bills. I drew all my money from the bank to buy things we needed. Since I was generous in the beginning, he expects me to give an account of every nickel of my money. Is this right or not?

ANNABELLE

ANSWER: If you like it, and you apparently do, it's fine! Surely you didn't marry him without realizing that your bank account and job were the chief attraction? No love could be that blind! He has security as long as you live, and plans to make the most of it. Are you going to be foolish enough to let him get away with it? At least his first wife had some sense. She probably struggled as hard as you are doing now to get a home and few cents together and was wise enough to see that she kept it. Follow her example.

DEAR MISS DIX: After going with a woman for a year, don't you think a man should at least have the courtesy to remember her birthday with a card?

C. F.

ANSWER: I most certainly would assume so, but I gather that the man you have in mind is either very inconsiderate, unsentimental, or simply forgetful. Many people place much more importance on such things as greeting cards than others do. If your friend is a creature who thinks such thoughtfulness is foolish, you must accept the fact and try to balance this failing with his virtues.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 17 and very much in love with a boy of 22, I know this isn't just a crush because it is different from anything I ever felt. He doesn't love me, however, and has told me so, which hurt deeply. He likes to be around me, and wants to date me, but doesn't want to get serrious. Should I stop seeing him or do you think he will change his mind?

C. O.

ANSWER: If you are old enough to be in love, you're old enough to face the fact that love isn't always returned. Since girls seem to fall in love more easily than boys, it's usually the females who are left with the broken hearts. If the boy doesn't love you, he has certainly been fair enough to let you know your yearnings are hopeless and, if you continue to see him, feeling as you do, you must be prepared to take the consequences. It's possible he might change, but you must be careful not to be too obviously pursuant. Nothing frightens a man off as surely as a girl who is determined to catch him. Just be subtle, and cultivate plenty of other boys.

Medium Heels, Smart Style For Every Occasion In 1953

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Since the Queen, then Princess Elizabeth, stepped on Canadian soil in high-lacing pumps with "sensible" heels, more and more daytime shoe styles have been losing heights.

At a footwear exhibition in London's exclusive Mayfair district, where silk-clad ladies in Louis heels stepped from horse-drawn carriages in another era, shoe manufacturers showed press and buyers what smart women will be wearing in coronation year.

For long hours of standing and sight-seeing, part of royal pageantry, the wide variety of "town walkers," aimed as smart accessories for coronation suits and dresses, will be popular. Perfect balance and easy walking are achieved by smart court styles with Cuban or medium heels, built-up leather heels and high heels that are "just right."

GENERAL TREND

Even light-weight strap sandals have lower heels than were fashionable just after the Second World War. There are, of course, spindle heels in day wear, sandals and evening wear for those who must have them, but smart styles for every occasion, with heels as low as one inch, are more up-to-date.

And, of course, the latest thing in backless shoes could not be worn with a too-high heel. Even the "nude" look, fashion fad of the moment achieved by "windows" of plastic leathers, have "comfy" heels.

FIGHT FOR SALES

One thing is obvious, said a trade paper, coronation business will have to be fought for. Retailers and manufacturers feel that with money still tight, the many calls on the pocket for coronation festivities will result in footwear becoming one of the more neglected items of new wardrobes.

Despite this, however, a number of coronation styles that are "not too obvious" will be available.

In general, design and color will be varied in many different types of leathers, plastics, gabardines and other materials now popular for lighter shoes. Prices remain steady and a wide variety of fashionable shoes is available around $9.

Home and School Association News

NORWOOD

NORWOOD —(ENS) — The Norwood Home and School Association held their regular monthly meeting in the Grade 8 room of Norwood Public School on Monday evening.

The president, Mrs. J. J. Stewart, opened the meeting and as October 24 was United Nations' Day, this was followed by singing of "The United Nations Hymn", with Mrs. John Cronin at the piano.

A report on the float which the Home and School had at the Norwood Fair on which they won second prize was given by Mrs. Wilfred Brown.

Mrs. R. D. Duncanson gave a report on the information received from the St. John's Ambulance Corps regarding the first aid course.

Mrs. William Goodswain was then called on to present Mrs. Gerald La Brash with a past president's pin in appreciation of the work she has done in the past two years as president.

Kenneth Trumpour's room received the attendance banner for the month.

Mrs. W. H. Hudson, program convener, was then called on to take charge of the meeting.

Mrs. William Garden Jr., and Mr. Earl Bongard sang a duet accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. H. Caskey.

Mrs. Hudson then called on Mr. Trumpour to introduce the guest speaker of the evening, Leo Copp of the Peterborough Normal School who chose as his subject, "Interrogation Into Education" He spoke on the changes in education and the different opinion of different people in education from year to year and the growing pains in education. He congratulated the Norwood Home and School in their work. Mrs. Donald Audas moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Copp on behalf of the Home and School.

Hostesses for the evening were Mesdames Melvin Andrews, Harry Wilford, Loyde Bennett, B Bloom, Sydney Burt, Harold Bolton, Allan Baker, Rodger Bullock, George Bourne, Earl Bongard, James Booker, Wilfred Brown, E. T. Brummel, Lottie Burtt, Neil Rogers and Miss Ruth Avery

Urge Women Help Missionary Work

KITCHENER (CP) — Mrs. William Gillespie of Kitchener, president of the Women's Missionary Society of the Lutheran Evangelical Canada synod, last night asked all Lutheran women to help with missionary work.

"The modern missionary movement is faced with the most formidable challenge in its history . . .We cannot rest until every congregation in the synod has organized its women into a women of the church group with missionary emphasis," she said.

Some 200 delegates representing 38 societies of the synod opened the fifth biennial meeting yesterday.

W.A. Has Gala Party

A gala Hallowe'en party commencing with a scrumptuous pot luck dinner was enjoyed Tuesday evening by the W. A. ladies of Murray St. Baptist Church. Almost all the members were in attendance and they had all provided themselves with colorful costumes and a spirit for the impromptu program of fun. The costumes were judged and Mrs. Sarah Rome won the first prize in her old-fashioned dress and Mrs. R. Lowry as a Chinese girl the second prize. W. A. president Mrs. O. J. Hayward was the master of ceremonies and her assistants with stunts, skits, ghost stories and games were Mrs. Earl McNabb, Mrs. Clare Boorman, Mrs. Harry Weston, Mrs. Harry Doughty and Mrs. Horace Wells, with Mrs. Ivan Morgan as pianist. The dinner table as well as the Sunday school hall were decorated with pumpkins, witches, and streamers in festive array. A brief session was held to discuss plans for the turkey dinner to be held on November 21st.

Attire Reversed For Party

Trinity Mr. and Mrs. Club held a Hallowe'en party at which the gentlemen appeared in striking feminine garb and the ladies were handsome in gentlemen's suits. The evening was happily spent in the church hall playing games and contests directed by Mrs. Frank Hambly and there were prizes for the winners. Refreshments consisted of delicious Hallowe'en pumpkin pie and tea was served by Mr. and Mrs. Hambly and members of their group. Business conducted by president Reuben Macdonald included appointing a nominating committee of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Maitland Forsythe and Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald. It was moved by Lawrence McBain and Frank Hambly that Mr. and Mrs. Burt McFadden inquire into cost of securing caterers for the Christmas party. Mrs. Robert Huffman agreed to act as convener for a rummage sale in the near future. Mrs. McFadden asked members to donate suitable used clothing for the bale to be sent to Korea. A report regarding rules and regulationes to be observed in connection with the new church hall was read by Mrs. Macdonald.

Gt.-Grandmother Of Bride-To-Be Attends Shower

MAMORA (ENS) —A Kitchen shower was held Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grant by relatives in honor of Miss Sheila Spry, bride-to-be, whose wedding to Carlie Petherick of Campbellford takes place at her home in Marmora Saturday afternoon.

Community singing was led by Jack Grant with Mrs. Amelia Campbell at the piano and a series of contests was held. In attendance at the event was Mrs. Wesley Grant, great-grandmother of the bride-to-be. This constituted the second shower for Miss Spry, the other being a miscellaneous shower held last weekend at the home of Mrs. Jimmy Mumby, Bonarlaw.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY S. KAVANAGH of Norwood were married Saturday at the home of the bride's parents in Havelock. She is Beulah Mabel, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chase.—(Photo by R. Smith, Campbellford)

Liberal Women Demanding More Political Opportunity

OTTAWA (CP)—A demand for more opportunities in politics and public service was made yesterday at the biennial meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women.

More than 200 delegates at the convention passed resolutions calling for a larger political role for women, following discussions on problems of organization needed to win elections.

One resolution said that when women are prepared to run as Liberal candidates in federal or provincial elections, they receive "official party support." It did not elaborate.

Other resolutions asked that more women be appointed to government boards and commissions, and that some women be named when 16 vacancies in the 102-seat Senate are filled.

Two women, Mrs. Iva Fallis and Mrs. Cairine Wilson, are among the 83 present Senate members.

STRONG ORGANIZATION

Provincial Liberal women leaders described the need for strong organization for the impending general election as "vital" and "urgent."

Among those reporting for provincial groups the Prince Edward Island president, Mrs. George S. Inman of Montague, said Canadian women now "mean business" in politics. They had been lackadaisical in the past but from now on would be "right in there."

British Columbia president Mrs. G. W. Kissick said that B.C.'s June provincial election, which put a Social Credit government in power, may not have reflected the wishes of the people.

CHEVRIER CONFIDENT

"We feel that the people protested louder than they thought—that many of those registering disapproval were shocked by the accumulated results," said Mrs. Kissick, referring to the Liberal government's defeat. ". . . We must see that we regain our rightful place as the true party of the people."

Transport Minister Chevrier told delegates at a luncheon he was confident of the outcome of the next general election.

"Considering the accomplishments and records of the party for the preceding 14 years," he said, "we can face the future undaunted. . ."

DIOCESAN COUNCIL

A meeting of the Peterborough Diocesan Council of the Parent-Teacher Association was held Tuesday evening for the purpose of stimulating interest in study groups among the P.-T. A. units of the city. President Mrs. W. H. Toal presided for the meeting in the St. Peter's School auditorium. The Rev. F. Marrocco, who is associated with the Canadian Catholic Conference, was the special speaker.

Bishop Berry spoke on the part parents play in the education of their children's conscience, emphasizing the privacy of even a child's conscience. He warned against imposing one's too strict or too loose standards on the child. "The main part a parent plays lies in the correction given to the offending child, in the informing of the mind on the Christian standard and in providing the atmosphere from which a child draws the inspiration needed to follow the well-informed mind and heart. Information alone could not accomplish this," he said.

The psychology of conscience makes it clear that the following of such a plan tends to bestow upon the child a set of principles [illegible] becomes formed. Emerson has stated that "men of character are the conscience of the society in which they live." In carrying out their manifest duty parents contribute greatly to the welfare of state and church.

In his address on adult education, Father Marrocco pointed out reasons why the P.-T. A. should be educating its own members, and he suggested several topics suitable for group discussion as a means of self-education.

"Too often these associations concentrate their efforts on money-making projects in order to procure better equipment for the school. Our main purpose is not creating buildings, but creating people," he stated. "In this work of education it is important that parents and teachers develop their own powers, for no person can give what he does not possess."

"Adult education gives a chance to test our minds and imaginations, to have a clash of opinion with others and to back up our own opinions. This causes leaders to emerge, and we need leaders." He continued: "The very purpose of P.-T. A. in bringing together the parents and the teachers is fulfilled by an adult education program, and they better equip themselves as well as help the children."

Topics for study suggested included home-making, child psychology, banking and financing and housing.

Mr Anthony DeNoble rendered two vocal selections, with accompaniment by Miss Margaret McCabe.

Cairo Zuannas Hold Tea At Mrs. A. Pink's

A very nice fall tea was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Pink, 124 Dublin St., by the Cairo Zuanna No. 110, Ladies of the Orient. It was a successful event financially and was convened by Mrs. Fred James. Receiving the guests were Mrs. J. Price and Mrs. J. Smith.

The tea table was lovely with a lace cloth, silver services and bronze candles in silver holders flanking a floral centrepiece of bronze and white 'mums in a silver container.

Ladies pouring tea were Mrs. C. Garside, Mrs. R. Gurney, Mrs. E. McKinstry, and Mrs. K. Throop. The servers were Mrs. L. Hildebrand, Mrs. H. Youngs, and Mrs. O. Simonsen, and Mrs. F. Batten looked after replenishing plates.

Mrs. W. Bull was in charge of a candy and novelty table and Mrs. L. Baker and Miss I. Brealey attended a table of home baking at which they did a flourishing business. Tickets were sold on a satin cushion which will be drawn for November 12.

The treasurers were Mrs. E. Fowler and Mrs. E. Millar.

Lutheran Synod

KITCHENER (CP)—Mrs. A. W. Lotz, wife of the pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Kitchener, yesterday was elected president of the Women's Missionary Society Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Canada at its fifth biennial convention.

She succeeds Mrs. William Gillespie of Kitchener. Mrs. Lloyd Schaus of Waterloo was elected first vice-president.

Emma Schorten of Waterloo, special synodical secretary, said the emphasis of the Lutheran program, used exclusively in Canada, was on mision congregations in remote regions of the synod and youth work. Reports also came from Mrs. Edward Heimpel of Kitchener, student secretary, and deaconess secretary Mrs. George Innes of Sault Ste. Marie.

Discussion topics at the meeting included: missionary centres, Mrs. Walter Klinck, Kitchener; figures talk, Mrs. Musselman, Kitchener; wisdom's treasurer, Mrs. Karl Knauff, Stratford; Canadians only, Miss Schorten; the second mile, Mrs. Lotz; special aids, Julia Schaefer, Stratford.

Robert McCullen Of Springville Weds Toronto Girl

Principals of a wedding in Howard Park United Church, Toronto, on Saturday will make their home in Springville. Mr. Robert Morgan Cullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan C. Cullen of Springville, took as his bride Barbara Jane, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Murray Marshall of Toronto. The Rev. Earl Lautenslager officiated in the ceremony.

Candles and standards of white 'mums formed a lovely setting at the altar. Wedding music was played by Mr. John McKnight and during the signing of the register Miss Jean Wilson sang "O Perfect Love."

A period gown of old ivory faille taffeta and an over jacket of Chantilly lace was worn by the bride. Her veil of tulle illusion was caught with seed pearls and she carried a muff of pink pinnoccio roses and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor Miss Joyce Clark and flower girl Miss Marilyn Hymus were in period gowns of leaf green irridescent taffeta. Miss Clark wore an eye veil caught with pink pom poms and Miss Hymus a halo of pink pom poms and they carried muffs of the same flowers.

Mr. Donald McIndoo of Ida attended the groom and ushers were Harley Cathcart of Springville and Harry Cunningham of Toronto.

The reception was held at Prince Arthur House. The bride's mother was gowned in copper-toned satin and a matching feather hat and her corsage was of Johanna Hill roses. She was assisted in receiving by the groom's mother who wore forest green crepe and a matching hat and corsage of white carnations.

When leaving on a motor trip to the United States the bride wore a grey checked suit and top-coat with orange-berry velour hat and matching accessories and her corsage was of bronze 'mums.

BANCROFT

BANCROFT (ENS) —Monthly meeting of the Bancroft Home and School Association was held at the public school on Friday night. Plans for the children's annual Hallowe'en party were foremost on the agenda.

It was decided that the youngsters, in their costumes, would assemble at the school, parade down Flint St., then along Hastings St., to the community hall where the party would be held. The parade, sponsored by the Association, will have a police escort. It has proven a great deterrent to pranks and vandalsim by the young fry as well as a great source of enjoyment for them.

Mrs. Art Hewitt was quizmaster in a quiz which brought to light such interesting local historical highlights as the town's original name, "York". The name was changed to its present one by the Rt. Hon Bella Flint, the founder of the settlement, to perpetuate his wife's family name.

Further discussion of the proposal to support a school nurse resulted in a decision to request the services of Mrs. J. S. Hattin in that capacity.

A reading on the subject, "Bringing Up Children" by Mrs. Milne was enjoyed by all.

Miss Liddel's classroom was awarded a $1.00 prize as the class with the most parents in attendance.

Of Interest to Women

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Lunch For 200 Bridge Fans

You talked me into it. Yes you did. For once I was going to keep quiet about the bridge party our local Press Club held, but so many of you want quantities for fancy sandwiches for big do's you are throwing and fancy cookies, too, that I have decided I couldn't do better than to tell you what we did for that bridge party.

We limit the tables to fifty, which means we have to prepare food for two hundred people.

Last year, you will remember, I was convenor of this bridge party, and made all of the sandwiches for it in my kitchen. This year I'm president and did not need to do this work, for we have a very capable and willing convener, but we decided to make the sandwiches together at my house anyway—for fun.

It took quite a bit of figuring to arrive at the following amounts so if there are ambitious hostesses reading this who intend to hold receptions or weddings for their daughters—or who have been tagged as convenors in the clubs they belong to—I would be glad if you would clip this. Once a year is enough.

AMOUNT OF BREAD FOR SANDWICHES FOR TWO HUNDRED

I ordered 12 loaves of bread sliced lengthwise of the loaves, Two were colored pink, 2 green, 2 yellow, 2 were whole wheat and 4 were white loaves. There is considerable waste in crusts so be sure to plan some way to dispose of these crust without wasting them. Surely some of your friends have chickens, or will need to stuff a turkey!

FIVE DIFFERENT SANDWICH FILLINGS

1) Chicken: I cooked 2 boiling fowl weighing 7½ lbs. altogether in the pressure cooker (with 4 cups water) at 10 lbs. pressure for 1 hour. Then I let them cool on a tray until I could slip the meat from the bones. I put it through the coarse knife of the food grinder and added ¼ lb. soft butter, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, about ½ teaspoon pepper and 1½ teaspoons salt. This we made up into rolls for pinwheel sandwiches by spreading on full-length slices of bread in all of the different colors. They should be wrapped in wax paper then in damp towel and chilled all day to cut into good pinwheels. We also made 3-decker ribbon sandwiches with it — using the egg mixture (below) in combination with it in the second layer.

2) Egg: I hard-cooked 1 dozen eggs by simmering them ½ hour. Chilled, peeled, then put them through grinder with ½ small onion. Added butter, mayonnaise, salt and pepper as above. To ½ small onion, I added ½ cup green relish well-drained. To second ½ I added ½ cup chopped pimiento olives. This we made into all varieties of sandwiches with all of the different colors of bread.

3) Lobster: 3 7-oz. tins lobster were drained and boned and stretched with ½ cup finely chopped celery and butter, mayonnaise, salt and pepper as above and we added ½ tablespoon paprika.

4) To 1 lb. nippy cream cheese we added ⅛ lb. butter and ½ cup mayonnaise. Divided it in halves and to ½ added ¼ lb. chopped pecans. To second ½ we added ½ [illegible] pimiento olives.

5) To 1 lb. soft dates put through chopper we added ½ lb. [illegible] ½ lemon, 2 [illegible] teaspoons honey, ½ teaspoon salt.

Some of the sandwiches we made into just two slices and cut into triangles. We made 50 open face sandwiches cut with fancy cutters to top each plate.

In all with the 5 different colors of bread, 5 different fillings, and different shapes we had 30 varieties of sandwiches, which made a very pretty picture on each plate. Each plate contained from 12 to 14 sandwiches. We put 2 pretty paper doilies on each plate and made a wall by joining them at the centre. Sandwiches were on one side—fancy cookies on the other.

I haven't space for the fancy cookies here today so will have to give them to you next week.

I hope you feel stronger than I did the day after.

6—In Memoriam

GENGE—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Lorne, who passed away October 30, 1946.
God gave us a son for awhile,
But seeing the future and what was in store,
Stretched out His hand and whispered so still,
Come home, Lorne for it is My will.
Our thoughts of him are thoughts of love,
That will live to the longest day,
They won't wear out, can't be lost
And won't be given away.
—Always remembered by Mom, Dad, sisters and brothers.

McILVENA—In loving memory of my dear daughter, Ferena E., who passed away Oct. 30, 1940.
Twelve years have passed
But loving memories
Never from my heart will fade
Of the dearest, kindest daughter
Ever God to parents gave.
—Sadly missed by Mothers.

McILVENA—Treasured memories of a loving mother and wife, Ferena McIlvena, who passed away Oct. 30, 1940.
The saddest chord on memory's harp
Is softly touched today—
She has not gone from those she loved
Nor has she travelled far,
Just entered God's most lovely room
And left the door ajar.
—Sadly missed by husband, Oliver and daughter Lenore.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation and heartfelt thanks to attending physicians, nurses of Civic Hospital, Rev. C. G. Boyd, Comstock's Funeral Home, neighbors, relatives and friends, and all who helped in any way, for the messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings sent during my sister's illness and her recent passing.—Miss Annie Little.

I wish to thank the Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, attending doctors; also the Rev. H. D. McCormack and all friends who sent flowers, cards and fruit to my husband while in hospital. Also all friends and neighbors for kindness shown at the time of his death.—Mrs. W. H. Payne.

We wish to thank the doctors and nurses of Civic Hospital, all kind neighbors and friends, who sent cards and floral tributes in the loss of a dear wife and mother—William and Everett Morris.

Cheese, Produce And Livestock

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO (CP)—Wholesale fruit and vegetable price changes quoted here today were: onions, green 50; tomatoes, 11 qt. 75-1.00; six qt. 35-50; cucumbers 50-60; lettuce, dozen 50-60; cauliflower $1.25-2.00; radishes 66-65; celery $1.50-2.50; mushrooms $2.50-2.75.

Potato prices were unchanged.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Cattle 400; bulk of medium to good cows $15-15.50; canners and cutters $11-14.50; fat yellow cows $11-14; good dairy type slaughter heifers $17-18; sausage bulls $17-21.

Calves 100; choice calves $36-37; good calves $28-35; mediums $20-27; bobs $12-18.

Hogs 850; good to choice N.Y. State hogs $16-17.50; sows $14-15.50; boars $10-12.

Sheep and lambs 100; market not established.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices moved narrowly in early trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Commercial demand was limited, consisting mainly of domestic shipping orders in oats and barley. There was the odd order in the deferred months for U.S. interests. There were a few modest export orders in flax. Demand was not aggressive.

11 a.m. prices:

Oats: Oct. ⅛ lower 87⅞A; Dec. ⅜ lower 83⅛; May ¼ lower 82¾B; July ⅛ lower 79½A.

Barley: Oct. ⅝ lower 1.53¼B; Dec. 1¼-1⅜ lower 1.32¼A; May ¾-1 lower 1.23½; July ⅝ lower 1.17⅞.

Rye: Oct. ⅜ higher 1.79¾; Dec. ⅜ higher 1.81⅛B; May ¼ higher 1.87¼; July, not open.

Flax: Oct. 2½ higher 3.55; Dec. 3¾ higher 3.52¾; May 3½ higher 3.50¼B; July, not open.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO (CP)—Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was weaker today on grade A large and medium as prices on these grades declined. Other grades were firm.

Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases: A large 67; A medium 55; A small 46; B 47; C 30. Wholesale to retail: A large 72-73; A medium 60; A small 52-53; B 53; C 33-34.

Butter solids: first grade 61½; no price established on second grade or western; third grade 53.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

MONTREAL (CP) — A lower trend ruled slow dealings this week on the Montreal livestock markets.

Receipts for the week were 8,000 hogs, 4,700 sheep and lambs, 1,900 calves and 2,600 cattle.

Lambs moved slowly at about $2 lower. Graded, they brought $21 for good quality, $18 for heavies (100 pounds and over), common and medium $12-16. On a flat basis lambs were $20-20.50. Sheep made $4-10.

Hogs remained steady at $26 for grade A, sows $17.

Vealers were slow sellers at $2 lower, with good quality at $25-26, common and medium $15-25. There was practically no demand for grassers, which brought $8-10.

Heavy cattle offerings including a large number of steers mostly medium, met with a poor demand. All classes lost about $2 in dull trading. Medium light steers made $16-18.50, common $10-15, choice heavies $23, good mostly $22-22.25, medium heifers were $13-15, common $8-12. Good cows sold at $11-12, medium $10-11, common $9-10, canners and cutters $4-8.50. Good bulls were $12-15, common and medium $8-12.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle trade was dull today at the Ontario stockyards and prices generally were steady. Receipts: Cattle 370; calves 130; hogs 270; sheep and lambs 120. The holdover from yesterday was 600 cattle.

Common to medium light steers and heifers sold at $10-17 with good steers at $23.50 and canners and cutters at $8-11. Fed yearlings were at $16-22 with plain stockers at $13-16.

A few choice veal calves sold at $29 with common to medium at $12-24.

Grade A hogs were steady at $26 with dressed sows at $17.

Good ewes and wethers sold at $21-22 with bucks at $19-20. A few sheep brought $4-8.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) —Grains opened with a steady undertone today. Dealings were slow.

Continued dry weather in the southwest and expectations of export business brought a little buying into wheat. The December corn contract moved against the market trend in reflection of a pick-up in cash corn receipts.

Wheat started unchanged to ⅝ higher, December 2.38⅝; corn ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, December 1.67¼; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 86⅛, and soybeans unchanged to 1 cent higher, November 2.93.

Police May Drag River For 2 Men

TORONTO (CP)—Police are considering dragging the mouth of the Credit River at nearby Port Credit for two brothers last seen on a tug there Sunday night.

It is feared the men—Ernest Merkeley, 52, and James, 43—slipped into the water from a narrow plank leading from their tug to a nearby barge.

Ease Libel-Slander Laws For Papers In Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—A new act revising Britain's 60-year-old libel and slander laws to protect authors and publishers won a race against the clock in Parliament yesterday.

The act, introduced last January by Labor Member Harold Lever, was passed by the House of Lords just in time to receive the Queen's assent today—last day of the present Parliamentary session.

Any delay yesterday would have meant indefinite postponement of the bill, passed by the House of Commons last June.

Hardest hit under the new act will be persons who find an easy way to make money by seeing themselves as the fictitious villain in a novel and suing the author and publisher for libel.

Under existing laws, anyone who could get witnesses to support this claim had a case. Some even made a precarious living out of this kind of action.

Newspapers now will be able to avoid costly court actions by publishing an apology for alleged defamation. If the apology is not accepted by the injured party, the newspaper will be able to plead it made the offer immediately after the complaint.

Previously, an offer to publish an apology was not defence and a newspaper had to prove that publication was not defamatory, was justified or was privileged.

Hopeful Workers To Sign Contract

SARNIA (CP)—W. W. Tiller, vice-president of the Sarnia Building Trades Council, said last night he is hopeful that contractors will agree to sign contracts today ending the walkout of workers on defence housing projects here.

The building Trades Council, comprised of six A.F.L. unions, threw some 600 pickets around six defence housing projects earlier yesterday, keeping about 700 men from work.

The projects are contracted by firms outside Sarnia and employ non-union men from Chatham, Wallaceburg, Blenheim and other western Ontario centres.

The pickets were men engaged on construction in Sarnia's chemical valley. There are 2,800 union members on the jobs and they volunteered to stay away from work or go on the picket lines to protect Sarnia jobs.

Nine Crossing Ocean In Launch

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (Reuters)—Eight men and a girl left here last night in a launch to sail the Atlantic and start a new life in Canada and the United States.

The crew was selected from replies to an advertisement by skipper Cecil Heath.

Mrs. Venice Rae, 27, only woman aboard the launch Frecil, has taken on a jack-of-all-trades role to look after the men.

Apart from cooking for them in a pint-sized galley she will mend their clothes, do their washing and take her turn at the wheel

Before the party left on the 4,000-mile trip, Mrs. Rae said: "Of course, the menu will depend on the gales in the Atlantic for we are in for a rough time."

John Richards, 26-year-old Oxford university graduate, has a three-year job awaiting him at Port Radium, uranium centre at Athabaska, Alta.

Thinks 2 Governments Should Share Work

TORONTO (CP)—Provincial and federal governments should assume equally with local authorities responsibility for flood control measures, Professor G. Ross Lord of the University of Toronto said last night.

He told a university extension meeting that it is unfair to assume that floods on any river have been caused by the mismanagement of people who have lived and are living on the watershed. Often, as in the case of the South Nation River in Ontario and the Red River at Winnipeg, floods are due to the nature of the watershed.

Professor Lord advised that flood control should be fitted into a properly integrated plan for an entire watershed.

Toronto University To Have Radio System

TORONTO (CP)—The University of Toronto may have its own private radio station. The Students' Administrative Council yesterday voted to set up a wired radio system that would cover most buildings on the campus.

Wired radio differs from ordinary radio in that a low-powered transmitter is connected directly to the wiring of University buildings. The broadcast signal is carried by ordinary electrical wiring to listeners.

Student broadcasting has been carried out at Queen's University, Kingston, for several years and recently students at the University of Western Ontario, London, resumed a system of their own.

Glover To Uplands

OTTAWA (CP)—Flt. Lt. E. A. Glover of Toronto, Canada's top jet ace, has been posted to 434 fighter squadron at Uplands, near Ottawa, the air force announced yesterday. Glover returned to Canada last week from a tour of operations with the United States air force in Korea. He shot down three Communist MiG jets and damaged three others.

Plant To Renfrew

BRANTFORD (CP)—The Brantford division of Cockshutt Aircraft Limited is being transferred to Renfrew, it was announced yesterday. The move unites the two parts of the company which took over the Renfrew plant at the request of the Canad[illegible] one of 400 companies under contract to A. V. Roe Company at Malton, near Toronto, to make parts for Orenda jet engines.

Soo Woman President

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Mrs. O. H. Hugill of Sault Ste. Marie, yesterday was elected president of the affiliated clay court clubs of Canada at the organization's annual meeting. Financial Fever Bounces Blond Out Of Beauty Race

HOUSTON, Tex (NEA) — Even the candidates for beauty queen are feeling the 1952 campaign heat that's been fanned up over special political funds.

On the campus of the University of Houston, for instance, they take such matters so seriously that a pretty politico named Marian Stafford was bounced right out of the running for Homecoming Queen.

MARIAN STAFFORD: An "average Joe" without connections?

It wasn't her platform, which is five feet, two inches of shapeliness, topped by long platinum-blond curls.

Marian was ruled off the ticket because she spent more than the maximum $15 that the Student Selection Council ruled an "average Joe without connections" could spend on a campaign.

Nobody would call Marian an "average Joe without connections." A seasoned office-holder on the campus, where she's a senior art major, Marian has served as OOTC Band Sweetheart, yearbook beauty, junior class secretary and vice-president of the sophomore class.

When she ran for Homecoming Queen, she felt about it the way presidential candidates feel about the White House. It was the one contest she'd "rather win more than any other in the world."

She was doing fine, too, until a couple of days before election. Then the roof fell in. The Election Council toted up accounts and said Marian was out.

"It was like a court," she said. "I didn't know I had spent an even $15, but they figured differently."

It seems Marian used her old banner left over from another campaigns, plus pictures and other things she'd used before, as part of the hoop-la in an elaborate handbill - blotter - banner - picture campaign for the Homecoming title.

She figured she didn't have to count the stuff she didn't pay for. The Election Council figured differently.

"I haven't done anything wrong. I just didn't understand the rules," said Marian.

Which proves she knows how to make a political statement, even if she didn't get to be Queen.

Bank Robber Jailed 30 Years

WINNIPEG (CP) — Alexander Zakopiac, 32, yesterday was sentenced to 30 years in prison after being convicted by an assize court jury on each of three charges arising from a bank holdup and subsequent gun battle last July. The charges were armed robbery and two of attempted murder.

Zakopiac and an accomplice held up the Imperial Bank in suburban East Kildonan and stole $6,920. Two days later, two R.C.M.P. constables encountered Zakopiac and Albert Proulx, 35, in the bush near Vivian, Man., 30 miles east of here. When they attempted to arrest them, shooting started.

Const. John Friend of Calgary was wounded in the neck. Proulx was slain, and Zakopiac shot in the foot. Zakopiac was convicted of attempting to murder Friend and Const. J. R. A. Clarkson.

U.S. Senator Anxious Gut Dam Destroyed

MONTREAL (CP)—Senator O.A. Stanley, chairman of the American section of the International Joint Commission which yesterday gave Canada and the United States the go-ahead with plans to develop electric energy in the international section of the St. Lawrence River, said the major part of Gut Dam should be removed within 90 days.

Gut Dam, in the St. Lawrence near Cardinal, Ont., was built by Canada in 1901 to protect water levels in the canal system.

In an interview, Senator Stanley said he felt destruction of the dam will be a "blessing" to property owners on the shores of Lake Ontario where high water levels in recent years have caused destruction blamed on the dam.

Chaplin Decorated

PARIS (Reuters)—The French government yesterday welcomed movie star Charlie Chaplin to France by making him an officer of the Legion of Honor. Blowing kisses in answer to welcoming cries of "Vive Charlot," the movie star arrived from London by air with his wife, Oona.

Favors Slow Travel

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Pope had a nostalgic word yesterday for the horse-and-buggy days of travel. At a special audience to members of tourist clubs, the Pope said modern tourist travel had lost some of its "precious advantages." He added one learned to know a country and its people during a slow and meditative journey.

Maple Tree Planted

DUESSELDORF, Germany (Reuters)—A Canadian maple tree was planted at the entrance of Dusseldorf airport yesterday to commemorate the first direct Canadian civil air service to Germany. Canadian ambassador T. C. Davis received the tree from Gordon Mc[illegible] here with the tree Tuesday.

Killed In Collision

HAMILTON (CP)—Mrs. Lillian Gatehouse, 65, of Preston was killed yesterday and two others injured in a car-truck crash at nearby Clappison's Corners. Injured were Mrs. Laurena Krueger, 49, (266 Market Avenue) Kitchener and Freda Weland, 46, (526 Argyll Street) Preston. Mrs. Krueger was taken to hospital with possible internal injuries, fractured ribs and a broken right leg. Miss Weland suffered shock and was later released.

Five Injured

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Five persons were injured yesterday when a bus and dump truck collided at an intersection. Three bus passengers—Mrs. Lawson of Hornell, N.Y., Mrs. Henry Robinson of Grimsby Beach and William Best of Hamilton—were taken to hospital with cuts and undetermined injuries. W. Whitelaw of Hamilton, driver of the bus, and G. Kuhn of St. Catharines, a passenger in the truck, suffered minor cuts.

Reindeer Return To Scotland

EDINBURGH (Reuters) — Reindeer have returned to the barren highlands of northern Scotland for the first time in 750 years under a government-sponsored experiment aimed at easing Britain's food shortage.

Taking a lesson from the Lapps of Scandinavia and Finland, experts on the reindeer council of Britain look forward to the day when thousands of herds in Scotland provide Britain with milk, food, hides and other products.

The government-backed council released eight Swedish reindeer—cousins of the North American caribou—in Sutherland, remote northwest county of Scotland, last April. Three died, but the other five are reported to be well acclimatized.

Ten other reindeer arrived last weekend and are in quarantine waiting to go to the council's special reserve in Sutherland, a sparsely-populated land of hilly moors and bogs.

Urges Trade Credits Extended To Britain

ORILLIA (CP)—George Hees (PC—Toronto Broadview) last night urged that Canada extend trade credits to Britain to prevent movement of essential British industrial machinery to Russia.

Because she lacks dollars, Britain has made a deal with Russia to swap coarse grains for generators, machine tools and other British products, Mr. Hees said in a speech to the East Simcoe Progressive Conservative Association.

"These generators and machine tools are vital to Russia's war production," he said.

Critics Slap Canadian Novel

NEW YORK (CP)—Ernest Buckler's novel about Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley, "The Mountain and the Valley," is described by the New York Times' book reviewer as "a morose and gloomy tale."

The novel, published by Holt, is the first by Buckler, a Nova Scotian farmer.

Orville Prescott describes it in The Times as "one of those earthy tales that seek to bring their readers into intimate contact with all the gory details of pig-killing time and all the dreary strain of clearing fields of rocks and boulders."

Nevertheless, writes Prescott, "its locale is a fresh one and its manner of writing is individual and unusual." The author is described as having an ear for dialogue and his characters, though "neither likeable nor interesting," are "completely believable."

Northern 'Hoppers

Strike Ends At Deloro Plant 10-Cent Wage Boost Given

Ontario, Ottawa Share Costs Lindsay Housing

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal and Ontario governments have agreed to share the costs of housing projects in three Ontario municipalities at an estimated cost of $1,420,000, the resources department announced today. The federal government will pay 75 per cent and Ontario 25 per cent of the costs of projects in the Ontario municipalities of Lindsay, Stamford township and Owen Sound. Largest of the proposed projects is in Stamford township near Niagara Falls. The agreement provides for supplying water, sewer and other services on 135 building lots.

Seventy lots will be used to build single-family rental houses — 35 with three bedrooms and the remainder with two bedrooms. The balance of the lots will be sold to builders and prospective home owners at about $1,200 each.

The cost of the project is estimated at $770,000 with housing units to rent at about $60 monthly.

SIMILAR PROJECT

The Owen Sound project will be similar to that in Stamford township with an estimated overall cost of about $465,000. Forty serviced building lots out of 92 will be used for 30 three-bedroom homes and 10 two-bedroom units. The balance of lots will be sold at about $1,300 a lot. Monthly rentals for the homes will average $64.

Twenty rental houses will be built in the Lindsay project at an estimated cost of $185,000. Average rentals for the houses, which include 16 three-bedroom and four two-bedroom units, will be about $60 monthly.

Agreements for each of the projects have been signed by the federal and Ontario governments, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and the province and municipalities. The municipalities will provide the water, sewer and other services.

Central Mortgage will handle administration during construction and sell lots developed for sale to builders and home owners. The completed projects will be administered by local housing authorities.

Increase Loans Allowed House Builders

OTTAWA (CP) — In an effort to step up building of rental housing, the resources department today announced increases in the maximum loans which lending institutions and the government's housing agency may make jointly to builders.

The announcement said the government has approved increases in the maximum joint loans which may be made under section 8 of the national housing act by the lending houses and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The maximum loans for semi-detached dwelling or rows of semi-detached dwellings are increased to $8,500 from $6,700 for each unit. This brings the maximum into line with the $8,500 maximum on one-family dwellings in rental projects.

The maximum loan is scaled down according to the number of standard-size rooms and floor area in each unit.

The maximum is raised to $7,200 from $6,700 for each fireproof unit in a multiple-family dwelling project. Where the project includes elevators the loan may be increased by as much as 80 per cent of the estimated cost of the elevators.

This latter provisions previously was allowed only for garages and other commercial buildings or where the municipal services to the project were fully paid for at the completion of the project.

The loans generally are repayable in 20 years but under certain conditions this period may be extended another 10 years. The interest rate is 5 per cent yearly, calculated semi-annually.

Name Matthews Board Adviser

OTTAWA (CP)—Overton A Matthews, 60, of Kingston, Ont., a financial adviser in the defence production department, has been appointed a member of the board of transport commissioners, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today.

His appointment becomes effective Jan. 1. He succeeds Hon. W. J. Patterson and will be a specialist in accounting for the board.

The appointment marked a change in previous practice in making board appointments on a regional basis. For many years, the six-man board has given representation to Ontario, Quebec, the Prairies, Maritimes, British Columbia and railway labor. Mr. Patterson, who left the $13,000 a year job open when he became lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan last year, had represented the Prairies on the board.

178 POW's Injured In Demonstrations

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—One Hundred seventy - eight Communist prisoners of war were injured Tuesday in mass demonstrations at four compounds on Koje Island. One was killed by rifle fire on Cheju Island, Allied officials announced yesterday.

The United Nations P.O.W. command said 28 of the injured required hospital care.

The command said the prisoner [illegible] armed work supervisor.

Wednesday—a day after the disorders—a prisoner was found dead, hanging in a Koje compound.

Four Koreans were killed today and three were wounded at Kwangju, about 80 miles west of Pusan. They attempted a mass prison escape.

5 Prospectors Killed In Shaft Explosion

HERRON, Mich. (AP) — Five men prospecting for uranium were killed last night when an underground explosion ripped through the 180-foot-deep shaft of an abandoned gold mine near here.

State police identified the victims as: John Wilczynski, Chicago; Pat Chavalier, 32, of Herron; and three brothers, Zeke, 47, Henry, 37, and Bernard Donke, 44, all of Herron.

John Pastuszka of Chicago escaped injury in the blast.

Police said the bodies of Chavalier and Zeke Donke were still entombed at the bottom of the water-filled shaft. Searchers recovered the bodies of the other victims.

Neck-And-Neck Race Bookmaker Decides

LONDON (AP)—A big London bookmaker today rated the United States presidential election as a neck-and-neck race.

Bookmaker Douglas Stuart set his odds at 4 to 5 and pick your candidate—that is you put up $5 to win $4.

Bets were still coming pretty fast, his spokesman said, "with not the slightest sign of a leaning toward either candidate."

Patriotic Bustle Firmly Rejected

LONDON (Reuters) — The seat of a lady's underpants is no place for the Union Jack, coronation or no coronation.

The patriotic bustle, offered recently by an English custome manufacturer, drew this comment today from Tailor and Cutter, clothing trade journal.

"It seems that our flag today gets scanty respect," the magazine says. "Is this merely another instance of Britain being sat upon?"

Looking for a bright side, the magazine says there may be precedents.

"As far as we know the accession of the Bolshevik in Soviet Russia brought no denunciation of the wearers of red flannels."

Six-Legged Calf Now Month Old

BRANTFORD (CP) — A six-legged calf born on George Peter's farm is a month old. Only three of its legs are usable. The left [illegible] double hip [illegible] is placed in a backward position making it useless even as a support. The sixth leg is about 14 inches in length and hangs from the left side.

Work Week Reduced To 42 Hours

Set Up Committee To Study Working Conditions

Production workers at the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co., four miles northeast of Marmora, were being called back to work today following the announcement that the four-week-old strike is settled.

Agreement was reached Thursday after Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliation officer, conducted negotiations between the company and Local 889, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Indep.), for three days.

Production will now resume at the largest cobalt smelting and refining plant in North America, and the first of some 400 striking workers started work again early today.

CONTRACT DETAILS

Main points in the new contract settlement are:

A general wage increase of 10 cents an hour.

Reduction of the work week from 44 to 42 hours with maintenance of take-home pay. And an additional five cents an hour will be paid during the life of the contract which expires June 1, 1954.

Seven paid statutory holidays instead of the previous six.

Three weeks' vacation after 20 years.

Reinstatement of a sickness and accident insurance plan.

One of the main issues in the strike was the union charge that working conditions at Deloro were unhealthy. And a move has been made to solve this problem.

A joint union - management committee is to be set up to study improvements in working conditions in the plant. And the committee will carry out a complete job evaluation.

BACK TO WORK

A press release at noon today by both parties said: "Resumption of operations have begun immediately, and it is expected that all employees will be back at work within a few days."

After the long shutdown, there will have to be some preliminaries before full production resumes. About 40 workers —maintenance men and a few laborers—went back this morning.

Deloro manufactures the valuable stellite alloy, needed in defence production for gun barrels,

Taxi Driver Saves 4 In Fire

TORONTO (CP)—An alert taxi driver who smashed his way into an apartment in a burning building was credited today with saving four lives.

Jack Hill, driver for York taxi, spotted the fire in a north Toronto groceteria building from his taxi office next door.

He awakened Jack Becker, 21, Becker's wife Lorraine, the couple's three-year-old daughter in [illegible] Irwin to safety. Finally he ran to a nearby fire station to give the alarm.

Becker came from Chicago three weeks ago to open the groceteria.

Pearson May Have Key Role In Behind-Scene Talks

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—L. B. Pearson may have the opportunity to play the key role in behind-the-scenes soundings for chances of a Korean armistice.

Canada's external affairs minister is carrying out the job of president of the United Nations General Assembly with an objectivity seldom achieved by previous presidents.

While some of his procedural rulings as president have come under Russian fire, American delegates have also taken him to task on some of his opinions about handling of U.N. business. At the outset of his presidency, Pearson emphasized that his conduct of the post would be without "prejudice or partiality."

His objectivity could pay off in any private negotiations here to seek a way out of the Korean deadlock.

It is not a question of Pearson dealing directly with the Russians but possibly of acting as an intermediary through "third party" ccuntries such as India.

If it is only a question of finding a face-saving device to get around the Communist demand that prisoners be forced to return home, the attempts by countries such as India are considered the best method of discovering the Soviet and Chinese Communist attitude.

Delegates recall that Pearson was a member of the three-man cease-fire committee set up by the Assembly in 1950 which was finally rebuffed by the Communists.

IT'S A STIFF DECISION for buyer Bobby Hamilton, 4, when faced with a counter full of Hallowe'en masks and there is little salesman Bernard (Bun) Hatton can do about it, except wait. Tonight is the time for fun and frolic for thousands of city and district children and many grown-ups. Parties, pranks, handouts and costumed little folk everywhere will take over from dusk to the wee small hours. Mild weather will make the festival more energetic than ever.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Swedish Vessel Sinks In St. Lawrence

QUEBEC (CP)—The little Swedish cargo vessel Ryholm was sunk today in an early-morning collision with the Swiss freighter Basilea in the St. Lawrence River but all hands were reported safe.

The collision occurred in heavy fog at 1:40 a.m., 23 miles east of Quebec and seven miles downstream from the easternmost tip of the Island of Orleans.

The Ryholm had a net tonnage of 714; the Basilea 5,761.

CREW PICKED UP

One report said most of the crew was picked up by the Basilea.

The remainder were rescued by the schooner Notre Dame and the federal government ice - breaker N.B. McLean, returning to Quebec from supplying government outposts in the Arctic. They presumably transferred their survivors to the Basilea.

The Basilea passed Quebec at 7:05 a.m. on her way to Montreal.

While there was no immediate indication of how the collision occurred, first reports said the Ryholm went down in 20 minutes.

SLIGHTLY DAMAGED

The Basilea was slightly damaged.

The skipper of the Ryholm was a Capt. Ehrlander of Sweden. Capt. J. Closter of Denmark is captain of the Basilea, which carries a crew of Swiss and German hands.

The Ryholm was headed for the Saguenay River port of Port Al[illegible] carrying a cargo of grain and ballast, was going up-river to Montreal at the time.

No serious injury to crew members of either vessel was reported.

The collision occurred at a point where the St. Lawrence River is three miles wide, slightly south of the main channel route.

The Ryholm sank in 25 feet of water. Her stern was still visible shortly after the collision, though the tide was beginning to rise at that time.

Coastal Typhoon Kills 150 In Indo-China

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—A typhoon that battered the central coastal region of Indo-China today was reported to have killed or injured 150 persons in Hue and Tourane, the two largest towns in central Indo-China.

Hue, capital of the state of Annam, was said to be deep under water after the perfume River flowing through the town spilled over its banks. One hundred victims of the storm were reported.

Fifty victims were reported at Tourane, 60 miles south of Hue.

Deny Van Fleet To Be Relieved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The debate over sending South Koreans into the line to replace American soldiers in Korea mushroomed like an atomic explosion today, billowing out to Tokyo and Paris. At its vortex, the heat of the word battle brought a White House denial that Gen. James A. Van Fleet is being relieved as Eighth Army commander and, from secret defence department files, a mass of data showing:

1. Van Fleet's request that South Korean forces be doubled —from 10 to 20 divisons—was opposed as premature by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, then United Nations commander in Tokyo and now Supreme Commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Paris.

2. Ridgway's position was upheld by the joint chiefs of staff and Defence Secretary Robert Lovett.

3. The defence department says it has been carrying out a long-range program to turn over defence of Korea to the South Koreans as soon as leaders can be trained and seasoned in combat.

4. Gen. Mark Clark, Ridgway's successor in Tokyo, has pursued this program and has submitted a longer-range proposal for further expansion, now being studied in Washington.

Steals Money To Help Daughter

DETROIT (AP)—Dreams of a movie-star career for her winsome, 17-year-old daughter led her to embezzle thousands of dollars from her employer, a repentant bookkeeper told police yesterday

"Jill is a lovely girl," Mrs. Beatrice Hollingsworth was quoted as saying. "I needed the money to put her across and I just took it."

Mrs. Hollingsworth, 47, said she could remember taking only about $9,000. But prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien recommended a warrant charging her with embezzling $19,592 during a six-month period from the Kenneth Anderson Co., valve and manufacturing firm, and of forging a cheque for $989 more.

Jill, a high-school senior, was picked girl-of-the-month in a beauty contest sponsored by Detroit's transit system last February. She now is a pupil at a Hollywood school for aspiring models and actresses.

Father, Sons Held For Theft

MONTREAL (CP)—A father of 12 children, two of his sons and an alleged accomplice will be arraigned today on charges of burglary, theft and receiving stolen goods.

Under arrest are Emile Sauve, 43, his sons Maurice, 21, and Andre, 20, as well as Jean Claude Lebouthillier, 23, all of Montreal.

Police said they have been involved in theft of goods valued at $4,000. They are also alleged to have involved an unidentified 15-year-old girl as sales-girl.

Remove Gut Dam In 2 Months, Contract Awarded

OTTAWA (CP)—The St. Lawrence River's Gut Dam, blamed for recent destructive high water levels on Lake Ontario, is slated for removal within 2½ months. The government Thursday awarded a contract for elimination of the 51-year-old dam, a controversial 900-foot structure between two islands below Prescott, Ont. The contract let to the Canadian Dredge and Dock Company of Toronto provides that the dam is to be gone by Jan. 15, 1953.

The announcement followed by one day the International Joint Commission's approval of the Canada-United States application for permission to develop hydro power on the river's International Rapids section as part of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The Canadian government had agreed to have the dam torn down if the Commission gave a favorable decision on the power application. The Commission's decision at Montreal Tuesday cleared away the next-to-last barrier to the $750,000,000 hydro-waterway project.

IN GRADUAL STAGES

The recent view of government officials here had been that the Gut Dam could only be removed in gradual stages, taking up to 18 months, for fear of floods along the lower stretches of the St. Lawrence. Engineers have been studying this for several months and Transport Department officials said Thursday there will be no flood danger in taking the dam out by mid-January because of low winter water levels.

The dam stretches between Canada's Adams Island and Galop Island on the U.S. side. It was built by Canada in 1901, with approval of the U.S. Congress, to protect water levels in the present canal bordering the river.

Many people and organizations, particularly U.S. interests, complained to the International Joint Commission at hearings this year that the dam was largely responsible for record high water levels in Lake Ontario. The high levels have resulted in heavy property damage and lakeshore erosion during storms.

The government has contended that rainfall is the main reason for the high levels, and that removal of the Gut Dam would drop Lake Ontario's level only about 5½ inches.

BEGIN WORK

OGDENSBURG, N.Y. (AP)—Engineers were at work today on a survey of Gut Dam in preparation for removal of the structure.

A. H. Parker, superintending engineer of the Ontario-St. Lawrence canal of the transport department, said the dam would not be blasted out.

Find Marijuana Plants In Toronto Park

TORONTO (CP) — Marijuana plants growing wild were recently removed from a city park in the northwest Bathurst and St Clair area of Toronto by city police, authorities said today.

Police said a number of the plants, from which the drug marijuana is produced, were found by L. T. Owens, a botanist who led field naturalists through the area this month. Owens notified police, who removed the plants and turned them over to narcotic squad officers of the R.C.M.P.

[illegible] said they were growing in the natural soil of the ravine but had come in with fill that was poured between the spans of a bridge.

Convicts End 4-Day Prison Revolt

By DON WHITEHEAD

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—Convicts ended their four-day rebellion at Menard state prison today and released their seven hostages before Governor Adlai Stevenson carried out plans for making a personal appeal to them.

The rebel convicts capitulated after an ultimatum was delivered by Michael Seyfrit, state director of public safety.

Seyfrit told the insurgents, who had been bottled up in the prison's east cell block since Monday, that unless they surrendered heavily-armed state troopers would cut through the cell house doors with torches and "use whatever force is necessary to restore order."

After releasing their hostages, the 39 convicts marched back to their cells.

Just before this, a loudspeaker had been set up in the prison yard and Governor Stevenson was expected to issue an appeal or an ultimatum to the convicts.

The Democratic presidential nominee had broken off his campaign tour in the east to hurry here by train and automobile.

MASS AT ENTRANCES

Before the convicts capitulated, the state troopers massed at the north and south entrances to the cell block.

A police captain shouted a demand for an immediate release of the hostages. Otherwise, he said, the troopers would move in "and it won't be funny if we come in."

Newspapermen watched from a high, rocky bluff which serves as part of the prison wall From that distance Stevenson could not be distinguished but he was presumed to be in the prison yard at the time of the convicts' surrender.

British Export Prospects Worse

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's export prospects have grown worse since last March and hopes for a rise in production have faded, the minister of state for economics affairs said yesterday.

Sir Arthur Salter spoke in the Commons after Labor members had expressed concern at falling production.

He said the three per cent extra output on which treasury chief Richard Butler based his first Conservative budget last March is unlikely to be realized.

The Labor questions coincided with a front-page article in the Weekly Tribune, organ of Le[illegible] accusing the treasury chief of trying to conceal facts about "the coming economic crisis."

Bolivia Nationalizes Great Tin Industry

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Bolivia today nationalized the tin mines owned by the country's three biggest producers—the Patino, Hochschild and Aramayo companies.

Tin is bolivia's only major export and her biggest source of income—about 70 per cent of the total. Nationalization means that the mines and properties of the big companies now belong to the state, that the state is the employer of the labor working in the mines and that revenue derived from the sale of tin goes directly to the state through a corporation set up as the operating agency.

President Victor Paz Estenssoro signed the nationalization decree in a ceremony at Catavi, one of the biggest properties of the Patino Mining Company. Patino is the biggest operator in Bolivia.

The decree set forth provisional sums—about $21,750,000—to be paid the companies as indemnities. The mining firms say the property is worth about $60,000,000.

KOREAN STATUS — Newsmap shows where the U.S. Marines recaptured vital hills after mopping up "The Hook" and destroying a full Chinese regiment in the Korangpo sector. On the eastern front, Communist probing attacks were repulsed near the Punchbowl, and as far east as Kosong near the coast.

2nd Kidnapping Spree Ends With Capture

FERNANDINA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—James Francis Hill and a prison mate were recaptured today and two of the eight persons who were kidnapped during an all-night race through Florida were freed.

Hill, 31, and his prison pal, James Douglas, 30, were arrested at a roadblock about 20 miles north of Jacksonville.

With them as captives were an air force man and a young woman. The desperados were driving the couple's car when halted.

Their fantastic escapade began yesterday with Hill forcing Johnny Trish of Buffalo, N.Y., to drive him to the prison camp near Bartow, Fla., where Hill held guards at bay with a pistol and set four men free. All now have been recaptured.

KIDNAPPED 20 PERSONS

Hill was the last of three men sought for a two-day kidnap dash through Georgia and Tennessee during which they held 20 persons at one time or another. Among the victims were Miss Ethel Clark and her 84-year-old mother, both of Toronto.

Virgil Lemay, 15, was the first captured and Charles Hopkins, another prison mate of Hill's, was arrested in Jacksonville Tuesday afternoon by an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who recognized him at the post office.

Both Lemay and Hopkins said Hill was the ringleader. His kidnap victims said Hill called himself a "three-gun maniac."

The Georgia and Tennessee victims were robbed but not harmed.

After the road gang delivery Thursday, all six fled in Trish's car, doubled back to Bartow and split up on a side road. Douglas went with Hill. The two were former prisonmates at Florida state penitentiary.

The other three took off through the woods. Trish was set free.

Hill and Douglas next broke into the home of Mrs. C. E. Hoover, stole her rings and car and left.

WILD RIDE

About 10:30 last night they appeared at Haines City, abandoned Mrs. Hoover's car and kidnapped a young couple. With the couple begging to be set free, the convicts roared at breakneck speed over side roads headed north.

At 2 a.m. Hill and Douglas released the boy and girl and kidnapped a man, his wife and child at Bushnell. The family was released after another wild dash northward and a pickup truck was commandeered.

The truck was abandoned. A car was halted, however, and the airman and his girl friend were their next victims. The desperados were driving this couple's car when halted.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) —The American dollar was at a discount of 3 23-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Thursday's noon rate was 96 19-32 cents. The pound sterling was $2.70⅞, against $2.70 9-16 Thursday.

Gale Blows Itself Out After Sinking Two Ships

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The first gale of the traditional storm season blew itself out over Greenland today, after sinking two ships and taking at least two lives. The 700-ton Swedish cargo vessel Ryholm sank in the St. Lawrence River 23 miles east of Quebec after colliding with the Swiss freighter Basilea.

Two deaths were reported earlier. John Leonard, 28, of St. John's, Nfld., was lost overboard from the Queen of Bermuda 35 miles off the coast from Queen City, Md. Albert Keeping, 21, of Grand Bank, Nfld., was lost overboard from another ship.

LOCATE FREIGHTER

R.C.A.F. search and rescue here, meanwhile, reported that the 2,500-ton Norwegian freighter Dux, earlier reported missing, had been located in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. She was in no trouble but apparently her radio had broken down.

The storm first struck off Newfoundland with full fury Wednesday and brought with it winds up to 40 miles an hour. Today it was blowing itself out over southern Greenland.

One of the first victims of the storm was the Boston-based trawler Newton. After fighting a losing battle her crew abandoned ship and scrambled safely aboard another American trawler, the St. Nicholas.

The St. Nicholas today was still battling heaving seas about 300 miles east of Cape Race, Nfld.

The 7,151-ton Alendi Hill, a British freighter en route to Hampton Roads, Va., is farther at sea and last night reported she was "barely holding her own." She will call at Halifax to take on fuel.

BEAVERBRAE SAYS OK

In the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the rudderless Canadian Pacific ship Beaverbrae is riding out the storm with two Halifax tugs. The ship reported she was in no danger last night and when winds moderate, the tugs Foundation Vera and Foundation Josephine II will continue towing her to Halifax.

No injuries have been reported.

The trawler Newton took the worst pounding. Her 10-man crew attempted to abandon the ship when pumps couldn't keep up with the leaks. Lifeboats were smashed against the side of the ship when they lowered them, and the crew had to remain on board until the St. Nicholas manoeuvred over to the side of the listing ship and rescued the men without injuries.

The Newton was left abandoned on the wild seas.

KEEP LOOKOUT

The Dux was scheduled to arrive in Montreal from Rotterdam yesterday or today. Search and rescue officials in Halifax say it is possible the ship's wireless was not working and have warned other ships in the area to keep a sharp lookout.

The Alendi Hill reported seas were "very bad" last night, but was not believed to be in serious trouble. She is expected in Halifax Nov. 4 for bunkers.

The weather office at Halifax said the winds will diminish over the North Atlantic today, with gusts no higher than 20 m.p.h.

Rockcroft Store Looted, Loss Said $400

Merchandise valued at about $400 is missing from a general store owned by Charles Flynn, five miles north of Buckhorn, on Highway 36, at Rockcroft, after a breakin Wednesday night.

O.P.P. Constable Wally Mohns, who is investigating, said today the loot includes two guns, a .22 rifle and a shotgun—and a variety of groceries, such as tea, butter, and meat, and sundries such as cigarettes, tobacco and candy.

Entry was apparently gained by smashing a window in the rear door, after an attempt was made to smash the lock and pry the door open, but the lock held.

A 100-pound sack of peanuts which had just been opened was dumped in one corner, and since the bag is missing, it is presumed it was used to hold part of the merchandise which is missing.

Reds Cut Up Allied Units In Hill Battle

SEOUL (AP) — United Nations troops struggled toward the crest of Triangle Hill in a cold, slashing rain today after twice losing the vital Korean central-front position to Chinese human-wave assaults.

AP correspondent John Randolph reported from the front that Red machine-gun fire stalled the second Allied counter-thrust in mid-afternoon about 150 yards from the muddy crest.

"The assault troops were hoping to find elements of two units that were isolated in the early-morning attack and had disappeared behind the Chinese lines," Randolph said.

"An American officer at the scene said that only the utmost heroism of the two isolated units—and by a third unit that was cut up—prevented a break-through by the Chinese."

WORST SETBACK

An entire Allied company was trapped on the shell-blistered crest early Friday when 2,000 Reds overwhelmed U.N. troops in the worst set-back of the bitter, 18-day seesaw battle.

An Eighth Army spokesman said the company was rescued when the Allies regained Triangle's crest in a drizzling rain at 9:15 a.m.

Allied troops stayed on the height only 45 minutes. They were driven off by fresh waves of Chinese and a storm of artillery and mortar fire.

Randolph reported that, shortly thereafter, the U.N. troops began bulling their way back up the southern slopes of Triangle in the teeth of the artillery barrage.

The bloody battle for the Triangle Hill-Sniper Ridge complex drew toward the end of its 18th day with no signs of a let-up. The Allies held Sniper Ridge and its dominant peak, Pinpoint Hill, at last reports Friday.

COMMAND KEY JUNCTION

Triangle Hill and Sniper Ridge command the critical Kumhwa junction to the south. Kumhwa is the eastern base city of the old iron triangle on the central front.

The Chinese, creating a diversionary attack on Jane Russell hill to the east of Triangle's crest, overran the main Allied bunker defences about 2 a.m. Friday.

Allied artillery and mortar units smothered the crest with fire as a prelude to the counter-attack that won it back.

By 7 a.m., the Reds had only one battalion left on the hill. That one was knocked off by Allied troops. But the Chinese stormed back.

The Eighth Army said the Chinese had lost an estimated 11,000 casualties and committed several divisions to the battle on the approaches to Papa-San Mountain, just north of Triangle and Sniper.

Action elsewhere along the front was reported as minor.

Have Fun Hallowe'en But No Destruction

Hallowe'en vandalism will not be tolerated, Deputy-Police Chief John Naples said today.

Innocent fun will not be discouraged, the deputy-chief said, but there will be extra policemen on duty tonight to see that property is not damaged.

He warned that just because it is Hallowe'en is no excuse for carrying off signs and other articles, and anyone who commits wilful damage to property will be prosecuted the same as they would if they broke the law any other night.

Say Prices Continue Improve On Exchange

tinued to improve in forenoon stock market trading today.

Industrials, golds and western oils gained more than a point each on the exchange's index.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 962,000 shares.

Steels and constructions added strength to industrials. Refining oils, retail stores and agricultures also gained. Utilities and foods weakened.

Western Homestead continued to lead western oils, moving 73,000 shares in the first three hours for a gain of nine cents. Scurry also gained.

Base metals gains outnumbered losses about two to one as higher-priced issues led others upward.

Senior golds gained and junior producers also added strength as Barnat and Broulan Reef added pennies. East Malartic also gained. Prospects also showed a majority of small advances. Holding companies held firm.

Ontario Government Tightens Purse Strings

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government is reported tightening its purse strings, particularly with regard to its recent decision it is already committed to raising more than $700,000,000 for the power development of the St Lawrence River, the Niagara power development and other large public works and highway programs.

"Increased spending must lead only to increased taxation and the public and business are in no mood for higher taxation," a high government official said.

Cuts Off Arm

ROCHESTER, Ind. (AP)—Lloyd Beehler, 41, a school teacher, and his twin brother, Lester, took direct action when the teacher's left hand was caught in a corn picker yesterday. Lester heard his brother's cries for help and cut off the arm two inches above the wrist with a pocket knife. The teacher, meanwhile, used his free hand to apply a tourniquet with a handkerchief. His condition was reported "fair."

Acquit City Man Of Dangerous Driving Charge

LINDSAY (ENS). — Claude Cowan, R.R. 5, Peterborough, was acquitted of a charge of dangerous driving, but convicted on charges of careless driving and failing to stop after an accident, when he appeared in Lindsay police court today. Another charge of drunken driving was dropped by the crown.

Cowan was involved in accidents with two cars on Sept. 26 near Haliburton when his car struck vehicles driven by Wayne Roberts of Haliburton, and Randall Schell of West Guilford. Roberts testified first in the failing to remain case, and told of driving south, toward Minden on Highway 35. He saw a car approaching on his side of the road, he testified, and pulled over to the right but not far enough to avoid a collision. Schell followed Roberts in the box and told of seeing Roberts pass him on the road. He also told of watching the previous mishap and then seeing the car swerve back to its own side of the road, then onto his side once more. Both drivers claimed to have obtained the licence number of the vehicle.

Gordon Farquharson, defence counsel, cross examined the youths on their certainty that they had read the licence numbers of the two cars, although Roberts stated he had read the front number, after dark with the head lights of the auto in his eyes. The two youths testified they had turned around after the two accidents and chased the car. They caught up to it in Haliburton, where they found it on a parking lot. Cowan was behind the wheel, but when the two approached he drove off down a lane and onto a back street.

Roberts followed Cowan out of the car, then related the details of a wild chase over nine miles of the Eagle Lake Highway, in which he tried to pass Cowan, only to have the other car cut in front of him and prevent such a move. Roberts testified that he had finally caught up with Cowan near Eagle Lake and had been recognized by the accused. Cowan then pulled away again, and drove off. Constable A. C. Hardy of the Minden O.P.P., testified he had checked the registration of the licence number given him by Roberts and Schell and had found it registered to Cowan.

Mr. Farquharson in summing up on the failing to remain charge, argued that a conviction could not be registered, since there was no actual proof that Cowan had been driving the car.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan argued that the onus of stopping and giving name and address in collision cases was just as heavy on those involved in minor accidents as those who had been in major mishaps.

Magistrate Gee concurred, and stated that the circumstances pointed strongly to Cowan's driving the car. Mr. Farquharson argued that there had not been enough damage or evidence of wilful recklessness to warrant a conviction on the charge of dangerous driving. Crown Attorney Jordan disagree, but Magistrate Gee dismissed the charge and found Cowan guilty of careless driving. No witnesses were called by the defence or evidence introduced. Magistrate Gee fined Cowan $15 on the failing to remain charge and $35 on the careless driving. Costs amounted to $38 and an additional $20 has already been paid in costs for witnesses brought from Haliburton on another occasion when Cowan asked for a remand. The matter of license suspension was left to the discretion of the registrar of motor vehicles.

Convicts End

Stevenson's press secretary. William Flanagan, told reporters during the trip from Pittsburgh:

"The governor didn't consider the effect of this move on his presidential campaign. It was too bad he had to do it—but he felt it had to be done."

TROUBLE BEGAN MONDAY

Flanagan said the governor considered the lives of the seven hostages as the overriding factor in his decision, adding that Stevenson had reports the convicts might not have fed the hostages since the disorders began Monday.

The rebellion began as east cell block prisoners were returning to their cells after the evening meal. An attempt by Warden Jerome Munie to lead an armed attack on the convicts was stymied by their threat to push the hostages off the top floor of the block.

Since then prison and state officials have tried to starve out the men, but they believe the convicts stored up a supply of candy bars before the outbreak.

The convicts sent word they would release their hostages only if Dixon met their demands, including food.

"We could not accept this," Dixon told reporters.

"I'm here to hear their grievances when they comply with our conditions to first release our men."

Stores Planning To Ignore Closing Order

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal by-law ordering stores to close on Roman Catholic holy days will be ignored for the third time tomorrow—All Saints' Day.

Seven large stores, which launched and won a Superior Court motion against the by-law last time, have announced they will remain open. A number of smaller stores have indicated they will follow suit.

Although a judgment by Mr. Justice A. I. Smith June 17 declared both the by-law and the provincial statute on which it was based ultra vires, the by-law still is in effect pending hearing of an appeal by the city. The appeal is expected to be heard next January.

TOP DEPARTMENT STORES

The seven stores involved are T Eaton Co. Ltd., of Montreal, Henry Morgan and Co. Ltd., Robert Simpson, Montreal, Ltd., Jas. A. Ogilvy's, Ltd., Holt, Renfrew and Co. Ltd., Henry Birks and Sons (Montreal) Ltd., and Mappin's Ltd.

By-law 695, covering closing of stores, was amended Nov. 2, 1951, ordering all stores except restaurants, drug stores, food stores and cigar stands to close on holy days—Immaculate Conception, Ascension Day, All Saints' Day, Christmas, New Year's and Epiphany.

The law was first broken by the seven large stores on the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, Dec. 8 last, and they remained open again on Ascension Day in May.

Close to 500 stores were brought to court for the first breach of the law, but the number dropped to about 213 on Ascension Day. The drop was believed due to the second holy day falling during the off-season for shopping.

SPECIAL POLICE SQUAD

A 100-man special police squad will operate Saturday to make cases against offenders.

C. Antoine Geoffrion, counsel for the stores, said he expects the number open to be greater than before because the Christmas shopping season has started and because smaller stores have been encouraged by the Superior Court judgment.

Failed To Signal: Police

LINDSAY (ENS). — A charge of failing to signal for a left hand turn has been laid against William Duncan, 149 Kent Street, following a two-car accident at William and Bond Streets Thursday.

The collision occurred as Grenville Coppins, 123 Elgin Street, was attempting to pass Duncan's car, and Duncan started to make a left hand turn.

Police Chief Arthur Webster investigated.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — October barley continued its sharp climb in early trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange as traders, seeking to close out October contracts, found only light offerings.

Commercial demand elsewhere in oats and barley was on a modest scale, limited to a few shipping orders. Small export business overnight to the continent was reported in flax. Rye trade was local, but prices moved up with others.

Oats — Oct. ⅜ higher 88⅛A; Dec. ⅜ higher 83¾A; May ⅜ higher 83⅛B; Jly. not open.

Barley—Oct. 7⅛ higher 1.66; Dec. ⅞-¾ higher 1.33¼A; May ⅝ higher 1.24A; Jly-not open.

Rye—Oct. ¾ higher 1.80; Dec. ⅜ higher 1.81⅜A; May unchanged 1.87; Jly—not open.

Danes Reject Soviet Protest

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Denmark has rejected Soviet protests against negotiations with the United States to set up North Atlantic Treaty Organization bases on Danish soil.

Foreign Minister Ole Bjoern announced Thursday he received the Soviet charge d'affaires last night and replied to a Soviet note that charged such negotiations constituted a threat to the security of the Soviet Union.

Negotiations for stationing about 150 U.S. jet fighters at Danish bases in the Jutland Peninsula have been going on for some time. They would provide additional support for Denmark's own air force.

The reply to Russia said Denmark's defence and foreign policies are based on the conviction that the Atlantic Pact "is serving only defence purposes and is not turned aggressively against any country, including the Soviet Union."

Township Teachers Hold Dinner

COLDSPRINGS (ENS). — "A Challenge" was the subject of an address given by M. C. Potts from Peterborough Normal School, at the Hamilton Township teachers' banquet held on Wednesday night at the Coldsprings Township Hall. Teachers from Hope, Cavan, and South Monaghan were guests. Other special guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carleton, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ramsay, Cobourg, and the Rev. V. M. Gilbert and Mrs. Gilbert, Camborne.

The turkey banquet was prepared by the W.A. of Camborne United Church. Mrs. E. A. Linton, president of the Hamilton Township teachers, acted as chairlady.

Miss Lillian Barker thanked the W.A. of Camborne for the banquet.

W. Ramsay was at the piano for the sing-song.

The guest speaker, Mr. Potts, was introduced by W. H. Carlton, inspector of public schools, and thanked by Ron Cruise. Piano solos were played by Miss Audrey Down, and Mr. Ramsay. Vocal solos were sung by Miss Grace Wilton, Mrs. Murray Manley, and Mrs. W. Ramsay. Mrs. E. Hebert gave a recitation.

Turkey Will Jump Her Military Budget

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Turkey will jump her military budget for the coming fiscal year almost 50 per cent, to a record 750,000,000 turkish lira ($268,000,000), the independent newspaper Vatan reported today.

The budget will be worked out at the fall session of Parliament opening tomorrow in Ankara.

Breast Cancer Can Be Cured

CHICAGO (AP) — Three doctors reported today that 70 per cent of early breast cancers can be cured. But they cautioned that there are no early symptoms of the disease—only early signs.

Drs. Calvin T. Klopp, John D. Hoyle and Brian B. Blades, of the George Washington University medical school in Washington, said these are the signs:

Persistent scaling of the nipple, slight ulceration of the nipple, a discharge from the nipple, slight thickening of the breast, a tiny lump in the breast, slight thickening of the nipple, or non-tender lump in the armpit.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, the doctors said:

"Breast cancer is often described as beginning as a lump, creating the impression that the cancer has been present for a short time prior to the appearance of the lump. In certain rapidly-growing tumors this may be the case, but it is probably safe to estimate that the breast cancer has been present for several months or possibly for several years before the appearance of the tumor."

Blame Bloody Riot On Aussie Reds

SYDNEY (AP) — The Sydney Daily Mirror says today that Australian security police have evidence that a bloody riot by unemployed Italian migrants was inspired by Communists.

These officers believe the demonstration yesterday, in which 10 policemen were injured, was part of a Red plot to foment unrest among the men, a dispatch from the paper's Melbourne correspondent declares.

Jobless Italians denied that Reds had egged on the trouble.

The Mirror says security officers know that a well-known Communist addressed the Italians before the demonstration, in which several hundred migrants attempted to storm the Italian consulate demanding work or repatriation.

Yugoslavs Release German War Criminals

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia Reuters) — Yugoslav authorities last night released 11 German war-crimes prisoners. Among them was Franz Neuhausen, the former Nazi party chief in Yugoslavia.

Neuhausen, 65, had been given a life sentence. The other 10 prisoners were members of the German armed forces. It is understood there are still 23 German citizens serving sentences for war crimes in Yugoslavia.

Girder Crashes Roof

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 20-foot steel girder crashed through the roof of a seven-storey office building Thursday, killing one man and throwing 40 other persons into panic. John H. Flohr, Jr., 30, of Philadelphia was killed almost instantly when the girder, falling from the 18th floor of an adjoining hotel building, struck him as he sat at his desk.

Kidnapping Conviction

LUENEBURG Germany — Two men were convicted Thursday of kidnapping a West German woman and delivering her to Communist police in East Germany. The victim, Ursula Dreyling, was wanted by the Reds on a charge of spying for the Western Allies. Her fate remains unknown here.

Higher Hydro

Chairman Robert Saunders of the Ontario Hydro Commission gave a folksy talk over the radio Wednesday evening to prepare citizens for an increase in the price of electric power. He took a typical household as an example:

"Yes, folks, 15 electric appliances plus the lighting for his home—seemingly every convenience except an electric water heater—and his October 20th bill for two months from the Ontario Hydro-Electric System amounted to a net of $6.38; for one month $3.19 net, or less than eleven cents per day. We do get so much electrical service and power for so little."

Maybe we do, but we can't forget that Hydro used to be very much cheaper—until the bills started to rise to pay for converting Toronto, Hamilton and other less-favoured centres from 25 to 60 cycles, and for expensive plants at Toronto and Windsor to make power from coal. And may we remind Mr. Saunders that real hydro-electric power comes to the Commission from the flow of free water; considered that way, Hydro should be cheap.

Will power rates go up in Peterborough? That is for the Utilities Commission to decide. Despite a deliberate vagueness in Hydro's reports yesterday to the press, the rate at which the Hydro sells power to the Peterborough Utilities Commission (which re-sells it to home owners and factories) will be increased. The increase will not be as great as to Toronto and western Ontario users, but it will be an increase. In the middle of Mr. Saunders' radio address he said that the increase would apply to all municipalities except in the Thunder Bay section (northwestern Ontario). In the Southern Ontario section, centres tied to the Niagara system will feel it more because they have to pay a somewhat greater share of the conversion costs (since it is their power that is being converted). He also said that municipalities in Eastern Ontario had been charged rates in 1951 and 1952 which were over-payment. This overpayment will help offset here the general increase in price.

* * *

This fact is clear. Peterborough and other centres far removed from the steam generating plants of the Hydro, and not really using their power at all, will still have to pay for these expensive plants. Mr. Saunders himself said so. And these costs are high. In 1951 steam generation of power was only one per cent. of the total cost of power. Next year it will be 24 per cent. To produce power by steam for the Windsor-Toronto industrial area will cost next year about $24,650,000. And Peterborough people will have to help pay for this steam-generated power, even if they use not a pulse of it. "All must share in the extra cost," Mr. Saunders said. This may seem fair to him, to Toronto and to Windsor, but to us here in this district, it looks as if we are having to pay for something we do not get.

Toronto And The Two-Year Term

The municipal government of Toronto means to give its electors another chance to express their opinion on the two-year term for aldermen and members of the Board of Education. The last time this issue was put to a vote was in 1950, when the proposal was defeated by 40,000. In all, the two-year term has been defeated five times in the past 12 years in Toronto. Nevertheless, we think that the Toronto Council serves its city well by giving the electors another chance to change their minds on this important matter.

We have had the two-year term in Peterborough since 1912, and we may claim to know its advantages. It gives new aldermen a chance to learn their work before they are called upon to face another election; it gives them a reasonable degree of security in office, and in two years they are able to show any quality which they may possess. It gives smoothness to civic business, because half the Council and half the Board of Education each year remains in office, and is able to bridge the gaps for the newcomers. It definitely cuts down City Hall politics for it reduces anxiety about elections, and yet no man's term is so long that he becomes a barnacle.

Because the two-year term works well for aldermen and Board members, we have fallen into the way of giving our Mayors a second year by acclamation, also, believing that one year in office does not give a Mayor a fair chance to show his mettle.

The advantages of the two-year term are so apparent to us and to most other Ontario municipalities that we cannot understand Toronto's objection to it. However, that objection seems to be deeply rooted, and we do not think that it will be overcome this December, though the weight of opposition may be appreciably lessened. We should think that Torontonians had, by now, abandoned the notion that the two-year term weakens interest in civic affairs. It simply cuts down year-round electioneering, which is a positive advantage in the conduct of civic affairs.

Banning Television At The Abbey Altar

Prime Minister Churchill's head was assailed by more than electronic pulses when he announced that the Coronation ceremonies inside the Abbey would not be televised. He had to reconsider the decision——whoever made it.

We have a certain sympathy with the interdiction. While the Coronation is a public event and symbolizes the covenant between the Monarch and her people, it is also a covenant between the Queen and her God—a religious ceremony. Should it be open to the unhallowed and prying eyes of the television camera?

In other countries coronations have been more public than in Britain; crowns have been placed on heads on the field of battle. But in England, before the Norman Conquest, the ceremony was termed a "hallowing", rather than a coronation. Egferth, Prince of Mercia, was hallowed King by Offa, his father, in 785. The essential form of words employed then has been altered little in the last twelve centuries. The service next June in the Abbey will be, as ever, a covenant between God, the Queen, and her people. Is it not enough that only the elected and appointed representatives of the people should witness the anointing, the Queen at her prayers, and the hallowing when the Crown is placed on her head? Must every man in the land be party directly to the altar ceremonies, through the mechanical, prying eye of television?

Is what Montaigne calls "the strange lustre that surrounds a king," to be dissipated in the flatness and snow of a television screen? Is there no mystery to be left the imagination?

People objecting to the ban on television during the actual crowning point out that movie cameras will record the scene, and ask, why not television? There is justness in the question. The instruments are much the same, expect that television is instantaneous and a movie film presents a record after the event: the hallowed minute at the altar remains above and apart from the crowd.

The reasons for the original decision to ban television at the Abbey altar may have been merely practical. Movie films can be edited; the television camera would show all. Perhaps the Archbishop would not look well without the special make-up TV producers like on their subjects. (Subject is right—so stern and compulsive are the TV cameras, so insistent the TV photographers, so ubiquitous in any big show now; everything has to bow to TV as abject subjects of the apparatus.) An even more practical reason for the initial ban may be that all the peers might have stayed at home, so that they could see the Coronation, and in comfort. Certainly in the Abbey few will either see or sit in comfort.

Seaway, Seaway

The sanction of the Joint International Commission having been given to develop the St. Lawrence rapids for hydro power, the seaway will follow. Both are important to us in Peterborough and to Ontario and Canada generally. The millions of new horse-power which the St. Lawrence hydro development will create should make Ontario power-full, and do away with the need for expensive steam generating plants. The seaway should give this area direct access to the shipping of the world.

The State of New York (or some agency designated by it) will share the hydro development costs with the Province of Ontario (the Hydro Commission). Unless there is a change in the official American attitude, Canada will develop the seaway alone, Canada has already said she would do this, and would start after the hydro development plans were approved by the International Joint Commission. Mr. Chevrier, Minister of Transport, says that work on the seaway may begin next spring.

Incidentally, any Ontario people assailed by doubts about continuing high employment can console themselves with this thought. The hydro development is estimated to cost as much as $450,000,000; the work of deepening and channeling for the seaway will cost an estimated $300,000,000. A sum of three-quarters of a billion dollars cannot be poured into eastern Ontario without creating a lot of jobs, both in supplying the material and in doing the actual work on the spot.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: I am told that Lakefield was originally called Selby. Is that so?

ANSWER: For a time it was known as Selby, but not originally. Originally Lakefield was called Neson's Falls. Later is became Herriot's Falls, and remained so until 1851, when it was Selby, becoming "Lakefield" before 1860.

The insistence on the word "falls" in the first names indicates that the water flowing out of Lake Katchewanooka into the Otonabee must have been a more impressive sight then than it is today. It was in the late 1850's when dams and mills were built that the lake aspect of Lakefield became more prominent than the Falls.

Major Samuel Strickland with Robert Reid built the first grist and saw mill (on the Douro side) almost twenty years before, but it had burnt down, and Lakefield did not again show signs of flourishing until around 1850—it did not have even a tavern until 1854.

Major Strickland built the first house in Lakefield, on the shores of the lake, in 1831, (a log house). Major Strickland had come to Peterborough (Scott's Mills) in 1826, a British army officer on half-pay. At that time he was aged only twenty.

The Stricklands, as readers of this column will know, were the most prominent family in Lakefield for many years. Mrs. Moodie and Mrs. Traill were his sisters.

ALPHA: I noticed a letter in the Examiner about the treatment of Protestants in Italy. The writer talked of the "Catholic" church, meaning the Roman Catholic church. The word "Catholic" is not the private property of the Roman church. The Church of England is a Catholic church . . .

ANSWER: The 'higher' the individual C of E church, the more likely are its members to insist that it is a Catholic church. The 'Low' C of E members emphasize its Protestantism. It is true that the Anglican Prayer Book calls the church the "Holy Catholic Church", but I note that the head of the Church of England, the monarch, pledges himself during the Coronation as a "faithful member of the Protestant Reformed Church of England", and to secure the "Protestant succession according to law".

The word catholic, without a large C means universal, all-embracing, of wide sympathies; for instance, a person may be said to have a catholic taste in music.

DEAR ALPHA: Living as I do in the village, I am embarrassed to get the old age pension cheque. Everybody from the postmaster down knows what the government envelope means: that I am getting the old age pension and so am over seventy. Is there any way to receive the pension without everybody knowing about it and my age?

ANSWER: You could pretend it was a baby bonus cheque; it comes in exactly the same kind of envelope. I admit it might be a little difficult, particularly in a village, to carry off the pretense, without a baby to show for it. You could, of course, forego the cheque, or never have applied for the universal pension.

Your probem is not peculiar to people living in villages and along rural routes. Even in cities people along a street are neighbourly, inquisitive and gossipy. The postman carries more than letters.

A cousin of my aunt's (une cousine de ma tante) who has lived in a village east of Peterborough for forty years has always pretended to be five years younger than she is. She is now in a gnawing dilemma, and has been since last January when universal old age pensions became payable. Will she apply for the pension, receive cheques monthly, and thus proclaim that she is over seventy and has been living for forty years under a Great Big Lie, or will she continue her girlish laughter for another three years, and choke a sob at missing her $40 a month pension?

She has still not resolved the problem—only gone as far as to write my aunt to get her a pension application form from the Peterborough post office. (To get one from her own post office would give the secret of her age away to the whole village.) But she has not completed the form. She is now 72. This delay has cost her $40 a month—to date $400.

It's misplaced pride, that's what it is. A woman is entitled to fib about her age any time in her career through life. Before 18 she may pretend she is sweet 21 and sophisticated. After thirty she should begin to cut a few years off her age. But by the time she is seventy, her pride should jolt her stated age up to reality, and even beyond. A woman of 70 has more distinction through her age than a woman of 60 or 65. Seventy is an achievement; 75 a bigger one. So the cousin of my aunt should forthwith declare not merely that she is 72, but that she is 75, and keep on surreptitiously adding a year or two thereafter. The way I look at the matter, women reaching 70 should be panting to get the old age pension cheque, not because of the money, but because it makes known to all the world that she, so youthful and vigorous, is—believe it or not—over seventy. And there's the pension cheque to prove it!

SIR: Don't you think Daylight Saving Time stopped too soon this year? Why couldn't we have it going on until at least the end of October?

ANSWER: I certainly do, and I think that the end of October is the earliest that it should be discontinued. I see no reason why we should not have it all the year around. During the war Britain (much farther north than we) had Summer Time all year, and during the six months of summer double Summer Time (two hours of D.S.T.) It was a small inconvenience to farmers, a real help to city workers.

As in most Ontario things, Toronto tries to set the D.S.T. pace. Now, in such things, Toronto is a poor pattern to use. In many ways the most wicked city in Canada, Toronto is also quackishly moral. Somebody on the Toronto School Board felt that after September and the return of its dear little urchins to school, Daylight Saving Time was somewhat immoral; the youngsters would not go to bed in time to leave their elders free to imbibe quietly and talk stocks. So instead of the November date of a couple of years ago, Toronto council set the last Sunday in September for return to Standard Time. Peterborough followed suit.

There is nothing socrosanct about Standard Time. It is not "God's Time" as some opponents of Daylight Saving Time prate, but as artificial as D.S.T. itself. Standard Time was invented by Sir Sandford Fleming nearly a century ago, for the convenience of the railroads and all travellers and persons having communication between one section of the country and another.

I should like to see D.S.T. become standard throughout the year, as it was during the war (after January 1942) when a Federal Order in Council left no local option on the matter but made D.S.T. obligatory on all municipalities throughout the year.

SIR: Has the native black African leader in Kenya who is called Kenyatta, a white wife?

ANSWER: Yes. She is an English woman. Their son is black. Kenyatta left them in England when he returned to Kenya after the war—probably the natives for whom he is the mouthpiece would very much resent her. The colour bar does not bar only one way, you see.

I met a man that other day who lived for fifteen years in Kenya and worked among Kenyatta's tribesmen. He delicately said that Kenyatta 'had a woman in England'. Incidentally, he proclaimed that he is against the 'colour bar' but for a 'culture bar'. I presume that this makes him ready for intimacy with Kenyatta, since Kenyatta is a well educated man of quick intelligence. He was educated at mission schools in the colony, and later at university in England. He is a student of anthropology, and must have known what blood and culture complications he was entering when he took to himself a white wife.

FOR THE RECORD: A civic reception was held Tuesday for a distinguished visitor to the city, Principal W. A. Mackintosh of Queen's. It was the second such reception held in the new reception ante-room off the Council Chamber. Its pantry is now fully equipped and the room provides an excellent opportunity for the city to recognize and honour visitors in an unpretentious, inexpensive yet gracious way. Sandwiches, cakes and tea were served.

Mayor Hugh Waddell and members of the Council report that they are very pleased with the ease and atmosphere the reception chamber provides. Certainly visitors who are thus received are greatly impressed, and that is a good thing for Peterborough's reputation, for usually such visitors travel far and wide, comparing and spreading the word. Few cities in Canada can offer as pleasant and simple receptions. Usually a civic reception is a cold affair of signing some sort of "golden book" kept at a counter in the clerk's office; or a noisy grab-bag of a cocktail party held rather surreptitiously; or an expensive dinner at a hotel. When Peterborough's city hall reception room is used with discretion for such purposes, and only when a civic welcome is really due a visitor, the honour done both guest and city will continue to be highly esteemed.

Buying grapes for her sick husband, a woman at the grocer's asked: "Do you know if anything poisonous has been sprayed on these?"

"No, ma'am," answered the grocer; "you'll have to get that at the chemist's."

The Face of Latin America

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

THE AVERAGE foreigner's idea of the physical appearance of Latin America is, I have found, usually confined to a confused and inaccurate image of rolling pampas, steaming jungle, and rather lawless and exotic seaports.

Latin America is so vast, larger than the whole of North America, that it is very difficult to correct such an impression in a few brief paragraphs. Perhaps the best way is to give a swift glimpse of the appearance of town, village, and countryside as I saw them during a circular tour during this last year.

From the United States-Mexico border a bus trip of two days and a night brings one to Mexico City, high up on a plateau. The Federal Capital, a noisy, bustling metropolis of three million inhabitants, dates back to the days of Aztec dominations, when it was known as Tenoxtitlan, and like European and Asian cities, it is a blend of old and new, of skyscrapers and slums, of Cadillacs and burden-bearing barefooted Indians, of U. S.-style "supermercados" (supermarkets and street-markets, of Spanish colonial churches and spacious garden suburbs.

Southwards, and over the mountains past the once-sacred volcano Popacatepetl (Mexico's Fujiyama), lies Puebla, a conservative, Catholic Spanish-founded city where modern architecture is forbidden by local bye-laws and life is slow and dignified. From Puebla southwards the country becomes more tropical, and always more Indian and less Spanish until one reaches Tehuantepec, a Zapotec-speaking matriarchy where the good-looking, dominating women still wear braided hair, silk blouses, and ankle-length dresses.

A jerky, uncomfortable, bell-clanging train takes one through the night past Indian villages in forest-clearings to the border of Guatemala, where there is a complete change in the landscape. In Mexico, as in the United States, towns tend to sprawl, petering out among gas-stations and bill-boards and unfinished buildings. In Guatemala they have a beginning, a middle and an end, and the fruit and coffee-growing countryside is neatly, divided and dotted with little house-proud homes. Guatemala City itself is a clean, tidy town with asphalt streets and colonial two-storey buildings, dominated by the vast National Palace and the grim castellated Police Headquarters, nicknamed (even by the police) the Accursed Castle.

Southwards from Guatemala, the coffee and banana Republics of Central America taper down to the Isthmus of Panama where with Colombia the South American continent begins. I landed by plane at tropical Barranquilla, a bustling, growing Caribbean city where the air smells of the tropics and the nights are warm. A four-hour air plane service brings one to Bogota, the Columbian capital, 8,000 feet above sea level and damp with frequent rain. Huge modern office buildings and apartment blocks push their way upwards between the tile-roofed houses with their ornamental window-grills and overhanging eaves, but in the narrow streets donkeys still pick their patient way between the cars and buses.

FROM BOGOTA the Pan-American highway snakes south over dusty plains where water is at a premium and the whitewashed cottages look grim and grey, till it reaches Ecuador. An Ecuadorean rail-car clatters past Indian pueblos with Spanish churches and huddled fields to the mountain capital, Quito, dominated by the towers of its gold-encrusted churches. From Quito the railway zig-zags down to sea-level, where the busy port of Guayaquil is a sudden oasis of modernity, and businessmen sit talking, often in German, at sidewalk cafes.

Through Peru the metalled highway runs along the desert between the blue Pacific to the west and the grim, uncompromising, barren chain of the Andes to the east, the undulating sand-dunes broken here and there by bright oases with cotton-fields and rice-paddies and towns with hotels and restaurants and neon signs. Lima, the capital and former seat of the Spanish Vice-royalty, lies in one such oasis, in sudden contrast to the desert.

Lima is to me the most attractive of Latin American capitals. Despite its million population, it has the friendliness of a small town, and the people in the streets have smiling faces. It is a city in pastel shades against the eternal back-drop of the blue-grey Andes, and its variegated and harmonious architecture is restful to the eyes. On the outskirts are the residential districts of Miraflores and San Isidro, where water has turned the desert into a garden and bougainvillea climbs the walls of houses. But Lima has its slums, where Indians from the inhospitable highlands have swarmed into the city and settled in their thousands in sprawling shanty towns.

Desert again along the highway until the road climbs to Arequipa, a white city set in a fertile valley, where the dusty bus-traveller, sand on his clothes and in his hair is suddenly startled to descend from a mountain pass and find himself between trees and fields and almost immediately among trams and taxi-cabs and modern store-fronts. Arequipa is derived from the old Inca name, meaning "Rest here", and most travellers do. The flocks of stately llamas coming in from the country bring a curious dignity to the city.

A railway, with comfortable sleepers and dining-cars, runs eastward to Puno, on the shores of Lake Titicaca, the highest large inland body of water in the world, from whose waters, according to legend, the founder of the Inca Empire rose, and where the Indians still sail the primitive boats they used before the Spaniards came. Across the Lake lies Bolivia, still predominantly an Indian country, where the women wear bowler hats or high-crowned white toppers, and ankle-length skirts with half-a-dozen petticoats. The Bolivian plateau has a harsh, cruel landscape, and the twentieth century has added the ugliness of the tin mines to the grimness of nature, but the snow-capped mountains, always visible, have a fierce, impressive grandeur.

NORTHERN CHILE is the Peruvian coastal desert all over again, the dark silence of its desert night only broken by the glare of the cupper and nitrate mining settlements, while by day, as the train crawls towards Santiago there is no escape from the heat of the sun, and it never rains. Central Chile seems another country, with its green fields, its vineyards and its conifer-clad mountains. Its towns and villages are reminiscent of Europe, and Santiago, the capital is a European city—on wet winter days the sea of shining umbrellas in the busy central streets gives one the illusion of being in London or Amsterdam.

Across the Andes lies Argentina, linked to Chile by two trans-Andine railways, which are sometimes blocked by snow, and a road which twists and turns, following the tumbling torrent of a mountain river. From the eastern foothills roads and railways run in an undeviating straight line across the flat, fertile plains of Argentina, past endless rectangular fields and identical towns, each with its grain elevator, its state-owned gas-stations, its often garish movie-theatre, its unimaginative bars, and its chain-stores and grocers shops along the main street.

The roads and railways cutting across the pampas coverage on the Argentine Federal Capital. Buenos Aires is not a beautiful city. Its four million people live in long, straight streets and pour into the skyscraping centre every morning by tube (underground railway and bus and trolleybus and groaning tram, to work in shops and factories and offices. There is a European myth that Buenos Aires is an exotic place, but it is in fact as utilitarian and unromantic—in the accepted sense—as Detroit or Manchester.

ACROSS the RIVER PLATE, an hour by plane, Montevideo is by contrast a quiet provincial town, capital of a quiet provincial country, Uruguay, which looks like northern France or pre-enclosure England, with its undulating country, its straight roads lined with poplars or sometimes incongruously with palm-trees, its rivulets bordered by weeping willows, its small towns where the perennial peace is broken only by the blare of a juke-box from a corner bar.

From Uruguay one can travel northwards by rail or road to Brazil, but Brazil, larger than the United States of America, needs a book to itself. A glimpse of its variety can be gained from my experience of a three-day rail journey from Porto Alegre to Sao Paulo. The two through-coaches, both sleepers, were tacked on to the end of a succession of less ambitious trains. When I went to bed on the last night we were hitched to a line of elderly day-coaches, hauled at 25 m.p.h. by two asthmatic steam locomotives with tall funnels shedding sparks over a mountainous landscape dotted with setlements like Balkan villages.

When I awoke next morning we were in the States of Sao Paulo, behind a line of glistening steel cars and an electric locomotive. The single track had given place to double and soon quadruple tracks as we flashed past modern concrete stations with meticulous gardens. Huge coffee plantations were replaced by houses and then factories, motor highways appeared, teeming with traffic, and then, rounding a curve, we saw the tall white towers of thirty- and forty-storey skyscrapers. The station was an arching cavern of noise and people, and outside the taxis were hooting their way out into the crowded streets.

This attempt to convey something of the atmosphere of Latin America has left out the cold rainswept forests of Southern Chile, has left out whole countries such as Paraguay and booming but backward Venezuela — and, of course, the steaming Brazilian jungles where Brazilians hope the great future of the continent lies. But perhaps it will explain why I found it a bit difficult to answer, when, on arrival in England, I was asked by a gushing lady, "Tell me, what is South America like?

Church Orders Lawyers Drop Divorce Cases

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A stern Roman Catholic edict to lawyers of that faith to get out of divorce practice was felt in domestic relations court today.

Many cases on the long calendar before Judge Philip C. Joslin were passed or continued to other dates.

Court attaches and lawyers said there was no doubt that this was a result of the edict approved by a diocesan synod recently and announced Oct. 19 by Rev Russell J. McVinney, bishop of Providence.

At a meeting of the Catholic lawyers guild last night, lawyers reported today, diocesan canon law experts informed the lawyers that they are prohibited by the edict from acting in divorce proceedings involving Catholics and in addition may not seek divorces for non-Catholics who have been baptized in their own religions.

Some Catholic lawyers said they believe they should continue divorce proceedings which they already have started, but they added that a discussion of this point at last night's meeting of lawyers and priests had failed to reach a decision.

The church edict provides that Catholic lawyers may take part only in divorce proceedings previously sanctioned by the church.

Ask End of Embargo

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner last night announced that Canada would ask the United States to lift its embargo on Canadian cattle immediately after the U.S. election next week. He said there was every indication the ban, imposed when foot and mouth disease struck in Saskatchewan would be lifted.

Plan New Labels On Canadian Products

OTTAWA (CP)—Consumers may find a new label or seal on top-quality Canadian products next year, giving them an idea of how the item rates among Canada's design experts.

But manufacturers and producers, who want to use the seal to attract customers, will have to fight for it under a new competition announced by the National Industrial Design committee.

The committee, eager to promote top-notch designing among Canadian products and thus promote sales, said it will award a special design merit seal or certificate to the winners.

The winners will be able to use these merit awards on their products to promote sales.

Movie Column

Melinda Markey Following Family Work

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Melinda Markey, ninth-generation member of the acting Bennett clan, got her first break in the movies this week.

Melinda is the pretty, brown-haired daughter of Joan Bennett and granddaughter of the stormy Richard Bennett, the 18-year-old heiress to an acting tradition that goes back a couple of centuries.

She was excited about her role in "Nearer My God to Thee," in which she plays one of a group of girls returning from Europe on the Titanic.

"It's really not much of a part, but at least it lasts throughout the picture," she explained. "It's a good role to break into the movies with. I've only been in films once before; that was a very brief part in a picture produced by my stepfather (Walter Wanger)."

TV TOUGH

Melinda made her debut two years ago when she played in summer stock with her mother in "Susan and God." Since then she has served a vigorous apprenticeship in the theatre and television.

"I did about 30 TV shows in New York," she commented. "It was good experience, but live TV is a rough deal."

She is aiming her career at summer stock and the movies.

"My ambition is to land a contract at 20th Century-Fox," she added. "My mother started here when she was quite young and has been coming back through the years."

CAPSULE REVIEW

"Androcles and the Lion" is more Hollywood than George Bernard Shaw, but manages to be a pretty enjoyable spoof of "Quo Vadis." It is one of Shaw's lightest efforts and there is little that is profound or thought-provoking. That is one of the film's chief charms. Alan Young is well cast as the gentle tailor, and Jean Simmons and Victor Mature provide believable love interest. Top honors go to Robert Newton as the Christian whose strength often overcomes his better nature.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The playoff picture for our grid Orfuns appears elsewhere on this page. Briefly, it shows the group champs as meeting Hamilton Panthers in a two-game series (opening here tomorrow aft) for the O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" championship Hamilton were Canadian champs last year. If Orfuns should take this series to become provincial champions, they'd next meet Ottawa in a sudden-death game for the Eastern Canada title, and that game might be staged here Nov. 15. Winner in the east then would go west to tackle either Fort William or Winnipeg for the Canadian crown on Nov. 22, a sudden-death game. So the next few weeks should be mighty interesting for local football followers.

* * * * * *

Don McGillis, classy outside and pass-receiver of the Orfuns, is in hospital with a ruptured kidney. He'll be out for the rest of the season and certainly missed plenty by Coach Tony Kotowski and the players. Plunging back Bill Huntley is nursing a pulled shoulder tendon, and he may miss the first Hamilton game here Saturday. Both suffered these injuries against Oshawa Raiders in the final group game, a costly victory. But Jerry McGillis and Jack McIntyre may be ready for this next series, and the rest of the squad is in top shape. The six Orillia players—who drive the 160 miles down for each game and get bare expenses—are all set. It's a real amateur club of Canadian players, no one getting any pay for play.

* * * * * *

Grand Game But Costly

Football is a swell autumn sport, but the season is all too short. Runs hardly three months and is overlapped on each side by summer and winter sports. Its very shortness makes football a costly sport, with much expensive equipment and big squads to transport—so it's hoped the fans really rally around Orfuns now and cheer them on in the provincial finals. Injuries take a heavy toll in this hard-hitting game, and medical and hospital bills come high enough. Not since the late 30s have Peterborough fans had any real exciting O.R.F.U. competition until now, so let's get out and back up these gridiron gallants as they face the stiff task of trying to hurdle the 1951 Canadian intermediate "A" champions.

* * * * * *

Football's "Golden Boy" comes here as coach of Hamilton Panthers, none other than Tony Golab. Mighty plunger of a few years ago for Ottawa in the Big Four, Tony was seen here in action several times in 1938 and '39 as one of the starry backs of Sarnia Imperials, Canadian champions of around that period. Bummer Stirling was their peerless punter, and they certainly fielded a potent pack in senior O.R.F.U. and Eastern Canada circles. This loop at the time was as good as the Big Four of pre-war days. We had fine players here then, too, fellows who moved up later to the Big Four, chaps like Don Crowe, Ford Loucks, Pup Curtin, Leo Deadey, Mike Magee, Les Ascott and some more. The war ended senior gridiron play down this way.

Sad Blow To The Ghosts

Cobourg Sentinel columnist writes sadly of the Ghosts' fadeout. Says in part: "Few people can survive a smashing blow such as this. Few teams can stand the shock of having the crown ripped from their brow, the toga torn from their shoulders, and come back again. Perhaps the Ghosts will recover, perhaps they will live to fight again in another year of 'A' campaigning, but if they don't there is one whom they can point to as the Executioner—Jim Milligan, one-time Orillia Bomber, and Saturday's choice for all-star honors in '52. Ghosts bounced back in the final stanza and it was to their credit. But it was like the losing bettor in a crap game who sees his win streak coming just as the game-keeper calls 'make your last bet, gentlemen, we must go home.' It was too late, too late, too late."

* * * * * *

'Tis hockey time again for places with artificial ice. The long grind, sometimes running six months, commences here tonight with an O.H.A. senior "B" scrap slated for Civic Arena. The oldtime puck rivals, Belleville and the Petes, tear into each other to begin the schedule. With but one team here this year—and it's still busy rebuilding—fans can swing in en masse behind the Ellis outfit in an enlarged grouping. We'll be seeing Orillia, Oshawa and Stouffville, as well as Kingston and Belleville, in group play, and that's all to the good for hockey fans. It would be nice to snatch off this first victory at the expense of Alfie Moore's Glens, eh?

Hawks Wallop N.Y. Rangers; Red Wings Trip Bruins 4-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks could be excused if they referred to New York Rangers as cousins. They've been fattening up on Frank Boucher's Blueshirts this young National Hockey League season and last night they had a big feast. The Hawks whipped Blueshirts 8-3, their highest goal total in Chicago since Jan. 28, 1943, when they defeated the same Rangers 10-1. It was their third victory of the season over Rangers and the two points sent them three up on the idle Montreal Canadiens and on Detroit Red Wings who whipped Boston Bruins 4-1 at Detroit.

It was a soft touch for the Hawks. They went ahead 26 seconds after the opening face-off and practically coasted from there in. It was 4-1 at the end of the first period and 5-1 going into the last 20 minutes.

CONACHER SHINES

It also was a big night for rookie Pete Conacher, Hawk forward. The 20-year-old son of the former N.H.L. star and ex-Hawk coach Charlie Conacher scored his first big league goal in each of the third period and added another two minutes.

Jimmy McFadden matched Conacher's two goals and Pete Babando, Gerry Couture, Cal Gardner and George Gee connected for one each.

Herb Dickenson scored Rangers' first goal in the opening period when Hawks were short-handed. Nick Mickowski and Wally Hergesheimer contributed one each near the end of the game.

WINGS SHAKE SLUMP

Red Wings broke their three-game losing streak with a tie-breaking onslaught of three goals in the final period before a crowd of 10,222 at Detroit Olympia.

Fleming Mackell sent Bruins ahead with a first-period goal and Red Kelly matched it early in the second. Metro Prystai, Ted Lindsay and Johnny Wilson shattered the Bruins with goals in the final session.

Only three penalties were issued by Referee Bill Chadwick—all to the Bruins.

TIES RECORD — Montreal Canadiens' celebrated Rocket, Maurice Richard, blasts a sizzler past sprawling Harry Lumley in the Toronto Maple Leafs' net to score his 323rd goal in National Hockey League play. A few minutes later the Rocket scored goal 324 to tie the record set in 1940 by Nels Stewart, former star with Montreal Maroons and New York Americans. Behind Richard is Leaf forward Tod Sloan and, behind him, defenceman Jim Morrison. The Leafs won 7-5 in the game at Toronto.

McNeil To Have Face Operation

MONTREAL (CP)—Gerry McNeil, sturdy, little goal-tender for Montreal Canadiens, is to undergo an operation for fracture and displacement of the right cheek-bone.

He will be out of action indefinitely. His place will be taken, at least temporarily, by Jacques Plante, netminder for Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior League.

McNeil was struck by a puck in Wednesday night's National Hockey League game at Toronto, won by the Maple Leafs 7-5.

The accident occurred in the first period when Ted Kennedy of the Leafs fired a low shot from a scramble of players a few feet outside the goal crease. McNeil dived to the ice to block the shot and caught the puck full on the cheek-bone.

He was taken to the clinic in Maple Leaf Gardens but after a rest, following preliminary examination, insisted on returning to the game. He wore a patch across the injury but his face became badly swollen and his right eye practically closed.

S. Marshall Leads

Shirley Marshall had high three of 752 this week in the Y.M.C.A. senior lasses' bowling circuit, with Irene Penrose rolling high single of 266. All games were won by four points, Glens, Corvettes, Aces and Tigers over Commandos, Hurricanes, Bombers and Lucky Strikes.

Good threes included: Gladys Hamilton 679, Mary Flaherty 675, Dorothy Martin 665, Olive Scott 622, Lil Crocker 616, and Betty Castle 609. Neat singles were Helen Reid 264, S. Marshall 261, G. Hamilton 252, M. Flaherty 251, D. Martin, L. Crocker and Marg Arnold 230 each.

C. Riggs Rolls 335

Charlotte Riggs led girls in the Mercantile Bowling League this week in singles with 335, as Marg Rogers had best triple of 748. Glen Baker topped men with a 303 single and three of 757. Cal Nichols' team rolled high pinnage of 3054. Good scores included: Audrey Fair 276, M. Rogers 313, Lola Thackeray 261, Vera Page 261, Don Penrose 293, Jack Martell 260, and Jim Hamilton 273.

The standing shows Nichols and Braund with 17 points, A. & P. 16, Utilities 14, Neill's 13, Austin's 12, Crowe's 10, Prudential 9, East City Market 6, and A. & P. No. 2 team 5.

Grid Orfuns On The Hunt For Provincial Title And Canadian Playdowns

Three teams remain between Peterborough Orfuns and the Canadian intermediate "A" football championship this autumn. Hamilton Panthers won the Western Ontario group title over Kitchener, Ryerson, E. York and Sarnia; while Orfuns emerged group victors over Cobourg, Oshawa and Kingston. The group champion Hamilton and Peterborough teams now meet for the Ontario title, a two-game series, opening here this Saturday afternoon. Total points count in the game here and the return match in Hamilton the following weekend.

EASTERN SERIES

The Ontario champion grid squad then goes after Eastern Canada honors against the Quebec Football Union. This league consisted of Ottawa, Montreal Lakeshores, Verdun and Westmount, and it was won by Ottawa. Chuck Paull, who came here for a season, is the main Ottawa booter. There is a Northern Ontario group of Kirkland Lake, North Bay and Sudbury—won by the latter—but that winner will only enter Ontario intermediate "B" playdowns against group runners-up (or second best teams) such as Cobourg or Kitchener.

The Eastern Canada victor (whether Peterborough, Hamilton or Ottawa) goes west after the Canadian championship and the Percy Robinson Memorial Trophy, sometimes known as "the little Grey Cup." Out west thre are two groups, one comprising four Manitoba teams and the other being a three-club lakehead group. The latter was won by Fort William which now meets Winnipeg Norwoods in the western final. Winnipeg took it last year but lost out to Hamilton Panthers in the east for the Canadian final.

FINAL NOVEMBER 22

Following this two-game Ontario series between Hamilton Panthers and Peterborough Orfuns, remaining playoff games—that is for the eastern and the Canadian crowns—will be sudden-death games on successive Saturdays, which should put the Dominion final out west on November 22.

The O.R.F.U. is the only football association, with interprovincial playoffs, which is confined solely to Canadian players. It is quite an amateur circuit and none of the Orfuns gets a cent for playing football. Even the half-dozen Orillia boys on the team get bare expenses for driving down and back for games. Yet it is a strong setup, just a step below the senior O.R.F.U. calibre, many senior players dotting the intermediate "A" lineups.

MOST VALUABLE

There is a trophy in the O.R.F.U. intermediate setup for the most valuable player, the John Black Trophy, held jointly from last year by Jim Loreno of Oshawa Raiders and Bill Huntley of the Orfuns. Team members vote on this each year, voting for two members each of their own club and one member of an opposing team.

Peterborough revived intermediate "A" football in 1947 after the game folded up during the war years. The Orfuns won their group title back in 1937 before stepping up to senior ranks for a few years. Usually, in recent years, Cobourg Ghosts have taken group laurels, though their streak was broken a year ago by Oshawa, and this year Peterborough Orfuns won out. In their successful march, they defeated Kingston twice in four-point games, beat Oshawa four times, lost their opener to Cobourg, but won the next two from the Ghosts and tied them in their final meeting.

Schedules Conclude For School Soccer

With the public schools' soccer schedules completed, playoffs will commence shortly. Teams finishing second and third playoff to decide which will meet the first-place team in a sudden-death game for the title in each group. Coaches concerned are to make all arrangements for these games. The final standings:

One-Two Punch Leads Western Football Teams

EDMONTON (CP)—The eyes of Western Canada will be on a couple of guys from Oklahoma tomorrow in the first game of the best-of-three Western football union final.

Indian Jack Jacobs and classy Claude (The Cobra) Arnold will be at the respective throttles of Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Edmonton Eskimos as the first course of the west's blue plate gridiron special is served up in Edmonton's Clarke Stadium.

Strictly speaking it will be Jacobs and Arnold "plus"—because both are the "one" of a one-two passing punch.

Every western football city knows by heart the Bomber one-two, Jacobs to halfback Tom Casey, after watching them light the Bomber fuse for three years.

SETS RECORDS

Jacobs—the peerless passer from the Oklahoma Creek Indian tribe—holds just about every Canadian gridiron passing record. Eskimos hope to stop him and Casey, a Negro ace from New York Yankees from setting any more.

The Eskimo "sock" is a Johnny-come-lately. Big end Rollin Prather played part of the season at tackle until injuries hit the Esks. Later his huge six-foot-two inch, 242-pound bulk was used for blocking and not many passes went his way.

Arnold, after leading Oklahoma Sooners in 1950 during the latter part of a 34-game winning streak, sat out 1951. It took a while before he "found" himself here. Then too, Eskimo coach Frank Filchock quarterbacked part of nearly every game during that season.

Western all-star Prather and Arnold had their night when Eskimos blew Calgary Stampeders down in the spine-tingling second game of the two-game semi-final.

Arnold tossed 22 complete passes out of 35 tries for 391 yards. "Panther" Prather caught 15 of 21 tossed his way. He snagged them one-handed, over his head, and while surrounded by tacklers, for an amazing 270 yards.

Both Jake and Claude will have worries on their minds tomorrow. Jacobs' daughter recently contracted polio in Wisconsin, but is reported recovering. Mrs. Arnold presented him with a new son the night after the 30-7 series-winning triumph over Calgary.

The odds are 7-5 on the Bombers. But the team split scheduled games, Bombers winning 21-18 and with one game a 14-14 saw-off.

Bomber coach George Trafton couldn't be reached for comment last night. Filchock, when asked if he had a prediction for the first game, said: "Nope, I just hope we win."

The second game will be played in Winnipeg, Saturday, Nov. 8, and the third, if necessary, Tuesday, Nov. 11.

INJURED PLAYERS FIT

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Balmy Beach of the Ontario Rugby Football Union will have most of their injured players back in action for Saturday's final game in Sarnia.

Playing coach Gerry Tuttle, who injured his knee half way through the schedule, ran with the team in practice last night. Johnny Pont, Beach half from Canton, O., had his broken hand X-rayed this week and it is reported healing satisfactorily. Pont will be used sparingly Saturday.

Other Beach players who missed last Sunday's exhibition with Oshawa Red Raiders of the intermediate O.R.F.U. but will play Saturday are defensive middle Bob O'Ree and flying wing Barney Bird. Half Ross McKelvey, who broke his ankle six weeks ago, had the cast removed last week and may see some action in the two-game total-point playoff series between Sarnia and the Beaches.

PRENTICE TO RANGERS

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Rangers of the National Hockey League last night brought up 20-year-old Dean Prentice, a wing, from their farm at Guelph, Ont. The Canadian player has been signed by the big league club.

CAPITALS GET ONT. MEN

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Two Ontario players are on the starting line-up of Fredericton Capitals for their opening game Saturday in the New Brunswick Senior Hockey League. Playing coach Morrie Hamilton said last night George Scholes of Toronto and Hamilton will be on the forward line while Norvel Olsen of Port Arthur will work on defence.

BROWNS GET BRECHEEN

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, veteran lefthanded pitcher, yesterday signed a contract with St. Louis Browns after being given his unconditional release by the neighboring Cardinals. Brown officials said Brecheen signed as a pitcher-coach. The veteran southpaw won seven and lost five for the Cards last season.

FIGHT POSTPONED AGAIN

JOHANNESBURGH, South Africa (AP)—The bantamweight title bout between world champion Vic Toweel of South Africa and Jimmy Carruthers of Australia yesterday was postponed again—this ime from Nov. 8 until Nov. 15. Carruthers is in hospital with a toe infection believed caused by an insect bite.

CONLEY SIGNS

BOSTON (AP)—Gene Conley, right-handed pitcher, yesterday became the second Boston Brave to sign a 1953 National League contract. Conley, who trained with the tribe last spring, compiled an 11-4 record after being sent to the Milwaukee American Association farm club.

COUNTS ON TITLE FIGHT

LONDON (AP)—British fight promoter Jack Solomons said yesterday he is "satisfied" Sugar Ray Robinson will fight Britain's Randy Turpin for the world middleweight title. However, if Robinson decides to retire, Solomons will ask boxing authorities to recognize the winner of a Charles Humez-Turpin bout as champion.

BUY ALL TEAM STOCK

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Cleveland Indians have bought the last outstanding stock in the Indianapolis Indians of the American Baseball Association and now have 100-per-cent ownership. Frank E. McKinney, Indianapolis banker and former vice-president of the Indianapolis Club, said yesterday he and Owen J. Bush, former president, have sold to Cleveland the 25-per-cent interest they retained in the original sale a year ago.

SETS TRACK RECORD

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Good Time last night established a Yonkers Raceway track record of 2:00 4-5 for the mile, pacing against the clock in a time trial in his last appearance before entering stud. With Frank Ervin in the sulky, the six-year-old bettered his own mark of 2:01 flat for a half-mile track, set at Yonkers this Oct. 17, and equalled Oct. 23.

Montreal Alouettes Taking New Lease After Victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Alouettes are taking a new lease on life since they upset the league-leading Hamilton Tiger-Cats 21-18 at Montreal last Sunday to post their first victory of the Big Four football season. Now they figure they can take the second-place Toronto Argonauts with only one string attached to the claim.

Stop Ulysses Curtis, the Albion, Mich., flash and the union's top scorer, and the Als can stop the Blues. That's the word from Coach Doug (Peahead) Walker today.

"Curtis has hurt us plenty all season," says Walker. "He's the best ball carrier Toronto has, so if we nail him we'll have their running attack stopped."

The Als have been working on pass defence during the week in expectation that Argonauts' quarter Knobby Wirkowski will let loose a barrage here Sunday. Toronto also has been working on pass defence figuring that Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry will bomb from the air.

VICTORY WOULD HELP

A victory for the Als certainly would help some of the highpriced talent when the time rolls around for talk about contracts, but it would probably come too late to help the Dominion Champion Ottawa Rough Riders who have only a slight mathematical chance of hitting the Big Four playoffs.

The Riders, hard hit by injuries, meet the Tiger-Cats at Hamilton Saturday and a loss would kill any playoff chances they had. The only way Riders could reach the post-season series would be a double victory over Tiger-Cats in their remaining two scheduled games while Toronto lost a twin bill to the botton-placed Als.

Word from the Rider camp is that an injured knee will keep Ted McLarty out of the Saturday game and Bruce Cummings, who has missed drills this week because of an injured ankle, is a doubtful starter.

O.R.F.U. WINDS UP

The Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union schedule winds up at Sarnia Saturday and a victory for the visiting Toronto Balmy Beach club probably would call for a huddle of the union executive. League officials then must decide whether Imps, who now hold a four-point edge over the second-place Beaches, are the union champions or whether the teams ended in a point tie.

Beaches could argue for a point tie, claiming they are entitled to two points when Windsor Royals dropped out of the league for the season a couple of weeks ago, thereby washing out a scheduled Toronto-Windsor game.

For the first time in years, no senior game will be played in Toronto this week-end. University of Toronto Blues, leaders in the Senior Intercollegiate Union, have an open date.

Two college games are on tap. Queen's Golden Gales hard hit by injuries, meet the University of Western Ontario Mustangs at London and McMaster University Marauders from Hamilton, seeking a place in the college group next season, meet McGill Redmen at Montreal.

John Henry Lewis earned very little money by his victory over champion Bob Olin for the world light-heavyweight boxing title 17 years ago tonight. Receipts were only $16,584 and $10,000 went to Olin, who had been guaranteed $15,000. Lewis vacated the title in 1939.

Horse Trainer Dies

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—Robert McGarvey, 64, a race-horse trainer for 36 years, died today from complications of heart disease. McGarvey had been head trainer for Mrs. Emil Denmark's stables since 1946.

JACK CARPENTER, powerhorse lineman of Toronto Argos, is only slightly less damaging than a truck going loaded with gravel. Here's how he looks to opponents. He'll be going along Saturday with the Blues to take on the Montreal Als, currently enjoying a one-game winning streak.

Yankees Defend Waiver System

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees yesterday defended their action in obtaining players by the waiver rules after the trading deadline.

George M. Weiss, Yank general manager, issued a statement declaring the club "never obtained a ball player behind or beyond the rules of baseball."

The major-minor executive council Wednesday recommended a new rule, requiring waivers by all clubs in both leagues before a player can be sold to another major club after July 13. This new rule comes up for a vote at the winter meetings in Phoenix next month.

As the Yanks obtained several National League players by the waiver route en route to four straight pennants, Wednesday recommendation was considered by many as a "stop the Yanks" move.

Children Boo U.K. Embassy In Argentine

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters). — Thousands of Argentine school children paraded through the city centre Thursday with whistles and drums in a demonstration against British claims to the Falkland Islands.

They collected outside the British Embassy to boo and shout anti-British slogans. They wore placards proclaiming "No more meat for Britain unless Britain gives up the Malvinas" (Falkland Islands). The Argentine is the principal source of Britain's meat supply.

The schools were specially closed for the occasion. The Falkland Island issue came to the fore in public opinion this week with Argentine's protest to Uruguay over the area. Uruguay recently appointed a consul to Port Stanley, seat of the British governor of the Falkland Islands. Argentina claims this amounts to recognition of British rights.

A diplomatic courier left today with a second protest note to Uruguay on the consular appointment. Trade and travel between the two countries have been at a standstill since the appointment was made.

New Set-up To Fight Anti-Combines

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government's new anti-combines organization goes into operation tomorrow with a new approach to the whole system of combines investigation.

Wielding wide powers will be a new three-man commission, headed by C. Rhodes Smith, former attorney-general of Manitoba. It will provide a "second chance" for companies and individuals accused of breaking the law to defend their actions before a report on the alleged combine goes to Justice Minister Garson.

Under the old system, Combines Commissioner T. D. MacDonald maintained the roles of detective, prosecuting attorney and judge. He had power to make an inquiry into an alleged price-fixing or monopoly operation, to judge whether the law had been broken and to place a charge in the form of a report before the justice minister.

Under the new set-up, he maintains his function as detective and prosecuting attorney, but is stripped of his powers of judge This now passes into the hands of the commission.

CAN CALL WITNESSES

Authority for him to call witnesses and search offices and company books will be subject to approval of the commission. Once his investigation is completed, the new body will hear argument not only from the investigator, but also from the company or individual accused.

This will give the accused a second chance to defend its actions. It will be up to the commission to judge whether the case warrants reporting to the minister or whether it should be quashed.

It still will be up to the minister to decide whether court action should be launched and still will be mandatory for him to make the report public. He was allowed a maximum of 15 days in which to do so after receiving the report under the old set-up. This is doubled to 30 days under the new.

The new commission, known as the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission, will include Guy Favreau of Montreal and A. S. Whiteley, former deputy combines commissioner, as members.

Mr. MacDonald's new title will be Director of Investigation and Research.

New Mau Mau Killing Found By Police

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP)—Another Mau Mau murder was discovered last night in the Nyeri district 60 miles north of here. The victim was an African who had given evidence against suspected Mau Mau terrorists.

Meanwhile troops and police have rounded up 200 more Africans in raids in the Rift Valley provinces, a government announcement said today.

Britain's colonial secretary, Oliver Lyttelton, will start tomorrow on a fact-finding tour of the Kikuyu tribal reserves, suspected hotbed of the anti-white fanatics.

Dies of Head Injury

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—John Konyu, 49-year-old Mount Brydges district tobacco farmer who was admitted Wednesday to Victoria Hospital with a mystery head injury died last night. Relatives said Konyu complained of a pain in his head Tuesday. Later a Mount Brydges doctor sent him to hospital here with a brain haemorrhage.

Take Back Employees

COLLINGWOOD (CP) — More than 500 men laid off at Midland and Collingwood shipyards because of the steel shortage will be back at worw before Christmas, it was announced yesterday. Harold Walton, vice-president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, said the United States steel strike has caused the loss of quotas of steel but these had been replaced from Canadian supplies.

Approve Plan For Church Union

TORONTO (CP)—The Fellowship of Independent Baptist Churches of Canada yesterday unanimously approved the principles of merging with the Union of Regular Baptist Churches of Ontario and Quebec.

At the three-day convention which ended here yesterday the Fellowship recognized the desirability of the coming together of the Union and the Fellowship provided that fundamentals and basic Baptist principles be preserved.

The convention instructed the Fellowship executive to proceed along the line decided upon and submit in due course the recommended new constitution to the individual churches for their consideration.

Rev. Norman Pite of Simcoe, was re-elected Moderator of the Fellowship. Rev. Donald Loveday of Brantford and A. R. Alloway of Oshawa were elected vice-moderators.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 136

BRITISH IN KENYA—Crewmen of the British cruiser H.M.S. Kenya march through the streets of Mombasa in Kenya colony in a deliberate "show of force" to impress the native Mau Mau terrorists. The British have proclaimed a state of emergency in the colony where 45 murders in the past few months have been attributed to the Mau Mau, a secret society whose members are sworn to drive the white man out of Kenya. The cruiser was ordered to Mombasa from Ceylon at the same time as British troops were flown to Nairobi from the Suez Canal zone to cope with the violence and terrorism.

Canada Sends France New Arms Equipment

OTTAWA (CP) — The French army will receive another shipment of arms this month from Canada, the defence department announced yesterday.

The mutual aid shipment, which will include mortars, ammunition and stores, will be shipped from Montreal and delivered at a French port early in November.

France, Italy, Portugal, Belgium, Norway and the Netherlands have received arms from Canada during the last few months under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Nazi Ghetto Official Given Life Sentence

BERLIN (AP) — Heinrich Schwindt, 62, former Nazi ghetto official at Lodz, Poland, was given a life sentence at hard labor by a West Berlin court yesterday.

He was convicted of having shot or otherwise caused the death of eight Jewish inmates. Originally he was blamed for the deaths of 72 Jews.

Telegram Writer Receives Honors

OTTAWA (CP)—Alan Kent, Toronto Telegram reporter, was one of four Canadian writers taking top honors in the first annual $1,200 aviation writers contest, the Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada announced today.

Kent took first place in the daily newspaper section. James Hornick, Toronto Globe and Mail reporter, took second place.

Robert Francis, Vancouver writer, came first in the Sunday supplement section. Jock Carroll, Toronto bureau chief of Weekend Picture Magazine, came second.

In the technical and trade publications field, Ronald A. Keith, editor of Canadian Aviation Magazine, Toronto, took top honors. Ross Willmot, A. V. Roe's public relations officer, came second.

Andre Saint-Pierre, Montreal La Presse aviation writer, on the $150 prize in the French language section.

Honorable mention went to Mrs. Dorothy Rungeling of Welland, Ont., and the Welland and Port Colborne Evening Tribune for "effective continuous and beneficial promotion of flying in that territory."

Telegram Rates To Be Raised

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Telegraph systems announcent jointly Thursday that rate on telegrams from Canada to United States will be increased approximately 18 per cent beginning Saturday.

The increase was authorized yesterday by the board of transport commissioners at Ottawa.

At the same time, rates charged by the Western Union Telegraph Company for telegrams from the U.S. to Canada will go up as the result of an increase granted by the federal communications commission of the United States.

The announcement said the new Canadian rates are calculated on an air line basis which will eliminate "many inequalities which at present exist." While the average increase is approximately 18 per cent, the rate to the U.S. from some points in Canada will go down as a result of the new basis.

At present, the rate for a 10-word telegram from Montreal to New York is 72 cents. Beginning Saturday, it will be 80 cents.

Will Hear Six Appeals Against Murder Convictions

TORONTO (CP)—Six appeals against murder convictions will be heard at Osgoode Hall within the next few weeks, it is learned. The hearings start Nov. 10.

Unless the appeals are successful, all six men fill be hanged by Jan. 6.

First ot be heard will be Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson, sentenced to die Dec. 16 for the murder of Sergeant of Detectives Edmund Tong. The second appeal will be that of James Kelsey of Welland, convicted of murdering cab-driver Sam Delibasich and sentenced to be hanged Jan. 6.

The other appeals are by George Hladiy of Port Arthur, found guilty of the murder of Josef Panok, whose weighed body was found in the McIntyre River, and sentenced to die Dec. 9; Harry Lee of Hamilton, slated to be hanged Dec. 30 for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Mary Rosenblatt; and Wilfred Laycock of Sturgeon Falls, a semi-recluse sentenced to die Dec. 23 for the murder of Arthur Kierstead.

The Laycock appeal was filed yesterday and is based on five grounds. The defence claims the verdict was against the evidence and against the weight of evidence; that Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow misdirected the jury as to the onus of proof of insanity; and that the trial judge misdirected the jury on the law relating to insanity

Gets 10 Years

TORONTO (CP)—James Regan, 48, yesterday was convicted of wounding his wife with intent to maim and sentenced to 10 years in jail. Regan had been charged with attempting to kill his wife last summer with a butcher knife. Evidence was that he grabbed her by the throat and cut her about the head with a knife.

25 Persons Homeless

ARNPRIOR (CP)—Seven families—a total of 25 persons—lost their homes and possessions last night when fire destroyed an apartment building at Sand Point, six miles west of here. Loss was estimated at more than $25,000.

Convict Salesman Of Assault

OTTAWA (CP)—A county court jury yesterday convicted George Lundy Tilley, 54-year-old Toronto salesman, of indecent assault on a eight-year-old Ottawa girl

Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier promptly moved to have Tilley declared a criminal sexual psychopath. Judge John P. Madden will deal with that motion Nov 10.

If the crown application succeeds Tilley could be sent to penitentiary for an indefinite period with his case coming up for review every three years. Such action would be taken under an amendment to the criminal code made almost two years ago

Tilley said he will appeal his conviction.

Finds Blood Donors

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Dan Donahur wanted to help in Korea. He knew that his age of 87 would keep him from carrying a gun. So he started a door-to-door canvass for blood donors. In two weeks he signed up 92 pledges. "It's the biggest and best job of my life," he said.

Jolliffe Lashes Frost Statement

EGANVILLE (CP)—An attack on the Frost regime in Ontario was made last night by E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader.

Speaking to a public meeting held by the South Renfrew C.C.F. Association he termed a recent statement by Premier Frost that the people of Ontario should tighten their belts and stop asking Queen's Park for help as "the kind of brush-off people will get from governments with swollen surpluses, swollen majorities and swollen heads."

Referring to the recent tax deal with Ottawa under which corporation profit taxes in Ontario will be reduced Mr. Jolliffe said tax cuts came first to those who needed it least.

"Our system of assessments, grants and the division of responsibility between local government and the province has broken down," said Mr. Jolliffe.

Get Long Terms

MONTREAL (CP) — William Whiteford and John Lionel Barnes, convicted of attempted murder, were sentenced yesterday to 20 years in penitentiary. Whiteford and Barnes were charged after firing at a policeman attempting to arrest them during a hold-up of a St. Catharine Street candy store May last.

Convicted of Murder

DRUMHELLER, Alta. (CP)—Viggo Petersen, 56, Drumheller, was found guilty by a jury yesterday of the murder of his wife and was sentenced to be hanged next Jan. 21. Mrs. Petersen was found dead in her apartment here Sept. 10. Her husband in another room was found bleeding from a gashed throat and wrists.

Hotelman Dies

KINGSTON (CP)—Fred Cox, 47, for the last three years operator of the Lakeview Manor hotel at nearby Portsmouth, died Wednesday. Born in England, Mr. Cox received his early education in St. Thomas. Survivors include a sister, Mrs. George Swartz of St. Thomas.

Send Raw Materials To Britain Drew Plan

WINNIPEG (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said yesterday that wholesale export of raw materials to the United States is "akin to export of employment."

Mr. Drew, on a tour of Manitoba, addressed the Winnipeg Empire Club at a luncheon.

He stressed he was not "knowing trade" with the U.S. and was fully aware of the important defence program in the country. He added:

"If our first interest is Canada, then the first requirement of Canadian statesmanship is the exploitation of our natural resources to create markets of employment in our country."

Name Stenographer As Miss Alouette

MONTREAL (CP)—Suzanne Lafond, 20-year-old Montreal stenographer, last night was chosen Miss Alouette and will compete in the East-West final for the title of Miss Grey Cup senior for the grid classic at the end of the season.

The five-foot, eight-inch, 110-pound blonde was chosen from 17 semi-finalists by the junior Chamber of Commerce to represent the luckless Larks at the game.

Miss Grey Cup will be chosen at the annual cup dinner on the eve of the game.

Could Charge Bell

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Independent Telephone Association wants to charge the Bell Telephone Company for bills collected on its behalf. The annual convention yesterday reaffirmed the decision of the board of governors to ask the board of transport for permission to make the charge. Earle H. Moore of Orton was elected president. Other officers are: Spencer McConnell, Port Burwell, vice-president; Karl Austin, Wooler, James W. Thompson, Buckingham, Que., Ross McEwing, Drayton, and D. McKelvie, New Liskeard, directors.

Find Demand Good For Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Western Canada's record wheat crop not only has been harvested in good condition, but demand is excellent and export sales are being made in record volume.

An official of the Canadian Wheat Board yesterday confirmed reports that forward sales—commitments made to ship wheat to other countries in future months—are heavier than at any time in history.

The port of Vancouver is "booked solid" until the end of the crop year, July 31, 1953, and the wheat board said it now is turning down business calling for shipments through the Pacific coast port.

A similar situation is rapidly being reached in connection with export sales for shipment through Eastern ports.

G.T.W. Appointment

MONTREAL (CP) — Samuel Joseph Massey, Jr., former terminal superintendent of Illinois Central Railroad at New Orleans, has been appointed general manager of the Grand Trunk Western Railway with headquarters in Detroit, the Canadian national railways announces. He succeeds A. C. McCarthy, on leave of absence due to illness.

RECEIVES DEGREE—Governor-General Vincent Massey receives the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the University of Manitoba's 75th anniversary convocation at Winnipeg. The degree was conferred by Victor Sifton (right), president and publisher of the Winnipeg Free Press, who was installed officially as chancellor of the university. Fourteen degrees, including one to Mr. Sifton, were conferred.

Korean Veteran Hears Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—A Canadian veteran of fighting in Korea yesterday sat in on the Korean debate in the United Nations.

Lt.-Col E. D. Danby of Vancouver and Ottawa was among the group of 32 members of the National Defence College at Kingston, Ont., here on a three-day visit to study the U.N. The group includes representatives of the army, navy and air force and several departments of the Canadian government.

Air Vice-Marshal C. R. Dunlap, college commandant, heads the party. The group will hear lectures here from members of the Canadian delegation as well as watching the U.N. in action.

Assessment Plea

ST. THOMAS (CP)—R. P. Quance, Norfolk county assessor, said yesterday the Ontario government should establish a department of municipal assessment with a provincial assessor and inspectors named on a zonal basis. He addressed a joint meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture's taxation committee and the Elgin County Assessors' Association.

Car Hits Abutment 2 People Killed

CHATHAM (CP)—Michael John Dunda, 29, and Elizabeth Martha Vellinga, 17, were killed Thursday when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a bridge abutment near here.

Dunda, survived by his widow and two young children, moved to Chatham from Windsor, Ont., in 1948. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dunda, live in Windsor. He was Chatham manager of the Johnston - Turner Electric Company.

Surviving Miss Vellinga are eight brothers and a sister.

Gets 4 Years In Pen On Theft Charges

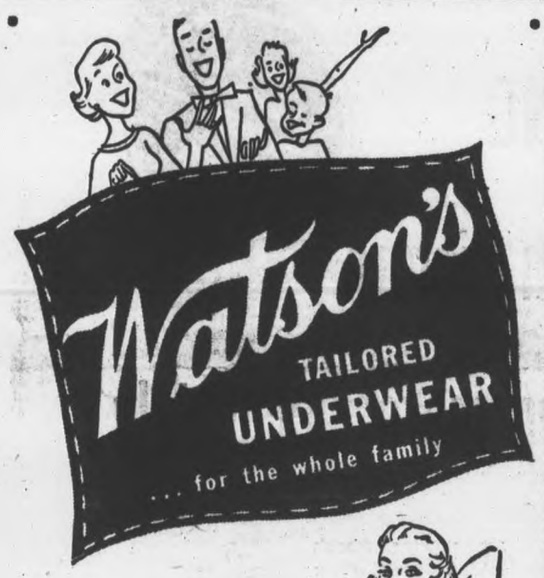
SARNIA (CP)—Charles Kenneth Dale, Thursday was sentenced to four years in penitentiary on charges of auto theft, breaking custody, retaining stolen goods and theft of licence plates.

Dale escaped from a city detective while on the way to Sarnia on a train last July 13 and stole a 1946 model car here July 16, police said.

Net Income Hits 41 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Corp. reports its net income for the first nine months of 1952, including the period of the long steel strike, amounted to $41,421,705, equal to $3.81 a common share. This compared with $67,155,347, or $6.50 a share, in the same 1951 period.

Directors meeting here yesterday declared a dividend of $1 a share on common stock, the same as in previous quarters, payable Dec. 1 to holders of record Nov. 10



Chairman E. C. Grace said Bethlehem would not have any ore shortage this winter, and did not expect to have to make any ore shipments by rail.

The company expects to bring more than 2,000,000 tons of ore from its Venezuela property this year.

The ore deposit Bethlehem is developing at Marmora, Ont., Grace said, is expected eventually to produce about 500,000 tons a year.

Do Land-Office Business As New Map Goes On Sale

OTTAWA (CP)—A land-office business opened yesterday in a dingy set of offices on lower-town Sussex Street. For the first time in nearly 25 years, Canada was selling a new map of Canada.

Previously publicity on the map has drawn hundreds of queries from many parts of this country and many points abroad.

A fairly good map of Canada, dated 1947 but revised since, hangs on many office walls. It is bigger than the new model, which doesn't replace it. Its dimensions are approximately 58 by 40 inches. The new map is about 40 by 36.

Main difference in the new edition is that it covers Canada up to the North Pole—the 1947 map only goes to about the 77th parallel—and that it is accurate to within one per cent in all dimensions and directions.

GIVES TRUER PICTURE

The old map is just about as accurate between the Northwest Territories' southern border and the United States boundary. The new one gives a truer picture of what belongs to Canada.

It shows some new islands in the Arctic and various lakes, inlets and bays which were not accurately defined before. Behind its production, lies years of aerial photography by the R.C.A.F.

Salesmen for the map are the officials of the map distribution branch, department of mines and technical surveys, and 304 Sussex Street, Ottawa. The officials warn that all requests for maps be accompanied by its price, 50 cents.

Twelve Casualties Posted On Army's 149th List

OTTAWA (CP)—The Army Thursday issued its 149th list of casualties of the Korean war, three days after reporting 66 casualties in last week's battle for Little Gibraltar Hill.

Today's list reported one killed in action, one dead of wounds, three missing in action and seven wounded in action.

Eight of the 12 men listed were members of the Royal Canadian Regiment and were casualties of the Little Gibraltar battle in which only a handful of a company of the regiment escaped without casualty.

With the addition of those listed today, Canada's 25th Infantry Brigade serving with the Commonwealth Division in Korea, has suffered a total of 1,209 casualties. They include 224 dead, 871 wounded, 30 missing, 83 injured and one prisoner of war.

70 CASUALTIES

In the Little Gibraltar action, heaviest in which Canadian troops in Korea have participated, the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and the Royal 22nd Regiment suffered at least 70 casualties, including at least 16 dead, 16 missing, 34 wounded and nine injured.

Ontario casualties:

Killed in action—Stainsby, Ronald, Pte.; R.C.R.; Hamilton.

Died of wounds—Millar, Robert Elman, Pte.; R.C.R.; Toronto.

Missing in action—Bell, William, L.Cpl.; R.C.R.; Toronto.

Fields, Eugene Joseph Richard, Pte.; R.C.R.; Windsor, Ont.

Rothwell, Thomas Edward, Pte.; Walkerton; R.C.R.; Mrs. Marion Rothwell (Wife), Dundas.

Driving Charge Dismissed On Technicality

BANCROFT (ENS)— A charge of careless driving against Clarence Thompson, 57, of St. Ola, was dismissed Wednesday by Magistrate R. C. Jackson of Madoc.

The charge arose out of an accident September 2 in which 25-year-old Gordon S. O'Brien of Toronto died of injuries.

Reason for dismissal was that the magistrate earlier adjourned charge more than eight days without the consent of the accused or his lawyer. Defence counsel Ronald Cass argued the case was outside the magistrate's jurisdiction because of the long adjournment.

CRASHED HEAD-ON

The accident took place on the road to Lake St. Peter three-and-a-half miles north of Maynooth. The two cars, driven by Thompson and O'Brien, crashed head-on. O'Brien was rushed to Bancroft Red Cross Hospital, and later was taken to Peterborough Civic Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Scene of the accident is a curve on a hill with a blind spot to the south.

Thompson suffered only slight injuries when his heavier car demolished the lighter, rented car driven by O'Brien. O'Brien's uncle, John (Phonse) Shevlin, 303 Frederick Ave., Peterborough, was in serious condition at Civic Hospital for some time after the crash.

Two Fliers Killed In Alberta Crash

CLARESHOLM, Alta (CP)—A Claresholm-based R.C.A.F. training plane crashed two miles north of here yesterday, killing a student pilot and his instructor. Their names have not been released.

The Harvard training craft plunged into a farmer's field near the station. Claresholm is 75 miles south of Calgary.

3rd Battalion Reaches Division

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—The 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, reached the Commonwealth Division area Thursday to replace the 1st Battalion going home soon after a year in Korea.

The 3rd reached Pusan yesterday and rode overnight by train to the division area. Trucks carried them to the 1st Battalion's rear area where they were given a hot meal in a tent city prepared to receive them.

The process of turning over command was begun immediately. The 1st Battalion will provide some men who are not qualified for rotation and have been trained as specialists. They will act as mortar-men, machine-gunners, anti-tank gunners, pioneers, signallers, drivers and ambulance men for the third.

Major Stewart Dyment of Toronto, the 1st Patricias' second-in-command, said: "We are doing our utmost to ensure that when we leave the 1st will be fighting-fit."

Meanwhile the 1st Battalion preened for the trip home. Every man has been fitted with new battledress. Badges, flashes and ribbons have been sewn on in conformity with unit regulations.

On the way home, the 1st proposes to observe Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, in Pusan.

Jailed 30 Years On Three Charges

WINNIPEG (CP) — Alexander Zakopiac, 32, Wednesday was sentenced to 30 years in prison after he was convicted by an assize court jury of charges of attempted murder, shooting with intent and armed robbery.

The charges were laid in connection with a Winnipeg bank holdup and subsequent gun battle.

The Canadian Press erroneously reported Thursday that Zakopiac was convicted of two charges of attempted murder.

May Halt Work On Project For Winter

SARNIA (CP) — Construction work throughout Chemical Valley may be halted for the winter unless 2,800 union men now picketing six defence housing projects return to their jobs, a spokesman for Chemical Valley Contractors' Association said last night.

The men started picketing as a protest against employment of non-union labor from outside Sarnia on the project. The companies involved are from out of town and not members of the C.V.C.A.

The association has union contracts with all union trades in the district and hires men through A.F.L. union offices.

Found Dead In Shed

DUNGANNON (CP) — Frances Maclean, 72-year-old retired principal of Lucknow high school, was found dead in a shed behind her home yesterday by her elder sister who got up from a sickbed to look for her. Lilly Maclean found the woman when she went to investigate after not hearing Frances for some time. Dr. M. Coran of Licknow said the woman died of a heart attack.

Awarded Damages

KITCHENER (CP)—John Trabenik of Blair was awarded $249 damages in county court yesterday in an action arising from an accident a year ago. The plaintiff told the court his truck received $264 damages when he was involved in an accident with David Murdock of Priceville and he had to pay $35 rent for another vehicle to carry on his business.

WHY does Westinghouse SINGLE DIAL TUNING select and hold both picture and sound easier and more accurately?

No matter what sort of picture any TV receiver could give you, what you actually get depends largely on the tuning. Westinghouse Single Dial Tuning puts you in instant command of your set and brings in a better picture — with sound automatically synchronised — even if you have never tuned Television before.

This convenience is an advantage in itself, but there's more to tuning than just turning a knob; you choose the programme, but the set has to find it and bring it in. If it doesn't, no amount of fancy technical talk can hide the fact. Good tuning will pick up and build up even a fringe signal properly — it is "sensitive". It will pick out the signal you choose while filtering out unwanted conflicting signals — it is "selective". It will stay tuned without fade or drift once the signal is correctly selected — it is "stable". Sensitivity, selectivity and stability are engineered and built into every Westinghouse TV receiver, and for that reason Westinghouse Single Dial tuning selects and holds both picture and sound easier and more accurately.

The "Crofton" (Model 21TV5C) — 3-Way combination of 21-inch television, standard and short wave radio, and 3-speed record player. Contemporary cabinet in walnut, mahogany, or blond mahogany. In walnut at $950.00.

watch Westinghouse TELEVISION.

A Model . . . A Price . . . For Everyone. Regardless of the price, or size of screen you want — 17", 21", or 24", there's a set to suit you in the wide Westinghouse selection of modern and period designs — prices from $319.50 to $1,000.00. Your Westinghouse dealer will be glad to show you the full line, and will arrange installation on terms to suit your requirements so that you won't miss any of the wonderful TV entertainment during the long winter evenings ahead.

Canadians In Korea Expect Intense Cold, Heavy Snow

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP)—Canadian troops of the 25th Infantry Brigade are all set for winter.

This will be the army's third winter in Korea, and the preceding two provided plenty of useful hints.

Planners also have drawn on 1950's exercise "Sweetbriar" in the Canadian north, the 1944 Normandy landings and experience in veterans' hospitals for lessons. A new Canadian army winter boot is to be tried out.

Korean wise men say the dry summer, following upon last winter's unusual mildness, will be followed inevitably this winter by intense cold and heavy snow.

COLD AT NIGHT

Already the thermometer falls to between 10 and 20 degrees at night, but troops still peel down to shirt-sleeves by day, when the mercury rises to between 60 and 70.

The cost of all winter gear has risen. Outfitting today's Canadian soldier for winter service costs more than $300.

Already the brigade has been issued battle-dress, woollen sweaters and shirts, scarves, winter caps and gloves, and its new British boots.

The British army's boot "C.W.W." (cold wet weather) was first tried out by the brigade last winter, when 1,000 pairs were bought. Solidly built, with insulated soles and reinforced toe-caps, they're priced at $28 a pair.

NEW CANADIAN BOOT

The new Canadian boot, known as the "Y-52," will be tried by 500 soldiers in the infantry, armoured and engineer corps. It is an anklet-type boot in black leather, is water-proof to a greater wading depth than other types, gives firmer ankle support and is considered neater.

Another British army wrinkle to be adopted by the Canadians is "self-heating soup."

First devised for the Normandy landings, the tin has a cylinder down the middle in which is a chemically-treated wick. Seconds after being lit the wick has burned itself out and the soup is ready for the soldier's mess tin.

From exercise "Sweetbriar" comes the "Yukon" stove, a squat, almost square-shaped contraption 20 inches wide and six inches deep. Gasoline-fed, it is designed for five-man tents. The larger squad tents will each have one of the larger, pot-bellied "space heaters" previously issued over here.

FIGHT MALARIA

News from Canada that 700 veterans of the Korean war have developed malaria during the last year is keeping palludrine tablets as a daily "must."

Usually the tablets are dispensed with during winter months when the malaria-bearing mosquitoes disappear. However, since the Korean type of malaria appears capable of lying dormant eight or nine months before striking, the tablets will continue to be taken.

Soldiers will not receive their parkas and wind pants until Nov. 15, when the weather begins to get really nasty.-

Cattle Trade Slow During Week

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle trade was slow this week at the Ontario stockyards and prices were unchanged. Fresh receipts included 1,900 head of western cattle. Calf, hog, sheep and lamb prices were steady. The holdover at the close was 500 cattle.

Cattle receipts totalled 6,546 head. Choice weighty and heavy steers sold at $24-26.50 with medium to good at $21-25 and common to medium light steers and heifers at $12-18. Good light steers were at $21-23 and good heifers at $18.50-19. Few yearlings sold at $17-23 with a few choice at $24-25. Good cows brought $11-12 and canners and cutters $8-11. Good bulls made $13-14 with common downward to $10.

Medium to good stockers were steady at $17-20 and plain stockers at $13-16.

Calf receipts were 2,331. Choice veal calves closed at $26-29 with common to medium at $13-25. Grassers for slaughter brought $13-17 and stock calves $20-22.25.

Hogs totalled 4,054. Grade a hogs were steady at $26 with dressed sows at $17.

Sheep and lamb receipts totalled 3,532 head. Good ewes and wethers sold at $22 delivered by rail and at $21 by truck. Bucks brought $20 and heavies $18-20. Culls were at $15-19. A few good light sheep sold at $7-10 with heavies and culls downward to $4.

Mines Dept. Makes Statement On Deposits

SUDBURY (CP)—A report on Sudbury's recently-staked deposits of the refractory ceramic mineral, kyanite, has been issued by Dr. D. F. Hewitt of the Ontario Department of Mines.

Dr. Hewitt examined the 44-claim block on Highway No. 17 between Wahnapitae and Stinson this fall.

His report describes the deposits, along with those north of Mattawa, as "particularly interesting" and suggests they warrant commercial development.

The ground was originally staked in June and July by A. E. McVittie, J. R. Cryderman, J. P. McVittie, Fred Chubb and O. Maki, but the main deposits now are held by Hyle Mining Company, a subsidiary of Ventures Limited.

Blamed On Combustion

TORONTO (CP)—An $8,500 fire blamed on spontaneous combustion last night damaged the National Yacht Club members' boathouse and its contents.

BEEF SANDWICHED — City life was too much for this steer. After escaping from the Chicago stockyards he wandered through several stores, was hit by two autos, and finally was captured when he became sandwiched between two buildings. Boys in background are taking no chances on the steer backing up.

HOLD UNION VOTE

About 160 ironworkers employed at the Marmora Bethlehem Mines, are voting today on whether or not they want to belong to the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Indep.). Interested spectators will be the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), bitter rivals of Mine-Mill, who will probably make a bid for the bargaining rights if Mine-Mill fail to get a majority.

FINISH UNDERGROUND WIRING

The contracting firm has completed its work on the laying of underground wiring on the west side of George St. between Hunter and Simcoe Sts., Utilities manager Ross L. Dobbin reported to the Utilities Commission Thursday. He said the new Metropolitan Building is being serviced by the new system.

PLANT OPERATING AGAIN

Lindsay's sewage plant began operating again Tuesday after being shut down early in the month, when a boiler blew out. This was the second breakdown of the plant within a few weeks, as there was a similar breakdown in September. On the recommendation of an engineer consultant an oil burner has been installed. Now during a power cut-off, the flow of fuel will be stopped. It is believed the other breakdowns were the result of the coal-fired boiler not being shut off during power failures.

Dr. H. N. Young Will Retire From Council

Six years of municipal experience will be withdrawn from the sessions of the council with the retirement of Ald. Herbert N. Young at Dec. 31.

"I feel that I have done my duty to the city and people, and I have no other ambitions in that direction," Ald. Young said today, confirming the reports that have been heard since the news that Ald. J. E. Gillespie would not consider another term was published this week.

Ald. Young said he had been mentioning his intentions to members of the council and others because it was quite definite that he would not accept another nomination.

Aldermen will agree with Dr. Young that his profession does interrupt his municipal appointments, as they have observed from the number of times he has been called by telephone from council and committee meetings.

That, in brief, is the position of Ald. Young, now a senior member of the council. "I went into the council, when I was elected, in a sense of trying to do a citizen's duty, and now I feel that some one else should come along and take my place. I believe in making an early announcement in order that others might do some thinking about it."

SIX YEARS

Ald. Young has been six years a member of the council, and has been chairman of the legal and reception committee for the last two years; and Ald. J. E. Gillespie has been four years in the civic service, currently chairman of the Board of Works.

The other members whose two-year terms are expiring are: Aldermen Harold T. Rehill, A. B. Burrows and Wm. J. Beggs.

Ald. Beggs was appointed by the council last spring in the place of Norman Graham who retired.

Engineers Hired To Decide Waterworks Pipe Dispute

A firm of consulting enginers is being engaged to settle a question that has touched off an argument between Commissioner Gordon R. Langley and Manager Ross L. Dobbin at the last two Utilities Commission meetings. When the question of whether the commission should be using cast iron or transite (cement asbestos) pipe for its waterworks distribution system came up Thursday for further discussion, Dr. Langley and Mr. Dobbin reaffirmed the position they took at the previous meeting.

Both men are engineers, but Dr. Langley is in favor of changing to trahsite pipe because he says it would cost less to instal it, while Mr. Dobbin believes cast iron pipe does the best job.

HAVE INVESTIGATED

"I will never recommend it (transite pipe)" Mr. Dobbin told the commission. He added that the question of which type of pipe was best had been investigated thoroughly by the commission already. Transite pipe is nothing new, continued Mr. Dobbin. He said he had been talking to other utilities men where transite has been used and their experience confirmed his opinion that cast iron water pipe was best, for water works.

Dr. Langley stated at the previous meeting he had investigated the merits of the two kinds of pipes and found there were several municipalities in this area using it. Kitchener being one city he mentioned which is approximately the size of Peterborough.

He said he had been talking to the superintendent of Port Perry waterworks where some seven miles of it are in use and he is completely sold on it, Dr. Langley told the commission.

The big point in favor of transite pipe, according to Dr. Langley, is that it can be installed from 10 to 15 per cent. cheaper than cast iron pipe, and in some cases, the saving has amounted to 20 per cent., he claims. This, says Dr. Langley, is a saving that the commission cannot afford to overlook.

At the last meeting, Dr. Langley succeeded in getting the commission to approve a resolution that no more cast iron pipe be purchased until the matter is settled.

BETTER IN CITY

When the matter was discussed first, Mr. Dobbin pointed out that cast iron water pipe laid in the city more than half a century ago was still operating efficiently and that some transite pipe which was laid here had not been satisfactory.

Mr. Dobbin said he was taking the position that if the commission wanted to recommend changing to transite pipe, it was up to them.

It was decided at the last meeting to find out from other municipalities using it, what they thought of the relative merits of the two kinds. However, Dr. Lang-

WILSON GEMMELL

Wilson Gemmell Heads Kiwanis

Wilson Gemmell, Peterborough bank manager, on Thursday was elected president of the Kiwanis Club for 1952-1953. He succeeds Walter H. Howell.

Mr. Gemmell was first vice-president last year and now he moves up to the presidency. Robert Bastable is the new first vice - president, and George Cheatle the new second vice-president.

Thomas T. Rodger was returned as treasurer.

Seven directors were also elected. John Madden headed the poll. Others were William Hickey, James Lillico, Arthur Malby, Douglas McGregor, Rufus Payne, and Leslie Reichardt.

While the balloting went on at the weekly luncheon, President-elect Gemmell and Past President Howell reported on the recent Ontario - Quebec - Maritime Kiwanis convention in Quebec City.

Gordon Hancock presided during the election of executive officers and directors. A secretary will be elected later.

HOSPITAL ADDITION

Oshawa city council will submit to property owners a request from the directors of Oshawa General Hospital a bylaw to borrow $850,000 for the building of a 100-bed addition. Election day is December 1. Ernest Marks is chairman of the hospital board. Estimated total cost is $1,350,000.

Pay Interest 20 Years Only Matthews Says

Whether they were sold early or late, interest on the $300,000 debentures for the addition to the filtration plant will have to be paid for 20 years and 20 years only.

This was the answer of Utilities Commission chairman G. S. Matthews, to commissioner Dr. Gordon R. Langley who claims approximately $10,000 in interest costs has been wasted because the bonds were issued too soon.

The issue which first came up at the last meeting of the Utilities Commission sparked a heated discussion Thursday when the secretary's report of last meeting was read.

"The debentures were sold at a premium. If they were sold now, it would be at a discount. On 20 year debentures we pay interest twice yearly and for 20 years only," said Mr. Matthews. "How could we lose $10,000 if the debentures were issued six months ahead of time?"

Discounting this explanation, Dr. Langley replied, "The only thing that will back up that argument would be if Peterborough's credit had deteriorated which it hasn't."

LIES IN BANK

Dr. Langley repeated his previous statement that it had been wrong to sell the bonds six months before the money was needed and pay interest on it while it lies idle in the bank.

Regardless of the average rate of municipal bond yield now, as compared to June, Dr. Langley said "the ratio of the rate likely to be obtained by Peterborough should remain constant, provided Peterborough's credit rating has not changed in the interim. Hence if we obtained a premium on May 1, we would undoubtedly obtain a similar permium today."

At this point, both chairman Matthews and commissioner Fred Hills said they questioned Dr. Langley's analysis of the situation and Mr. Matthews advised him to check with the city auditor.

Mr. Matthews repeated that interest was being paid for only 20 years and that being on the board of directors of a trust company, he was in a position of having confidential information and considered "that the financing was well done".

"Anyway you were on the commission when the bonds were issued," Mr. Matthews reminded commissioner Langley.

"We ask for the bonds to be issued for construction to start in the fall of 1952. The next thing I knew, I read the statement the bonds had been sold," replied Dr. Langley.

Dr. Langley summed up his position in these words following the meeting, "If $300,000 or any sum is obtained sooner than it is required, obviously there is a waste proportionate to the time [illegible] until the installation made, it is immaterial that the issue is for 20 years."

Hobbs Men Get Increase Strike Over

10-Cent Wage Jump Tops List Of Contract Details

The strike of 11 workers at the Hobbs Glass plant on Sherbrooke St. is over.

Agreement was reached late Thursday after a five-hour meeting between management and the negotiating committee of Local 527, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.)

The settlement includes a 10-cent-an-hour general wage increase for the glaziers, store front mechanics and cutters who form the bargaining unit. This makes a total of 20 cents an hour since last March.

RECLASSIFY JOBS

Other details of the one-year contract that will date from Nov. 1:

A reclassification of jobs and an increase in rates, giving some employees as much as 25 cents an hour as a result of the settlement.

Seven statutory holidays with pay instead of the previous five.

Daily overtime after eight hours instead of overtime being calculated weekly on a 40-hour basis.

Seniority continues for six months after a worker is laid off. There was no seniority before.

Voluntary revocable checkoff.

And amendments to a number of other clauses, including the controversial ones on management's rights.

The workers went back to their jobs Thursday morning after two days of picketing. The understanding was that the two parties should meet and try to reach agreement during the day. And this was accomplished by 5:30 p.m. after five hours of give-and-take in the committee rooms at the Empress Hotel.

13-MONTH WRANGLE

Negotiations between the two parties had been dragging on for 13 months. The union was certified as the bargaining agent in September, 1951.

In March of this year A. C. Dennis, conciliation officer of the Ontario Labor Relations Board, recommended an increase of 10 cents an hour. This was done by the company.

Local 527 decided this was not enough and they wanted some changes in the proposed contract.

A conciliation board, under the chairmanship of Judge W. S. Lane of Picton, recommended no further wage increase. So, after waiting eight days after the conciliation board's report, the union declared a strike.

The work stoppage lasted only two days. During that time the men set up a picket line and on Tuesday—the first day of the strike—they had two scuffles. A truck had to have a police escort to get through the picket line after the windshield had been smashed in a previous attempt. And a contractor got a punch on the shoulder when he left the plant with some glass.

GLAD IT'S OVER

Today both parties said they were glad the brief strike was over.

"It wasn't our intention to have this unpleasant feeling," said James S. Hendry, Peterborough manager of the Hobbs Glass division. "As far as negotiations bogging down are concerned, we feel the responsibility is about 50-50. Now that's it all over we're pleased that we have a very amicable settlement."

Len Velleman, U.E. district organizer, said that the proposals were accepted Thursday night at a meeting of the strikers at the union hall.

The union negotiating team included Gordon Haylock, chief steward; Norman Edwards, Richard Baldwin; assisted by Mr. Velleman and C. R. Sullivan, U. E. area representative. Mr. Hendry and Col. A. S. Pearson, vice-president of Canadian Pittsburgh Industries, negotiated for management.

ALD. H. N. YOUNG, M.D., today said that he thought he had served long enough on the city council and that he would not be seeking a fourth term on the council.

ALD. JAMES E. GILLESPIE announced earlier this week that he would not run again for a seat on the city council. He said press of business forced his retirement.

Someone Blundered

Deer hunters and license issuers have been unecessarily disturbed according to a recent ruling passed out by the Department of Lands and Forests, Wildlife Chief Dr. W. H. K. Harkness said by phone on Friday. That deer hunters are required to buy a $1 gun license as well as the $5 deer hunting license at the same time, is not correct. This information reached the Peterborough Examiner by telephone just after the original ruling had gone to press Thursday afternoon. Lands and Forests heads are sorry for the confusion it may have caused.

Student Pilot Killed In Alberta

Garth Jopling Dies On Training Flight On 21st Birthday

On his 21st birthday Flight Cadet Garthorne (Garth) Blaine Jopling, a son of Mrs. Madeline Jopling, 380 Armstrong Drive, was killed Thursday during a training flight from the R.C.A.F. base at Claresholm, Alberta.

Also killed in the crash was an instructor, on loan to Canada under N. A. T. O. commitments from France. The acident occurred two miles north of Claresholm which is 75 miles south of Calgary.

First news of the plane crash reached Mrs. Jopling at 7:30 a.m. today over a radio newscast when she heard that a training plane had crashed in Alberta. Acting on a hunch she immediately sent a telegram to her son at Claresholm. Later this morning she was informed by telegram from the R.C.A.F. that her son had been killed in the accident.

WENT INTO SPIN

Details regarding the accident are scarce. It is believed the plane went into a spin and plunged into a farmer's field near the station R.C.A.F. officials are withholding further details until the accident can be investigated.

A popular student around P.C.V.S. several years ago Jopling joined the R.C.A.F. as a pilot last March. He took his preliminary instruction at London, Ont., and since June has been stationed at the Alberta base.

Jopling was with former school pals, Al McIlraith and Bill Coon, in the western province and only in September spent a leave home in Peterborough with his mother and friends.

The fact that Jopling was with an instructor surprised the family for he has been soloing.

In recent letters he mentioned a new French instructor for night flying.

It is believed that the instructor in the plane was that instructor who is with the R.C.A.F. as part of France's N.A.T.O. plans. The instructor is survived by his wife who lives now in Alberta.

Born in Peterborough, Jopling received elementary education at Prince of Wales and Queen Mary school, obtaining his secondary education from P.C.V.S. After graduating with his senior ma-

Son of Re-Echo May Burke Tops All-Canadian Holstein Sale at $5,100 . . . Peterborough Federation Annual Tuesday, Nov. 4 . . . Ken Moncrief Heads County Cream Producers . . . New O.A.C. Soils Bulletins at F. C. Paterson's Office.

Highest price at the All-Canadian Holstein sale Monday at the Coliseum, Toronto, was $5,100 paid by Massey-Harris Farms, Milliken, Ont., to S. N. Roman of King, for Romandale Re-Echo Reflection, six months old son of Re-Echo May Burke.

Of special interest to the Peterborough district group of members of Maple Cattle Breeders Association is the fact that this top animal of the sale is a three-quarter brother of one of the bulls Norman McConkey sold to Maple.

A report of the sale recalls that Re-Echo May Burke has been classified as Excellent, the highest attainable rating for conformation, and has been the Canadian champion for yearly production of milk with 35,314 lbs. and 1,261 lbs. butterfat.

John Powell of Brantford in his comment on this item of the sale, is: "This bull (Re-Echo Reflection) is thus the highest record bull ever sold in the All-Canadian series." His relationship with the Maple bull should be fresh encouragement of sire quality to the district members of that association.

LIFLOC FARM COW

It is remembered that Mr. McConkey sold Re-Echo May Burke to John Houck of Brampton. In his possession she won her title as a world champion producer. Her daughter Lifloc Macaber Re-Echo, bred and owned by Mr. McConkey, became early in 1951 world champion for milk in the senior four-year-old class of the 305-day division on three times a day milking with 27,978 lbs. milk containing 995 lbs. fat, and average test 3.56 per cent butterfat. Continued on test for the full year, she produced 31,058 lbs. milk and 1,132 lbs. butterfat, average test 3.64 per cent fat, which record was the second largest for both milk and fat completed in its class in Canada when the announcement was made in April, 1951.

At that time, Mr. Powell wrote: "Re-Echo May Burke and Lifloc Macaber Re-Echo, as mother and dam, both champions, make a very rare combination."

Mr. McConkey sold Macaber Re-Echo to Stephen B. King. He also wanted the dam, and bought her from Mr. Houck. She was bred to Elmcroft Voyageur M, of George McLaughlin's herd. Their son is the young bull calf which topped this week's All-Canadian Holstein sale, and is now in the new M.-H. herd at Milliken.

AMERICANS BUY 19

The 68 head at the sale grossed $57,135 for the general average of $840, as compared with $1,173 at the corresponding sale a year ago. That difference exceeds $300 as further indication of the decline in rural income since then. U.S. breeders bought 19 head, which must be held here until the foot and mouth embargo is lifted.

Continuing American interest was mentioned as a promise of re-opening of the market south of the border, although the date of that lifting of trade bars is still obscure in the future. Thomas Nagle of Rochester, N.Y., bought six.

Other top prices were $3,000 for a milking female, $2,650 for a bred heifer, and $1,500 for a heifer calf. Fourteen animals brought at least $1,000, and eight exceeded the $1,500 mark.

Some of the Peterborough district sales were: $1,225 to James T. Brown of Newcastle for a female bought by Far Land Farms, Picton; a bred heifer sold by William J. Murphy of Lindsay to T. Nagle of Rochester, for $425; and two head consigned by N. W. McConkey who received $925 for a six-year-old cow that went to Marrey-Harris Farms, and $650 for a seven-year-old that was bought by A. L. Law & Son, Ingersoll.

Raul H. Mascarenhas of Buenos Aires paid $1,500 for a bred heifer from Rosafe Farms, Brampton.

Roseneath 4-H Club

Roseneath 4-H Calf Club results and awards on its season's activities were: George McCleary, 899 points out of a possible 1,000; Adele Varcoe, 892; Freida McCracken, 890; and the other members scored in order: Murray McCleary, Bruce Davidson, Bob Davidson, Melvyn Harvie, Dale Braithwaite, Jack McMillan, Yvonne Adams. First and second prizes were $6, third $5, and the others $4 each.

Club leader was Charlton Grigg who had the help of Sidney MacDonald, Brighton, assistant agricultural representative. Prize money was contributed by Roseneath Agricultural Society, and the provincial and federal departments of agriculture.

A Grateful Memory

From Mrs. David Taylor of Warsaw the following letter: "I saw in my Monday's paper the account of the death of Mrs. Mabel Elizabeth Little Downer. I was talking to my daughter about it afterwards. She said Mrs. Little had never missed sending her a Christmas card for more than 50 years, up to last year. My daughter Mabel is Mrs. Stuart Clysdale. Mrs. Downer once taught at the fourth line school in Dummer."

Forum Monday Night

National Farm Radio Forum season begins Monday, Nov. 3 (8.30 p.m.) with the subject "Farming As A Career". Obviously it involves a general question that will elicit group appraisals of the farm in its way of life, its challenge to ability, its prospects of income, security, problems of production, marketing and so on.

This opening subject will be largely concerned with agriculture and rural youth. The Guide, for instance, suggests as one question: "Suppose a young man asked you for advice as to whether he should choose farming as a life work. What points would you consider most important to stress in your reply."

Forum members should have the Guide at hand Monday night outlining topics pertinent to this subject, advantages of rural life, difficulties in establishing a farm today, need and cost of machinery, its gradual effect on the enlarging of farm acreages and so on. That assistance to deliberation is available and need not be quoted.

It is a coincidence that Country Gentleman asks almost the same question: "Are Our Farms Holding Their Children?" They say that 30 years ago farm drudgery, inadequate rewards and limited social atmosphere, left country life unattractive. The conclusion of C.G. from many interviews is in this paragraph: "Thus it would seem that agriculture, in the past thirty years has succeeeded in recapturing the minds of its boys and girls, and in doing so, it has won its greatest victory".

In the Corn Belt the big problem on farms today is not "holding" young people, —it's finding a place for those who want to stay.

DIFFICULTIES INCREASE

"It is getting increasingly difficult for young men to get started in farming unless they have a rich uncle or Dad, or someone else to stake them. Dr. Earl Butz, distinguished economist of Purdue University, feels that a great many areas would be better off if more young people left the farm. There would be opportunities in the city for many of them, and those left on the farm would have more opportunities there."

Chief reasons for U.S. boys desiring to make farming their future included: freedom such as is found in no other occupation; belief that farming offers greater security; optimism for farm profit prospects, with the belief that farming is still to see its best days; the love of working with Nature and domestic animals; belief that they should stay with what they know best; repugnance for the idea of living in the city; a deeply rooted idea that it is their duty to feed hungry people."

FARM BOY'S DREAM

One of the quotations is from an Ohio boy, high school graduate of this year, framing the ineffable visions and hopes of youth, in part: "Ever since I was little I've dreamed of seeing my cattle in knee-deep pasture; I've imagined neat farm buildings, with white fences reaching out from field to field. I'd like to make this mental picture come true."

"The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts", and inescapably bound to them was the answer of an Illinois boy who was asked: "Isn't it going to be difficult to get a start"? His reply was: "It's not going to be easy, but I reckon if I want to hard enough and work hard enough I'll get along"

"WHERE IS THY VICTORY?"

For the purposes of Monday night's discussions, a boy's yearning, however sincere and set, may not be allotted much time. But, that boy's question is proposed by the Guide in virtually the same phrasing, and if the land has won a great victory in 30 years, some how society should be able to extend its fruits to youth.

Sale At Maple Averages $502

The second annual sale of artificially bred Holsteins at Maple this week distributed 33 head for a total of $16,562, and general average of $502. It has been described as a "splendid success." Sixteen milking females averaged $533; 14 bred heifers $432; two heifer calves $328.

The best price was $700, repeated several times, paid by W. S. Hall of Oakville, and J. E. Houck of Brampton, to William McGriskin, Jr., of Agincourt. Top for a bred heifer was $550 paid by Allan Radley of Hemmingford, Que., to W. W. Thompson of Nornby. A buyer from Hamilton, Bermuda, took two for $500 and $485. Daniel Murphy of Lindsay sold one for $560.

By comparison with Maple, the sale at London fair grounds October 25 totalled $13,345 for 43 head, and an average of $310 (Maple $502). A bred heifer, Laurel Diamond Pabst, consigned by J. L. Innes & Son, Stratford, brought the top of $510. She was purchased by E. J. Hooper, St. Mary's.

County Spirit Expands In E. Peterborough Juniors On Judging Team

East Peterborough juniors were not long in making places for themselves in the county rural youth organization—and its opportunities.

When Robert W. Bell was appointed assistant agricultural representative, he was given a free hand by F. C. Paterson on missionary club work among the young people the other side of the Indian River and the Ouse. One of the results of that promising beginning is the presence of two Asphodel juniors on the Peterborough county judging team that will compete in the inter-county competitions at the Royal Winter Fair. They are Orland Brown and George Shonicker. With them is John Waterman of North Monaghan.

Assignment to two of the three places on the Peterborough team is evidence of lively interest which should be a stimulus to other young people in the area, broadly from Warsaw to Hastings, and from the two rivers to the Hastings boundary.

ADULTS RESPONSIVE

Meanwhile the Federation of Agriculture has generated activity among the adult farmers in that part of the county. Spade work there was begun under the presidency of W. W. Dawson, continued by his successor, Henry Sharpe, and given substantial direction by Harold Lewis as Federation fieldman. The series of meetings last winter were all largely attended, and the Forums of that section of the county afforded further proof of the sound spirit of the people. Some of them who have not yet attended the annual convention of the Ontario Federation in Toronto would acquire inspiration from the number and quality of their provincial membership by taking a day off for that trip in January. They are bound to be impressed by the hundreds of other farmers like themselves from all over the province who have been building up one of the leading rural organizations on the continent.

Juniors and seniors in East Peterborough, and the Norwood Fair Board under the enterprising leadership of G. A. Brethen, have greatly quickened rural recognition of itself, and the other farmers of Peterborough have discovered an auxiliary force over there that can be further enlarged.

JUNIORS AFIELD

Going back to the team of Junior Farmers, the three young men Brown, Waterman and Shonicker, are spending little time at home these days. Ken Best, assistant to Mr. Paterson, has been leading them abroad on coaching preliminaries that will continue, perhaps not every day, to the eve of their arrival at the Royal for their ultimate test there on Thursday, November 13.

They were in Northumberland on Tuesday this week judging selected classes of swine at the farm of George Stephens at Baltimore, Holsteins at the Doug Hoskin farm near Cobourg, followed by Robertson Guernseys and Allan Linton Herefords. On Thursday they were in Victoria, and Friday they are in Ontario County.

The day's schedule begins at 8:30 a.m. as in Ontario County, where two classes of Yorkshire pigs and two classes of Suffolk sheep were available at the Glen Glaspell farm south of Taunton. Guernsey cattle and Yorkshire pigs at Robert Batty farm near Brooklin at 10 a.m.

Three farms were listed for calls in the afternoon. Shorthorns were judged at Sandoon Farms, Goodwood; Aberdeen-Angus, of the herd of Ron Marquis, Sunderland; Holsteins, three classes, at the farm of Orvan Chambers, Wilfrid.

Some of the other county teams of the district adopt the judging schedules thereby jointly taking advantage of the facilities offered at the farms on the county lists.

For instance, there will likely be more than the Peterborough juniors at Canada Packers here Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday they are in Durham County.

Two other series of farms are listed for Thursday and Friday next week in Ontario County if the Peterborough team can return in that direction. The judging circuit on Friday takes in: Elmcroft Farms, Holsteins; Beath Farms, Shorthorns, etc.

The coaching trip continues on Saturday, November 8, in York, and Monday, November 10, in Peel, on the way to O.A.C. at Guelph for Tuesday and Wednesday, returning to the Royal on Wednesday night for the competitions Thursday.

So, the three Juniors are going to see a lot of quality livestock by the time the chips are down at the Royal.

FARMS ARE SMALL

The great proportion of farms in Northern Ireland are units of less than 50 acres.

She Was Laid Up With RHEUMATIC PAIN

"I had been afflicted with rheumatic attacks ever since I was a girl," writes Mrs. F. Rose, Selkirk, Man. "Four years ago I was in bed tormented by rheumatic pain and unable to work. Then I heard about Templeton's T-R-C's. Soon after I started taking T-R-C's I was able to get out of bed, and walk about and do my work. I only wish I had learned about T-R-C's years ago, for I feel they would have saved me a great deal of suffering."

Archie Davidson Elected Junior Farmers' Leader

With a year of accomplishment behind them, Peterborough's Junior Farmers elected Archie Davidson of Otonabee president at their annual meeting Tuesday night.

Mr. Davidson succeeds Keith McIntyre who now becomes past presiden. Miss Elaine Savigny and Jack Matchett are vice presidents. Doris Jopling is the new secretary; and Glenn Stark treasurer. Miss Gaye Hancock was assigned the publicity job.

Members of the program committe are: Don Chambers, convener; Mrs. John Edmison and Keith McIntyre.

The example of leadership has been set more prominently than ever in the recent years of the Junior Farmers, and the new executive indicates additional recruits. In particular the guidance given to the 4-H Clubs has been a highly creditable contribution to the rural youth of the county. They have been mentioned before, but just as a final salute of the year these leaders deserve to be listed again: 4-H Dairy Calf Clubs: Keith McIntyre, east and John Edmison, west. Beef calves: Lorne Pimmett; swine, George Shonicker; grain, Alan Drummond; tractor maintenance, Irvine McIntosh.

Francis Walsh was assistant leader with Lorne Pimmett. Ralph Gregg of Lindsay gave a lot of time to the tractor club. He is a representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and with him are Frank Paterson and his representative, Ken Best. It has been a year of success in 4-H Club work, but when that chapter is closed, time opens a new page with a new challenge.

F. F. Treleaven Hamilton Mayor In 1920s Dies

Former mayor of Hamilton Freeman F. Treleaven, 68, died in St. Peter's Hospital, Hamilton, Wednesday following a long illness.

Mr. Treleaven leaves his wife, a son Arthur F., and two daughters, Mrs. Earl Aikin, Toronto, and Mrs. Douglas Grayson, Lindsay.

He was born in London, Ont. He received his degree at the University of Toronto and was called to the bar at the age of 24. He was associated with S. D. Biggar, in a law partnership until the latter's death in 1920. He was created King's Counsel in 1934.

Mr. Treleaven served as mayor of Hamilton in 1926 and 1927 after three years as alderman and four terms on the board of control. Following an unsuccessful try for a seat in the federal house he was returned to the board of control and was returned each year until his retirement in 1939.

He was actively engaged in service work of the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, and headed the Ontario Red Cross Society in the early years of the Second World War. He also served on the board of stewards of the First United Church.

Lindsay Prepares For Hallowe'en

LINDSAY —(ENS) — Spooks and all the other weird creatures associated with Hallowe'en will be out in force in Lindsay tonight, as the Kinsmen hold another of their popular children's parties at the armouries. A torchlight parade down Kent Street from separate school will precede the party, which last year drew almost 2,000 children. The kids of the town and area are instructed to join the parade, which commences at 7.30 p.m. and march to the armouries, where members of the club, unrecognizable, of course, in Hallowe'en attire will welcome them with special packages of treats in keeping with day and several special hidden prizes of theatre tickets. At last count, the Kinsmen had packed 2,000 bags of candy for the kids and were still going.

Although no trouble is expected, Lindsay's police department will be on special duty to guard property. Chief Art Webser, as a precautionary measure, addressed the boys at the collegiate this afternoon and warned them against property damage and vandalism as part of their Hallowe'en activities. "The police want everyone to have a good time, but we warn against any property damage being done. We especially don't like the trick of stealing steps from the front of homes. Some person could be seriously injured in the dark that way."

Norman E. Latta

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A miller for 28 years at Dartford and a resident of this community for the past two years, Norman Eugene Latta, 63, died at his home, 186 Front St.

Mr. Latta was born in the village of Latta, Ontario. His father wa sthe late James Gilbert Latta, founder of mills at the town, and his mother was the late Julia Ann Latta of the same community. (Mrs. Latta's maiden name was also Latta). Norman's grandparents were the first to settle in the village of Latta and opened mills there.

Mr. Latta had been in failing health for the past five years. Besides his wife, the former Eva May Dunn, he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Bertha Wright of Toronto. He was a member of the Warkworth branch of the Masonic Order.

Funeral services were conducted on Wednesday from the Bennett Funeral Home in Campbellford. The Rev. I. C. Morgan of Murray Street Baptist Church, Peterborough, assisted by Mr. H. S. Staples of Campbellford, conducted the service.

Pallbearers were George Broadworth, Warren Atkinson, Stewart Atkinson, Burton Dulmage, Eldon Ewing and Charles Ewing.

Woman Claims Report Caused Lasting Injury

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada Thursday was asked to award damages to a Vancouver woman for an alleged permanent disability resulting from the reading of a false newspaper report that her estranged husband and three children had been killed in a car-train collision.

The case involves Mrs. Yvonne Guay of Vancouver and the Vancouver Sun. The argument centres on the question of whether Mrs. Guay is entitled to damages. Both parties agree that the report was false. The Sun has said the story was published in good faith.

Sun officials have told lower courts that because of the nine-month lag between publication of the report and the start of the damage action they have been unable to trace the source of the report or the writer of it.

The Supreme Court of British Columbia awarded Mrs. Guay damages of $1,025. The appeal court, in a majority judgment, reversed that decision and Mrs. Guay appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada.

David L. Silvers of Vancouver represented Mrs. Guay.

Mr. Silvers said that Feb. 3, 1948, the Sun published a report that Mrs. Guay's husband and three children were killed in a car-train collision in North Bay. The report quoted the victim's sister-in-law, listed at a Vancouver address, as saying she had received word of the accident.

Mr. Silvers said Mrs. Guay had tried unsuccessfully through the Sun to obtain confirmation of the report. She went to the address listed in the report for her husband's sister-in-law and found no such person had ever lived there. It was several weeks before she found out through relatives that the report was without foundation.

Doctors, said Mr. Silvers, had found that Mrs. Guay suffered a permanent disability as a result of the shock she received in reading the report. The doctors likened her case to that of a man suffering from shell shock.

Two Korean War Vets Die In Car Crash

HAMILTON (CP)—Two veterans of the Korean War from Vermont were fatally injured yesterday in an intersection collision one mile south of here. Two other persons were injured.

Harley Folsom, 23, of Marshfield, Vt., and Louis W. Saliba, 19, of Barre, Vt., died a few hours after their small jeep station wagon smashed broadside into a car.

In hospital are James Hare, 45, of Selkirk, and Marjorie Richards, 21, of New Liskeard, a student nurse in Hamilton General Hospital.

The car in which Hare and Miss Richards were travelling was hurled 50 feet and rolled over.

Ministry Has Tough Job For Coronation

LONDON (Reuters) — Peer-studded committees handle the glittering ceremonial that goes with the Queen's coronation, but the manual labor falls to the ministry of works.

Besides building miles of grandstands along the coronation route, the ministry has to deal with seating, lighting, communications and plumbing in Westminster Abbey where the Queen will be crowned next June 2.

The great grey abbey is run by the Dean of Westminster, but the works ministry is taking over for the coming months under a royal warrant. Months of planning sessions have been held already. Many details will have to be about the same as for the late king's crowning in 1937.

On Dec. 1, the ministry's first teams of carpenters, electricians and masons will start swarming into and around the cathedral. They will begin by building tiers of stands in the chancel, looking down on the main altar.

World Milk Record

CHARLBURY, England (CP)—A world milk-producing record for Jersey cows was claimed in this Oxford district. A six-year-old cow named Stranges Musical owned by J.R. Proctor, produced 22,120 pounds of milk in 305 days.

Governor Suggested Using Lever-Locking System

TORONTO (CP)—The suspended governor of the Don jail said yesterday he suggested installation of a lever-locking system in the cell block where the Boyd gang was held before their second break, Sept. 8.

T. W. Brand was testifying before Judge Ian Macdonell, a one-man Royal Commission investigating conditions at the east-end jail owned by the city but administered by the province.

Mr. Brand said such a system, which controls the opening of cell doors remotely, would have prevented the escape. He said he made the recommendation to the city's deputy property commissioner, Harry Rogers, but did not know what had happened to it.

He said he also wanted the system installed in the "Kingston corridor" where dangerous prisoners are kept. He had received an estimate of $68,000 for the two jobs.

Mr. Brand outlined security regulations he had taken during his term. He was worried about a break from the outside by someone overpowering the door guard or himself at home to obtain keys. He had made a personal inspection of the Boyd gang's cells three days before the break and found them in order.

Mr. Brand said guard morale was low, not only because of salary but because they could not get a five-day week and were not sure whether they were city or provincial employees. Reports of riots in other prisons made the guards jumpy.

Mrs. T. H. Brooks

Funeral services for Mrs. Thomas H. Brooks, 665 Montrose Avenue, who died Monday in her 81st year, were held Wednesday from the Kaye Funeral Home.

Major Horace J. Roberts of the Salvation Army and the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United Church officiated.

Pallbearers were: Edward Payne, William Jones, Charles Barringer, Mel Shadgett, Mendell Braund, and Wilfred Boorman.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Operation In Kingston

TORONTO (CP)—Barbara Ann Burton who came from Kingston to Sick Children's Hospital to have her right eye removed will have the operation performed in Kingston instead. "The hospital has decided to send her home and have it done there," said Barbara's father, Alfred Burton. Barbara's left eye was removed last March when a tumor was found behind it. A growth has been discovered behind the right eye.

More Papers Supporting Gen. Eisenhower

NEW YORK (AP)—Four newspapers are supporting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's presidential bid for every one newspaper supporting Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, a new survey showed today.

Editor and Publisher, newspaper trade magazine, said its final pre-election poll of 1,385 dailies showed 67.34 per cent of them, with 80.24 per cent of the total daily circulation, are backing Eisenhower.

Stevenson is supported by 14.52 per cent of the dailies with 10.88 per cent of the total circulation, while 18.14 per cent of the papers have not declared for either candidate.

FOUR TIMES AS MANY

The survey showed 933 dailies in 48 states for Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, and 201 dailies in 39 states for Stevenson, the Democratic candidate.

The poll of 1,385 dailies, representing 78 per cent of the 1,773 dailies in the country, was more extensive than an Editor and Publisher survey of two months ago.

In the previous survey, which covered only 918 dailies, Eisenhower had the backing of 75 16 per cent of the dailies, with 81 25 per cent of the circulation, while Stevenson was backed by 15.47 per cent with 9.54 per cent of the circulation.

In both cases, the proportion of papers supporting the candidates was indicated as slightly higher than is shown now.

The present division of editorial support compares with the 65.17 per cent of the dailies, with 78.38 per cent of the circulation, which supported Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, and the 15.38 per cent with 10.03 per cent of the circulation, which supported President Truman.

William Purdy

LAKEFIELD (ENS).—The funeral of William Purdy, who died in hospital Monday following a lengthy illness, was held Wednesday morning from the Hendren funeral home, the Rev. W. B. Walker officiating.

A resident of Lakefield for the past three years, he was at one time a Royal Lifeguard serving two former kings, Edward VII and King George V.

Pallbearers were Robert and Gordon Simpson, John Butterworth, J. G. Harkness, Oscar Church and David McIntyre. Burial was in Lakefield cemetery.

STOPS NEURITIC-NEURALGIC PAIN! ASPIRIN

Korean Issue Still Top Theme In Frenzied Hunt For Votes

By R.J. ANDERSON

NEW YORK (CP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today took time out from his fight for the Presidency to attempt to settle a prison riot in his home state. Flurried political experts sought to evalute his decision on the result of the election.

The Democratic candidate's announcement late last night in Pittsburgh caught the country by surprise. It came only four days before election day, with all observers agreeing that the outcome still hangs in the balance.

Stevenson was to have toured today through Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware and Jersey. He is scheduled to make a major address tonight in Brooklyn and can keep this engagement if he rejoins his entourage, as he said he hopes to do, sometime today. He will travel by plane.

Scene of the prison riot is at Chester, Ill., where rebellious convicts have held seven guards as hostages since Monday. Stevenson is to fly to St. Louis and continue to the prison by automobile. The trip will take four hours.

PLAYS DOWN BATTLE

If the Illinois governor's announcement did nothing else, it took the "play" away, at least temporarily, from the unrelenting, hammer-and-tongs battling on the hustings last night. All the candidates [illegible] on the hunt for votes [illegible] Korean issue still the top theme.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, charged at a colorful rally in New York's madison Square Garden that he is the victim of an unrestrained campaign of slander by the Democrats. He termed these tactics "just plain dirty."

In the text of his speech released in advance, Eisenhower ermed the 1952 election campaign one of the "most scurrilous in American political history." He said his opponents are spreading "vile rumors" and are playing "fast and loose with the truth." These phrases were dropped in delivery to make the speech fit the allotted broadcast time.

ASKS MORE QUESTIONS

Eisenhower said that four years ago some Democrats tried to get him to run for president on their ticket. He asked: "do you for one moment doubt that if I had accepted their offer, they would be today singing my praises with as much fervor as they now attack me?"

In Detroit, President Truman, campaigning as hard as ever for Stevenson, said progress toward peace could be imperilled by "Republican isolationist policies of withdrawal of feeble half-measures, of appeasement and surrender." He attacked Eisenhower anew on the Korea issue, saying:

"He has put fear in the hearts of free people all over the world by his loose talk about the fighting in Korea."

Eisenhower has said that the South Koreans themselves can be trained and equipped to fight for their homeland against the Communists. He pledges that, if elected, he will go to Korea to seek settlement of the war.

Stevenson contended in his address [illegible] and a C.I.O. stronghold, that Eisenhower's "great crusade" had become "the great masquerade." He reiterated charges that the Republican nominee had become a prisoner of the "Old Guard" in his party.

On the Korean War, Stevenson repeated that there is no "easy out." He called for a program of building strength and standing firm and pledged himself to devote all his strength to the task of peace.

Charges Nixon Tried To Make Deal On Ticket

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gerald L. K. Smith charged Thursday that a representative of Senator Richard Nixon had tried to make a deal with him to withdraw the Christian Nationalist party ticket before Tusday's election.

The Republican vice-presidential candidate's campaign manager denied the charge. The senator in a speech had termed Smith an advocate of racist theories.

Said Smith, who heads the Christian Nationalists:

"Senator Nixon's attack on me in his nation-wide radio broadcast (Wednesday) revealed him as a complete and conscienceless hypocrite.

"Less than one week ago a representative of the Nixon strategy committee headed by Dana Smith propositioned me for support. They made extravagant and flattering promises provided Senator Jack B. Tenney (of the California legislature) and I would pull the MacArthur-Tenney presidential ticket out of the national contest.

"For Nixon's agents to proposition me secretly on one hand while attacking me publicly on another only reveals and emphasizes the hypocrisy of the whole Eisenhower-Nixon outfit."

The Christian Nationalists are running Gen. Douglas MacArthur for president and Tenney for vice-president.

Freed From Pen

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prison doors were opened this week at Kingston, Ont., for about 12 radical Doukhobor women from British Columbia, David Kahma, a member of the consultative committee on Doukhobor affairs reported here last night. Mr. Kahma said they were the last of 23 Sons of Freedom women sentenced to five-year terms in 1947 for incendiarism in the Kootenays of British Columbia. He said the 12 have returned to their homes in B.C.

Dawson Housewife Pays 50% More For Groceries

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. — (CP) — Upset about high prices? Try these Yukon ones for size.

A housewife in Dawson City or Mayo pays about 50 per cent more for groceries than her counterpart on the "outside." In Whitehorse, she pays about a third more.

The average family of four in Dawson pays upwards of $150 a month for groceries and in Whitehorse upwards of $100.

Wood, the basic fuel of the territory, costs about $30 a cord in Dawson and about $19 here. It is not hard to burn two cords a month during a Yukon winter. Oil, common in kitchens, cost 30 cents a gallon here and considerably more in Dawson.

Transporation costs, are, of course, the chief reason for the high prices. Most of the territory's food is imported from Vancouver or Seattle, with some coming from Edmonton.

Food from Vancouver and Seattle is shipped by plane or boat to Juneau, Alaska, and thence by train to Whitehorse. During the winter, most perishable foods are shipped here direct by air.

Dawson, Mayo and other towns north of here get food by river boat or road in summer and by road alone in winter.

Here are some comparative prices:

Coffee—Whitehorse $1.23 to $1.30 a pound; Dawson $1.40.

Tea—Whitehorse $1.25 to $1.30 a pound; Dawson $1.45

Milk—Whitehorse 22 cents a can; Dawson 25 cents.

Soups—Whitehorse 20 cents a can; Dawson 23 cents.

Salmon — Whitehorse $1.17 a-pound tin; Dawson $1.30.

Sugar—Whitehorse 17 cents a pound; Dawson 18 cents.

Butter—Whitehorse 80 cents a pound; Dawson 95 cents.

Fresh vegetables (Winter or "air" prices):

Lettuce—Whitehorse 40 cents a pound; Dawson 55 cents.

Tomatoes—Whitehorse 45 cents a pound; Dawson 75 cents.

Meats:

Sirloin roast—Whitehorse $1.05 a pound; Dawson $1.30.

Rump roast—Whitehorse 95 cents a pound; Dawson $1.10.

Sirloin steak—Whitehorse $1.05 a pound; Dawson $1.40.

Fowl—Whitehorse 70 cents a pound; Dawson 70 cents.

Armed Forces Nearing 100,000 Mark

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian armed forces are nudging the 100,000 mark but still haven't reached it, a defence department announcement showed today.

The total strength of the three services at the end of September was 98,961, after the best month of recruiting since last April.

During September a total of 2,481 officers and men were added to the regular forces. However, releases—largely due to the taking off strength of Korean veterans who signed up for only an 18-month period—totalled 1,815. This left the forces with a net gain of 603.

The navy enrolled 29 officers and 510 men and released a total of 167, establishing a record for the year.

ARMY ENLISTMENTS

The army enlisted 42 officers and 669 men, a total of 711 compared with 614 during August. Releases totalled 1,249 compared with 2,024 in August, leaving the army with a net loss of slightly more than 500.

Air force enlistments totalled 1,168 and had 399 releases for a net gain of 769.

Present strengths of the three services are: Navy 14,562; army, 47,638; air force, 36,761.

The forces aim at a 1954 strength of 120,000.

Withdraw Charges Of Manslaughter

BARRIE (CP)—Charges of manslaughter against Herbert Columbus, 23, and Dorthern Dusome, 28, both of Penetanguishene, in connection with the death last August of James Dell, 58, were withdrawn in Supreme Court here Wednesday.

Columbus pleaded guilty to shooting with intent to assault and was sentenced to 18 months in reformatory, with two months concurrent. Dusome pleaded guilty to an assault charge and was sentenced to three months in reformatory.

Steel Equipment Firm Strike Ends

PEMBROKE (CP)—A strike of about 200 employees of a steel equipment company here ended yesterday. The men, out since last Thursday, are to return to work today.

A meeting of striking employees, members of local 3257 of the United Steel Workers of America, voted yesterday to accept settlement terms reached between representatives of the Steel Equipment Company of Canada and the union.

The settlement calls for a wage increase of 10 cents an hour with six cents retroactive to July 1 and a 45-hour work week starting next April 2.

William Earnshaw

APSLEY (ENS)—The funeral of Wiliam Earnshaw Sr., who died in his sleep early Monday morning at his home here, was held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hugh McColl, to Trinity United Church, Wednesday.

Mr. Earnshaw was born in Yorkshire, Eng., and came to Canada when seven years of age and has resided in this locality ever since. He was the son of Harriet Meakin and Thomas Earnshaw.

In 1898 he married Nancy Jane Lean who survives as well as two daughters, Mrs. Hugh McColl (Julia) of Apsley, Mrs. Ray Nichols (Bertha) of Pittsburgh; four sons, William Jr., Gordon, Vernal, all of Apsley, and Arthur of Warren, Ohio. One daughter, Mrs. D. Puffer (Florence) died in 1943 and a son Herb died in 1945. There are also 21 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Mr. Earnshaw had served on the municipal council and on the school board of S.S. 2, Burleigh.

At the time of his death he was a steward of Trinity United Church, a position he had held for a number of years. He was a member of L.T.B. Blue Star No. 74 Lodge of Apsley.

Pallbearers were Wellington Lean, Norman Lean, Robert Scott, Bert McIlmoyl, Herbert Tucker, David Tucker. Flower bearers were five grandsons, Donald Earnshaw, Glen Earnshaw, Chesel McColl, Leslie McColl, Delbert Puffer and a brother-in-law J. Lean.

Mr. Cleve Robb conducted the funeral service and burial was in Apsley cemetery.

Mrs. Percy Clark, Mrs. W. Clark, Mrs. B. Knight, all of Dwight; Mr. and Mrs. A. Earnshaw of Warren, Ohio; Mrs. Ray Nichols of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. D. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. P. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earnshaw, B. La Plante, F. Overend, G. Munro, Dave Tucker, all of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. P. Lane of Omemee.

Parker Convicted

SIMCOE (CP) — Frederick Parker, 25, of Welland was convicted yesterday on a charge of criminal negligence and remanded in custody one week for sentence. The charge arose out of an accident in which Mrs. Nellie Bell of Simcoe was killed. Mrs. Bell was a passenger in a car which struck the rear of a parked truck in charge of Parker.

Polio Victim Dies

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Norman Hanna, 36-year-old Atwood father of three, died last night of polio in the isolation ward at Victoria Hospital. Mr. Hanna was one of six cases admitted to the hospital in the last two weeks, each of which has been definitely diagnosed as polio.

Readers' Friday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

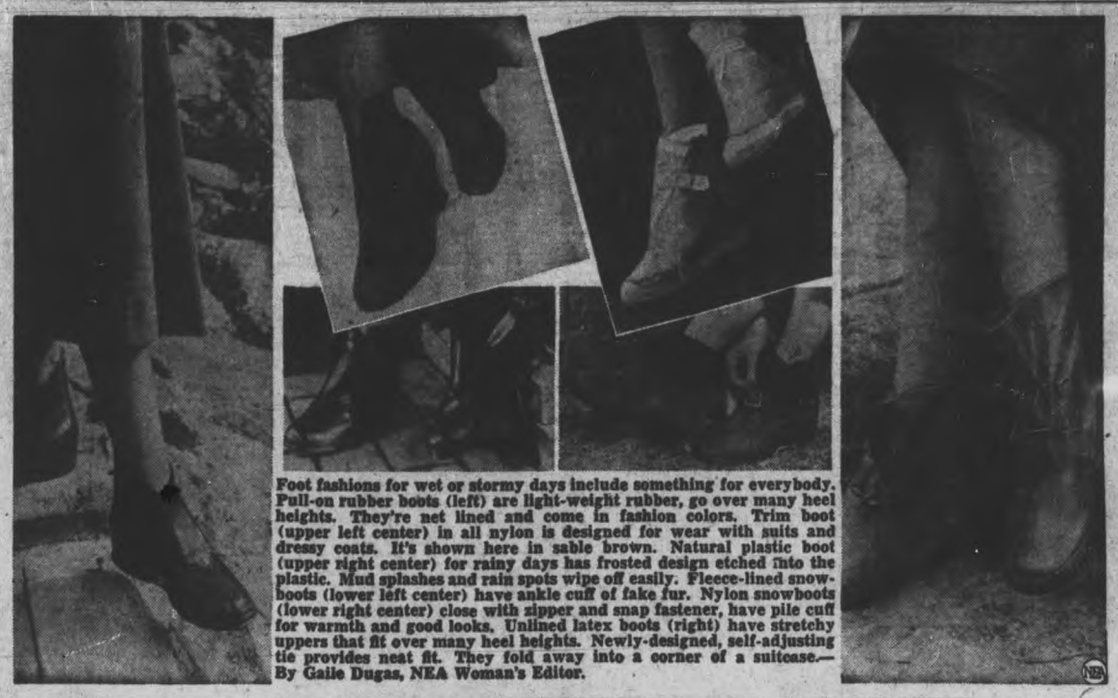
QUESTION: Thanks for the calorie chart. Keep up the good work. With the cost of living the way it is today I dearly love every one of your Scotch ancestors. Am waiting patiently to hear how Pete gets along at school and also how you get along without him at home. I sort of dread the day it happens here but it is quite a long way in the future for my two are under eight. I am so glad you offered to repeat recipe for light cake made in pressure cooker. After making the chocolate cake it was so delicious I just couldn't make myself wait longer to write—print it real soon again. Since we have no oven my family have missed cookies, so I tried Date Squares but burned them. I intend to try them again with a cooler fire. Going to try Brownies too.—Mrs. O. F. H.

ANSWER: Do you mean you tried Date Squares in the pressure cooker and that you intend to try Brownies that way too? Goodness, I don't know how to help you for I've never done it—I thought the cakes were going pretty far with experimentation. Offhand I would say keep the temperature very low and of course do not use pressure. I hope you saw last Monday's column for I told you a little about Marianne and Pete there.

Pressure Cooker Feather Cake

One-quarter cup of butter, margarine or shortening, ⅝ cup sugar, 1 egg, ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk, 1 1-3 cups flour, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Cream the butter and half the sugar. Beat egg, add remaining sugar and add to butter mixture. Add flour with salt and baking powder alternately with the milk. Have pressure cooker heated. Put 2 layers wax paper in bottom. Do not grease pressure cooker Put in cake batter, fasten cover, but do not put on pressure. Place over low heat or on back lids of wood fire. Just so it will not burn you may need to use asbestos mats. Add 20 minutes to normal baking time for butter cake—this takes about 50 minutes—but time depends on size of pressure cooker—for depth of batter will vary.

QUESTION: I am very anxious to know calorie value of the following items—1 cup tomato soup, 1 cup vegetable soup, 1 cup chicken broth, also rye wafers. Is soup O.K. on the diet? Mrs. L. R.



ANSWER: One can condensed tomato soup contains 230 calories; ¾ cup homemade cream of tomato soup, 160 calories; 1 can condensed cream of tomato contains 235 calories; 1 can condensed vegetable soup 285 cal.; ¾ cup homemade vegetable soup 105 cal. 1 can condensed vegetable soup without meat 245 cal.; calories in chicken broth vary but from 35 to 50 calories is average; rye wafer 1 ⅞ x 3 ⅜" contains 25 calories Clear soup is recommended before dinner for it reduces your appetite, but since a high protein diet is advisable you must not fill up on thick soups at noontime. Be sure to include meat or eggs and cheese in both your noon and evening meal. Eggs are recommended for breakfast too.

QUESTION: I have received your recipes for fruit preserving and I appreciate them. Out of your recipes I clipped "Chocolate Cake" cooked in pressure cooker and was very pleased with results If you have more baking recipes for pressure cooker I would appreciate them; also more lunch box suggestions re cookies and sandwich fillings. We have no refrigerator so it is hard to make up large quantities of fillings and my husband takes three sandwiches and dessert in his lunch daily. I was eagerly watching your column for more recipes on "Meals for Two" as I am a working gal and these recipes mean a lot to me. Especially those that don't take too long to prepare. The 30 or 40 minute caseroles take too long in a working day. Mrs. Shirley V.

ANSWER: See recipe for Pressure Cooker Feather Cake above Shirley.

Lunch Box Sandwich Fillings

(1) Nippy cream cheese with pecans or walnuts and mayonnaise; flaked crabmeat with green relish and mayonnaise; chopped hard-cooked egg with broken olives chopped and mayonnoise; chopped hard-cooked egg with broken olives chopped and mayonnoise; ground veal or pork with celery salt or chopped celery, plenty of pepper and salt and mayonnaise Mix the soft butter with the filling and this speeds up spreading the bread. I hope you saw last Monday's column containing menus for two. I am mailing you a recent column on cookies.

Chapter News

MUNICIPAL CHAPTER

At the monthly meeting of the Peterborough Municipal Chapter I.O.D.E., held at the Y.W.C.A. on Wednesday evening, Miss Mary Medd, Municipal Regent, gave a general report of the provincial semi-annual meeting at Kitchener last week which she attended. More than 200 delegates were there to represent the 16,465 members in Ontario.

PROMOTE PATRIOTISM

I.O.D.E. members are asked to make this coming coronation year a memorable one in the history of the Order.

To promote patriotism in schools through hospital visiting and work among newcomers to Canada. There is a feeling that some in this country today would forget all that is owed to the motherland and would sever all ties with her. There are others who ho'd no allegiance to the crown and are attempting for their own ends to destroy the tradition by ridicule and false statements. It is the duty of I.O.D.E. members to be alert to this menace, ready to refute false claims and ever ready to teach newcomers the ways of true democracy.

Each member, and particularly educational secretaries are asked to study trends in education and the proposed changes. Increased knowledge will mean increased interest in the part the Order can play in the education of young Canadians, through educational assistance, scholarships and bursaries.

ONE THIRD TO EDUCATION

The Order devotes at least o ne-third of its program to education. Last year the amount spent in Ontario was over $65,000, with 728 Canadian students receiving financial assistance.

All chapters in the province are expected to contribute to the Lucy Morrisan Memorial Fund. The fund finances a provincial scholarship yearly in pure and applied science, valued at $1,400; Indian scholarships yearly at Normal School, $200.; music scholarships yearly to the senior school, Royal Conservatory of Music at the University of Toronto, $300. Also scholarships for a veteran's daughter in home economics, Ryerson School of Technology, each year $50; bursaries and loans to needy and deserving students; short story competition awards and pictorial art scholarship awards.

Chapters who have adopted schools are asked to systematically refill libraries. The books are purchased locally, selected from the Order's catalogue. It is recommended that suitable books marking special days such as Empire Day, Remembrance Day and the Queen's birthday, be included. Also to see that each school has a flag, [illegible] Canadian Com-

EMPIRE AND WORLD AFFAIRS

Increased consciousness in the scheme of world affairs means study is essential. Just now when certain changes are taking place in Canada which could weaken the ties of the Empire, the I.O.D.E. should present a solid front in endeavoring to cement those ties.

IMMIGRATION

Reports show that chapters are active in welcoming newcomers; providing entertainment for them, especially after their English classes, and in attention to those who are sick.

SERVICES AT HOME AND ABROAD

Re parcels to be sent to service men in Korea: Boxes of about 5 pounds each, containing amenities can be sent to the convener in Hamilton before November 15th. Parcels can be sent collect and arrangements have been made to fly these boxes by the R.C.A.F. direct to Korea in time for Christmas.

There is to be a special radio appeal for diapers and baby clothes to be sent to Greece through the British Save the Children Fund in Europe. Diapers are urgently needed in the provinces of Styria, Corinthia and Lower Austria.

All members and citizens in Peterborough are urgently asked to support this appeal. Kindly mark for I.O.D.E. and leave diapers or diaper materials or flannel sheeting etc., at the Y.W.C.A collecting depot.

Miss Medd closed her report by asking each member in the city to do more and better I.O.D.E. work.

Arrangements were made for the placing of a wreath on the cenotaph on Remembrance Day Miss Medd will perform this honor

First vice-regent, Mrs. George Earns, arranged for the showing of two splendid films, "Land of Niagara" and "Highland Legend" showing the Highlands of Haliburton.

Members of the Col. Agnes Neill Chapter served refreshments.

COLONEL AGNES NEILL CHAPTER

Colonel Agnes Neill Chapter, I.O.D.E., met in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room. Regent Mrs. W. C. Durant was in the chair. The flag was brought forward by Mrs. G. R. Carruthers.

Mrs. G. Arnden is to represent the chapter on Remembrance Day by placing a wreath on the cenotaph. Mrs. William Messervey, educational convener, with the help of some members, is to purchase and gift wrap Christmas gifts for the adopted school at Belmont.

Mrs. C. Selkirk, child and family welfare convener, was called upon during the month to help a needy family. Mrs. C. Boulter, post-war convener, advised of a work meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. K. Kidd, 965 Monaghan Road on November 17th.

Mrs. G. Vallery is to prepare and send Christmas overseas boxes. Members were asked to bring one good used article of clothing for overseas and also one toy for the children in the hospital at Moose Factory.

Miss Zetta Jameson, convener of the Stardust Ball which is being held November 7th at Brock Ballroom, reported that final arrangements have been made.

At close of the meeting, Miss Joan Gardiner and her group served tea.

Your hostess serves you a delicious dish and you would like very much to have the recipe.

WRONG: Ask her at the table in front of the other guests, to tell you the recipe.

RIGHT: Telephone her later and ask if she would mind giving you the recipe, since she will probably not want to go into it when she is responsible for keeping the conversation interesting to everyone present.

St. Paul's Choir Entertains Crowd

The choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church presented entertainment in the Sunday School auditorium Wednesday evening before an appreciative audience. The members were all arrayed in fascinating fancy dress costumes.

Solos were rendered by Mr. George Coleman, Mr. John Anderson, Miss Olive Rome, and Mr. Percy Harrison, and vocal duets were sung by Mrs. L. R. Mitchell and Mrs. A. Spencley, and by the Misses Jean and Sheila Smith. Mrs. D. Flett and Mr. Christopher Gledhill both acted as accompanists and contributed two groups of two-piano duets. The choir sang some pleasing numbers, and Mr. Gledhill introduced the performers in light-hearted fashion. The audience joined in community singing. Refreshments were served after the program.

As a change from the usual routine, men of the choir were entrusted with the responsibilities of pouring tea. Entertainment was convened jointly by Miss Verna Johnson and Miss Margaret I. Reid, and they were assisted by social convener Mrs. C. Gledhill and committee. Tickets were collected at the door by Mrs. Vern Read. Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, president of the choir, welcomed the guests.

Proceeds of the entertainment are going to a fund the choir is raising to install a window in the church in memory of Martin B. Chenhall, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's from 1922 to 1948.

...KS WIFE—Mrs. Hugh John Flemming, wife of the recently-elected Premier of New Brunswick, has left her task as trustee and founder of the 3,000-volume library and Red Cross station at the village of Juniper, N.B. Shown with her Sealyham dog, Lex, Mrs. Flemming is a graduate of Mount Allison University at Sackville, N.B., and founded the library when she came to Juniper as a bride six years ago.

Premier's Wife Founded N.B. Red Cross Station

JUNIPER, N.B. (CP)—The children of Juniper miss Mrs. Hugh John now that she has moved to Fredericton with her husband, newly-elected Premier of New Brunswick.

Aida Flemming came to this community of 1,000, 50 miles north of Fredericton, as a bride six years ago and found everyone, especially the children, calling her husband Hugh John.

"I was amazed and pleased," she recalls, "and it was nice that they wanted to call me Mrs. Hugh John."

Mr. Flemming, elected Progressive Conservative premier in September's provincial election, and his wife now live in a high-ceilinged flat in a house behind the Parliament Buildings in Fredericton.

FOUNDED LIBRARY

Moving day was a sad one for Juniper's 200 children. It meant that they will have less of Mrs. Hugh John's attentions at school in her role as trustee and founder of both the 3,000-volume library and the Red Cross station

Mrs. Flemming, a tall woman with green eyes and dark-brown hair, is a graduate of Mount Allison University at Sackville, N.B.

She took a degree in education from the University of Toronto and a master's degree at Columbia University, New York.

Her background also stresses education "I spent my first eight years at Kaslo in the Kootenay district of British Columbia where my father, Charles McAnn, was lawyer," she recalls.

MOVED TO MONCTON

Young Aida Boyer McAnn was brought up by an uncle, the late L. W. McAnn of Moncton, N.B.

"My uncle's hobbies were children and education. I inherit such interests from him. He used to take special interest in talented youngsters and would finance and supervise their education."

Trial Period Engagement Can Eliminate Some Risk

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently you said that an engagement period is a time of trial. What about marriage? Isn't that a time of trial all the way through? While I believe divorce should be avoided, if possible, there are times when it isn't human to expect a couple to live togeher. Yet many of them do, despite the fact that one or the other has ceased to love his or her partner.

Years ago women were prone to put up with much more from their erring mates than today. With her economic independence, a woman doesn't have to put up with beatings or accept the fact that friend husband is running around with other women. I maintain that where a woman loses respect for her husband, she also loses her love for him.

IDA E.

ANSWER: Since the space allotted to this column is limited, it was necessary for me to cut quite a bit of your letter. This was regrettable since you brought out many fine points for argument. In some respects you are very right; in others equally wrong.

Marrige is not a trial! That is the purpose of an engagement. A marriage is the consumation of hopes built in courtship, the realization of plans made then, and the welding of a home and family. For that reason, I strongly advocate that young people prepare for marriage by waiting until they are of reasonable age, are quite sure of their love for each other, and ready to face the obligations of married life together. When such preparations have been made, marriage is not likely to fail.

THEY DON'T CHANGE

The wife who finds herself with a drunken, brutal, miserly, or faithless husband on her hands, can well look back to the premarital days and realize that the indications of his character were apparent then. An honest, upright, considerate young man does not turn into a brawling sot, but a young man who habitually frequents taverns is equally unlikely to become a model husband.

I agree with you that it is inhuman to expect a woman to live with a man who mistreats her, but, it is usually the wife herself who elects to stay. Every day my mail includes a pile of pathetic letters from women who state, "My husband is an habitual drunkard, he beats me and the child, he gives me no money, but I love him and don't want to leave him!" Does that sound as though love and respect were synonymous? They should be, but, I assure you, in this regard theory does not coincide with actuality.

Marriage should be contracted with the specific understanding that it is for life—in fact, that is the promise made in marriage ceremonies! If more people could acquire a thorough realization of this most salient fact, they wouldn't enter matrimony so easily. More thought given before the vows are taken, would avert most of the trouble that comes later.

Of course there are exceptions to everything, and occasionally a marriage that gave every prospect of being successful, fails. Many of these can be salvaged through a marriage counselor, some are doomed to failure, but the failures are few, and could be much fewer. "Forethought" is the key word here, not "trial".

Marriages may not be made in Heaven, as you cynically suggest, out they can certainly prosper with Heaven's blessing and most of them do. I'd like to hear from you again, with your name and address, so I can write you personally. I think you have a personal problem in which I might be of more service.

DEAR MISS DIX: A very fine boy I recently met comes from a nice family, but when he was younger travelled in a fast crowd. I have even heard that he was in reform school. He has a good job now and I'm sure he is sorry for the past. He has asked me to go out with him, but my family is dead set against it.

B. D.

ANSWER: Parents have a grave obligation to their children which includes guarding them from any influences that may be harmful. This is undoubtedly how your folks feel, and their only reason for forbidding you to go with the boy is to protect your own reputation. It is only fair of them, however, to make inquiries concerning him to ascertain if he is now established as a reputable, responsible young man. Many, many people make mistakes in youth that are regretted, and atoned for, later. Your young man seems to be in this category and I feel he is entitled to a chance to prove himself.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 20, and in love with a boy the same age who has eyes only for the girl next door to me. He likes me and comes to me with all his problems.

BARBARA

ANSWER: Just hope that your own sterling qualities will prove superior to the flirtatious ways of the other girl in attracting the boy.

The annual "Purple and Gold" tea and bazaar will be held this Saturday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. by the Civic Hospital Nurses' Alumnae. It is being convened by Mrs. Gordon Wainwright and features, as in other years, a draw on a doll with fancy wardrobe. Invited to pour tea are Mrs. John Hornal, Miss Evelyn Robson, Mrs. M. J. Swanston and Mrs. Ivison Walker.

The Normal School students had their Hallowe'en masquerade party Thursday evening. The feature was an eerie "ghost walk" through the basement of the school. Afterward there were ghost stories and fortunes were told. Then, lunch was served and after that there was dancing. Judges viewed the costumes and selected prize-winners from groups of classical, comical, prettiest, etc. Mr. John Deck of the Students' Council was chairman of party plans and the program conveners were Miss Ruth Kofki and Mr. Jim Hill.

Miss Moira Whalon of Homewood Avenue, who has been visiting the British Isles and Denmark for the past 14 months, left England this week, and is expected in Peterborough November 1st.

Grenfell Branch Bringing Films

Local members of the Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission have arranged to present here, on Tuesday evening, a new 35-minute color film titled "Challenge of Labrador." The photography was done in the summer of 1950 along the Labrador coast of grandeur and isolation and north into Eskimo land. It describes well the country and its inhabitants as well as the educational and health services, known all over the world by the name of its founder—Wilfred Thomason Grenfell. Accompanying this picture will be a film, also in color, on Newfoundland. The public is invited to see the films in the Public Library auditorium, commencing at eight o'clock, November 4th.

Couple Feted

SPRINGVILLE (ENS)—Noble Bothwell and his bride, the former Shirley Crouter of Peterborough, were guests of honor Wednesday evening at a gathering of the Springville United Church congregation in the basement of the church.

Mr. Walter Brown was chairman for a program of music by the Sargent brothers' orchestra and by Miss Doreen Stevens, humorous readings by Mr. Clarence Johnston and Mrs. Mervin Edgerton, a solo by Mrs. A. E. Larke and a contest by Mrs. A. B. Preston.

John Preston read and presented an address of congratulations to the bride and groom and, on behalf of the congregation, Raymond Kelk and Harley Cathcart presented a coffee table. Mrs. Carlyle Murray presented a sandwich plate and vase. Speeches of congratulations were given by Messrs. Bruce Sargent, Frank Stevens, Manson Cathcart and Melville Johnston.

Volunteer Workers Said Best Media Cancer Soc. Work

TORONTO — Every volunteer working for the Canadian Cancer Society is a public relations agent, in the opinon of Mrs. Marion Timmers, Chicago, PR director of the Illinois Division of the American Cancer Society. Mrs. Timmers addressed voluntary and paid representatives of the Canadian Cancer Society at a joint Ontario Division-Toronto Branch conference yesterday at the Royal York Hotel.

Speaking on public relations work, she felt that in spite of all the media used, such as newspapers, magazines and radio, there is no communication more powerful than the word-of-mouth, person-to-person contact.

Representing women's groups, Mrs. Reinhold Lang of Kitchener emphasized the importance of overcoming fear of cancer in the minds of women. This can be done best by education. Voluntary workers were urged to build up speakers' panels in their communities with spot two-minute speeches prepared in advance to drop into a meeting if the opportunity unexpectedly occurred.

Lyman Henderson Jr., representing men's groups, felt that the most potent weapon in the hands of every woman who works as a personal ambassador for the cancer cause, is to be well informed on the subject and to feel that what she is doing is a good thing. He expressed the belief that the medical profession, the scientific mind and the layman, working together, would eventually stamp out cancer. In Toronto alone there are 170 voluntary groups of women actively engaged in such work as service to cancer patients—such as the driving of patients to and from the hospital — recreational therapy and the training of speaker's panels.

Ask For Women Used On Stamps

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal women are looking for a bigger part in politics and government.

That was the main theme of reports presented yesterday at the biennial meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women, ending a two-day session here after the annual meeting of the National Liberal Federation.

Quebec's Liberal women were particularly strong in asking a bigger role for their sex in political affairs. The convention itself also took note of the feminine angle by calling for the use of historically-known Canadian women on stamps.

The convention also asked the government to step up its activities against Communists in Canada.

Mrs. C. J. Embree of Halifax was elected president, succeeding Mrs. W. T. O'Regan of Ottawa. Other officers include Mrs. Tancrede Jodoin of Montreal, as French vice-president and Mrs. A. L. Caldwell of Saskatoon as English vice-president.

COMMAND PERFORMANCE—Queen Elizabeth wears a modern slipper satin gown as she leaves London's Empire Theatre after attending the Royal Command film performance of 'Because You're Mine." The gown, with bodice front spread petal-style from a V-neckline, is white in front and black in back. Princess Margaret, right, followed by the Duke of Edinburgh, attended the performance in a black silk net gown and wore a diamond necklace with matching earrings.

Home and School Association News

P.C.V.S.

The P.C.V.S. Home and School Association held another group meeting Thursday evening in the Collegiate library for the parents of Grade 9D and 9H. President Mrs. P. A. Martyn received and opened the meeting.

Principal Mr. C. S. Browne spoke of the need for regular attendance and answered questions. Chairman Mr. M. Clysdale said "The aim of group meetings is to bring teachers and parents together in order to get better adjustment of school problems." Mr. J. H. Moebus, vocational guidance officer, introduced the parents and teachers to each other.

Teachers present, who each spoke briefly, were Miss H. Hicks, Miss M. Johnson, Miss K. McDougall, Miss M. McIntosh and Mr. [illegible] W. Camm.

Refreshments were served by social conveners Mrs. J. Goodson and Mrs. J. Law and their committee.

WOODVIEW SCHOOL

A new Home and School Association was organized this week at the Woodview School, No. 7 Highway, Otonabee, with district chairman Mrs. A. W. Nelson of Peterborough assisting.

The slate of officers accepted has Mrs. G. M. Hill as president, Mrs. H. Burns as vice president, Mrs. E. Reid, treasurer, and Mrs. H R. Lancaster as secretary. The executive members are Miss Parker (teacher), Mrs. M. Bebee and Mrs. Ken Petrie and Howard Howson.

Meetings will be held on the second Wednesday of each month.

Mrs. L. Raper, parent education convener of the Home and School Council, spoke on the parent education angle of the Association program. She also stressed good leadership, covering the following points: practise; study and reading; observation; developing personality. Then she discussed the following sources from which the child receives training: parents, playmates, school teachers and community life.

The duties of each officer and the executive were outlined quite fully by Mrs. Raper.

Mrs. Nelson spoke briefly on Home and School work and drew attention to the display of literature for convenience of parents. She also explained the constitution and concluded by reading the Home and School Creed.

Coffee and cookies were served by some of the ladies at the conclusion.

Life Too Fast Thinks C.W.L. President

REGINA (CP)—The new national president of the Catholic Women's League, Mrs. Fred Drake of Regina, thinks life in Canada is "too fast."

Mrs. Drake, a native of Ireland who came to Canada in 1912, flew back to Ireland for a visit a few years ago.

One of the things she noticed most, Mrs. Drake said, was the tempo of Irish life.

"Nobody is in a hurry like they are here," she said. "You don't rush to catch a train or bus because they always wait. Life here is too fast."

Although she enjoyed the flight, Mrs. Drake wouldn't go by air again to Ireland. "It's too fast," she commented.

The C.W.L.'s new national president makes her own hats, bakes a delicious cherry pie, likes books and plays, and is fond of music, "especially Irish music."

NEW PARIS HAIR STYLES depend on cutting for a scalloped effect with hair longer in front. Girl (left) looks very Toulouse -Lautrec with jet sabot at crown of head and matching collar and bracelet. Girl (right) has same kind of cut combed in more conventional fashion.

Paris Creates New Hair Style

A new haircut, inspired by the coiffures of the dancers in Toulouse-Lautrec paintings, has taken Paris by storm and driven the poodle cut quite out of the fashion picture.

This cut, launched by the master hairdresser, Guillaume, has an extremely casual air with a dash of the daredevilry of the can-can dancer. To avoid the risk of a shaggy dog look, it needs an expert hair-cutter to achieve the 'undulated' effect. This means that the hair is graded in length, short in back and gradually be coming longer in front, with a modernized version of the old Moulin Rouge bangs. Ears are covered in winglike fashion.

Stylized topknots, worn high on the head, are added to the coiffure for evening. These may be made of real hair or formed from many little gold beads, jet, pearls and diamonds.

The newest method for hair-dyeing, as done in Guillaume's Paris salon, is to superimpose different color pigments on the hair which harmonize and fuse in an extremely life-like fashion.

This avoids the monotonous effect often produced by dyes and is much closer to the variegated hair-coloring produced by nature. Ash reds and gilded grays are the most fashionable tints at present.

Ex-Servicewomen Plan Events For "Remembrance"

Remembrance Day was the main topic on the agenda of the regular meeting of the Ex-servicewomen's Branch of the Canadian Legion. This meeting was held in the R.C.A.F. Association rooms Tuesday evening.

President Miss Irma Allen outlined plans already underway for the Legion's annual church parade to be held Sunday, November 9th, Poppy Day on Saturday, November 8th, the Branch's Remembrance Day parade and annual dinner on November 11th.

The church parade will be to All Saints' Anglican Church. Parade to form up at 10 a.m. in front of the Legion hall, Murray St.

Asking for 100 per cent support on Poppy Day, Miss Allen told of the plans that had already been laid for tagging. Speaking of the parade and service at the Cenotaph, the president, on the approval of members, appointed Miss Barbara Waters, chairman of the welfare committee, to carry the wreath, and Miss Helen McFarlane, the standard.

Mrs. Pat Vaisey in charge of the arrangements for the annual Remembrance Day dinner, announced it would be held in Hooper's Palm Rooms.

The branch's various Christmas projects were discussed. Reporting on the articles collected for the parcels to be sent to the orphanage in England, Mrs. Dorothy Grady told members that the date set for packing is November 19th. Also she was asked for contributions towards a parcel to be forwarded to soldiers in Korea. This is to be packed the same evening.

Miss Allen read a letter received from Miss Dorothy Peace, a former Peterborough girl, one of the staff in charge of the children at the orphanage in England, relating many interesting stories about the children. Miss Peace told members there would be 24 to provide for this Christmas.

Following the business meeting a most entertaining and instructive hour was spent with the guest speaker Mrs. Fraser Dunfield, who demonstrated gift wrapping parcels.

Roseneath W.A. Holds October Meeting

ROSENEATH (ENS) —"Christian Brotherhood" was the topic of the devotional address presented by Mrs. Charles Sandercock at the October meeting of the W.A. of the United Church held on Wednesday afternoon. This meeting had previously been postponed owing to Roseneath Fair.

The meeting was held in the township hall with Mrs. James Thompson as hostess. President Mrs. Earl Waldie presided with Mrs. Ella Brown as pianist.

The treasurer, Mrs. Fred Norris, reported a balance on hand of $397.

Preceding the business period, the president, Mrs. Waldie, extended a welcome to Mrs J. R. Wheeler. Mrs. Wheeler, with her husband, has taken up residence in the parsonage and Mr. Wheeler will preach in the churches of the Roseneath charge.

Plans were made to pack a parcel of food to be send to Mrs Harold Taylor, a valued member of the society, who is holidaying in England. Plans were also made to remember other members of the society who are confined to their homes.

During the afternoon a print quilt was made. This quilt had been on order for some time.

Plans were made for the November meeting when the election of officers will be held.

Mrs. Walter Gallagher, convener of the program committee, announced the following numbers on the program: Misses Mary Coyle and Nancy Carew sang a duet with Mrs. John Coyle playing piano accompaniment; Readings were given by Mrs. Mervin Smith, Mrs. Clarence Down and Mrs. Gallagher. Mrs. Mervin Smith conducted a quiz on hymns and the convener was in charge of a quiz on foods.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Take Noon Meal Slowly Food Should Give Energy

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Far from being a snatch-snack affair, the noon-day meal should be taken slowly and the food should be the kind that provides energy for the afternoon's work.

Batteries of office-workers fresh from the battle of the crowded lunch counter might snicker at this. But since Utopia hasn't yet arrived the best we can do is give the children a chance to benefit in their growing years before they join the lunch-counter rush.

LUNCH BOX CARE

Margaret Smith, director of nutrition for the Health League of Canada, warns that as much care and planning should go into the lunch that youngsters take to school as a mother puts into any meal served at home.

"The noon-day lunch should provide one-third of the whole day's requirements of energy-producing, body-building foods," says Miss Smith. "This means protein, minerals and vitamins for growth and repair of body tissues; carbohydrates or starches, fats and proteins to yield energy for work and play."

The Ontario Department of Agriculture in its pamphlet "good school lunches" recommends the following menu: vegetable soup, sandwiches (whole wheat bread) of minced beef and pickle or salmon and celery; carrot strips, whole orange, oatmeal cookies and milk.

Another lunch: cream of tomato soup; sandwiches (whole wheat bread) of cold roast pork or chopped egg and celery; raisin and cabbage salad; fresh whole peach; gingerbread and milk.

SWAMP BERRIES

Cranberries are rapidly becoming an important product in Canadian agriculture. Their cultivation is spreading from the Maritime provinces into the central and even the western areas.

The consumer section of the federal agriculture department says the berries grow best in swamp soil, and to obtain similar growing conditions bogs frequantly are built on low-lying ground. The fruit is picked in the fall as soon as it is ripe and before the frost comes.

6—In Memoriam

STOREY—In loving memory of Mildred Storey, who passed away Oct. 31, 1951.

There the buds from earth transplanted
For our coming watch and wait,
In the upper garden growing.
Just within the pearly gate.
Though our hearts may break with sorrow
By the grief so hard to bear,
We shall meet her some bright morning
In the upper garden there.

—Ever remembered by mother, brother and sisters.

STOREY—In loving memory of Mildred Storey, who passed away Oct. 31, 1951.

You are not forgotten sister,
Nor ever will you be,
As long as life and memory lasts,
We will remember thee.

—Lovingly remembered by Hilda and Lloyd, Cliff and Chris.

STOREY—In loving memory of Mildred Storey, who passed away Oct. 31, 1951.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true,
Years that may come cannot sever
My loving remembrance of you.

—Ever remembered by sister Mae and family.

STOREY—In loving memory of Mildred Storey who passed away one year ago, October 31st.

And while she lies in peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.

[illegible] remembered by niece Laura

Stewart Plans To See Richard

MONTREAL (CP)—When Maurice (Rocket) Richard goes gunning for the all-time National Hockey League goal-scoring record tomorrow night, the man whose mark is about to topple will be a spectator.

Nels (Ole Poison) Stewart was in long-distance telephone communication early today with managing director Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens and said he will be on hand—and pulling for the Rocket.

Richard tied the all-time record of 324 with a pair of goals Wednesday night in Toronto and was given an ovation by the Maple Leaf fans. Canadiens meet New York Rangers here tomorrow night.

"It will be an honor to be present when Richard makes his great try," Stewart told Selke. "I hope that my presence will help him."

Stewart, who talked from his Port Colborne, Ont., home, said he will arrive by air tomorrow.

Stewart rolled up his 324 total while playing with the old Montreal Maroons, Boston Bruins and New York Americans.

Annexation Hearing To Be Resumed

Hearing of the proposed annexation by the city of a block of Smith township for residential purposes will be resumed by the Ontario Municipal Board at the City Hall Thursday, Nov. 6, at 10 a.m.

Another bulletin today posts announcement of a meeting of the Ontario Rentals Board at the City Hall Friday, Nov. 14, at 10 a.m.

William C. Grant said today that the Board deals with rental cases which are submitted to them at their office in Lombard St., Toronto.

"This board considers appeals from the rental appraiser, and also hears applications such as release of premises from rental regulations," Mr. Grant said.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Feed grains were a little lower while wheat and soybeans showed gains at the opening today.

Some buying entered wheat on the weather bureau's five-day outlook, which saw no moisture at all during the period for the southwestern winter wheat belt.

Fairly heavy corn receipts depressed feed grains.

Wheat started ¼ to ½ higher, December 2.38½-¼; corn unchanged to ½ lower, December 1.66-1.65 ¾; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 85⅜ and soybeans ⅛ to 1 cent higher, November 2.94 ½-2.95.

Polltakers Say Eisenhower Seems In Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the top political polltakers say that, as of now, it looks as if Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will command a slight lead in the popular vote on election day.

But the pollsters—Dr. George Gallup, Archibald M. Crossley and Elmo Roper—say this prediction must be tempered by the question: How fast is Governor Adlai E. Stevenson catching up?

The consensus of the poll-takers came out yesterday at a meeting of the New York chapter of the American Market Association, and the dominant mood of all three of them was: caution.

REMEMBER 1948

They were remembering the way the voters upset their 1948 predictions that Governor Thomas E. Dewey would beat President Truman.

Although they said they've corrected their methods since then, they still were wary about estimating the outcome.

Crossley said the big headache is the undecided category. He estimated 10 per cent of the voters are in this group.

Gallup said his organization, the American Institute of Public Opinion, is making its final poll, and will publicize the results Monday.

Falling Bucket Injures Worker

A 23-year-old workman was injured at 11 a.m. today when a metal pail dropped three storeys, hitting him on the head.

The pail, used for carrying gravel to the roof of the Charlabond Apartments on Charlotte St., apparently came loose from the rope it was attached to and dropped 45 feet, hitting Donald Smith, 193 Park St., on the head and knocking him unconscious.

He was taken by ambulance to Civic hospital. His injuries are not believed to be serious, and his condition is described as good.

Smith and other workmen were repairing the roof on the apartment building. Gravel and tar were being hauled up to the roof in a pail attached to a rope run over a pulley.

The pail which struck Smith was empty. Patrol Sgt. Gordon Trennum who was patrolling along Charlotte St., as the accident happened said the five-gallon metal pail had just been hauled to the roof and emptied.

He said the workman on the roof had put it back on the hook and believed it had caught. Then, he said Elwood Graham, 633 Union St., who was on the ground "gave the rope a flip" to bring the pail down.

Somehow, the pail came loose, and fell to the ground, striking Smith, who was standing near Graham, on the head.

Engineers

ley suggested Thursday that the type of information being presented to the commission by Mr. Dobbin was being selected because it was in favor of the cast iron variety.

At this point, Dr. Langley accused Mr. Dobbin of "playing safe" and being unwilling to change to transite pipe because he had been using cast iron pipe for so long.

"As long as you take an adamant [illegible] cent. saving, declared Dr. Langley, "I am not convinced the engineering department is being efficienty operated."

To get an authoritative independent opinion, the commission decided to engage Gore and Storrie, of Toronto, engineering consultants, to report on the relative advantages of cast iron and transite pipe for the water works distribution system in Peterborough and recommend action.

Student Pilot

triculation, Jopling worked a year and a half in the personnel office at the Quaker Oats Company, leaving there to join the R.C.A.F.

While at P.C.V.S. the good-looking lad was quite popular with fellow students. He took an active part in both the social and athletic life. He played football under coach Alex Londry in 1948 when the juniors won the C.O.S.S.A. junior championship and then another year with Bev Goulding's seniors. In basketball Jopling played guard in both junior and senior.

He is survived by his mother and grandfather, J. P. Pulkinghorn of Peterborough.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Gold Revaluation Needed Drew Declares

WINNIPEG (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said last night revaluation of gold and its use in a Canadian gold coinage are necessary steps for increasing foreign trade and re-establishment of the nation's gold mining industry.

Addressing a nomination convention, which unanimously chose Gordon M. Churchill, member of Parliament for Winnipeg South Centre, as its candidate at the next federal election, he stressed the need for increased trade and development of the country's resources to provide maximum employment for Canada.

He said he hoped Canada would take the lead at next month's Commonwealth conference in London in a move to re-open the normal channels of trade.

ESTABLISH OWN PRICE

"We should establish our own price for gold, and start minting gold coins that we could sell freely to the world."

If a proper value was put on gold, Mr. Drew said, it would prevent stripping rich veins and the permanent loss of low-grade ores.

He was "amazed" to read reports attributed to reliable sources in Ottawa that Canada was going to insist that the British "clean house" at the forthcoming commonwealth conference.

"We have plenty to do here before we can tell Britain or anybody else what to do in their own country."

Calls McCrea Great Canadian

TORONTO (CP)—Hon. Charles McCrea, former Ontario Mines minister, who died yesterday was a "truly great Canadian" said Premier Leslie Frost in paying tribute to Mr. McCrea.

Premier Frost said yesterday word of Mr. McCrea's death came as a "great shock" to him.

"I am very grieved at the passing of a truly great Canadian and a man who had a great conception of this country," said the premier. "In many ways he was a pioneer of the north country where for a time he practised law and won a seat in the legislature."

Mr. Frost added that Mr. McCrea had great confidence in the development of the north and, as mines minister, was not afraid to make decisions he felt would benefit that part of the province.

Trying To Raise $500,000 For Hospital

GALT (CP)—Forty thousand residents of this district will try within the next two weeks to raise $500,000 to equip a 175-bed South Waterloo Memorial hospital now being built between Galt and Preston at a cost of $2,000,000.

The hospital will serve an area embracing Galt, Preston, Hespeler and North Dumfries township. At present the only hospital available is a 40-bed one here.

Beginning Nov. 3 the four municipalities will be canvassed for two weeks. The campaign is to be launched Sunday night by a rally open to the public in a theatre here.

Dartford Pupil Wins Percy Twp. Trophy

DARTFORD (ENS).—For two years in succession the frist prize in public speaking for Percy township, the Senator Fraser Trophy, has been won by pupils of Dartford school, S.S. 5, Percy.

This year Ray Ward brought the honors back with his speech "Why I Stick to the Farm." Ray is the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward and a pupil of Mrs. Raymond Richardson. He will compete in the county finals at Brighton on November 7.

Last year Marjorie Honey won [illegible] Baby cup has only been in Dartford school one other time. That was in 1930, the first year of the contest, when Lila Allen (now Mrs. Sawtell won this trophy.

Held For Arson

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Georgia Clark, 41 poured gasoline over the floor of a tavern she operated, police said, and set it ablaze just as deputy sheriffs arrived to evict her Thursday for non-payment of rent. Police arrested her on a charge of third-degree arson.

Dutch Court Rejects Rebel's Extradition

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (Reuters)—A supreme court ruling today rejected Indonesian claims for the extradition of former Capt. Raymond Westerling, who led a rebel army against Indonesian government forces.

The court ruled that Westerling in Dutch and cannot be extradited from Holland.

Westerling and his "Heavenly Host" army rebelled in 1950 and captured Bandung, Indonesia. He was arrested in Holland last April and temporarily released pending an investigation of his activities.

Charge U.S. Fails To Keep Treaty

PANAMA, Panama (AP) — The United States as charged last night by some of Panama's foremost citizens with failing to live up to provisions of the 1936 treaty for operation of the Panama Canal.

The charges were made before the foreign affairs committee of the National Assembly. The hearing had been called to discuss a draft resolution renewing assembly protests against U.S. commercial operations in the canal zone.

Witnesses — among them eight former presidents and six former foreign ministers — complained of discrimination against Panamanians in the canal zone, establishment there of commercial and industrial enterprises, duty-free importation of non-essential articles there, and payment of the annuity for use of the canal zone in depreciated dollars instead of gold dollars.

The U.S. pays $250,000 annually for use of the canal.

Relatives Fete Couple At Coldsprings Party

COLDSPRINGS (ENS). — An enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. McClelland, Bethel Grove, when approximately 50 relatives gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Jibb, of New Liskeard, who are on vacation. It was the occasion of Mr. Jibbs' 69th birthday and also that of his nephew, Keith Harper.

Progressive euchre prizes were won by Mrs. Edson Jibb, Keith Harper, Mrs. Douglas Redpath and Mrs. William Jibb.

Before lunch Mrs. McClelland made the presentation of a gift each to Mr. and Mrs. Jibb.

Koreans Will Welcome Ike If He Changes

PUSAN, Korea (AP) — A Korean Eisenhower would be welcomed lawmaker said today Dwight D. as an "honored guest" if the Republican presidential candidate was elected and if:

". . .he changes his Europe-first and Asia-second policy."

Yoon Chi Yung, vice-chairman of the National Assembly, has previously expressed opposition to Eisenhower's stated plan to replace American divisions with South Korean troops.

Runaway Freight Hits Passenger Coach

PASSA Germany (AP)—A runaway freight car loaded with tons of rock crashed head-on into a diesel-operated passenger car last night, killing eight persons and injuring 26 others.

The accident occurred on a steep grade outside the south German village of Fuerstenstein near here.

Throws 3 Daughters To Safety, Burns Thumb

COVENTRY, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Carl Fejeresen, 32, tossed her three small daughters from a porch roof to safety in her husband's arms early today as fire destroyed their home.

Mrs. Fejeresen suffered the only injury, a thumb burn.

Suspended Sentence

Ronald Bugg, 45, 22 London St., pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge today and was placed on suspended sentence for two years [illegible] Shaw said he was agreeing to suspended sentence on condition Bugg agree to stay away from parks and the company of young children. Bugg said he understood the conditions and was agreeable.

Calls Off Conference

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida called off a press conference today. Later his aides said Yoshida learned that photographers were in the press party and he didn't want his picture taken.

Forest Fires Threatening Wide Area In US

CHICAGO (AP) — A mass of dry air covered the eastern half of the United States again today, indicating no immediate rain to halt the ever-spreading fires which are burning millions of acres of wooded areas.

The damage from the flames which have whipped over rich timberlands in more than a score of states mounted into the millions of dollars. The situation in some areas is regarded as serious. Flames from grassland and brush fires were reported in several cities.

Heavy palls of smoke were reported over many areas in the fire belt east of the Mississippi.

The weather bureau had no immediate hope of a heavy general rainfall over the fire - stricken regions. Many states have had only little rain in the last two months.

The worst fires in history have swept Tennessee woodlands and officials have not estimated the damage. In Illinois, Indiana and Mississippi the damage soared to an estimated $1,000,000 in each state, with fires still raging.

In Missouri, Governor Forrest Smith said the situation in some areas was critical. In Joplin, a grass fire spread across two square miles, destroying several homes and other buildings. It was brought under control after threatening 150 homes.

Customs Officers Seize U.K. Novel

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—A shipment of a novel dealing with South Africa's race problem was impounded by customs officers today when it arrived from London.

The book, "Let the Day Perish," was written by a South African, Gerald Gordon, and published in London.

Customs officials said there were passages on racial inter-marriage which "might be considered offensive."

Author Gordon, a Capetown lawyer, is a national vice-chairman of the Torch Commando, an anti-government political organization.

M. G. Enright

One of two men burned to death Tuesday in a house fire at Tweed, Michael Gerald (Lloyd) Enright, 35, was buried Thursday in St. Peter's cemetery. Second victim was 54-year-old Vincent Gartland.

Service was held from the Duffus funeral home to Sacred Heart Church, where requiem mas was said by the Rev. G. Gaughan. Graveside prayers at the cemetery were said by the Rev. G. Sullivan.

Pallbearers were Elmer Hickey, John Dinnie, Donald Burke, Johseph Meagher, F. P. Burke, and Michael Enright, an uncle of Enright's from Douglas, Ont.

Coal Gas Fatality

JORDAN STATION (CP)—An elderly man was killed yesterday and his wife taken to hospital in serious condition after coal gas filled their three-room apartment in this village six miles west of St. Catharines. John Strong, 73, and his wife Matilda were found by Lloyd Spiece, their landlord, when he forced his way in a window after no signs of life were seen.

Captured U.S. Pilot Downed Over Korea

TOKYO (AP)—The United States Air Forces said today that an American pilot claimed by Peiping radio to have been shot down over Communist Manchuria, actually was shot down over North Korea Oct. 26.

The Communist China radio said Lieut. Lyle W. Cameron of Lincoln, Neb., was one of eight U.S. F-84 jet pilots who "bombed and strafed" a town in Manchuria.

The air force said Cameron bailed out of his jet about 12 miles south of Kanggye in North Korea, and that repeated efforts to rescue him failed. More than 300 sorties were flown in the search, but no sign of Cameron was seen.

Lindsay Juniors Start Practices

LINDSAY— (ENS) —Lindsay's new junior B team went through a three hour workout Thursday night under the guidance of coach "Sixty" Coombs and Owen Johnston, and at the end, 21 tired candidates for the team were ready to agree that coach Coombs is a hard master.

With the opening game in Peterborough only a week away, hard work and lots of skating are the order of the day as the team, mostly of Juvenile age, readies for the campaign. Very few of the large aggregation on hand Thursday night were of junior age, although the team shapes up as one of the tallest and perhaps heaviest in the group.

Among those who starred as expected were Reg Truax, in goal, sparkling after a tryout with the junior A Barrie Flyers, Chidley, Packer Hutton, Williams brothers and the Teal brothers from Oakwood. The team if not first in the group standing this year will surely be the best-dressed with gold and blue sweaters, socks and satin pants donated by Eddie Shore.

Cadets Raise Ancient Scow

KINGSTON (CP) — An eight-ton scow believed to have been lying on the bottom of Deadman Bay near here for more than 100 years, was raised yesterday by cadets of the Royal Military College.

The cadets, aided by equipment and help of members of the three armed services, lifted the 29-by-10-foot craft from 17 feet of water by securing lines around it.

Then they moved it onto a low loader — a low, flat boat like a scow—and transported the ancient vessel to nearby Fort Henry, where it will remain as a tourist attraction.

The area from which the scow was recovered is believed to be the graveyard for at least two large man-of-war ships built to defend Canada in the war of 1812.

Funeral For McCrea To Be In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The funeral of Charles McCrea, former Ontario mines minister who died yesterday at 74, will be held here tomorrow.

The service will be held at Holy Rosary church at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery.

Mr. McCrea, mines minister for 11 years, helped guide the development of his beloved Northern Ontario and lived to see his faith in the north country vindicated.

Steel Strike Costs Firm 26 Millions

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry had a good look today at some of the costs of last summer's 54-day steel strike.

Bethlehem Steel Corp., No. 2 producer in the United States, disclosed yesterday that its net income for nine months ended Sept. 30 dropped nearly $26,000,000 below that of the same 1951 period.

Earlier, U.S. Stee, Corp., biggest in the industry, had reported a decline of more than $38,500,000 in its nine-month net.

Both steel leaders estimated an even sharper fall in their provision for federal taxes based on income.

The nine-month earnings of Bethlehem totalled $41,421,705, equal to $3.81 a share, compared with $67,155,347, or $6.50 a share, in the like 1951 period.

E. G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem, told a press conference yesterday the company's costs of doing business have advanced "quite a bit" above the increased revenue resulting from the price boosts that accompanied the wage increases at the end of the steel strike.

By the end of November, Grace said, the steel industry will have caught up with all the production of steel for military needs that was lost during the strike. He predicted that by next April 1 all steel for the big industrial-expansion programs initiated to meet military and defence needs will have been delivered.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ALEXANDER MURDOCH McKINLAY

Mrs. Alexander Murdoch McKinlay, 648 Romaine St., died Thursday at her home in her 67th year after a short illness.

Born in Lasswade, Scotland, she was formerly Isabella Orr Cuthbertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cuthbertson.

She came to Peterborough 40 years ago from Scotland. She was a member of Bethel Baptist Church and the Golden Link Rebekah Lodge 81.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, Samuel S. of Pennsburgh, Pennsylvania and Robert of Dearborn, Mich.; two sisters and one brother of Glasbow, Scotland, and three grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Kaye funeral home. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery. Tonight at 8 p.m. there will be a Rebekah Lodge service at the Kaye funeral home.

HENRY ELLISON

An employee of the Quaker Oats Co., who retired 13 years ago, Henry Ellison, 77, of 499 Stewart St., died suddenly today at his home.

Born in London, England, he was a son of the late Charles Ellison and Ann White, and came to Canada 45 years ago. He had worked at the Quaker Oats since coming to Peterborough. Mr. Ellison was an adherent of the McDonnel St. Gospel Hall.

Surviving are his widow, the former Bertha Simpson; six children: Mrs. E. Orbell (May), Mrs. R. Caines (Grace), Percy, Roy and Walter, all of Peterborough, and Earl of St. Catharines. There are two brothers, Ernest and Edward Ellison of Toronto, and two sisters in England.

Funeral service will be held Monday at the Kaye funeral home, and burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery. Further arrangements have not yet been completed.

2,000 Rioting Ohio Convicts Burn 8 Buildings At Prison

S. Koreans Refuse To Retreat, Die Blocking Reds

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean infantrymen clawed slowly up the slopes of Triangle Hill today while Allied planes blasted the Chinese-held crest in an effort to cut down Communist firepower. The indomitable South Koreans were fighting to regain the prized central-front peak where hundreds of their countrymen, in "gallant disobedience of orders," sacrified themselves Friday to block a Red smash into the main Allied line. Ordered to retreat when the Chinese attacked in waves before dawn, they stayed and died on the barren peak.

The way back was slow and bloody. But Allied air strikes at the crest were slowing the Communist fire.

"The enemy gunners who were not hit kept their heads well down," A.P. correspondent John Randolph reported.

BEAT OFF ATTACKS

Other Allied troops fought off Chinese battalion attacks against Jane Russell Hill, a lesser ridge on Triangle, and Pinpoint Hill, highest peak on nearby Sniper Ridge.

The 19 days of continuous battling for the Kumhwa ridges has piled up the longest and bloodiest fighting of the last year.

Communist battalions were repulsed at an Allied outpost just west of the Triangle-Sniper sector and four outposts south of Panmunjom on the western front.

Allied troops in the Panmunjom area struck back with a two-hour tank-infantry raid that killed or wounded an estimated 500 Reds.

Fifteen miles south of Triangle-Sniper, 25,000 South Koreans were reported evacuating the road-rail hub of Chunchon under a joint order of the Eighth Army and Republic of Korea government. A Pusan dispatch said the evacuation must be completed by next Wednesday.

In the past such evacuation orders have been given prior to a major Communist offensive.

PETERBOROUGH'S NEW MASONIC TEMPLE was dedicated on Friday evening in a most colorful ceremony conducted by James P. Maher of Toronto, a Past Grand Master of Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario. The ceremony was attended by more than 300 members of the Craft and was conducted by Grand Lodge officers. Militia Mobilized Before Mob Returns To Cells

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Six hours of hell on Hallowe'en—a $1,000,000 "bad-food" riot by 2,000 convicts—swept century-old Ohio penitentiary last night. Eight buildings went up in flames. Furnishings and equipment were savagely beaten into wreckage. A state highway patrolman, mistaken for an escaping convict, was wounded slightly on the head by a quick-shooting guard. No one else was injured; no prisoner escaped; no hostage was taken.

Milling convicts, spurred to madness by the needling of ringleaders, threatened for a time to attempt a mass escape over the prison's 30-foot-high north wall. Thirty-five guards, armed with sub-machine guns, stood their ground. Somehow the escape attempt never jelled.

REVOLT COLLAPSES

Quickly the state and city marshalled forces, pouring 250 guards and officers into the flaming prison compound. Six hundred Ohio National Guardsmen were mobilized before the sudden collapse of the revolt.

A scheduled 10:30 p.m. EST offensive by the guard became unnecessary. Cold, hungry and beaten, most of the rebellious convicts moved back into the cell blocks minutes before the guard planned to march into the penitentiary.

Beleaguered guards remembered Easter Monday of 1950, when convicts set fire to a cell block in an escape plot and 322 prisoners died in the flames.

Escapes have been rare in recent years at Ohio penitentiary. Back in Civil War days, Confederate Gen. John J. Morgan and his raiders escaped from the prison. How, no one knows for certain.

The break-up of the rebellion was held up an hour by the flashing knives of a dozen case-hardened convicts, who bull-dozed 600 fellow-prisoners into keeping up their defiance.

DIE-HARDS LINGER

Possibly 100 die-hards lingered in the courtyard after the mutiny had fallen apart, eventually forcing guards to bomb them out with tear gas.

Well after the big shouting was over, some convicts bellowed and broke windows. Guards stifled their yelling with shotgun blasts that tore through the jagged window openings.

The outbreak, primed by a series of other uprisings in prisons across the United States, came in the mess hall at dinner time. The mutiny spread through 2,000 convicts, nearly one-half the prison's 4,000-odd population.

Eight hundred of the original 2,000 convicts quickly agreed to return to their cells. Then the second act started—a riot by 1,200 convicts in the face of a total guard force of 35. Fires illumined under the matches of the scurrying convicts.

Find Gamblers Not Paying, Go Underground

WASHINGTON (AP)—The law that was to force most gamblers in the United States to pay heavy taxes or put them out of business—one year old today—has done neither in its first year.

Frank Lohn, chief of the Internal Revenue Bureau's intelligence division, said in an interview it has brought in only a fraction of the expected revenue, and has not materially reduced gambling.

The government collected less than $9,000,000 in taxes, compared with congressional estimates that the take might be $400,000,000.

And, Lohn said, instead of being forced out of business, gamblers "have just gone underground." However, he added the law is a "deterrent to the gambling fraternity."

NOT ENOUGH

The bureau hasn't enough men to enforce the law, Lohn said. Also, the Supreme Court has not yet ruled on whether the stamp tax is constitutional. Last spring a federal judge held it was not.

The law requires gamblers to buy a $50-a-year occupational tax stamp, and to pay an excise tax amounting to 10 per cent of their gross take.

Spiritualist Helps Police On Murder

DIGNE, France (Reuters)—French police last night watched in vain for a "full moon" murderer to return to the scene of his crime, as forecast by a spiritualist.

But the moon will be full tonight and police will again be hiding behind bushes on the off-chance of capturing the murderer of Sir Jack Drummond, his wife and 13-year-old daughter.

The hot tip from the spirit world, from 30-year-old spiritualist Anne Roussel, said the killer would return to the scene at full moon and might commit suicide.

Police, missing no bets, thought the killer might turn up a night early, but he didn't. The murder of the British food expert and his family was committed the night before the full moon.

Open Block Of Apartments

EXETER, Devon, England (CP) Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner in London, visited this city today to open a block of apartments named for the city of Toronto.

The self-contained apartments, which overlook the city, have been built for elderly persons who lost their living quarters in wartime raids. Each flat has its own garden and there are communal recreation and dining halls.

Building was financed largely by the lord mayor of London's air raid distress fund. A substantial proportion of the money was contributed during the war by citizens of Ontario through a plan spon-

Five People Injured In 2-Car Collision

NEW LISKEARD (CP) — Five persons were injured last night in a two-car crash near Cane, 18 miles east of here.

Taken to hospital here were Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Shaughnessy, of Matachewan.

Police said that O'Shaughnessy was proceeding towards New Liskeard on highway 65 when his auto collided with a car operated by John Welch, Elk Lake.

Welch and his two passengers, Miss Joyce Lafreniere and Paul Tessier, Matachewan, suffered cuts and bruises.

Skyrocket Kills Young Mother

VANCOUVER (CP) — A young mother holding her baby in her arms was killed last night when was watching a Hallowe'en fireworks display.

The rocket was ignited on a launching chute at a park in suburban Burnaby. It knifed into the skull of Mrs. George Peppin, 27, as she stood beside her husband.

her 18-months-old baby and her husband were unhurt. Nobody else in the crowd of 4,000 was harmed.

Ted Loftus, one of six men lighting the fireworks at the celebration, said the rocket "seemed to misfire, then fall back and shoot out without warning."

The young woman was standing about 160 feet from the launching site.

"The rocket travelled in a straight line, about four or five feet off the deck.

"It struck her just below the left eye. A doctor on the grounds so she could be put into the ambulance."

Mrs. Peppin was dead on arrival at hospital.

Tito's Party Holding Sixth Congress

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslavia's 700,000 Communists, ruling a country of 17,000,000, open their sixth party congress here tomorrow. The program seems aimed at strengthening domestic controls while continuing to exhibit defiance of the Soviet Union.

Premier Tito, secretary-general and boss of the party, will give a four-hour report to the 2,300 delegates, outlining the country's perilous position since Yugoslavia's Communists were booted out of the Russian-led Cominform in 1948. He will present stern measures outlined by his ruling politburo "to combat the cominform's campaign of propaganda, economic warfare and border threats.

STILL COMMUNIST

Tito is expected to stress that while there is growing co-operation with the West, Yugoslavia is not abandoning the "true" principles of Leninism and Communism. The four-day meeting will hear from Yugoslavia's leaders that it was Russia which betrayed those principles with a swing to imperialism.

The last party congress was in July, 1948, shortly after the historic break with the cominform.

Hard-pressed in 1950 after a crop-parching drought and the cominform boycott, Yugoslavia turned to the United States, which alone sent more than $100,000,000 worth of food. Britain and France helped out, too.

Thus far Tito has shied away from a formal alliance with neighboring Greece and Turkey against Soviet aggression, although he has showed willingness to enter informal agreements. His relations with Italy, meanwhile, have been complicated by the problem of Trieste, strategic Adriatic port claimed by both.

The unanimity will receive [illegible] congress. The party's rule is likely to be tightened in a manner not dissimilar to that following the Soviet Union's recent congress.

Delegates Watch For Compromise

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Poland speaks for the Soviet bloc in the United Nations debate over Korea today, with delegates watching closely for possible hints of a Communist compromise on the deadlocked prisoner-of-war issue. The Polish delegation added its name to the list of speakers at today's meeting of the general assembly's political committee. The Poles will follow Nationalist China, New Zealand and Sweden.

Poland is the first Communist country to enter the debate since Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky attacked the west Monday and proposed formation of a new international commission to supervise a peaceful Korean settlement and unification of Korea.

FAMILIAR TERMS

It was Poland that presented an omnibus resolution containing proposals for ending the Korean War on familiar Communist terms That resolution, which also includes proposals on disarmament, outlawing atomic weapons and germ warfare and a big-five peace pact, is last on the committee's debate list.

The Poles are believed certain to come out for Vishinsky's proposed commission.

Some delegations also hoped they might come up with a suggestion that the Communists are ready to drop their demand that all prisoners be returned to their Red-ruled homelands whether they want to or not.

Nationalist China and New Zealand are expected to add their voices to the western demand that the Communists accept a Korean armistice on terms recognizing the principle that no prisoner shall be repatriated at the point of a bayonet.

Bing's Wife Clings Feebly To Life

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Dixie Lee Crosby clung to life today, although feebly, as her husband, Bing, and her four sons watched her strength ebb away. Doctors have given her no chance of survival.

Msgr. Patrick Concannon baptized her into the Roman Catholic Church last Monday, the day before she sank into a coma. She has since received the sacraments of the church, including extreme unction.

"She had asked to be baptized several months ago," Monsigneur Concannon said. "The intention has always been there." He is pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Bing's home parish.

Nursing Home Fire Kills 18

HILLSBORO, Mo. (AP)—Fire swept through a three-storey nursing home for aged persons last night, killing 18 and injuring at least 36 others.

The dead and injured were patients living on the second and third floors of the stone structure on the edge of Hillsboro.

The blaze apparently started in a men's washroom on the first floor. It spread rapidly up stairways and through corridors, trapping many of the victims.

There were more than 100 patients in the building when the fire started.

Royal Commission To Be Sent To Kenya

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Commission will be sent to Kenya to seek out causes of the native Mau Mau witchcraft terrorism, which has resulted in 46 murders and great damage in that British East African colony.

The colonial office announced today that the commission will have specific instructions to study economic problems accounting in part for the secret society's pledge to drive white men from the colony.

It is conceded here that the Kikuyu tribesmen in Kenya have longed to possess the fertile "white highlands," almost monopolized by

In addition to land problems, the commission will study social pressures arising from concentration of a large number of natives in Nairobi and Mombasa, the colony's two large cities, where they exist in extreme poverty.

File Multiple Charges Of Robbery, Abduction

BARTOW, Fla. (AP)—Multiple charges of armed robbery, kidnapping and auto theft today were filed against a self-styled maniac and his convict pal whose wild dash for freedom ended at a crossroads barricade 20 miles north of Jacksonville.

James Francis Hill, 31, former inmate of an insane asylum, was held on three charges of armed robbery, three counts of kidnapping, three of auto theft and one of jail delivery.

James Douglas, the convict, faced two counts of kidnapping, three of armed robbery, three of auto theft and one of escape.

It was Hill who freed Douglas and three other convicts at a road gang near here Thursday. Hill and Douglas kidnapped eight persons and changed cars five times in their daring bid to get out of Florida.

Masonic Temple Dedicated By Grand Lodge

Peterborough's new Masonic Lodge was dedicated on Friday night. The beautiful ceremony was conducted by Most Worshipful Brother James J. Maher, a past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario. The dedication was performed by Grand Lodge officers assisted by senior members of the Masonic Craft in Peterborough.

A unique part of the ceremony was the Grand Lodge assembled in the same room that was used by the Masons of Peterborough as their lodge room more than 100 years ago.

Tie Mental Cases To Beds In Don Jail

TORONTO (CP)—T. W. Brand, suspended governor of the Don Jail, said yesterday that violent mental cases in the jail had to be tied to their beds at times because there was nowhere to put them.

Mr. Brand, giving evidence to a Royal Commission investigating conditions at the jail, said there were no padded cells for violent prisoners. "If a man becomes violent and starts banging his head against the wall, all we can do is tie him to a bed for his own protection," he said.

He said that sometimes mentally-ill criminals committed to an institution had to wait at the jail for as long as three weeks before getting a bed in the institution.

NO NARCOTICS FOUND

George Walsh, chief counsel for the Crown, asked Mr. Brand what he knew of narcotics being brought into the Don jail which the city owns but the province administrates.

Mr. Brand replied that on no occasion had any drugs been found in the possession of a prisoner, but at different times during his term (from February to September) two hypodermic syringes and needles had been discovered by guards. He added that these must have been smuggled into the jail in some way.

Mr. Brand testified that Alex Noble, suspended deputy governor, made an early-morning check of the Boyd Gang cells Sept. 8, the day they made their second escape, but did not sign the register to show he made a later check between 5 a.m. and 7 a.m.

During that interval the four desperadoes escaped, Mr. Brand said. He added the record book showed Mr. Noble made his last round at 3:35 a.m.

Mr. Brand said the deputy governor, who was acting as chief turnkey that night, investigated mysterious noises coming over the microphone from the gang cells about 3 a.m., but found nothing wrong.

1953 Butter Price Less Than 70 Cents

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—Canadians will pay [illegible] a pound for butter next year, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said last night.

He said Canada's 40,000,000 pounds of surplus butter would be sold at a wholesale price of 62 cents a pound, "a policy which would give the farmer the highest possible return."

He added that production and consumption statistics proved that Canadian farmers were only producing sufficient butter to supply their own needs.

1 Dies, 5 Injured In Car Smash-up

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—One man was killed yesterday and five persons injured, three severely, when an automobile went out of control on a highway curve 15 miles southeast and struck a moving tractor.

Dead is the driver of the car, Ralph Cowan, 51, of Detroit. In hospital in serious condition are [illegible] of Detroit. Parents of the dead man and Mrs Helen Johnson, 43, of Mount Clemens, Mich.

McNessy Smith, 30, and Money Head, 42, both of Detroit, received lacerations and bruises. All were passengers in the automobile

Frank Sexton of Maidstone, driver of the tractor, was uninjured.

Ditch Bomber In China Sea

TOKYO (AP) — An Okinawa-based B-29 was ditched last night in the East China Sea 10 miles west of Okinawa and an intensive search was underway today for 11 members of the crew.

Three survivors were rescued. Wind squalls hampered rescue operations. The Superfort was ditched because of engine trouble while returning from a combat mission over North Korea.

Use 100 Policemen To Track Attackers

LONDON (Reuters) — More than 100 policemen with three dogs today searched the rain-drenched Rainham marshes in Essex for two men who beat a police constable unconscious last night.

Constable Harold Smith, 28, had surprised the men trying to break into a cafe. He was hit on the head with an iron bar and a brick.

Some Of Convicts Offer To Help Repair Chapel

By DAVE DILES

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — "I'll help you straighten out the chapel, Father," said one convict.

"Yeah, I'm a good worker, too," said another.

It was more than eight hours after the riot that brought an estimated $2,000,000 in damage to Ohio penitentiary last night.

Rev. C. Valerian Lucier, Roman Catholic chaplain at the prison, stood beside the handful of things "some of the better boys" dragged out of his chapel before it was gutted by flames.

A half-dozen convicts stood beside him. Lucier made no reply to the offer of help in cleaning up the chapel. Instead, he turned and stared at his church as firemen stood by helplessly, unable to do anything about the blaze that devoured it.

Finally the priest said:

"You know, some of the better boys actually tried to save my chapel."

Several convicts were picking up debris littering the prison yard.

HARD TO FIGURE

"It's a funny thing," one of them said. "First you think you're right and no one can tell you different. But now I don't know. It's kinda' hard to figure out."

Another convict said, "I didn't help to tear it up but I'll do my share when it comes to fixin' it up."

"Bring that man in here and we'll give him the real truth," someone screamed.

"Tell 'em all about me—I don't give a damn," another said.

A third yelled: "The only way to find out just what this whole thing is all about is to be in here yourself. Those slimy guards won't tell you."

2 Africans Confess To Killing Settler

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Two Africans today confessed before a magistrate to the murder of a British settler on his lonely farm earlier this week.

The two were among 14 Kikuyu tribesmen rounded up by police in connection with the slaying of Eric Bowyer, 55. It was part of the wave of terrorism in this colony by the secret anti-white Mau Mau society.

Bowyer and his two African servants were found hacked to pieces on his farm.

Declare Emergency State In Two Cities In Iowa

CHICAGO (CP) — Autumn forest fires raged over wide areas in the eastern half of the United States today as the U.S. Forest Service warned that the fire danger is the greatest in history.

There was still no sign of rain in the score of states hit by the thousands of fires. The weather bureau held out little hope for a heavy general rainfall over the week-end.

In Arkansas, one of the states hardest hit by the fires, hunting was banned until the emergency is over. The biggest fire of the season swept over 10,000 acres of timber near Camden, Ark., yesterday.

A state of emergency was declared in two Iowa cities, Des Moines and Marshalltown, because of the fires.

A state of emergency also has been declared by Governor Forest Smith of Missouri, with all hunting and fishing banned.

Emergency regulations were ordered yesterday for 17,500,000 acres of national and state forest land in northern Wisconsin.

Forest Fire Skirted Town Of Fort Frances

FORT FRANCES (CP)—A forest fire which raced out of the brush and muskeg died down last night after burning dangerously close to the outskirts of this town on the Ontario-Minnesota border.

At its height, the blaze was a three-mile wall of flame fanned by 30-mile-an-hour winds. Observers said there was no immediate danger to the town but fire crews of both town and province were standing by.

The blaze started yesterday and soon developed into an inferno, fed by tinder dry grass and brush. The entire north sky was reported "blood red."

Fire hazard conditions were the same as the fall of 1938 when 17 persons were burned to death in a fire 25 miles northwest of here.

Property Owners To Be Protected

OTTAWA (CP)—The International Joint Commission's requirements for protection of property owners affected by the St. Lawrence Seaway Power Project were made public here Friday. The Commission's order of approval of the power project, received by the External Affairs Department, calls for "suitable and adequate protection and indemnity" in accordance with Canadian and United States laws and the requirements of the 1909 Boundary Waters Treaty.

In a special session last week the Ontario Legislature passed a bill providing for compensation in line with the 1909 treaty. The U.S. agency, still to be named, which will join the Ontario Hydro Commission in the power project will have to provide similar protection for property owners on the U.S. side of the St. Lawrence River.

Property-owner protection was one of a number of conditions attached to the Commission's order.

PROTECTION ASSURED

Navigation and domestic and sanitary uses must be protected as well as "the rights and lawful interests of others engaged or to be engaged" in power developments below the International Rapids section.

Water levels in the river above the power dam, in Lake Ontario and the Lower Niagara River are to be safeguarded. Damage caused by changes in these water levels resulting from the project must be indemnified.

The Commission also ordered establishment of a joint board of engineers to approve plans for the project and a St. Lawrence River board of control, with Canadian and U.S. representatives, to carry out the Commission's policies and orders, including those on water levels after the project is completed.

Included in the works approved by the Commission are control facilities to regulate the flow of water from Lake Ontario.

The 14-foot navigation facilities through the existing canal are to be maintained during construction of the project.

The Canadian government has already contracted for removal of the 900-foot Gut Dam near Prescott, Ont., built in 1901 to protect water levels in the present canals. Its removal was another of the requirements in the Commission's order.

Rubber Cheques Man's Downfall

COBOURG (ENS)—Magistrate R. B. Baxter encounters some unusual situations during the course of his court sessions, but he met up with one Friday that astonished him. It was the case of one Roy Bryans, of Toronto, who had been remanded out of custody in order to give him an opportunity to raise the money to compensate his false pretence victims. About three weeks ago, he pleaded guilty to three cases of issuing bad cheques and at the time the magistrate commented that, while he did not wish his court to be a collection agency, the fact still remained that he would like to give the accused a chance to make restitution in order that the people involved could get their money back. In allowing him on a remand out of custody, he warned him that if he got into any more trouble he would send him to the reformatory.

Bryans got into more trouble.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman Friday pointed out that the accused was sentenced to 30 days for issuing a bad cheque in Peterborough on July 31 and also one on October 11.

"That was after October 11, the day after Your Worship allowed him out on a remand out of custody," observed Mr. Deyman.

NEW EXPERIENCE

"This is a new experience for me," declared the magistrate. "You left here with such good intentions on October 10 and you do the same thing again the next day. It just looks as if you can't help yourself. You should be put away where you can't prey on the public."

"I think the best place for him is the reformatory where he will be kept away from cheque books. I have no sympathy for him," said Mr. Deyman.

"It is the same old story. I get drinking and then I start issuing bad cheques," explained the accused.

"If you can't leave drinking alone you certainly picked a good place when you got a job in a beverage room," said the Crown Attorney.

Magistrate Baxter accordingly sentenced him to concurrent terms of 12 months definite and six months indefinite, in the reformatory.

Leroy Thompson, 17, ward of the Children's Aid Society of St. Thomas, who had been an inmate of the Ontario Training School for boys, was sentenced to 12 months definite and six indefinite in the reformatory.

The court was informed that Thompson stole a car October 24 from the farmer for whom he had worked and previously he stole a truck while working on another farm. He had displayed theft tendencies, bad temper and laziness on all the jobs in which he had been placed by the Training School.

"The way you are heading, if you don't pull yourself together you will end up an habitual criminal and be put away for an indefinite period," warned the magistrate.

Man 60 Burned In House Fire

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Thomas Mogg, 60, was burned to death a few feet from the front door of his home early today.

A son, Vincent, about 30, escaped from the flaming home in his under clothes.

Firemen found the badly burned body of Mr. Mogg in the living room.

Deputy Fire Chief George Guenot said he believed the fire started in the living room of the home and was concentrated there.

He blamed careless smoking for the fire and said it appeared that it started in a chesterfield.

Roomers Fight Fire At Y.M.C.A.

HAMILTON (CP) — A fire at the Y.M.C.A. in downtown Hamilton early today forced roomers to grab fire extinguishers and batter down doors to awake heavy sleepers.

The blaze was discovered on the third floor by Greg Crumley, a resident coming in for the night about 1 a.m. He and Jim Price, another roomer, awakened some 25 men quartered on the floor.

Four rooms were damaged by the fire.

16 Convicts End Oregon Hunger Strike

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—A 29-hour hunger strike by 16 convicts in the state penitentiary ended last night after prison officials threatened to use force to restore order.

The convicts, all in a segregation unit, were exercising in the corridor of their cell block Thursday when they began their strike to protest being served macaroni and cheese as a substitute for potatoes.

Deputy Warden Lawrence O'Brien told the prisoners to return to their cells or force would be used.

EQUIPMENT SMASHED

In the mess hall equipment and furniture was smashed. Similar wreckage later littered the auditorium and the kitchen.

At one time Warden Ralph W. Alvis said: "Nearly every major building is burning out of control."

Fire destroyed five buildings—the commissary, the Roman Catholic chapel, the laundry, the personnel building, the prison hospital.

Fire and violence seriously damaged the auditorium, the mess hall, and the kitchen.

Fire still flickered in the shells of the brick and stone buildings early today. The wooden interiors were gutted.

Prison guards said early today that the rioting convicts confiscated all the narcotics in the prison hospital before setting it aflame. The amount was not known. The drugs, the guards said, apparently were taken into cellblocks where psychopathic prisoners are quartered.

Masons Urged To Support Home, Church, Community

Masonry and the church run hand in hand, J. P. Maher, Hamilton, a past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario, told the Masonic Craft Friday night. He urged that all Masons be supporters of some church.

Speaking at a dinner to 300 Masons after the dedication of the Masonic Temple on Rubidge St., Mr. Maher said that Masonry is making contributions to the community, and especially to religion in the community. He explained that Masons should "be members of some religious organization."

Mr. Maher said that Masonry is a supporter of the church and not a religion, although it is religious.

He asked Masons to picture what the world would be like if all the places of worship were closed, adding that all Masons would be welcomed in churches and asked that they give their support to those churches.

GOOD INFLUENCE

Mr. Maher said that no one ever realizes the influence one can have on other people, such as a small boy selecting some man as his ideal. He pointed out that the home is the first place for Masons to have a good influence on those around them and then secondly at work.

"It's a great satisfaction to leave some one and feel that you've left something for them to think about. We all can carry a good influence."

During his travels throughout Ontario, Mr. Maher said that he found Masons travelling many miles to attend a Masonic gathering.

"This justifies the thought in my mind that Masonry is a propelling force and it necessitates its members to make a contribution to the better things of life, the home, the community and the church."

Mr. Maher paid tribute to the late Senior Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, R. B. Dargavel.

The speaker said that many Masons were "unaware that he gave up a responsible position to devote his time and great abilities to our benevolent work."

Mr. Maher said that because of the great influence of Mr. Dargavel's decision, Masonry drew on its resources to the extent of $137,000 during the depression years.

Quoting from a report made in 1946, Mr. Maher referred to Mr. Dargavel's qualifications as tactful, firm, and kindly, sympathetic to all and a possesor of the faculty to size up each case on its own merits."

I. F. McRae proposed the toast, The Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario, and following Mr. Maher's speech, E. R. Shirley thanked him and presented him with a framed photo of the temple which he had dedicated, and a copy of the Examiner which carried a story of the Masonic history of Peterborough.

In making the presentation, Mr. Shirley gave a brief history of Masonry in Peterborough. He said that Peterborough's first lodge met there "before the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario was formed."

"It is a unique occasion in another way for the Grand Lodge assembled tonight in the same room that was dedicated to Masonry in 1849 and where the Corinthian Lodge held its first meetings."

In his reply to Mr. Craw's toast proposal, E. G. Dixon, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario, said that Peterborough's temple is one of the most commodious in Ontario, and praised the architect for "one of the finest lodge rooms that we have."

Mr. Dixon said that Peterborough's temple will serve as an example for others in Ontario.

Grace was said by the Rev. William McDonald. Adam Hawley sang a solo and Robert Johnston acompanied him. Mr. Johnston also provided very appropriate music during the dinner.

Rescued Crew In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—The 5,761-ton Swiss freighter Basilea, which collided with the 741-ton Swedish ship, Ryholm, in the St. Lawrence River near Quebec Friday, docked last night with most of the Ryholm's crew.

The Ryholm, a gaping 30-foot hole in her port side, sank shortly after the crash but all hands were rescued. Only one man suffered minor injuries.

Warmly clothed and fed after their harrowing experience, the 27 officers and men rescued by the Basilea lounged comfortably aboard the ship, glad it was all over.

Most of the crew were asleep when the ships collided.

"It was like a bomb hitting us," one crew member said.

The Ryholm's crew escaped in lifeboats which took them to the Basilea. Some, clad only in pyjamas and slippers, did not wait to collect their belongings.

Cairo Riot Leader Freed Temporarily

CAIRO (AP)—Ahmed Hussein, fiery Socialist leader who has been on trial since last March in connection with the January Cairo fire riots, today won temporary freedom after months of protest and three hunger strikes.

Hussein and five co-defendants in what was called a "trial of instigation of Cairo's fire riots" were ordered released from prison without bail by a military court conducting the trial. All six must continue to stand trial, however. The next hearing is set for Nov. 10.

More than 100 persons have been given jail sentences for participation in the riots. J. Macleod Boyer, Canadian trade commissioner, was killed in the riots.

Plan 16 Expeditions For Winter Whaling

LONDON (Reuters) — Sixteen floating expeditions and three shore stations will take part in this winter's whaling season in the Antarctic, it was learned today.

The expeditions will comprise 250 catcher boats and 12,000 men. The season opens Jan. 2.

Of the expeditions, seven will be Norwegian, three British, two Japanese, one South African, one Russian, one Dutch and one of Greek-German-Panamanian origin.

Mrs. Josephine O'Neill

LINDSAY — Mrs. Josephine O'Neill, 72, widow of Daniel O'Neill, who died 24 years ago, was buried Monday in St. Mary's Cemetery, Lindsay. She died October 24 after a brief illness.

An active worker in the Women's League of St. Mary's and the Altar Society, she was born in Ennismore, a daughter of the late [illegible] Bartlett, and lived several years in Downeyville before moving to Lindsay.

Surviving her are her son Fergus, one sister Mrs. William O'Neill of Downeyville, two brothers, Patrick of Saskatoon and Ambrose of Toronto.

Solemn requiem mass was sung by Rt. Rev. J. V. McAuley, with the Rev. Simon Perdue of Toronto as deacon and the Rev. F. Fitzpatrick as sub-deacon.

Pallbearers were: Gerald O'Neill, Morgan Houlihan, Norman Bissette, Donald Lucas, Norris MacBeth, and Daniel Healey. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, where Father Perdue and Father Fitzpatrick said graveside prayers

Noted Horse Judge E. C. H. Tisdale Dies

BEAVERTON (CP)—E. C. H. Tisdale, 76, noted judge of heavy horses, died in a nursing home yesterday in this Lake Simcoe town.

Mr. Tisdale was internationally known as a breeder of Clydesdale horses. Purchasers from the United States, the Argentine and all Canada came to Beaverton to buy animals bred there by French, English and Scottish sires.

Born at Point Mara, Mr. Tisdale was adopted by a Beaverton couple after his parents' death. In the early days of the Canadian Northern Railway, he supplied teams of heavy horses to send to the north.

Trombone Virtuoso Opens Army Musicales

A well-known trombone virtuoso, Senior Captain Carl Lindstrom of Chicago, will be the guest artist Sunday when the Salvation Army musicales begin at the Salvation Army Temple.

Captain Lindstrom is the assistant public relations secretary for the Salvation Army in Chicago. For six years prior to his present appointment he was territorial radio director.

Obtaining his formal musical education at the Eastman Conservatory in Rochester, New York, and the American Conservatory in Chicago, Captain Lindstrom's reputation as trombone virtuoso and conductor is well established. For five years he was director of the internationally famous Chicago Staff Band and he has been a guest conductor at such outstanding musical events as the Texas Music Educators Convention and the Midwest Music Convention at which college music directors from all the midwest convened.

Russians Free American Lieutenant

BERLIN (Reuters)—United States authorities announced today that the Russians have freed Lieut. William L. Stonebreaker, 37, of West Decatur, Pa., who had been missing since Sunday.

Stonebreaker was freed last night along with the car in which he was riding from Berlin to Bremerhaven, West Germany, when he disappeared. He said after his release that he had lost his way. He was arrested by Soviet military police and taken to Karlshorst, the Soviet control commission headquarters in East Berlin, where he was held until yesterday.

Charges Nixon Good Instrument

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — President Truman said today that the "club" of "millionaires" that raised an $18,000 expense fund for Senator Richard M. Nixon thought by his votes in the Senate "he was worth a little subsidy."

The President left to the voters to judge whether the fund was "ethical or not," but said the Republican vice-presidential candidate has "proved himself a good investment for these fund contributors."

Truman's prepared address concentrated on Nixon, who made a country-wide radio and television explanation of his senatorial expense fund.

Truman called Nixon "one of the most thorough-going reactionaries in our public life today" and "frequently an isolationist on foreign policy."

Long-Awaited Upswing Seen On Toronto Exchange

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The long-awaited stock market upswing appears to have started on the Toronto Exchange.

This was the first week since a general decline got under way in early September that the market went without a significant loss on the exchange's indices. But most observers are still using the cautionary word "selective."

When the market was going down observers used the word "selective" to suggest that the decline was not likely to reach the proportions of a 1929-type crash. Now the same word is used to caution against hopes of a general stock market boom.

On the stock market this useful word means roughly that investors look before they leap. Stocks are bought or sold, not on the expectation of a general rise or fall in a wide group, but after examination of the prospects of each company concerned.

INVESTORS WARY

The low volume of stock traded in Toronto in recent weeks and an apparent shift of interest away from more speculative issues seems to indicate that investors are being more selective in their dealings.

This searching attitude seemed to relax somewhat in the last hours of trading yesterday as interest increased in low-priced mining stocks. But it is too early to say definitely that the market is out of the downward stream.

The Toronto and Montreal markets started the week with small gains that turned mixed Tuesday. Another slight rise started Wednesday in both centres and continued Thursday in Toronto. In Montreal, Thursday saw papers and industrials slip. On Friday sharp upswings occurred in both cities.

NEW YORK SIMILAR

New York followed a similar pattern wih an advance Monday, followed by mixed or steady prices until a general sharp rise occurred Friday.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials up t.03 at 315.42, golds up 2.88 at 82.79, base metals up 4.38 at 173.31 and western oils up 2.84 at 118.65.

In the Montreal averages, banks were up .11 at 31.51, utilities up .5 at 88.0, industrials up 4.0 at 202.4, combined up 2.8 at 164.2,

RKO Studios Still Seeking Firm Basis

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When Howard Hughes bought control of RKO he also was tinkering with his huge flying boat and his monster helicopter. Concerning his new purchase, the ailing studios, people were saying, "he'll never get it off the ground."

Hughes now is out of the RKO picture and people are again wondering if that long-embattled studio will ever get off the ground. Signs were hopeful when new money bought out Hughes, but that situation erupted. Now they're trying to pick up the pieces and get RKO running again.

Some of the Hughes epics are finally seeing the light of day after being on the shelf. "Montana Belle" was previewed this week. Jane Russell made the western epic in 1948 for an independent outfit. Hughes bought the picture outright and it has been gathering dust until now.

Now what about "Jet Pilot," the John Wayne-Janet Leigh film that was started three years ago?

THIS AND THAT

Yawn of the week goes to the Ava Gardner-Frank Sinatra bust-ups and reconciliations. Can't think of anything less momentous unless it's whether Rita and Aly will ever get back together. . .

"This week a number of Hollywood stars appeared on television at the Madison Square Garden rally for Adlai Stevenson. Some of them have studio contracts. Apparently the studios agree that such appearances do not constitute professional performances, so there is no conflict with studio contracts, which prohibit ordinary TV shots. . .

If Cecil B. De Mille were more prolific Paramount's troubles would be over. But unfortunately the old master only produces a picture every three years. So the studio is sending out some of De Mille's oldies to help lift the sagging box office. "Cleopatra" will be out this fall. . .

RT. HON. LOUIS ST. LAURENT smiles and delegates clap and cheer following the Prime Minister's announcement in Ottawa recently that there may be tax reductions in the next federal budget. Occasion for the "good news" was last night's closing banquet of the National Liberal Federation's Advisory Council conference. At the head table, left to right, are: Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture; Mr. St. Laurent, and Duncan MacTavish, of Ottawa, newly-elected president of the Federation.

Say Documents Will Start New Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican congressman said yesterday revenue bureau documents will involve Treasury Secretary John Snyder and other prominent Democrats in "highly suspicious activities" linked to a multi-million-dollar movie industry tax case.

His charges brought heated denials and counter-blasts against what was called a political "last minute dirty deal."

The congressman, Representative John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, accused the Truman administration of an attempted "gross cover-up" of the documents.

Byrnes said revenue commissioner John B. Dunlap's role in the case disqualifies Dunlap from his job and "strongly indicates the much heralded cleanup of the bureau of internal revenue is a sham and deceit on the American people."

The papers involved are transcripts of telephone conversations by Charles Oliphant, former revenue bureau chief counsel, in a case involving a $20,000,000 tax refund request by Universal Pictures, Inc., in 1947. The government awarded a refund of $2,000,000.

The course will emphasize sending and receiving over the wireless among other subjects.

TRAVEL—with Jean Stenton

Bustling Edmonton Becomes A Crossroads Of World

Edmonton, a crossroads of the world is a pioneer city in modern trappings. Planes from all over the world stop there; it is the gateway to the known and unknown north. The spirit of adventure and daring found in 1952 is the same that burned within the traders of 1795 when the great companies of that period first blazed the way for the white man across the Dominion. Only today the wealth of oil, not furs, lures men on.

The bustling metropolis, almost bursting at the seams is a fascinating place to visit. There is a strong flavor of interest and excitement, a feeling of being on tiptoe to glimpse the future. In less than three days one can travel from Toronto to the threshold of adventure.

Edmonton's opportunities seem unlimited. It is the focal point of rich farming, lumbering and mining areas; it is situated at the threshold of the great Peace River country; it is the railhead of the province and a natural marketing and distribution centre. And the centre of the great oil fields.

A tremendous building boom has hit the city in the last three years. The oil rush has boosted industrial and home construction. Also in the process of construction are a pulp and paper mill, a chemical plant and a huge $5,000,000 expansion to the C.N.R. Macdonald hotel. History is still in the making.

NEVER DULL

Edmonton has never been a dull place to be. The city was born in the fierce struggle between the two great rival trading companies—the Hudson's Bay Company and the North West Trading Company—for the rich fur trade of the great Northwest. For the sake of protection from the Indians and mutual surveillance, the companies built Fort Edmonton and Fort Augustine side by side on the bank of the Saskatchewan river.

The posts were first built in 1795 and both forts were destroyed in 1807 by the Indians. Two new posts were established later farther up the river, just below the present site of the Parliament Buildings. In 1810, the forts were abandoned and not reoccupied till 1819. Then two years later, the two companies united and under the firm guidance of Chief Factor James Rowand, the little community expanded and prospered.

In 1871 the village of Edmonton was actually founded when the Rev. George McDougall erected the first building outside the fort's stockade and several families took up land along the river. The lonely outpost had a precarious existence. It was the only stopping off place for the western march of civilization. The Saskatchewan River was the only highway across the plains till the coming of steel in 1891 and up its waters came freight-laden little boats bringing many distinguished and colorful visitors. Old Red River carts bringing the first settlers to the prairies followed its course. The Northwest Rebellion and the Klondike gold strike left their mark upon the community. Through the years, the city of Strathcona grew up on the other side of the river and in 1912 the two cities united and Strathcona is the south Edmonton of today.

BEAUTIFUL SETTING

Edmonton has one of the loveliest settings for its Legislative Buildings of any province in Canada. It stands, facing the river, on ground where fierce Indian battles were fought. The Parliament Buildings of today are built on the spot where old Fort Edmonton stood.

There are many interesting things to see in this bustling capital. There is the Mosque of Al Raschid, the only Moslem temple on the North American continent; there is the Edmonton Museum on the top floor of the Parliament Buildings, packed with interesting and colorful data; the High Level Bridge spanning the Saskatchewan at 109th St. and the Field Force Cairn south of the Administrative buildings.

The McDougall Mission and shrine is one half block from the city's centre. McDougall's little church, which was the first building to be erected outside the palisades of Ft. Edmonton, is now a museum and memorial to the man beloved by Reds and whites. He was a noted peacemaker.

The St. Albert Mission is another tourist attraction. It is a 20-minute drive north and west of the city. It is the original log church built by Father Albert Lacombe in 1862. The interior is now used as a mission museum.

Twenty-seven miles east of Edmonton on Highway 16 is one of the largest fenced game sanctuaries in Canada — Elk Island Park. Here you can see herds of buffalo, moose and elk at close range. Nearby are Sandy Beach and Astotin Lake, popular resort spots.

Leaving Toronto Monday evening, the traveller can go by direct C.N.R. line to Edmonton, arriving Thursday morning. There are excellent connections with the C.N.R. mountain resort at Jasper and with Prince Rupert and Vancouver.

Fire Threatened Farm In Fonthill Area

FONTHILL (CP)—Whipped by high shifting winds, a fire in heavily timbered land north of this Welland district town yesterday threatened the farm of Percy L. Overholt.

The 85-acre farm in the path of the flames was being protected by fire brigades from Fonthill, Thorold South and area No. 2, Thorold township.

Elsewhere in the province eight other forest fires were burning.

Reporter's Wife Dies In Hospital

OTTAWA (CP)—Mrs. Christine Leblanc, 40, wife of John Leblanc, staff writer in The Canadian Press Ottawa bureau, died in hospital here Friday after a long illness.

She was daughter of Mrs. H. J. Jefferies of Hamilton. Mr. Jefferies died last year.

Mrs. Leblanc is survived by her husband, three daughters and a son.

All Observers Predicting Close Election For President

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—They have criss-crossed the United States by train, by airplane, by automobile.

They have spoken from train platforms and from television-radio studios, in marble halls and in open fields, to immaculately clad diners and to begrimed workmen.

Now is it nearly over. Next Tuesday the people of the United States will elect their president for the next four years.

GENERAL VERSUS GOVERNOR

The next president will be either Dwight D. Eisenhower or Adlai E. Stevenson and two things can be stated with certainty:

The general, at the peak of his popularity when he was chosen by the Republicans last July to lead them out of 20 years in the political wilderness, has not gained in stature in a campaign that has been one of the hardest fought in modern times.

The astute governor of Illinois, only a local politician before he was drafted against his wishes by the Democrats to succeed Harry S. Truman, has become a statesman.

The result Tuesday will show whether Eisenhower's loss of esteem is greater than Stevenson's gain.

All observers predict a close election.

Eisenhower, a man of undoubted integrity, has called his campaign a crusade to root out a corrupt administration too long in power. It has great appeal.

PROMISES REFORMS

Stevenson, the man, is acceptable and so is his party with its admitted faults which he has promised to cure. Too, under the Democrats the social gains of the last two decades likely will be consolidated. The party that Eisenhower heads had a reputation, not necessarily correct, of being reactionary.

The Democrats contend that in accepting the Republican nomination Eisenhower had to swallow party principles. The general contends that he stands on his own feet but there is no doubt that he has had to say and do distasteful things because it was politically expedient to do so.

Now, the one great issue is the Korean war. If the voters hearken to the Republicans, they believe that the Truman administration was responsible for it and can't finish it and that Eisenhower is the only man who can, or at least limit American participation in it.

The hullabaloo over the presidential campaign has overshadowed the importance of the congressional election.

A new house of representatives, elected every two years, must be chosen. The Democrats now hold 233 of the 435 seats and the Republicans 201. There is one independent.

The odds favor the Democrats to retain their majority in the 96-seat senate, one-third of which is elected every two years. They now hold 49 seats and the Republicans 47 Thirty-five senators are to be elected this year, the three extra places resulting from deaths. The Republicans must win 23 of the 35 senatorial contests to gain control in that house.

Note Climb In Cost Of Borrowing Money

OTTAWA (CP)—A climb in cost of borrowing money was reflected yesterday in a Canadian government decision to pay off a $200,000,000 short-term loan with a new loan obtained through higher interest rates.

The Bank of Canada announced that it will purchase at par an issue of $200,000,000 Canadian government treasury notes dated Nov. 1, 1952, and due May 1, 1953.

The notes will bear interest at the rate of 1¾ per cent a year.

Proceeds of the issue will be used to redeem a similar amount of treasury notes which matured yesterday. The old issue had an interest rate of 1⅞ per cent.

Goes Through Flames Save Wife, 3 Children

POPLAR HILL (CP)—Tom Ingeberg groped his way twice Friday through the smoke and flames of his small hotel about 12 miles north of London to save his wife and three children.

Awakened to find the kitchen on fire he raced upstairs and woke his wife. They carried the children to safety.

Don't Pinch On Postal Service

For a year and a half the postal deliveries in residential parts of Canadian communities have been reduced to one a day. There have been protests from many sources, and the press has not allowed the matter to drop. As we pointed out in these columns when the change was made, there seems to be a notion in the Post Office Department that letters between friends are in some way less important and less deserving of prompt delivery than business letters, although they are charged for at the same postal rate. This is an indefensible assumption and one which must be corrected.

* * *

The National Liberal Federation has urged that the former postal service be restored, and in speaking to that body the Prime Minister admitted that the curtailed service was "not too popular and may even have been a mistake." The saving effected by the reduced service was not very great, and has been estimated at between $2,500,000 and $3,500,000. Such sums are not trivial, but they are not impressive when set beside the nuisance of the single daily delivery. Whether because of the reduced delivery system or not, it is a fact that letters often take an unreasonable time to be delivered in Canada today, and that service between comparatively close points, such as Peterborough and Ottawa, and Peterborough and Hamilton, is not as good as it used to be.

* * *

A good postal service is one of the basic necessities and comforts of a well-ordered country. It is important in business, but we do not agree with those critics of the system who talk as though business were the only reason for the mails. Letters between friends, between families, and between people corresponding on a thousand matters which are important but not necessarily gainful, are part of the blood-stream of the country, and everything should be done to move them as swiftly and safely as possible. It looks as if the Government regretted its move in curtailing mail deliveries and meant to restore them—possibly as an election sweetener. Whatever the reason, the sooner the restoration of the former delivery service is made, the better.

An Admirable Movie

The International Cinema Guild of Canada in its "Tonight At 8:30" series of Thursday evening programs at the Capitol Theatre is again bringing excellent movies to Peterborough audiences. Last Thursday it gave us an admirable Swedish film version of one of the great modern classical plays: August Strindberg's Froken Julie. In camera art, settings and acting the movie truly represented the beauty, strength and tragedy in this nineteenth century Swedish play dealing with perversions of misogyny. It was a powerful film, bringing to Peterborough a play it has little chance of seeing otherwise.

The entire program was excellent. There was an introductory travelogue on the Canadian Rockies, done very well indeed. This was followed by a remarkable new film on Balzac, using a technique we have never seen before. Original documents, photographs, engraving and caricatures of Balzac's life, times and literary work were put into the Tours and Paris of the great French writer and themselves were not only the continuity but the texture of the movie. It was a [illegible] sitive short [illegible] breathing.

In the past we have been critical of many movies now being produced. We are glad to have this opportunity to praise a notable film and commend the theatre and others responsible for their care and good judgement in arranging a whole program of superior entertainment. It was a rare pleasure.

How Well Canada Eats

The Italians are interested in food, which is a very good interest to have, and they are interested in how much better or worse they eat than nationals of other countries do. So their Documentary Centre in Rome has been investigating the caloric and protein contents of national diets. This investigation has turned up the fact, for what any such statistic is worth, that Canadians each consumed in the year 1951 an average of 3,130 calories a day, and the total protein content of their diets was 93 grams a month, of which the animal protein content was 56.1. By comparison Italians had only 2,370 calaries apiece each day, and 75 grams of proteins, of which the animal protein was only 20. In comparison with Italy, therefore, Canada eats very well.

The Italian analysers of national diets are not envious particularly of Canadians. In fact, and this we note with some surprise, the Argentinians eat better than Canadians, if one takes calories and proteins as the measuring quantities. Argentinians each consumed 3,169 calories a day, and foodstuffs containing 102.6 grams of protein of which 66.7 grams were animal protein—i.e. meat. Even the United States does not do as well, except that the Americans had on an average one more calory a day than the Argentinians.

Other big eaters, nationally, were the Australians and the Irish—the Irish particularly in the number of calories they consumed, the highest in sixteen countries.

Here is the Italian table of national daily calory, total protein and animal protein consumption for a 1949-50 twelve-month period:

	Calories	Total Protein	Animal Protein
Ireland	3,340	97	50
Australia	3,210	98	66.7
Sweden	3,200	94	60
Switzerland	3,195	98	52
U.S.A.	3,170	91	60.4
Argentine	3,169	102.6	66.7
Denmark	3,160	102	59
Canada	3,130	93	56.1
U.K.	3,080	91	46
Belgium-Luxembourg	2,895	85	41
France	2,685	97	41
W. Germany	2,660	79	33
Austria	2,610	76	30
Greece	2,490	77	19
Brazil	2,444	65.2	24.9
Italy	2,370	75	20

These figures show that Italy's food situation is less favourable than those of all other western countries. It may be pointed out, however, that in a warm country people generally do not need as much as in, say a country like Sweden where, incidentally, they do very well for themselves. It may also be mentioned that, besides the climate, the customs, normal occupations and state of development of both diets and food processing affect the significance of figures like those given above.

There are some rather surprising contrasts, for instance between the Argentine and Brazil; Brazilians seem very much less well fed. It may be, however, that Brazilian figures are more accurate and complete than the Argentinian. Or maybe the Argentinian millionaires and playboys, of whom there are many, consume far more than their due proportion of the national diet. What accounts for the high caloric content of the Irish diet? If figures on starch consumption had been included, we might have expected to find Ireland high on the list. Perhaps the throngs of Englishmen going over to Ireland to feed have raised the Irish caloric figure.

According to the Italian table of figures, the British are not faring at all badly, although their calories are down from the 1934-38 average of 3,100, and the total protein diet is reduced from the pre-war 123, of which 45 were animal protein.

The tables also show that neither Canadians nor Americans are the great fat people Russian caricatures portray. We feel that the Communist Russian caricaturists should turn their satiric pens to Argentinians. In actual fact, rather than statistical fact, however, Americans and Canadians do eat better than the Argentinians on the average, for the food is more evenly distributed (because good food prices here are not as high as good food prices in the Argentine) and the Canadian-American diet is varied, with fruits and greens, containing vitamins, now forming substantial parts of the average daily diet.

An Eye On The New Federal Building

Boardings have gone up around the block on which will rise Peterborough's new Federal Building. For a while the contractors seemed to think that the Peterborough public would not be much interested in the affair; the fence is too high to look over, too close to peep through cracks, and there were no sidewalk superintendent's observation openings. Now three or four apertures have been cut in the fence, and if a short person stands on tip-toe he can see the marvels behind the wall. Right now all that he can note of consequence is a big hole where earth-moving machines have been busy. But even this is a reassurance that the fence has not been put up merely to hide from the public that work is not progressing. It is. The fence is not a blind for inactivity or another twenty years' postponement.

NOTES AND COMMENT

There is rarely anything in a woman's past which worries her more than the length of it.

A dancer says that she estimates people's sex-appeal and character by looking at their feet. Let the flat-footed ponder on that.

A female bandit was arrested recently because she dropped her handbag on the premises she attempted to rob. From the evidence found therein the police were able to reconstruct the whole of her past life.

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

SUNDAY: Listened to a conversation this afternoon carried on by some people who persistently talked about "Teen-Agers"—meaning young people between twelve and twenty. I said nothing, because I did not want to be rude, nor could I bear to sully my lips with such an expression at "teen-ager". Most of the talkers were quartogenarians, though I do not think they would have liked me to lump them together under a word which referred to their age, as this would rob them of their personalities (though that might have been a good thing). But I remember my feelings when I was in my 'teens, and recall clearly how I hated stupid older people who talked about everyone of my age as though we were all idiots, ready to behave like fools and criminals at the first chance. I wanted to say, "Do you know that a majority of murderers, divorcees, sex-criminals and chronic boozers are in their forties?" But I was on my best behaviour. If I had been a teen-ager I would certainly have said so, loudly and often.

MONDAY: I observe with no enthusiasm that this is National Posture Week in the U.S.A.; thank Heaven this heathen festival is not being observed in Canada. When I was a boy we were taught that the only proper posture for the body was that of a sentry at attention—eyes glazed, chest bursting, shoulders under the ears, toes curled and chin digging into the Adam's apple. Later this position was somewhat relaxed, and it was admitted that it was sometimes permissable to touch the heels to the ground. Recently a scientist who has done a lot of work with monkeys has said that a relaxed posture, leaning forward and ambling like a gorilla, is the best and most natural for man. So confused am I by these changes that I have developed my own posture, which has two phases—standing up and lying down. I cannot sit. I lie in chairs on the back of my neck, allowing gravity to drag my vital organs toward the floor. When I stand, I lose height at the rate of about two inches every hour. In the morning, when I am thoroughly uncoiled, I am six feet tall; if my day involves much standing, I am five feet tall by lunchtime, four feet six inches by dinner, and go to bed a midget. Posture is a word I prefer not to use in connection with myself.

TUESDAY: I see by the paper that Rhythmic Arithmetic has been abandoned in the schools nearby. I never understood what it was, though much time was wasted by adult educators explaining it to me, and I never met a child who could explain it. But I have long recognized that I have no mathematical facility whatever. Plato, who was a brainy fellow and would probably have been an Ontario school inspector if he were living today, said that "innocent, light-minded men who know no mathematics will become birds after death"; I rather look forward to being a bird, and taking a bird's revenge on all my enemies. Plato also thought that men who had no philosophy would become animals after death; really stupid people would continue their existence as fish; "cowardly and unrighteous men", he asserted, would find that in the next world they had been turned into women. Plato had a poor opinion of women, which would make life difficult for him if he were born again in this century; he also thought little of the professional educators of his day, an attitude which would make it utterly impossible for him to get a certificate to teach in a one-room country school in twentieth century Ontario.

WEDNESDAY: A letter from a furniture company reached me this morning which began, "Does your office proclaim you a man of action?" Well, to be frank, it does not. It proclaims me to be a man of sloth. It is the tradition of the modern tycoon, I know, to have his desk utterly clear at all times; if he has any letters or papers which are necessary to his work, he piles them on his secretary's desk or hides them under the carpet. But my desk is a welter of trash, some of it necessary but most of it garbage of a high-class, literary kind. I am a great cherisher of the stubs of pencils, and I cannot bear to throw away a ruptured fountain pen; indeed, I keep one solely for the purpose of stirring my paste-pot, which solidifies in cold weather. I have also a ruler with a jagged edge, which is quite unusable, but I keep it as a reminder of a dear friend, now in Abraham's bosom, who used to own it before I stole it. I like to pile books and papers on the floor, because then I can see where they are, and I file newspaper clippings by keeping the whole paper of which they form a part. I am not a man of action, and I don't care who knows it. I work best in a mess—my own kind of friendly, logical mess. In my eyes the clean-desk boys are frauds.

THURSDAY: Pondered today upon the decline of the once great art of Striking-the-Match-on-the-Seat-of-the-Pants; I saw a girl in slacks trying to do so, and although she had an impressive acreage of taut trouser upon which to work she could not manage it. A girl! The greatest master of this art I ever knew was an employee in a woodyard, who never spoke of girls save in terms of obscene contempt, but who would ache, and his wooden head tremble, if he knew that only girls seek to excel in the trick of which he was a master. He relit his pipe—a short clay—at least fifty times every morning, and always struck his match with a glorious ripping sound upon his blue-jeaned fundament. He died when a load of logs fell on him; if he had survived, shame would finish him now.

FRIDAY: I am devilled by the contents of the newspapers; this morning a beauty columnist informs me that if I am to keep my skin fresh and lovely in the winter heat of our Canadian houses, I must drink eight glasses of water a day. This means that I am doomed to have a skin like an old valise, for I have never been able to get down more than half a glass of plain water at a time. If I drink more I become slightly sea-sick, and funny noises like those of a boiling tea-kettle are heard inside me. If beauty depends upon having the storage capacity of a camel, I must eschew it . . . A photograph shows me the Emperor Hirohito going to do something or other at a Japanese shrine, dressed in a morning suit and a top hat. Why? When Queen Elizabeth dresses for a ceremonial occasion she does not think of wearing a kimono and a pair of those cloven-hoof socks that the Japanese affect. Why should an Oriental ruler abandon his own native dress, which is beautiful, for an Occidental costume which is surely the ugliest ever devised by man. Trousers! Why does a Japanese want to wear those things? Beau Brummel, who devised the modern male trouser, died mad, and I am not surprised.

SATURDAY: The wonders of science will never cease to stagger me. A friend of mine possesses a large powerful dog, so that I rarely go to his house, but today I met him on the street. He told me that he was well. "And Schneider is completely himself again, too", he added. (Schneider is the dog.) I enquired politely what had ailed Schneider, though in my inmost heart I cared little. "Poor fellow went all to pieces a few weeks ago", said my friend; "completely forgot his house-training. It was terrible. He knew it was wrong, and he looked ashamed—you know what an expressive face Schneider has—but didn't seem to be able to help himself. With a big dog, you know, that's serious. The wife began to resent Schneider. Said either one or other of them would have to go. Tried to get Schneider to wear diapers, but other dogs laughed at him. So I took him to the vet. Vet said, 'That's easy', and washed some big lumps of wax out of Schneider's ears. 'Now he'll be all right' said the vet, and sure enough, he is. House-broken as a lamb. Schneider happy; wife happy; wonderful!" Is there a lesson here for the parents of small children?

The People of Latin America

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

(This is the third of three articles by J. Halcro Ferguson, who has just returned from a year's trip round Latin-America.)

EVERY OCTOBER the Republics of Latin America celebrate el dia de la Raza, The Day of the Race, on the anniversary of the arrival of Christopher Columbus. In fact, this is a misnomer, for there is no such thing as a Latin American race—indeed, many Latin Americans prefer the phrase Indo-American or even the cumbrous, but reasonably accurate, Indo-Afro-American.

America was not a racially homogenous continent even when Columbus first set foot on its soil. What is now Canada, the United States and Northern Mexico was inhabited by the nomadic tribes which later came to be known as Redskins. The major part of Mexico was dominated by the efficient, highly organised and warlike Aztecs, who had overcome the more pacific and more highly-cultured civilisations which preceded them rather as Greece was overcome by Rome. The West Indies, where Columbus first landed, were populated by the amiable but backward Arawaks, now extinct.

In South America the monotheistic, semi-clerical, "socialist Empire" of the Incas dominated Peru, Ecuador, Southern Colombia, Western Bolivia, Northern Chile, and parts of Brazil and Argentina. In this vast area the Quechua language, lingua franca of the Inca Empire, is still spoken by several million people. Eastern Bolivia, Paraguay, and adjacent parts of what are now Brazil and Argentina were controlled by the primitive warrior-Empire; similar to that of the Zulus, of the Tupi-Guaranies. The highlands of Colombia were in the hands of the Chibchas, an organised but not highly advanced people. The rest of the continent, including what is now Argentine, was inhabited by primitive tribes living by hunting and fishing.

WITH THE EXCEPTION of the unfortunate Arawaks, descendants of all these people—pure-blooded or mixed—still live in the continent today. But to them have been added millions of others of non-continental stock. The Spaniards became the ruling race from Texas to Cape Horn, the French settled in Haiti, and elsewhere the Portuguese took over—in name at least—most of what is now Brazil, and the Dutch had a brief hegemony over the Guianas. In many cases the invaders were comparatively few in number, but their cultural impact was far greater than that, for instance, of the British in India, or even the French in North Africa.

Later came other streams, willing or unwilling, of immigrants. Negro slaves were imported into parts of Mexico and Central America, all of the West Indies, Brazil, Uruguay, and Argentina, and the coastal regions of Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, and Venezuela. When the slaves were emancipated, cheap labour from China was brought to the Pacific coast, and later followed by Chinese settlers and traders who prospered along the shores of Peru and other countries.

In the middle of the nineteenth century, when the continent appeared to be recovering from the turmoil which followed the wars of independence from Spain, there came thousands of new immigrants from all over the world. Italians flooded Argentina, Uruguay, and parts of Brazil; Germans settled in large numbers in Southern Chile, Southern Brazil, Argentina and Mexico; British families, in railways, business or farming, made themselves at home throughout the continent; anti-English Welshmen and Irishmen removed themselves to Patagonia; a large Jewish land-settlement was set up in the Argentine Province of Entre Rios; Japanese came in boat-loads to Brazil, and to all these were added Syrians and Lebanese (popularly and mistakenly called Turks), Poles, Greeks, Dutchmen, Austrians, Frenchmen, and, of course, Spaniards and Portuguese. Before World War II the number was swollen by Germans who opposed Hitler, and after it by other Germans who had supported him.

THIS RACIAL MELTING-POT, which is "Latin" America in 1952, might well have caused the same frightening problems as face Africa and other parts of the world today. That on the whole it has not done so is due to many factors—the unifying force of the near-universality of the Catholic religion, which draws no racial boundaries, the lack of race-consciousness of many of the former Spanish and Portuguese rulers, the low density of population, reducing the possibility of racial clashes, these are some of them.

Nevertheless, it cannot be denied that racial tensions and racial consciousness do exist, and each country has coped with them with more or less success. The example always held up to the world, of course, is Brazil, with its huge Negro population. Brazil, which teaches racial equality in its elementary schools, has indeed progressed remarkably swiftly from the worst excesses of slavery through paternalism to a definite pride in its utter lack of a colour bar, though, for obvious historical reasons (slavery was not abolished until 1888), Afro-Brazilians are in general lower down the economic scale than people of European descent. Apart from the more primitive Indians, the only race in Brazil which has not so far been assimilated is the Japanese, because the Japanese look down on other Brazilians and ostracize any member of their community who intermarries or adopts Brazilian ways. Some Germans have the same attitude, but in public pretend otherwise.

Argentina has practically no racial problem. When Buenos Aires was first founded it was destroyed by nomadic Indians, but for centuries the scattered settlers waged relentless war against the original inhabitants of the country, and in the eighteen-sixties General Roca's "Expedition to the Desert" virtually wiped them out, so that only pure Indians left are those in the backward areas along the Bolivian border. The Negroes have nearly all gone northwards; it was ten years before I discovered there were any still left. The immigrants has assimilated more or less rapidly, but tend to settle into particular occupations: Spaniards are grocers, elevator-operators and taxi-drivers, Greeks and Yugoslavs preside over tobacco-kiosks, Japanese grow flowers and run dry-cleaning establishments, Jews, Syrians and Lebanese are importers and textile-merchants, Italians are small farmers, and Poles factory-workers.

THERE ARE EVEN geographical pockets of racial affinity: San Carlos De Bariloche, in the Andes foothills, is German and Swiss, the dairy country south of Buenos Aires is Basque, the own of Tres Arroyos is Dutch, the Patagonian national territories of Chubut and Santa Cruz are Welsh and Scottish respectively, and the Irish are everywhere. But the degree of racial integration is shown by the fact that among high Argentine Government officials in the period preceding Peron's first election were the surnames Farrell, Gilbert, Mason, Von Der Becke, Ramirez, Tauber, Mittelbach and Rawson, while two recent Ambassadors to London have been Le Breton and Hogan.

Chile is truly a nation with no racial headaches. It is the only Latin American country where the Spaniards found the natives, the Araucanos, so tough that instead of conquering them they signed a treaty with them, which still holds good, and Chileans today boast of it if they have Araucanian blood. For the rest, Chile is a European country with a Basque aristocracy, and absorbs European immigrants with astonishing rapidity. A Chilean friend of mine, whose father was English, married a girl of German parentage a few weeks after the end of the war and his sister is married to a half-Peruvian, but all younger members of the families concerned are Spanish-speaking and considered Chileah by everybody. I even met a girl whose father had been English and whose mother Australian but whose non-Spanish vocabularly was limited to "thank you" and "God save the Queen".

Peru, in contrast to Chile, has a problem. Along the coast there are few people of pure blood—they are a mixture of Spanish, Indian, Negro, Chinese, and other races—but up in the mountains society is still feudal, with Spanish landowners and Indian labourers and peasants. The few people of mixed blood (the cholos), most of them small traders, are disliked by both Spaniards and Indians, though on the more progressive coast it is the cholos who provide the schoolteachers, the engineers, the technicians, the nurses, the doctors, the mechanics, and most of the people who make the wheels of civilisation go round. The Peruvian highlands present a long-neglected and largely economic problem, of the kind which caused the bitter, bloodstained revolution in neighbouring Bolivia in April of this year.

Mexico has perhaps achieved the most remarkable fusion of very different races of all the "Latin" countries. The average Mexican owes, both culturally and racially an almost equal debt to Europe and to the country of his birth. There remain large sections which will still preserve Indian customs, clothing, and languages, as there also remains a limited aristocratic Spanish caste, but all but the most fanatically conservative of even these groups consider themselves Mexicans first and anything else a long way afterwards.

THAT IS TRUE of all the Latin American countries, as is also something else:—whether they call their continent Latin America, Indo-America or anything else, and whether their home-language is Spanish, Portuguese, Quechua or Guarani, they have a sense of community which transcends Simon Bolivar's failure to give them political unity. And, for all its multi-racial composition, Latin America has never had a real race-riot or a lynching, or found the need to segregate any group of its citizens.

After the April Revolution in Bolivia, the new President, Dr. Paz Estenssoro, in the course of a speech to thousands of his supporters, had occasion to refer to the activities of hoarders and speculators. A man in the crowd shouted: "Down with the Jews!"

Dr. Paz looked up. "The national revolution" he snapped back, "knows no racial distinctions."

The crowd, mostly Indians, cheered him, and next morning the chief newspaper in the country gave the President's unpremeditated retort a front-page banner headline. The people and the paper were echoing the feelings of the vast majority of Latin America's 160 millions, of whatever race.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And as some spake of the temple, how it was adorned with goodly stones and gifts, he said, As for these things which ye behold, the days will come, in the which there shall not be left one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down . . .

And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth; for the powers of heaven shall be shaken.

And then shall they see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory. And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh.

And he spake to them a parable; Behold the fig tree, and all the trees; when they now shoot forth, ye see and know of your own selves that summer is now nigh at hand. So likewise ye, when ye see these things come to pass, know ye that the kingdom of God is nigh at hand . . . .

Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass away . . . Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man. (Luke 21: 5, 6, 25-31, 33, 36.)

'Lunge Lab Closes

VETERAN NETMAN Jim Hazzard in Action

A THREE-YEAR OLD 'LUNGE is released

EDWARDS, WEIR AND BRAINE Finished Friday

FROM TRAP NETS to Tanks to Pigeon Lake

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

Where Nogies Creek meanders down through the bare Bobcaygeon hills for 16 miles from Crystal to Pigeon Lakes, a more desolate watercourse you have ever seen. Bare brush and stark tree trunks ring the flooded shores of Big Marsh, three miles north of the Oregon Trail. Its looks are deceiving, for, it is one of the greatest natural 'lunge laboratories in the province, if not in Canada. No fishermen—poachers excepted—have laid a rod to it in the past ten or 12 years and since 1949 extensive scientific studies have been going on.

The project has been financed to the tune of $4,000 this season by the Toronto Anglers and Hunters Association, those boys who stage the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show each spring so successfully. It is only one of their worthwhile conservation schemes which are costing them a total of $25,000 in excess show profit during the current year.

Nogies Creek studies have proved up many things to their hired scientists in the last three years and they find there is still much more to learn.

On Thursday of this week I paid the place a visit arriving at Pott's Mill Landing a scant ten minutes before the last trap nets were lifted and the last load of live tank fish were emptied into the clear water of Pigeon Lake. Department biologist Charlie Weir and his boys, who are furthering the project for the T.A.H.A. this fall, are glad the job is finished for the season. It is cold, miserable work.

Since October 16 they have trapped, measured and tagged 625 green bass and 150 'lunge. Fourteen breeder 'lunge were released back into the Big Marsh. The tagging operation meant sewing green numbered plastic discs about the size of your thumbnail to the outer gill cover with a curved surgical needle and gut. It is hoped that fishermen who catch these marked fish in 1953 will report the tag number to conservation officers; it will tell of the fishes' wanderings.

The Nogies Creek Sanctuary's fish population has been fairly accurately pegged. Natural food is abundant, predators are scarce and the waters are over-populated with small-sized fish. Very few large 'lunge in the 16-18-pound class have ever been taken and most of them are not keepers.

It is one of the few spots where natural propogation methods can be observed at all times and this, in comparison with artificial propogation sites, is producing information that has been baffling scientists for years. Summer work, including the tagging of fish with red discs, was done by the Toronto Anglers' biologist E. J. Crossman. He is doing post-graduate work at the University of Toronto at the present time.

Deer hunters are pouring out of the city this weekend for the shoot which opens on Monday and continues until Nov. 15, north of Highway 7. They may bring down ONE deer or ONE elk according to their $5 license.

An official notice out of Queen's Park this week points out that hunters must also have a $1 gun license as well as their deer license. This was an error on someone's part, Department heads admit, with the correction arriving after the Examiner published it on Thursday.

Blight Hits Resort Operators.

The best indication of a successful tourist season in the Kawarthas, from the operators' point of view, was pointed up at their fourth annual all-day Kawartha Tourist Convention on Wednesday. They stayed away from it in droves after Chamber manager Jim Fraser had mailed out 350 advance notices and invitations. Apparently they all made plenty of tourist dollars, algae was scarce to the point of being unworthy of beefing about it and the old four-County drift fishing bug-bear got but a mild going-over. Crack speaker Leo Dolan of the Canadian Travel Bureau saved the sagging attendance by attracting city merchant chamber members in good numbers and he was worth listening to, as usual.

But as far as an annual convention goes, I'm afraid its had it. Where, good operators, will you take your troubles, from now on?

If you are one of those sportsmen who are trying your best to break down the mortar of Farmer-Sportsmen relations, I list some rules so that you can make a complete mess of the whole thing, starting Monday with the deer season:

1. Drive into the farmer's yard, preferably very late at night, with the car horn blaring and stop long enough at the house to get him up and give him what-for because he had shut the gate into the barnyard; (you had to get out and open it).
2. Hunt only in areas where he tells you not to go, especially on wood lot bordering pasture land where his stock is grazing.
3. Break down his fences—he has all winter to repair them, anyway, climb the centre section of wire fences where they sag well and leave all gates and pastures bars open behind you.
4. Never hesitate to shoot near his house or barns; the farmer and his family like a loud show of exuberant city characters about the place.
5. If any of his fruit or field crops appeal to you, fill your haversack. The stuff is just lying around in the open, anyway.
6. See what intricate footprint patterns you and your pals can make across seeded ground and standing grain. They will show your route to rescuing parties in case you get lost.
7. Don't share any of your/his game with the farmer. It was hard, and costly enough, to take in the first place.
8. On your second trip give him a piece of your mind if he seems hesitant about letting you hunt over his land after your first fiasco. The miserable old skinflint.

From what I hear it won't be hard for some sportsmen to master these eight simple rules. To them it comes naturally.

Local Bride Stands In Stone In Eden

Mr. W. Dorrington of Victoria Avenue, Peterborough, not long ago went to the Garden of Eden and saw a remarkable sight. It is a life-sized statue of the bride of a Peterborough man. The statue stands in the centre of Moose River cemetery, Garden of Eden, which is so small a hamlet that it does not have a post office. It it in Guysboro County, Nova Scotia, in the municipality of St. Mary's.

The Peterborough husband who commissioned this memorial to his young wife was named Roderick Morrison, but in so far as the Examiner has been able to discover, nothing is known locally of Roderick Morrison. Examiner files contain no reference to him, nor does anybody whom this newspaper has asked recall anything about him.

If any reader knows of Mr. Morrison or his family, will he kindly let the editor know, so that this remarkable story can be completed?

The Examiner, trying to track down the elusive story from the Garden of Eden, asked Roland H. Sherwood of nearby Pictou, Nova Scotia, to send us a photograph of the statue and tell us what he could find out about it. The photograph is reproduced on this page, and here is his account of

THE WOMAN IN STONE.

Towering high above the other stones and facing toward the Blue Mountain highway, the lone figure of a woman stands outlined against the sky.

Passers-by often look twice and stop to inspect and admire the work that went into the creation of the life-size figure of the "Woman In Stone".

This monument to a departed loved one stands in the centre of the neat and well kept Moose River Cemetery, not far from Garden of Eden in Guysboro County.

WOMAN IN STONE in the Garden of Eden

The statue was cut from native stone by James King of New Glasgow, an artisan in stone work.

The inscription cut in the stone reads:

In Loving Memory of Mary Sutherland, Daughter
Of George And Elizabeth
Sutherland Of Garden Of Eden, N.S., And Wife Of Roderick Morrison Of Peterborough, Ontario
Died July 23, 1892.
Aged 34 Years.

The story behind this life size figure is that the young bride died and to her memory the heart-broken husband had the stone cut in her image.

The likeness stands there now, covered slightly with the grey of passing years, but with every detail of hair and face and dress carved by a master in the work.

The stone image was created from a photo of the bride in her wedding dress, given to the artist of the chisel and mallet by the husband.

Before the statue was completed the husband died, and the cost of creating the grave marker was not paid for at the time, nevertheless, James King finished the work and the stone was erected above her grave where it stands to this day as firmly as when it was placed on the rising hillside long years before.

James King, the creator of the stone image has other works of art in stone in several Nova Scotia centres.

Practically all the older public buildings of Halifax show his art. His artistry in stone is found in the Bank Building of New Glasgow, and the fine Miner's Monument at Westville is another of his works in stone.

But the statue of the bride in her wedding dress is perhaps his finest achievement, for even the dress folds fall in natural lines about the statue of Mary Sutherland, the "Woman In Stone" in the Moose River Cemetery

Scientists Study Harnessing Sun And Wind For Desert

By MICHAEL DAVIE

Possibilities of harnessing the energy of the sun and wind to the task of making fertile and habitable the arid and semi-arid zones of the world were discussed recently in London by a group of eminent scientists.

These speculations formed part of a report delivered to the press by a small committee, set up last year by Unesco (the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation) which has been meeting to survey the present state of knowledge about desert reclamation and to suggest lines of future research. The committee, which is an international one, is the first body that has ever been in a position to draw on the combined information of the world's research laboratories.

Muh of the scientists' time, it appears, was spent on such routine deliberations as the problem of disseminating knowledge. Obviously, a scientist in Mexico may be unaware that another scientist in Israel is pursuing a complementary line of research. The committee has been considering means of collecting existing information, and of moving scientists from one research station to another.

They have also been reviewing the work of various research stations from the new geo-physics laboratory in Pakistan whose investigations of the atmosphere touch on the tantilising possibilities of producing artificial rain, to the National Physical Laboratory in New Delhi, which is engaged in inventing methods of capturing the rays of the sun.

The eminent committee of scientists has discussed, with obvious relish, the future of this kind of project. Dr. H. G. Thornton, a biologist from Rotheamsted Research Station, pointed out that in desert and near-desert areas the sun and the wind are the only two sources of energy which are always available.

Sir Harold Hartley, a former president of the British association, seems to have little doubt that there may be an astonishing future for these sources. Windmills are used for pumping water; larger windmills could be used for producting electrical power. Solar energy is already used, in the southern United States and in the Caribbean, for producing hot water, on the greenhouse principle. There are, Sir Harold warned, great difficulties, at the moment, in the way of using the sun for anything except low-grade heating (the heating of space and water); but advances in physics might disperse these obstacles.

IMPORTS

As wine and oil are imported to us from abroad, so must ripe understanding, and many civil virtues, be imported into our minds from foreign writings;—we shall else miscarry still, and come short in the attempts of any great enterprise.

—John Milton:
History of Britain, III.

WINDMILL POWER

Mr. Golding, who is head of the Electrical Research Association's Rural Electrical and Wind Power Department, looked forward with modest confidence to the time when small communities of fifty or one hundred families will draw their water and electric power from windmills ten times as big as those at present available commercially.

There are other scientific investigations which may one day transform the dry parts of the world. The American delegate pointed out that the United States Congress has recently appropriated five hundred thousand dollars for research into the possibilities of convervting sea-water for domestic purposes—Los Angeles' growth depends on finding new water supplies. This line of research might be immensely fruitful; many of the world's arid zones lie along the border of the sea.

PLANT ECOLOGY

An Australian, Dr. B. T. Dickson, taking as his text the fact that 'all flesh is grass" explained the contribution which might be made by plant ecology. How is it, he asked, that some peoples survive in areas having a very small rainfall? What crops have they? Could their plants be transferred elsewhere? Southern Australia, he said by way of illustration, has been widely transformed by the chance importation of subterranean clover. It had increased the nitrogen content of the soil, making it capable of supporting far more sheep than would have been possible without the existence of that single plant.

Among the members of the committee, described in full as UNESCO's Advisory Committee on Arid Zone Research, were Mr. A. N. Khosla from India, Professor L. Picard from Israel, and Professor J. Peres, from France. (OFNS-Copyright.)

PRIDE

A pride there is of rank—a pride of birth,
A pride of learning, and a pride of purse,
A London pride—in short, there be on earth
A host of prides, some better and some worse;
But of all prides, since Lucifer's attaint,
The proudest swells of a self-elected saint.

Trees Battle For Life Against Many Enemies

BY HENRY PREE (NEA)

How long will a tree live? Theoretically, trees should live forever, but they never do. Some of our giant live oaks in the gulf states and redwoods of California appear as if they would last until eternity. The largest known tree is a colossal Montezuma cypress growing near Santa Maria del Tule about 300 miles south of Mexico City. This botanical Methuselah has a trunk diameter of over 46 feet and is estimated to be about 2,000 years old. Even this makes it but a youngster compared with some of the giant redwoods, the age of which is said to exceed 4,000 years.

Trees put on new growth each year. A new layer of live sapwood is formed around the trunk and branches, new leaves and some new roots develop, and the branches elongate. If this process continued year after year, there would be no limit to the size which our trees could attain. Actually, in nature it does not work out that way.

Insects, diseases, windstorms, [illegible] soil conditions, or fertilizer nutrients in the soil, and toxic gases in the atmosphere are a few of the agencies detrimental to tree growth which finally cause the death of many trees. When trees become very large they also become structurally weak. The branches become so long and heavy that they break in storms. The broken branches leave wounds which rot-producing fungi can enter and eat away the heartwood to further weaken the tree.

When the top of a tree gets big the root system must also be extensive to furnish the top with water and nutrients. The roots are in competition with the roots of other plants and their continued growth is checked by this competition.

In cities, paved streets, basements, excavations for sewers and water lines, and constant traffic which packs the soil all restrict tree root growth. Root rot diseases may destroy the root system or so weaken it that the tree will die.

When the roots can no longer supply the top with enough moisture and nutrients, the tree starts to decline. Then insects or disease, which the tree was resistant to when growth was vigorous, may attack it and cause its death.

Have you ever wondered how old that large tree in your yard might be? The only sure method of telling its age would be to cut it down and count the rings. However, you can come fairly close to its true age if you measure the diameter of the tree trunk in inches, 3½ feet from the ground, and multiply the diameter by the number corresponding to the type of tree in the following list:

Trees add one layer of growth each year. Annular rings thus indicate a tree's age.

Two and one-half for silver maple, elm, tulip, apple, pear, cherry; three for black walnut, black oak; four for birch, sweet gum, sugar maple; eight for shagbark and other hickories.

For example—a black oak 12 inches in diameter would be approximately 36 years old.

Trees do not live forever, but if given proper care most of them can be preserved throughout the lifetime of their owners and for a few succeeding generations.

Fertilization, soil aeration to improve conditions for root growth, cabling and bracing to prevent storm damage, protection from insects and diseases, lightning protection for large and valuable trees, pruning to remove dead and weak branches through which rots may enter, and wound treatments to promote healing are tree care practices which insure a long life for our shade trees.

Gardening Questions

Q—I have a monthly rose, a rambler. It grew about three feet and I cut it back and now it just won't bloom. I also have a lilac bush that had only a few blooms on it. Can you tell me what is wrong?—P.R.S.

A—Rambler roses bloom in spring only, while hybrid climbers bloom both spring and fall. One or two, like Blaze and Silver Moon, will bloom off and on during the summer. Prune these plants only in early spring—not in summer. Lilacs must have a sunny location and a limed soil enriched with phosphorus to insure bloom. Prune lilacs only if necessary and then in mid-June, just after their blooms have faded.

Q—We are developing a flower border and find that we do not have much color in June and July. Would you suggest perennials which we might plant so that we can have flowers from April hrough November?

A—For June and July bloom in the perennial border you can count on Shasta Daisy, Coropsis, Dictamnus, Gaillardia, Baby's Breath, Penstemon, Phlox Miss Lingard, Cornflower, Stokesia and Veronica Blue Spires.

'Tis reported that Tony Golab's grid Hamilton Panthers are all rested up for the provincial final intermediate "A" series, opening here this aft. Whereas the Orfuns are just getting over two stiff scraps within the past week, in Cobourg and against Oshawa here. However, it often turns out that a "hot" team doesn't require much rest—it just keeps rolling along. And it could happen that a team out of action for a space might find it hard to settle down again in an important series. Those overworked Toronto Yorkers came mighty close to upsetting the rested Timbermen in eastern lacrosse playoffs, remember? Anyway, the big game is this aft in Morrow Park, first of a home-and-home series, points counting.

Comes to the desk a booklet entitled: "Kingston's Record In Organized Hockey In Ye Early Days"—a rather ornate name. It was compiled from CKWS broadcasts given by Capt. Jas. T. Sutherland, former president and life member of the O.H.A. and the C.A.H.A., these broadcasts taking place some years ago. Jim Sutherland is hockey's "grand old man" in Kingston and he stoutly rebukes upstart cities like Halifax and Montreal for laying claim to being hockey's birthplace. No, sir, James insists, Kingston is where the Canadian winter game got its start. His booklet is an interesting history of the puck sport in that city where organized play is recorded early in the 80s.

Players To Be Split Up

How the Peterborough players taking part in the T.V.L. preseason series here will be divided among the four teams we don't know. It'll all come out in the wash. But they will be split up to make for keener competition between Lakefield, Havelock, Hastings and Norwood in games opening at Civic next Wednesday night. A Lakefield official advises that in regular T.V.L. play later, no team is going to be permitted to pack itself with Peterborough players, as that situation occurred once when Madoc brought in imports from Northern Ontario, and the loop folded next year because Madoc was too strong for the other squads. We suppose this point will be dealt with at the annual re-organization meeting of the T.V.L. in the next week or two.

Hockey of the O.H.A. senior "B" variety returned to Peter Robinson's borough last mild evening in Civic Arena before a so-so crowd, and the Petes marked the occasion with a convincing 9-0 win o'er Belleville Glens. It must have made Coach Alfie Moore (fresh on the job) realize that he has to do some building on his Belleville squad yet. Because Jim Ellis isn't satisfied so far with the Petes, though naturally he was quite pleased with that one-sided win. He needs a few defencemen yet, but has come up with three promising forwards from Midland. Also Toodie Greenlaw of the Eagles, and we hear a few more of that team are thinking of coming out. Also we hear that Keith Montgomery established residence in Lindsay and will play for Al Burns' Muskies in the lakeshore intermediate loop.

Petes Had the Hustle

Petes last night showed plenty of hustle and a lot of class for an opening game. They had ace goaltending again by the one and only Ray Harding. The defence did okay, Gord Fennell doing a fine two-way job and Gus Leonard quite capable back of the blue line, though his punch up front is missed. Dean Wasson was in there, too, and the odd forward filled in. Up front, they were really flying and all deserved credit. Top point-getters were Chum Fryia, the reliable Curly Mason, Don Floyd, Fennell, Junior West and Greenlaw. Belleville didn't show too much, though they have some promising material—and penalties cost 'em several goals. Generally a clean game. Counter-attractions kept the crowd down. Petes play in Belleville Nov. 7 and in Stouffville Nov. 12. Oshawa comes here two nights later.

St. Peter's senior footballers, coached by Johnny Lynch, rolled to a 22-5 victory over St. Mike's here yesterday to capture the Ontario Catholic Conference crown. 'Twas the third and deciding tilt of the playoff series, and Carl Brioux was the individual star for the champs. The husky plunger ripped through for four touchdowns in what must be some sort of scoring record. Jack Richards and Dick Foley kicked two of the converts. Johnny Seymour got the lone major for the Toronto team. S. P. S. played an alert game for four interceptions, and they had fine blocking up front as well as a smart ground attack. Whole team turned in a stellar performance and deserve credit for capturing the title. Junior Saints can win their group today, too, if they beat Central in Oshawa.

Sacred Heart Wins

For the third straight year Sacred Heart won the lower school Parish Rugby League title. Bill Mahoney did some fine quarterbacking and fired passes to Floyd Woodcock and Frank Daly for most of their scoring. The line Delpellaro, played well all season. Sacred Heart finished with 16 points.

St. John's finished a close second with 12 points, losing twice to Sacred Heart in eight games. Immaculate Conception were third with seven points, St. Peter's getting five, and St. Anne's being blanked.

BRIOUX ALL THE WAY, that's the way St. Peter's high senior championship game with St. Michael's College of Toronto went Friday at Morrow Park. The husky plunger ripped through the Toronto line four times for major scores as the Saints won the Ontario Catholic Conference senior "B" championship with a 22-5 victory. That game was the deciding one of the best-of-three series. Brioux, surrounded by St. Michael's players (above), has just completed a drive over the touchline for his first TD, which on Jack Richardson's convert sent the Saints up 6-5. — (Examiner Staff Photo).

BACK IN GROOVE—Goalie Ray Harding was back in the groove as the Petes opened their O.H.A. senior "B" season here last night with a 9-0 win over Belleville. The classy veteran netter was in top form to earn his shutout, while the whole Ellis squad clicked all the way.

St. Peter's Beat St. Mike's To Capture '52 Crown In The Catholic Conference

One, two, three, four touchdowns by plunger Carl Brioux Friday afternoon gave Coach Johnny Lynch's St. Peter's High seniors their second successive Ontario Catholic Conference senior "B" championship. Brioux's four touchdowns helped the Saints romp through St. Michael's College of Toronto 22-5 in the final game of the best-of-three challenge series for the McKinney trophy and the championship. St. Peter's won the first game 17-5 on October 4 but St. Mike's completely out-played the Saints on Sunday to tie the series with a 16-6 victory. That series winds up the season for the senior Saints.

Brioux' sensational plunging was the season's best for the stocky backfielder. This year he has been plagued with injuries but in top form Friday he just couldn't be stopped by the Toronto tacklers.

SPARKED SAINTS

Brioux' plunging for lengthy gains in the opening minutes seemed to spark the Saints who then showed a complete reversal of form over Sunday's game.

The line- including players such as Terry O'Leary and Leo Sullivan, tore large holes in the St. Mike's line. Through these, plungers Dick Foley, Gord Snape and Brioux poured through. On the defence the line charged through the St. Mike's line stopping the speedy Toronto backs before they opened up.

Realizing that ground plays were working to perfection, quarterback Jack Richardson kept throwing running plays at St. Mike's. Meanwhile the Toronto lads ran into a stiff Saints' pass defence which netted four interceptions, one of which resulted in a major score.

Joe Foreman and John Seymour, the Toronto stars on Sunday, were stymied by the Saints. The speedy lads were held almost to a standstill, but twice broke for lengthy runs, one for a touchdown.

For a while, in the early minutes, it appeared that St. Mike's might duplicate Sunday's performance. The Saints finally pressed but were held on Toronto's 15 where Frank McGillen's punt was carried out-of-bounds by the wind at the 10.

ONLY SCORE

Oshawa gambled on a third down in the third quarter and failed, giving the ball to P.C.V.S. on the 15-yard line. In two plays the Garnet and Grey had another first down on the four-yard line and from there Barry Hollingsworth scored. Langhorne again converted.

Oshawa's offence bogged down on the P.C.V.S. 12-yard line in the fourth quarter. Ground attacks and a pass to Ted Sanders set Dave Langhorne up for another touchdown pass to Craw. Again, for th feourth time, Langhorne converted the extra point.

From the kickoff Oshawa paraded down the field and in seven plays went over for a touchdown which went unconverted.

With an open date next weekend, caused by Belleville dropping out, the Garnet and Grey will likely arrange an exhibition game.

P.C.V.S. Seniors Triumph Over Oshawa, 24-11 To Gain the C.O.S.S.A. Finals

P.C.V.S. Garnet and Grey seniors coached by Bev. Goulding, will defend their C.O.S.S.A. 1951 championship. Defeating Oshawa Collegiate Combines in the Motor City 24-11 the collegians earned the right to represent the Bay of Quinte and Lakeshore districts in the annual playoff for the eighth time in the past nine years. Actually the Garnet and Greys had only three games to win for the final game, defeating Oshawa twice (the first game 40-0) and Belleville once, 37-6. Belleville dropped out of the series this week, forfeiting the fourth game and placing P.C.V.S. easily into the championship game on November 15 in the Niagara district.

After the whitewashing in the first game with Oshawa, the Garnet and Grey expected rather an easy game Friday night. But the Motor City team came up with some stiff opposition which plagued P.C.V.S. who were poor defensively, especially on tackling Oshawa plays in the open field.

Otherwise the Garnet and Grey played their usual game. Murray Grafstein, Don Scriver and Spin Hope led the ground attack while quarter Dave Langhorne passed to Bob Craw, Dan Griffin and Ted Saunders. The four major scores were divided evenly between ground and pass attack.

The main passing punch, Langhorne to Craw, provided the first touchdown in the first quarter. In four first downs featuring plunging of Grafstein, Scriver and Hope the Garnet and Grey marched from centre to the seven-yard line where Langhorne passed to Craw for the T. D. Langhorne converted for a 6-0 score.

CAME BACK

But early in the second quarter the Oshawa lads came back, almost on identical plays as P.C.V.S. A pass mixed with running plays carried the ball to the five where they worked a good fake play for a touchdown pass and convert, tying the score.

But from the kickoff P.C.V.S. marched up the field. After four first downs, all along the ground, Grafstein plunged over and Langhorne converted.

Brioux up for his third major, again unconverted.

On the first St. Mike's play after the TD kickoff, Terry Fitzpatrick intercepted a pass at the Toronto 45 and ran to the St. Mike's three before thrown out of play. Foley charged to the one and Brioux promptly scored his fourth through centre. Richardson's convert was the 22nd point.

Through the Saints defence into the clear. He zipped the 75 yards for an unconverted major, putting St. Mike's up 5-0.

St. Mike's received a break later when a bad snap sailed over McGillen's head on a third down and gave Toronto possession on the Saints' 10. But the Saints held and started a drive.

Brioux, Foley and Terry Fitzpatrick carried the ball to the 15-yard line of St. Mike's where Richardson's attempt for a field goal failed. St. Mike's two attempts for yards failed and the third down kick was poor, giving the Saints the ball on the 19.

Brioux pounded through twice, ending up on the two-yard line where he easily crossed over. Richardson's convert point placed the Saints ahead 6-5.

Early in the second half a penalty on a third down gave the Saints possession at centre. Again Brioux, Foley and Snape, with odd jabs by Bud McDougal, sent the ball up the field. Finally it was in position where an end run by Brioux netted his second major for a 11-5 score.

Late in the third the Saints started rolling again with plunges by Brioux, Snape and Richardson. Snape's plunge to the five on the first play of the fourth quarter set

Long Gap For The Orfuns Between Group Titles In Intermediate "A" Play

When Tony Kotowski's Peterborough Orfuns jaunt to the Exhibition Park gridiron this afternoon for their Ontario championship game with Hamilton Panthers, many fans will be recalling incidents and players from previous seasons, at least as far back as 1937. Then Peterborough won its last group title and entered the Ontario finals.

Hendren was selected as all-Canadian snap.

Most of the 1939 team carried on in Peterborough sports, lacrosse, hockey and baseball as well as football. Their names, Steve Csumrik, Wally Farr, Lloyd Grose, Pup Curtin, Jerry Creighton, Emmett Creighton, Rich Jackson and Dick Ouimet, have been newspaper sports material

Johnny Shields, Mike Loucks, Don Crowe and others in '37 ousted Peterborough's sports rivals, Oshawa, to enter the playdown. But Dundas ousted the Peterborough club in turn for the intermediate "A" honors.

Every football fan, young or old, will remember the 1938 season when the Orfuns jumped into senior O.R.F.U. under coach Bill Irwin. The most memorable incident that year was the stunning upset, 3-2, over the powerful Sarnia aggregation. Among the '38 Orfuns, just to mention a few, were Leo Deadey, Curly Krug, Harry Marsh, Gord McIntyre, Dave Wilson, Joe McNulty, Lloyd Grose and Mick Magee.

COACH BAMFORTH

Coach Harry Bamforth took over the senior Orfun reins in 1939 as they again played in the O.R.F.U. senior. The Orfuns extended all the clubs in games that year and many players of that team have gone on to become stars in the big time.

Les Ascott, veteran of the Toronto Argos and former Ottawa Roughrider Don Crowe, are two to come out of that Bamforth-coached team. Fans will remember the sensational punting of the late Ab Leether and will also remember that Lakefield's Don

CAME THE WAR

The war came and fottball went. But in 1947 Dick Ouimet, Dave Wilson, Harry Yudin and Stan McBride revived the game, producing a team, including Doug Delaney, Russ Scriver, Reg Burns, Don Board, Gord Beatty, Bill Shadgett, Don Hendren, Rip Van Allen, Bill Thompson and others under Coach Ouimet.

Under names Orfuns and Panthers and under coaches Ouimet, Gord Young and Spike Matthews, the team didn't go so well in '47, '48 and '49. Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts seemed to scare all others away from group honors.

Harv Bamforth in 1950 had better results, finishing second but losing out to East York in the intermediate "B" playdowns. Former Hamilton Wildcat Grey Cup coach Frank Gnup began to work the Orfuns to championship form in 1951 but too late, for when the finals rolled around Oshawa and Cobourg were in group playoffs.

This year American-imported coach Tony Kotowski has rounded former Orillia players, collegiate grads and veteran Orfuns into a championship team and all are hoping that the Orfuns will bring the city its second Canadian title for 1952.

U.S. GOLD PROS LEAD

MELBOURNE (AP) — Touring United States golf professionals yesterday took a 2-0 lead over Australia's pros in an international match by winning the two foursome contests. Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., and Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., defeated Peter Thomson and Ken Nagle, two up in the first match. Then Ed Oliver of Lemont, Ill., and Jim Turnesa of Elmsford, N.Y., defeated Norman Von Nida and Ossie Pickworth, 3 and 2.

Petes Open Hockey Season With a 9-0 Victory Against The Belleville Glens

Taking up where they left off last spring as O.H.A. senior "B" group champions, the Petes roared through for a 9-0 victory over Belleville Glens here last night before less than a thousand fans. It was the opening game of the season but Hallowe'en celebrations and other attractions kept down the crowd on a mild night. While the Quinte crew were short a few players, the homesters turned in a surprisingly strong display for so early in the season. It was typical early play with a lot of hit-and-miss hockey, but it was speedy and generally clean, with Jim Ellis' outfit having a big margin on play over Alfie Moore's team.

EARLY LEAD

The score was 4-0 in the first period and Peterborough only had a 1-0 margin in the tighter second stanza. However, they tore back on the attack for four goals without a return in the third, giving veteran goalie Ray Harding a shutout to start the season. Three former Midland players, Conny Adams, Morley Spiker and Jack Henderson, showed up well in the local lineup, as did Toodie Greenlaw, with the Eagles last year.

Despite 13 penalties—seven going to the Petes—it was a clean tilt, all infractions being of a minor nature. Four of the Quinte miscues resulted in goals, while the Petes scored once when short a man themselves. Ted Collins got a cut on the arm, Fred Garvey a gash on the nose and Chum Fryia a nose bleed—all accidental—and goalie Plumley of the Glens was knocked out briefly in a collision with one of his own mates in front of the net.

HAD THE HUSTLE

The 1951-52 champions, still in the process of rebuilding, won the game with their hustle. They came up with a flock of skating fools for an opening game, tearing all over the place to pick up loose pucks and checking opponents closely all the way. They had but two senior defencemen, one actually a regular forward, but Gus Leonard and Gord Fennell did a big job, and their forward replacements helped plenty. Belleville battled hard at times and some of the players battled all the way, but some slowed down as the score mounted. Their goalie had little chance on those that beat him.

Curly Mason and Don Floyd got two goals each for the winners, one apiece going to Toodie Greenlaw, Junior West, Freddy Garvey, Morley Spiker and Chum Fryia. Leading in assists were Gord Fennell with three in a fine two-way showing, and Fryia with a pair as he hustled hard throughout. Single assists were counted by Ted Collins, West Leonard, Dean Wasson, Henderson and Greenlaw. Teams:

Belleville: Goal, Plumley; defence, Schroeder and Semark; centre, D. Doran; wings, R. Doran and Jones; alternates, Strand, DeGray, Desjardins, Mulvihill, Goyer, MacDonald, Wardhaugh, and Free.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Leonard and Fennell; centre, Greenlaw; wings, Fryia and Mason; alternates, Garvey, Collins, Floyd, Henderson, Spiker, Adams, West and Wasson.

Referee, J. Crombie; linesman, B. Kingdon.

Wrestling Card Announced For Wednesday

After a six months' absence, wrestling returns to Peterborough next Wednesday night. A three-bout card opens in the Brock at 8:30 p.m. November 5. Manager Jim Laidlaw has arranged for weekly wrestling programs there during the winter months on Wednesday nights. The top grappling talent will be brought here for the Wednesday cards.

Featuring the first program in the main bout will be Chief Big Heart, Indian mat sensation from the States, going against rough and experienced Lee Henning. This match will be a wide-open and exciting scrap between two big and competent grapplers. Lou Plummer shows against Jimmy Coffield in the semi-final in what should prove another exciting and bruising battle. The prelim has Jack Pethick, son of the famous wrestler, Johnny Pethick tackling tricky Dick Raines.

Richard May Be Greatest Goal Scorer By Tonight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Maurice The Rocket Richard may be hockey's all-time high-scorer this weekend. The flashy Montreal Canadiens right-winger, who now holds the 324-goal record with Nels (Old Poison) Stewart, former great of National Hockey League clubs, conceivably can shatter it tonight before a home-town crowd. Canadiens meet New York Rangers in a Saturday-Sunday home-and-home series.

CAN HE MAKE IT?

And if he continues his form shown at Toronto Wednesday when he clicked for two, the 31-year-old Rocket is a cinch to make it goal No. 325 sometime tonight or Sunday.

Boston Bruins meet the Maple Leafs at Toronto in the only other Saturday game while there's a full schedule Sunday with the Leafs at Detroit and Boston at Chicago Black Hawks.

The Hawks, who battled Bruins to a 1-1 tie in their only meeting this season, hold a three-point lead over the runner-up Canadiens and Red Wings. Leafs are four points off the pace and Boston five.

Rangers, who have won only one game in nine—a 3-2 decision over Detroit last Sunday—trail with four points.

TELEVISING GAMES

Part of the Toronto game will be televised by the CBC over CBLT, Channel 9. The telecast will start at 9:30 p.m. EST, midway through the second period.

CBC television crews have been shooting Maple Leaf home games experimentally for several weeks over a test circuit.

Marciano Receives Belt From Magazine

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano yesterday received the Ring Magazine belt, emblematic of the world heavyweight boxing championship, and then prepared to head west on a personal appearance tour.

Marciano accepted the belt from Nat Fleischer, Ring editor, at a luncheon meeting of the New York Boxing Writers Association

"An awful lot of nice things have been happening to me," said the champion. "But this is the highlight to me. I've been waiting for this since the fight."

Manager Al Weill and trainer Charley Goldman also spoke briefly in praise of Marciano.

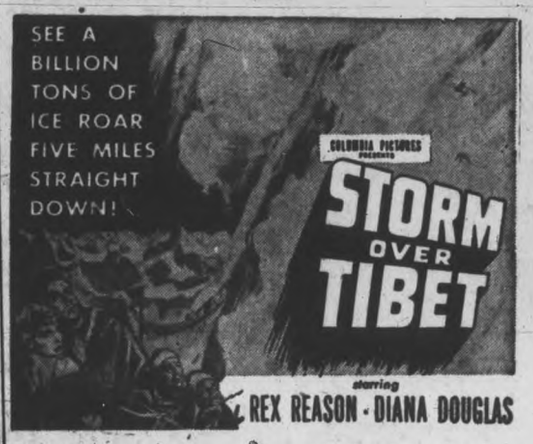
Johnny Bratton Downs Miceli

NEW YORK (AP)—With blood streaming from his left eye, Johnny Bratton overpowered Joe Miceli in a sizzling welter brawl last night to score a technical knockout in 18 seconds of the eighth round at Madison Square Garden. Bratton weighed 148, Miceli 146.



Turning the full stream of his fiery attack on the bewildered Miceli, who was floored for eight in the first round and seven in the seventh, Bratton forced Referee Harry Kessler to intervene in the eighth as he rained punishment on the 23-year-old New Yorker, home on an army furlough.

Bratton, the ex-N.B.A. welter champion from Chicago, took charge in the early rounds but ran into a heavy hail of Miceli's left-handed punches from the third through the sixth.

Opening the throttle wide in the seventh he drove Miceli into full retreat from a merciless barrage.

PIPE LAYING crews are seen at work installing the 400 mile Trans-Northern Pipe Line which today started carrying refined petroleum products from Montreal to Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and intermediate points.

Oil Starts Pipeline Trip From Montreal To Toronto

Petroleum products began today to flow through the 442-mile pipe line from Montreal to Hamilton.

Owned by Trans-Northern Pipe Line Company, a subsidiary of three Canadian petroleum firms, the line will give daily delivery of 19 refined petroleum products on a year-round basis.

McColl-Frontenac, Shell, and British-American are the three firms that jointly own the pipeline, estimated to have cost $18 to $20 millions.

Products pumped through the Trans-Northern line will take about four days to reach Toronto from Montreal, moving at the rate of four miles an hour. Driving force behind the fluids is provided by eight electrical centrifugal pumps of 600 horsepower each.

GREATER CAPACITY

At present with a capacity of 40,000 barrels daily, the line has a potential capacity of 75,000 barrels daily. This larger amount would be made possible by the addition of intermediate pumping stations.

The oil will move westward from Montreal, where Shell and McColl-Frontenac have their refineries located. B-A's refinery is located at Clarkson, west of Toronto.

The 19 products that will flow through the 10-inch pipe include motor gasoline, diesel fuel, stove and furnace oils. Liquid petroleum gases can also be pumped through it.

Director of the line's construction, and president of Trans-Northern is A. N. Horne, who also directed the building and early operation of the Trans-Arabian pipe line, a 30-inch line that carries crude oil from the Persian Gulf to Mediterranean ports.

Biggest advantage of the pipe line is that it makes possible the easy transportation of oil and fuels in winter. On the pipe line, there is not the costly five-months shutdown there is with the lake boats.

Defence advantages are obvious. A pipe line is harder to hit than a tanker, and it uses less steel—in the long run—than the amount that would be needed to build tankers to transport the same volume of petroleum products.

STORAGE TERMINALS

Tank storage terminals, individually owned and operated by the three shipping companies have been erected along the pipe line route. Closest to Peterborough of these 11 terminals is north of Port Hope at Dale on Highway 28.

Inside the pipe line the oil moves through the line in sequence according to their specific gravity. Grade one gasoline would be followed by grade two gasoline, and this in turn would be followed by kerosene and so down to the heavier fuels.

Mixing of the products where they touch is negligible because such a tendency is minimized by modern techniques which control pressure and turbulence in the line.

Meters measure the amount of products pumped into and out of the line. Motor-operated valves on pumps and an automatic throttling valve maintain the prescribed rate of flow. Montreal is a key station and all others synchronize their pressure and rate of flow with that established at Montreal.

A teletype system links the four pumping stations and 10 meter stations. Terminals are located at Montreal, Ottawa, Cornwall, Prescott, Brockville, Kingston, Belleville, Port Hope, Toronto, Clarkson and Hamilton. A special diverted pipe-line, eight inches in diameter, delivers oil to Ottawa from Farran's Point near Cornwall.

Builders of the pipe line were Williams Brothers of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Sparling-Davis of Edmonton and Toronto, and Williams-Mannix of Calgary and Toronto. At the peak of the construction period from 1,200 to 1,500 men were employed in laying the line.

WATER CROSSINGS

Over its entire route the line makes 18 water crossings, 41 crossings under highways and 34 under railways. Generally buried two to four feet underground, the line is laid deeper in congested areas and where it crosses under highways or railways.

Water crossing include one more than a mile long below the surface of Lake of Two Mountains.

Clean-up crews that followed the pipe-laying gangs restored the land to it original condition, repaired fences, and replaced sod.

Soon crops will be growing over the narrow strip of torn-up land that in time will completely hide the new artery of the nation, carrying precious liquids that turn so many of the country's wheels.

Big Real Estate Deal

OTTAWA (CP)—The E. S. Sherwood real estate firm yesterday announced it has purchased on behalf of an unidentified syndicate $1,000,000 worth of Ottawa property, including several buildings leased by the Canadian government. The firm said it was the biggest real estate sale in Ottawa's history. It said it had been instructed not to identify the buyers except to say that they are located in Ontario.

No Challenges For Coronation

LONDON (Reuters)—The Mediaeval Court of Claims, where noble knights once fought over the right to a ceremonial place in their sovereign's coronation, got through its first session yesterday without anyone throwing down the gauntlet.

The 600-year-old court met to decide who will do what at the coronation in Westminster Abbey next June 2.

How words and throaty challenges were missing, for no claim was contested. The petitioners weren't even present, being represented by lawyers, or just by their names and claims on a long scroll.

As most of the 21 petitions were read out the Lord Chancellor, heading the nine-judge court, unhesitatingly said "granted" and rapped on to the next one. Most of these claims had been settled before the last coronation and only needed to be renewed formally.

Urges 'I Like Mike' Buttons For U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Greek delegate Alexis Kyrou suggested with a laugh yesterday that Secretary-General Trygve Lie furnish delegates with "I like Mike" buttons to wear on U.S. election day next Tuesday.

"Mike" is the nickname of L.B. Pearson of Canada, president of the U.N. General Assembly.

The U.N. will work as usual on election day but U.S. employees will get time off to vote.

WOUNDED RETURN—Two French infantrymen of the U.N. forces in Korea assist a wounded Chinese prisoner toward an aid station in the French Battalion area.

Pioneer Flier Pays Visit To Centralia

CENTRALIA R.C.A.F. STATION (CP)—A man who risked his life 43 years ago to become the first Canadian ever to fly a heavier-than-air machine, yesterday visited this sprawling air force base where hundreds of young men have since learned to fly in an age of jet planes.

Hon. J. A. D. McCurdy, pioneer aviator and former Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, climaxed a 24-hour tour when he officially opened a modern station school named in his honor.

Mr. McCurdy unveiled a plaque in the auditorium of the building—now named the J. A. D. McCurdy public school.

The one-storey building provides accommodation for children of station personnel and fills the educational needs of the large newly-built married quarters. Besides the auditorium there are 14 classrooms, four playrooms and two libraries.

The school has been open almost a year but official ceremonies were delayed until yesterday.

Mr. McCurdy made the first airplane flight in the British Empire Feb. 23, 1909, at Baddeck, N.S.

Visit By UK General

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj.-Gen V. D. Thomas, British chief of amphibious warfare and an officer of the Royal Marines, will pay a week-long visit to Canada next week. Gen. Thomas, who is expected here Sunday from Washington, will meet with senior Canadian defence officials. He will visit the Canadian Army Staff College at Kingston Nov. 5-9.

Conscientious Driver

REGINA (CP)—Regina has at least one conscientious driver. So honest that a court-room full of traffic offenders yesterday stared open-mouthed at Mrs. Florence Newson in police court. Court was told Mrs. Newson made an illegal U-turn at an intersection, realized her mistake, then phoned police to confess the offence. "Suspended sencende," said Magistrate F. B. Bagshaw, adding, "Mrs. Newson deserves a commendation rather than a reprimand."

Legal Work Prepares Way For Expropriation

Preliminary legal work has been started to get the expropriation proceedings under way, involving 17.7 acres of land adjacent to the city filtration plant.

The city expropriated the land—a narrow strip along the west side of Highway 28, from Marg's Cabins to the middle of Smith township—for the Peterborough Utilities Commission.

The property is needed for an additional water reservoir that the P.U.C. intends to build sometime in the future. Filtration facilities are already being enlarged.

T. J. Carley, Q.C., is looking after the interests of the owner, Klondike Gold Brown. And W. B. (Pete) Gordon is counsel for Mr. Brown's five children—one of them an infant—who also have an interest in the property.

Alex Elliott, Q.C., is counsel for the city.

Purpose of the preliminary legal work—not yet completed—was to make sure all interested parties would be properly represented at the hearing before Judge John de N. Kennedy. And counsel are also trying to organize their briefs so there will be no loss of time and the hearing can be finished as quickly as possible.

Expropriation was passed in July, 1948. Three acres of land, just north of Marg's Cabins, were taken by the Department of Highways so the highway could be widened there.

Included in the expropriated land is a gravel pit—one of the oldest and best known in the district.

No date has been set for the expropriation hearing.

MAGNA CHARTA COPY—Lord Blackford, right, representing the governors of King's School, Bruton, England, hands a copy of the Magna Charta to Sir Thomas White, Australian High Commissioner in London, at Australia House, London, recently. It is one of the only two known copies, made in 1297 by Edward I, and was recently purchased from the school for £12,500, or approximately $36,000, by the Australian Commonwealth.

Derailed Box Car Tears Doors Off Train

WHEATLEY (CP)—A derailed box car, which jutted over the main Chesapeake and Ohio Railway line, ripped doors and ladders off 35 or 40 cars of a speeding freight train here last night.

Bonded cargo, including cases of beer, bulk wheat and roofing, spilled out of the cars along the railway right of way. None of the cars on the moving train were derailed and no one was hurt in the accident.

The box car was derailed in shunting operations in this village 30 miles southwest of Chatham.

CHANNEL: (See Band).

CONTRAST: Ratio of the dark to the light portion of TV picture.

It's A Wise TV Owner Who Has Only Experts Service His Set

Need of experienced servicemen to care for television sets is being more and more stressed as the number of TV sets in private use grows.

Need of expert service was expressed at a recent meeting by A. B. Hunt, president of the Radio-Television Manufacturers' Association of Canada.

"I do not need to tell you," he said, "that the tinkerer with a pair of pliers and a screw driver can no longer pose as a radio repairman. Actually this development should prove beneficial to every radio technician who takes pride in his ability to take a set apart and put it together again as good as new.

"No competent radio technician today need have any fear that television or any other new broadcasting service will put him out of business. But he will have to do what every other professional man has to do—learn everything he can about new equipment and techniques as they appear in his field."

There are specially trained servicemen for TV, many of them taking their training at the factories.

It is a good idea, if you think your set is in need of service, to consult the makers or the place where you bought it as to the best way to get this service.

Good Christians—Helpers

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

In the list of those whom Saint Paul said God had set for authority and activity in the church,, the list contained in I Corinthians 12: 28, some are described as "helps," translated "helpers" in the recently published version of the Bible to which much reference has been made in newspaper and magazine articles.

I mean "The Revised Standard Version" sponsored by national Protestant Churches, the translation and revision being the work of a large committee of Biblical scholars under the chairmanship of Dr. Luther Weigle, former dean of the Divinity School in Yale University.

It is intresting to note that at about the same time a new translation of the Bible under Roman Catholic auspices has also appeared. I have not yet seen this Catholic version, but I have just been consulting an "authorized New Translation," published under Roman Catholic authority in 1941. This vital and excellent version is in the form of "Daily Reading from the New Testament" arranged by Father Stedman.

But to return to this matter of "helps" which in Father Stedman's arrangement is translated "services of help." I am not a scholar, but this is one instance in which, perhaps without any scholarly warrant, I prefer the simple King James' Version of one-word "helps."

Whether or not it was justified by the original Greek, there would seem to have been in the minds of those translators in the Shapespearean age some reason for singling out those designated by that one word "helps."

All good Christians ought to be "helpers" and ought to render "services of help" wherever needed. But what special vision of human need, the ability to help it, and activity in actual helping, made some in the church, "set by God," so distinctive that in a list of apostles, teachers, healers, miracle workers, and administrators, they should have their significant and particular designation as "helps."

I have wondered who these "helps" were, and just what offices they performed. The need of helpfulness in the whole range of human life, in the individual, in the home and family, in the church, and in society is so great, and so varied, that one can conjure up all manner of activities on the part of those who have the ability and the purpose to be helpful.

To be a "help" it is obvious that one must himself fave found help and be strong in himself. I judge that these "helps" in the ancient church were some who had no particular concern about doctrine or administration, but who had found a keen and close relation to the Christ, who came not to be ministered unto but to administer. They were close followers of a Master, who was Himself the Great Helper.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

LIGHT FIRE BILL

September fire loss was $245 as reported by Acting Fire Chief Stewart Foster. Of the 30 alarms, 26 were by telephone.

ART CLUB EXHIBIT

Members of the Brush and Palette Club are opening their annual show tonight at the Public Library at 8:30. William Winter, well-known Toronto artist, will officially open the exhibit.

SUPPER CLUB SPEAKER

Boys' work secretary Bill McFarlane of the Y.M.C.A. was speaker at the Friday Night Club at the Y last night. Vic O'Connor was winner of the novelty tie contest.

HUNTERS START

Downtown restaurants were serving deer hunters early today as they started their trek north for the annual hunt. Season opens Monday morning.

NO SIGN YET

Raports from the Millbrook countryside say there is no evidence of realty surveys or transfers for the Ontario penitentiary site that was in the headlines as an acquisition for Cavan a few months ago.

MUSICALE

Trombone Virtuoso Carl Lindstrom of Chicago will be the guest artist at the first Sunday Afternoon Musicale of the season at the Salvation Army Sunday. The chairman will be Lieut. Phil Gardiner of Trenton.

TEAM'S KINDNESS

John Wagoner of Ottawa Rough Riders presented Donald Campbell, 10-year-old blind son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott G. Campbell of Ottawa, with a football on which all the members of the team had written their signatures in ink.

FAREWELL TO OCTOBER

October disappeared into the hazy sunset Friday, leaving the Hunter's moon at the full tonight with promise of a fair weekend that may extend into November. A grateful farewell to those 30 days that spread their rich colors on the hardwoods, yielding their fragile beauty to the winds.

Marmora Ironworkes Oust Mine-Mill Union With Clear 107-54 Majority

Ironworkers in the Marmora district voted 107 to 54 Friday against joining the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Indep.) in a vote ordered by the Ontario Labor Relations Board. This disqualifies the Mine-Mill union from representing 167 workers eligible to vote at Marmora-Bethlehem Mines, near Marmora. The company is a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, and it is expected that the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L) will now try to sign up a sufficient number of workers to apply for certification.

Mine-Mill and the Steelworkers are bitter trade union rivals and Marmora is the latest scene of their long-standing feud.

MADE FIRST MOVE

First move to sign up the workers was made by Mine-Mill.

In September the Mine-Mill obtained a hearing before the O.L.R.B. They filed 102 cards on behalf of what were said to be 157 workers.

After hearing stories about threats to anti-Mine-Mill employees the O.L.R.B. postponed proceedings, then ordered a vote at the plant.

Though not directly involved the Steelworkers backed up the anti-Mine-Mill group. David Lewis, legal counsel, represents the dissenters at the hearing in Toronto.

On Friday all three shifts at the plant had an opportunity to vote. Fifty-four votes favored Mine-Mill; 107 were against; and six eligible voters did not cast their ballots.

Keen Sport Fan, J. Creighton Dies

Father of one of Peterborough's best known sporting families, John M. J. Creighton, 779 New Romaine St., died in St. Joseph's Hospital Friday after a lengthy illness.

During his youth Mr. Creighton, known better as Jack, was a star in his own right. In his home city, Quebec City, he played lacrosse for the Quebec Shamrocks and hockey for the Quebec St. Pats. When he first came to Peterborough, Mr. Creighton played field lacrosse and later served as a lacrosse official.

To the younger sport fans Creighton has been a sporting name in Peterborough in the past two decades. Mr. Creighton's sons, Robert, Emmett and Jerry have been prominent in hockey, lacrosse, football and other sports. He was an ardent fan in all these sports after his playing career had ended.

Born in Quebec City 71 years ago, the son of the late James Creighton and Margaret Twyford, Mr. Creighton came to Peterborough 35 years ago. He worked at the C.G.E. and due to illness retired in mid-summer.

Beside his active sports career in the city Mr. Creighton was a member of St. Alphonsus Church and the St. Matthew's Men's Club.

Surviving are: his widow, the former Elizabeth Coss; four daughters, Mrs. Margaret McDougall and Mrs. W. Widdis (Anne), both of Peterborough, Mrs. James Hutchinson (Marjorie) of Ahmerstburg, Mrs. G. Perks (Mildred), of Quebec City; three sons, Robert of Peterborough, Emmett of Port Hope, and Jerry of Montreal; four sisters, Mrs. E. Theberge of Levis, Quebec, Mrs. Morris Marcotte and Mrs. Stella Hall, both of Brooklyn, New York, Mrs. Peter Wagner of Vermont.

The funeral will be held from the Anglesey funeral home Monday at 9 a.m. to St. Alphonsus church for requiem mass. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Cars Hit Child, Elderly Woman

An elderly woman and a 15-month-old baby girl were seriously injured when they were knocked by cars in two traffic accidents in the city Thursday.

Mrs. Margaret McNerney, 70, 304 Park St. North, was struck by a car driven by George N. Hall, 481 Homewood Ave., and knocked to the pavement as she was crossing Hunter St., near Reid St.

After a preliminary medical examination at the scene, she was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Her injuries are reported to be a possible fractured skull, multiple body bruises, shock and cuts about the head. Her condition is described as fair.

The car driver told Constable William A. Scott he was driving south on Reid St., and was making a left hand turn to go east on [illegible] to have been on her way to St. Peter's Cathedral.

As she was starting to back up on Wallace St., about 1:15 p.m., Mrs. Marjorie Wood, 2 Bruce St., told police she felt a bump. Believing she had run over a stone, she stopped and got out and found a small child lying behind the car.

Janice Friar, 15-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Friar, 12 Wallace St., was picked up and taken to St. Josephs Hospital. The car apparently ran over her right arm but X-rays failed to reveal any broken bones and it

Hunters Start Annual Exodus To Deer Camps

This weekend will see a mass exodus of deer hunters to their favorite haunts to the north end of Peterorough county, in Haliburton and North Hastings. Until the great shoot starts on runways Monday at dawn there will be plenty to do about camps to prepare for the following days of sport.

Woods are so dry at the present time Lands and Forests men are issuing a solemn warning to all to be careful of fire. There has been little or no rain for weeks and the fallen leaves and dead underbrush have created an extremely high hazard. Settlers in the Apsley area, noting this danger, have started a rumor that the dear season might be postponed but this is not so. The season will start on schedule on Monday and continue until the 15 of the month, north of Highway 7.

Hunters do not like the current spell of mild weather any more than they like sudden freezing cold snaps which with snow, makes travel and hunting next to impossible. Weather is cloudy and cool north of Lake Superior which may sweep to southern regions by mid-week.

From all reports deer this year will be plentiful. Parent stock wintered well and there was an abundant crop of fawns this spring. Many have been observed in that great county deer factory, the Eel's Creek Crown Game Preserve. By Sunday night, if this year's hunting pattern follows all former ones, cars from near and far will be parked all up and down the western perimeter of the preserve along Highway 28.

Few, if any, American hunters are expected to participate in the Kawartha deer hunt this year due to restrictions placed by their Department of Agriculture on the import of cloven-hoofed meat. It is not known when the foot-and-mouth disease ban will be lifted but it will be too late to allow American hunters to take their kill home. True, they are allowed to import 15 pounds of boned and non-resident deer licenses added to the overall expedition costs, visitors will not consider the trip worth while.

Peterborough factories will swell the ranks of the hunters with employees who save a portion of their yearly vacations for this very sport. The Outboard Marine tops the list with more than 80 factory hunters plus executive parties. The Canadian General Electric comes next followed closely by the Peterborough Canoe Company, the Western Clock and other smaller manufacturing concerns.

Deer hunting appeals to youth as well as age. Young Windover, 11, of Rockcroft, son of Don Windover, shot three deer last year and his first one the year before that. The oldest hunter in these parts is Bill Heard of Bridgenorth. He hasn't missed a hunt for more years than he can remember and he is off again this weekend to the Apsley district. Mr. Heard is 89.

Two Members To Leave Bd. Of Education

Two present members of the Board of Education said today they will not stand for another two-year term. They are two of the veteran trustees on the Board—Frank H. Jobbitt and Dr. Ralph C. Honey.

Mr. Jobbitt, a hardware merchant in the south end of the city, has completed eight years on the Board and has the longest term of service among the eight elected trustees.

"I'm definitely not running this time," said Mr. Jobbitt. "I find my business is taking up more and more of my time. After serving eight years I think I'll let somebody else take a fling at it."

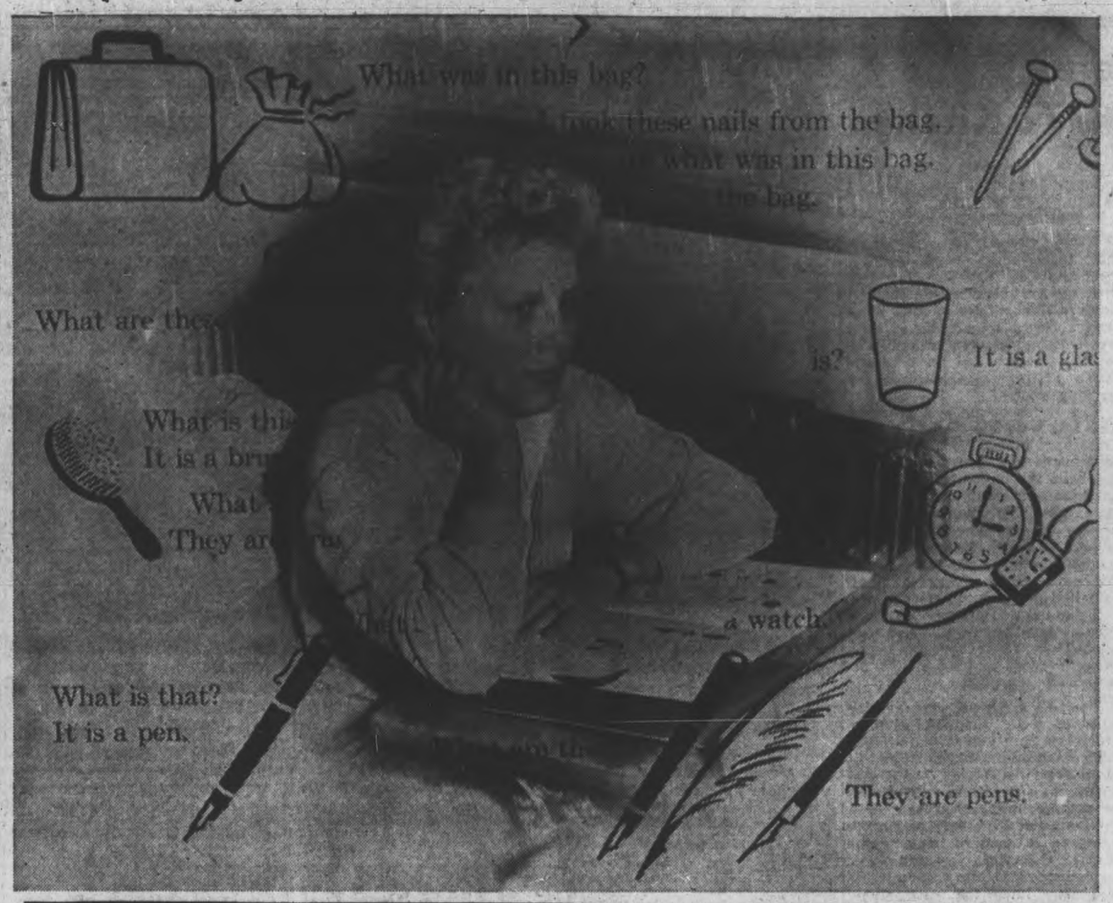
Mr. Jobbitt has been on all of the committees and was chairman of the Board in 1949 and 1950.

"I'm terminating my stay on the board for the time being, at least," said Dr. Honey. "Perhaps I'll offer my services again, sometime in the future. But right now my private affairs are taking up more than all my available time. This year I understand there are a lot of people, more capable than I am, who are willing to let their names stand."

Dr. Honey has served six years on the board. He was chairman

TERMS COMPLETED

The two other trustees who are up for election this year are Mrs. Blake Bell, completing her first two-year term, and Chairman W. B. (Pete) Gordon, who has served four years altogether as a trustee.



"I haven't made up my mind yet whether to stand or not," said Mrs. Bell.

Mr. Gordon, member of a George St. legal firm, said that he will definitely run again. He was a trustee in the 1946-48 term but then dropped out for a couple of years; and he was re-elected for the 1950-52 term. This year he was chairman of the board.

This leaves two vacancies to be filled on the Board but as yet no prospective candidates have announced themselves.

Magnate Arrested

NEW YORK (AP)—Antenor Patino, Bolivian tin-plate magnate, was arrested in his hotel suite Friday on a complaint that he owes his estranged wife $400,000. Mrs. Christina De Bourbon Patino's lawyer said the multi-millionaire executive takes better care of a former mistress than he does of his wife. Patino was packing to leave by plane for France when two police grabbed him.

LEARNING THE LANGUAGE is the first step new Canadians take towards citizenship. Anne-Marie Opsal, formerly of Norway and for the past two months a new Canadian (top right), is typical of students in the English classes for new Canadians at P.C.V.S.' night school. She's baffled by the language of her adopted country but is making a determined bid to learn to speak and write English properly. In Canada a year and a half, Mrs. Emma Roth, formerly of Germany (standing, lower right), answers teacher Wendell Camm's questions in almost perfect English during class. Meanwhile beginners Rocco Caravaggio, formerly of Italy, and Mrs. Sylvia Novotny, formerly of Czechoslovakia, read together as new Canadians.—(Examiner Staff Photos by Grant)

New Canadians Work Hard To Learn English At School

BY JIM ENGLISH

A crooked line is the shortest way to a practical knowledge of the English language.

"When you left Genoa, Ulrich, you embarked on a ship."

"What is embark?"

"It means to go on board a ship for a journey. Now say 'I embarked from Genoa on a ship'."

"I embarked from Genoa on a ship. It was a big ship, with a crew of one thousand."

There were doubtful whispers from the classroom at this point . . . "a thousand men in the crew?" . . . 'unbelieveable!". . . "Ulrich must mean one hundred". . . "The ship I came over on had less than 100". . .

"No. There were one thousand in the crew. It was a big passenger ship," Ulrich said with confidence.

INFORMAL STUDIES

In a classroom at P.C.V.S., twelve new Canadians were exercising their new-found hold on the English language. There were problems for both the teacher and the students, but the problems melted slowly with more explanation and in the easy informality of the class.

Each Wednesday night at P.C.V.S., in three classrooms, 58 new Canadians attend classes in English especially designed for them.

There is a class for beginners, [illegible] the third is for the advanced group. Teachers are all drawn from the collegiate staff—Wendell Camm, Zoltan Temesy, and Al McQuarrie.

Texts, workbooks and other materials are provided free by the federal Department of Immigration. Both texts and workbooks are designed to supplement the new Canadians' scant knowledge of English to the point where their conversational English is good, and their ability to write it is also good.

To the teachers and the P.C.V.S. principal C. S. Browne, the course is an important one. It may mean the difference between success and failure for the Dominion's new citizens.

For the past four years at the Collegiate, night school classes for new Canadians have had enrolments of about 60. At times those enrolled have been split into four classes because three would not handle the number adequately.

Mr. Temesy, who teaches the intermediate class, says that in one way the classes for new Canadians are much like those for high school students.

SOME LEARN QUICKLY

"There are some who can learn quickly and others who can't. Those who are quicker are moved into the next senior class. There's no reason to hold them back."

One characteristic that was apparent was the earnestness of each student. They have a desire to learn the language and they try as hard as they can.

Take Martha P. as an example. She is a Lithuanian, and one of the better students in the intermediate class. She can speak Russian, German, Austrian, and of course Lithuanian. Her English, while not impeccable, is above average for the class, and better than that of many native-born Canadians.

She tries to learn 10 new English words each day. She studies them, concentrates on them during the day, and tries to recall them—meaning and all—when she gets up the following day.

Soon she will be moved ahead to the advanced class. "It's a waste of time for her to stay here," said Mr. Temesy.

There are other good students who will advance soon, but they are not the ones to worry about, says their teacher. Some in the class may be moved down to the beginners' group because they cannot keep pace with the rest.

EVERYONE CHIPS IN

Ulrich, an Austrian originally, was asked to take the floor during the class and tell of his trip to Canada. His story was interrupted

Finally the answer came, but not from a single pupil. It came from halt a dozen of them. Mr. Temesy's technique was to throw a question from the class back to another member of the class.

The way to the English language is not a royal road for these new Canadians. It is winding, bumpy at times, but for them it is a fascinating one.

The whole class was an exercise in diversions. Mr. Temesy would begin to answer one question, and several other questions about the answer would pile on top of it.

From writing in workbooks, the class jumped to a personal story such as Ulrich's. Then they discussed the population of various countries because that question entered into one of the stories.

A map on the wall was used to point out the various countries mentioned and to show distances. Sparked by Mr. Temesy's mention of the word "geography," the class went into a discussion of the meaning of the word.

City Suffered No Loss On Bond Sale

Auditor Prepares Statement On Utilities' Bonds

The criticism by Dr. Gordon R. Langley of Peterborough Utilities Commission that the commission lost some $10,000 in the timing of the issue of $300,000 debentures for the enlargement of the filtration plant, is not supported in the review of the circumstances which City Auditor Edward Humpage presented to the council Friday night.

Mr. Humpage mentions the fact that his report was prepared at the request of the council.

That directing minute in the report of the Board of Works, virtually committee of the whole council, was included in its reading Friday night by Ald. J. E. Gillespie, as chairman of that board.

It was as follows: "That the city auditor be requested to prepare a statement in reply to the submissions of Dr. G. R. Langley to the Utilities Commission, in respect to the issuing of debentures for the Water Works Department of the Utilities, and that he present this statement to the City Council."

CITY ISSUES DEBENTURES

Perhaps it should be explained that the Utilities Commission has not authority to isue debentures. Its course is to ask the council to issue and sell them. The proceeds of the sale are placed to the credit of the commission. Repayment of such borrowing is made by the commission out of its revenue.

The twenty-year debentures are repaid in 20 annual instalments of principal and interest. These yearly amounts are set out in a schedule which must be affixed to the bylaw authorizing the issue.

TEXT OF REPORT

The text of Mr. Humpage's report to the council follows:

"To the Mayor and Members of the City Council:

"In reference to the statement made by Dr. G. R. Langley of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, I beg to submit at your request my opinion of the said matter.

"I understand that at a recent meeting of the Utilities Commission, Dr. Langley made a statement to the effect that an error had been made in issuing debentures to the amount of some $300,000 for the Waterworks Department several months prior to the time that the said funds were needed, and that as a result the said commission had suffered a loss of some $10,000.

"After due consideration of the matter it is my opinion that the issuing of the debentures at the time they were issued, namely May 1st, 1952, did not result in any loss to the Utilities Commission, but rather has proved to be to the advantage of the Commission by reason of the fact that a more favorable price was received for the debentures in May than could have been obtained in October. I might add that no one would desire to take any credit for any advantage obtained; it was simply due to the market conditions.

"The facts are as follows: On February 5th, 1952, the Peterborough Utilities Commission, of Color Has Entered Scene To Add Warmth To Kitchen

It used to be that the kitchen was as cold and unfriendly as a doctor's laboratory. Now color has entered the scene to add a warm, appealing touch. Sink and appliance can remain white, but cabinets, counter top, floor and ceiling can be cheerfully colored to give this room the charm of a living room.

That's what kitchen planning can do. And the beauty of it is that even the most modest home can enjoy a kitchen like this . . . so wonderfully convenient that the once tiresome kitchen chores practically become a pleasure.

The principles of kitchen planning are simple to follow because these principles have already been worked out by skilled household science experts, and are all ready for you to use. They can be applied to any kitchen regardless of size, shape or contour, because the order of the various units, or the extent of those units remains the same.

ARRANGEMENT OF EQUIPMENT

Every kitchen, large or small, has three main work centres. Something of this order of centres has always been used but not with full knowledge of their place and relative importance. They are (1) the refrigeration and preparation centre; (2) the sink and work centre; (3) the range and serving centre.

The refrigeration and preparation centre should include the refrigerator, placed close to the outside delivery entrance to the kitchen. Around this unit should be ample cabinet storage space and adequate work surfaces. Upper cabinets should be devoted to staple foods, spices, extracts, canned goods. Base cabinets are for pans, flour, sugar, etc.—all situated at the point of first use.

This centre is planned with the idea of food preservation and conservation. It is the food warehouse of your home.

AXIS OF KITCHEN

The sink and work centre is the axis of your planned kitchen. Here is where you prepare vegetables; where most kitchen operations begin and end. Foods pass in logical order from refrigerator to this section, which acts as a "go-between from refrigerator to range. A modern sink, dishwasher and mixing machine may be incorporated into this unit. Or you may have the sink alone, should your budget allow only the essentials.

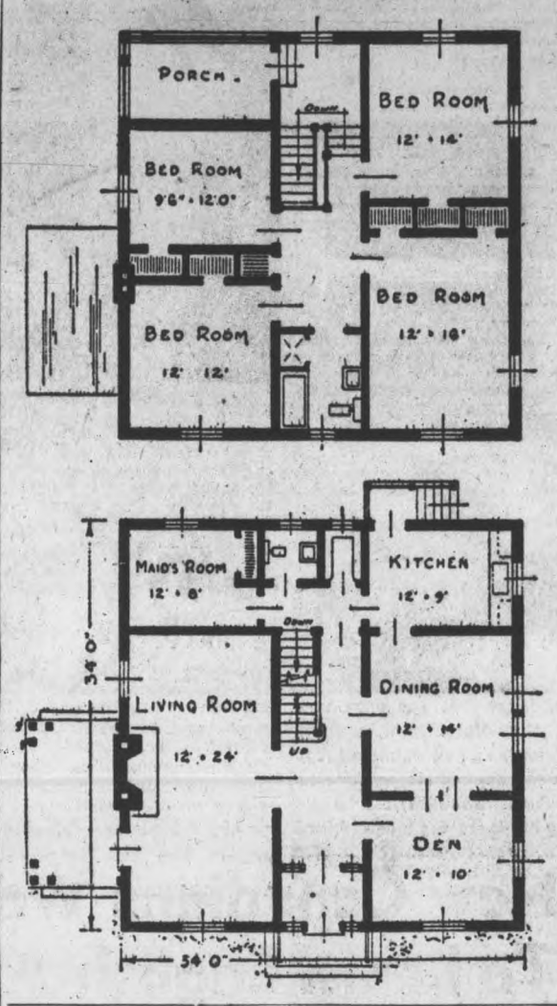
The range and serving centre is next, with the range nearest the dining room. This is your meal's final preparation and serving point, with utensils easily accessible at the time they are required. Cabinets and drawers should include a place for everything—and everything in its place.

Kitchen designers have arrived at the fact that all kitchens may be classified under one of four general designs. Regardless of entrances, windows, opening or peculiar shapes, the kitchen you contemplate for your new home, or the modernized version of your present kitchen, will belong to one of these groups.

FOUR ARRANGEMENTS

These basic arrangements are capable of innumerable applications which may be applied to your kitchen in the most suitable manner. Here are the four:

First: The individual centre kitchen—generally a square type room with several entrances, windows, etc. The basic refrigerator, sink-range line is adhered to in this plan, but with the various units placed to take care of doors, etc., between them.



Second: The "U" type kitchen. This type is feasible where a continuous work surface is available from refrigerator through to range, from end of one wall, down and across the adjacent side, and up the opposite side to form a "U" with your "in line" kitchen work centres. This compact design is finding wide favor in new homes. There is usually a window provided over the sink, with exit doors localized on the opposite wall.

Third: The "L" type kitchen which involves only two walls, the work surfaces being in continuous "L" shape down one side and across the other. In its ideal form, this type starts with the refrigerator at the entrance and finishes with the range near the dining room door.

Fourth: The broken "L" type kitchen which is usually applicable where several door openings permit a basic "L" type layout with a door between any one of the three centres — refrigerator, sink or range. Many home builders favor the "U" and "L" types. [illegible] their continuous "in-line" work centres.

HOUSE No. 315—This square, colonial style home in buff brick provides excellent accommodation for a good-sized family. Two porches are provided, one at the side, and one over the maid's room. The latter could be used as a sewing room or a child's playroom for rainy days. Tiny, but not to be missed, is the breakfast nook next the kitchen. The living room is large, with an open fireplace centred on the long outside wall, and is dramatized by being opposite the entrance to the room. Club Holds Tea To Buy New Bible Translation

HASTINGS—Mrs. Frank Halbus opened her home for an afternoon tea sponsored by the DIHU Service Club of Hastings. The club's objective was to buy a copy of the new translation of the Bible and the objective was reached due to the success of the tea. Sunday afternoon, the CIHU Service Club of Hastings met at CIHU on the Trent for their regular meeting. The president, Bobby Esses was in the chair.

Professor Frank Halbus dedicated the copy of the new translation of the Bible for the club and spoke to the members.

He told them that in order to be successful in their work of service, kindness and thoughtfulness to others, they must use the Holy Bible as their guide. He said that truly their small club was a pioneer club for it is the first of its kind in Canada although CIHU (Can I help you?) is well known throughout the United States and already ways are being opened for it to be spread from coast to coast in Canada.

Th president accepted the Bible on behalf of the members of the club and thanked Professor Hal- [illegible] decorating and packing a basket to be taken to a shut-in.

Blowtorches Simplify Repair Jobs

When you want concentrated heat for some building or repair job around the house, there is no better or cheaper way of getting it than with a blowtorch.

There are at least two torches on the market designed specifically for use by the novice, amateur or hobbyist to replace the noisy, more complicated blowtorch of the professional. One new torch utilizes a long-lasting, replaceable cylinder of liquefied petroleum gas with burning time up to 15 hours.

Among the specific uses for such torches are paint-removing, asphalt tile laying, tinning, melting lead or babbitt, freeing frozen nuts, bolts and auto muffler lugs, radio and television repair work, thawing frozen water pipes, softening old putty, armature repairs, furniture refinishing, metal handicraft, glass working, copper sweat fitting, body and fender work, electrical work, soldering wire, cable and pipe, and others.

Here are simple directions for doing some of these jobs:

Paint-removing — Chip off all loose paint. Hold torch flame about two inches from surface and pointed slightly downward. Hold flame in one spot long enough to blister paint and push knife blade held in the other hand under paint to strip it off. Work with the grain. Let knife slip along slowly, but steadily.

If paint is too hard to blister properly, brush on a coat of three quarts linseed oil and one quart of paint thinner and let it stand a day or two to soften paint.

Asphalt tile laying — Locate centre of room to be tiled and from centre spread adhesive over half the room. Allow 20 or 30 minutes for adhesive to become tacky. Then, starting from centre, lay tile by heating back of tile slowly with torch and placing each tile firmly into position on floor. Heating tile molds it to fit contours of the floor.

Don't slide tile into position. In cutting tile to fit corners, borders or obstructions, first scribe it with a linoleum knife where you wish to break it off. Then slowly heat back of tile with the torch. When sufficiently heated, crack tile along the scribed edge and it will break off cleanly.

Patching a gutter leak—Locate the hole, use a wire brush or sandpaper to bare the metal around the point of leakage. Apply flux whenever necessary. Form a piece of copper patching—a little larger than the hole to be patched—to fit the gutter's contour. Clean the underside and flux once again.

Then tin both the gutter around the hole and the side of the patch. Tin by heating the metal just enough to melt the solder and then spread a thin layer of solder all over. Place the patch over the hole and heat from below. The gutter and patch will sweat together.

Copper sweat fitting—in fitting pipes together, the easiest method is as follows: Clean off the end of the pipe and inside of pipe fitting with wire brush or sandpaper, making sure all foreign particles are removed. Apply flux to both ends of fiting. Put pipe and fitting together. Heat with torch and apply solder to edge of fitting, allowing torch to melt solder and seep through to join pipes securely.

CONCENTRATED HEAT delivered by a liquefied-petroleum-gas blowtorch and other similar torches make many home repair jobs easy.

POW Debate Now Struggle Over Law Interpretation

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations debate over repatriation of war prisoners in Korea is developing in part into a struggle over interpretation of international law.

The western powers insist international law should be interpreted through humanitarian principles which would not force prisoners to return to their homelands.

The Communists so far have argued that international law says all prisoners should be repatriated. They interpret into the law that this should be done by force, if necessary.

A solution of this only issue blocking a cease-fire in Korea could come if the Communists accepted the Korean question as another exception to their view of what has been defined by international conventions on prisoners.

NEUTRAL SCREENING

There would still remain the Communist objection to U. N. [illegible] fight against repatriation. But this too could be overcome if the Communists agreed to neutral screening of prisoners to prove that the U.N. is not falsifying the record.

Some western delegates believe that Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky has a strong case in the strictly legal sense when he argues that it has been the rule of international law that all prisoners be repatriated.

But the same delegates add—also on a legal basis—that no international law has stated that prisoners must be forced to return to their homes.

Sawmill Destroyed

DRAYTON (CP)—An early morning fire yesterday destroyed the Litt and Brown sawmill at this village about 30 miles north of Waterloo. Loss was estimated at almost $15,000. Sparks from the sawmill ignited the nearby cottage of Henry Ginrich but firemen firemen saved all of the house but the roof.

Engineer Finds Big Deposit Of Kyanite

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal engineer, examining a rock sample believed to contain graphite, has spotted kyanite leading to the discovery of huge deposits of this scarce, heat-resistant mineral used to coat jet engine exhausts.

M. F. Goudge, chief of the federal industrial minerals division, said in an interview yesterday that the highly-prized industrial mineral has been found in eastern Ontario, particularly in the Mattawa area and deposits run into "millions of tons."

When fully developed, the deposits will help Canada cut down on expensive imports of this mineral which she currently gets from India and other foreign sources.

Some 25 claims have been staked out in the eastern Ontario area. Extensive mining is expected to begin as soon as the industrial mineral division completes research work on a cheap method of extracting kyanite from rock.

The discovery was made by V A. Haw, 33-year-old Winnipeg engineer now with the industrial minerals division.

DEADLY ROCKETS—A split second after being unleashed from the nose of a U.S. Starfire jet, rockets streak toward a target in a firepower demonstration over the California desert. Any one of the 2.75-inch rockets is considered capable of knocking out the largest bomber ever built. The Starfire, which carries 24 rockets in its nose, flies almost wholly automatically in pursuing and attacking its target. In the foreground is a camera plane.

Plan To Lay Complaint On Discrimination

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Joint Labor Committee to Combat Racial Intolerance said yesterday it plans to lay a formal complaint with the police commission under a city by-law that prohibits discrimination in licensed premises.

Gordon Milling, executive secretary, said S. Thave Rajah, a Malayan trade union official and guest at a downtown hotel, walked into the hotel barbershop for a shave. He said although the barbers had no customers all three professed to have appointments. Fifteen minutes later, Mr. Rajah looked in and found the barbers unoccupied, Mr. Milling said.

Jack Miner, head barber in the shop, said Mr. Rajah was not refused a shave.

"When this man entered our shop my two men were waiting to work on customers who had made previous appointments. I simply told him we couldn't work on him right away, but if he came back in half an hour we could look after him then."

Bed Rest Is Only Cure To Stand The Test Of Time

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Nothing would make this column more popular than to announce that the writer had the answer to the common cold, and that by following some simple directions or taking some easy remedy, readers could count on avoiding this annoying affliction in the future.

Perhaps the time to make such a happy statement will come, but at present I shall have to remain in the doghouse.

Scarcely a year goes by without the announcement of at least one new "wonder" cure for colds Naturally, we are all so eager to find some way of getting rid of this miserable disorder that we are eager to believe the claims made for practically anything.

In spite of the enormous number of "cold cures" on the market, the statement that "no substance or combination of substances available at the present can be relied on to prevent or cure the common cold" still holds true.

In the face of this "scientific" view, nose drops, inhalants, liquid and solid medicines, gargles, special diets, lemon cures, and a thousand and one other treatments will be used all winter.

Perhaps something really good will be found at any time. Anyone, however, who has lived through the past few years will be somewhat skeptical about any new "discovery" until it has been tried and tried again.

The supply of moisture to the nose and throat by means of steam inhalations is probably of some help during the early— and I mean early— stage of a cold.

Alcohol (taken internally) remains a favorite with some, but there is considerable doubt as to whether it really helps the cold or merely makes it easier to forget.

Cathartics or laxatives are hardly desirable unless needed for other reasons, and if used to extremes these may cause too much loss of fluids from the body.

VACCINES COME UP AGAIN.

In the last year or so vaccines for colds —given either by injection or by mouth— have been suggested again. But the fact remains that careful studies of such methods of cold prevention have been far from convincing.

The only thing which has really stood the test of time so far is rest in bed. In all probability if everyone went to bed at the first sign of a cold and used steam inhalations, their colds would not last so long. Such action would also cease to expose others to their colds and therefore cut down on the numbers of them going around.

This is easy to say, but few people try it.

May Use Fluorine

TORONTO (CP)—Flourine may be added to Toronto's drinking water next year to combat tooth decay, The city's board of health yesterday approved a proposal to have the medical officer of health include the plan in 1953 estimates. It is expected the cost would be $44,000 for a building and equipment and $8,365 a month to maintain.

Think Korean Visit Promise May Sway Vote

By R. J. ANDERSON

NEW YORK (CP) — In slow, measured tones the general said: "I shall go to Korea."

He did not say what he would do there. He offered no cure for the disease that is sapping the strength of America.

On the face of it, it was almost a ludicrous thing to say. What could Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower expect to accomplish when so many able men have labored so long and so fruitlessly to bring peace?

MAY DECIDE ISSUE

Yet those five words, uttered last Monday night in Detroit, may have decided the United States presidential election in 1952.

When the voters pause next Tuesday "for a moment of quiet communion with their consciences" in the words of Adlai E. Stevenson, the general's Democratic opponent, they may recall those words and put into the White House the first Republican president in 20 years.

For when the multitude of other issues in this election are winnowed out, the voters may have only one thing in mind:

"Here is a man who has said he will DO something. He may not be able to do anything, but. . ."

On the other hand, the Democrats say Eisenhower's proposed trip to Korea will send S,CB(,N TO THE White House. They term t general's pledge a "cynical and desperate" attempt to win votes which will backfire.

UNHAPPY OVER WAR

Disgruntlement is widespread in the U.S. over the war. Casualty lists lengthen and many Americans feel that "our boys", shouldn't be there, that this is a war between Asians.

When this turbulent campaign opened more than two months ago both sides expressed hope that it would not be dragged into domestic politics. But it could not be kept out. As the day of decision approaches, it is the dominant theme.

The Republicans claim that the Democratic administration helped bring on the war by its decision to withdraw occupation troops from Korea, leaving the country open to attack.

In rebuttal, the Democrats contend that blame for the war lies in Moscow. They say that if American troops were not now fighting in Korea they would be defending America's shores against Russia's onslaught.

Eisenhower has proposed that more South Korean troops than now are employed could be trained and equipped to fight the Communists. American and other United Nations troops could be withdrawn—not entirely, but to "watchdog" defensive positions.

Then last Monday the general made his pledge: If elected, he will go to Korea to seek a settlement of the war. Repeatedly since he has said: "I shall go to Korea."

SPEECH-WRITER'S IDEA?

The idea of the new president taking personal command of the Korean War policy and going to Korea for the purpose has been attributed by the New York Times to one of the general's speech writers, Emmet J. Hughes, a senior editor on Life Magazine Whoever thought of it, it undeniably has given "life" to the Republican campaign.

Before it was broached, the general clearly was slipping. Stevenson was gaining ground rapidly after a long, uphill fight against the Second World War hero who is idealized by millions of Americans.

Still no expert observer will predict anything other than a close finish next Tuesday. In too many minds is the "upset" of 1948 when underdog Harry S. Truman gained re-election against New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey by an electoral-college vote of 303 to 186.

This time, many factors are working against the Democrats. "It's time for a change" is the Republican slogan in 1952 and undoubtedly many voters feel that the administration has been in power too long, that a clean-up of corruption exposed in Washington is overdue.

The Midwestern farm-belt vote, normally Republican but which in 1948 went unexpectedly to Truman, this year is reported hostile to the Democrats.

Word from the Midwestern battle front is that the president, who earlier in the campaign was cheerful and confident, now is grim and serious.

Nevertheless, the Democratic appeal is strong. They hammer away at the theme that the Republican party is the party of depression and reaction.

SOME LUSTRE LOST

If some of the lustre that surrounded Eisenhower last July when he accepted the Republican nomination has rubbed off it is because many persons feel he has been forced to compromise with his principles in fighting this turbulent campaign.

He has accepted the aid, for instance, of such controversial "Old Guard" Republicans as Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft. He has endorsed Senator Joseph McCarthy Wisconsin Republican abhorred by many for his so-called "smear" tactics of defining men as Communists or left-wingers.

THE NIXON CASE

The "Nixon case" has lifted a vice-presidential candidate into the national limelight from the obscurity in which the second man on the ticket usually is buried.

California's Senator Richard Nixon, Republican candidate for vice-president, was disclosed weeks ago to have accepted $18,000 from wealthy supporters as a senatorial expense fund. Eisenhower was urged by many in his party to drop the young senator from the ticket. He withheld judgment "until the facts are in."

The facts were given by Nixon in a televised and broadcast address. He said the expense fund was given with no strings attached to help him in his job. He gave an accounting of his personal finances.

As the voter prepares to mark his ballot next Tuesday, the easiest thing for him to remember from the welter of fact and fancy, charge and counter-charge, will be five words:

"I shall go to Korea."

Vice-Presidential Candidates Have Had Share Of Limelight

By JOHN TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—The vice-president of the United States often is ignored in practical politics, but each vice-presidential candidate in the 1952 election campaign has taken a big share of public attention.

The vice-president has been described as only a heart beat from the presidency because seven vice-presidents have reached the White House through the death of a president.

But the vice-president as such as little to do. The U.S. Constitution outlines his duties in 23 words: "The vice president of the United States shall be president of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided."

Selection of a vice-presidential candidate often is done in cavalier fashion and last July both Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate, and John J. Sparkman, the Democratic nominee, were chosen in huddles hastily convened after their running mates were named.

Nevertheless, Nixon for a time became an issue in the campaign when details of his $18,000 expense fund were bared. Sparkman attained more prominence than a vice-presidential candidate usually gets over the issue of "white supremacy."

NATIONAL UPROAR

Nixon became the centre of a national uproar when it was disclosed that more than 70 wealthy Californians had contributed to an expense fund for his use as a senator. His televized report on his financial status was broadcast to millions. The ethics of his acceptance of the fund still is a subject of partisan controversy.

The fuss over Sparkman did not reach such proportions, but drew attention in northeastern cities with large Negro populations. Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, supporting the Republican ticket, displayed on a television broadcast supremacy—for the right."

AN OLD HANDLE

The implication was that Sparkman, from Alabama, was a supporter of white supremacy and a foe of equal civil rights for Negroes. The furore died down after it was explained that the "white supremacy" label had been on the Alabama ballot since the reconstruction days after the Civil War.

Sparkman and Nixon, both lawyers, each have had one six-year term in the Senate.

Nixon, 39, won national prominence as a foe of Communism. He was elected to the Senate in 1946 when he was demobilized from the navy.

Sparkman, 52, started his political career 16 years ago when he was elected to the House of Representatives. He was elected to the Senate in 1946 and his record has been one of support for Democratic policies, except on a compulsory civil-rights bill.

Board Turns Down Musicians' Appeal

TORONTO (CP)—The international Executive Board of the Musicians Unions (A.F.L.) yesterday turned down the appeal of the six Toronto Smyphony musicians for union support against their dismissal from the symphony.

The "Symphony Six," as they have been called, were let out of the symphony after they had been refused visas to enter the United States.

The orchestra acted by declining to renew the contracts of the six musicians for the term that began this fall.

Table Charming At Hallowe'en Tea Otonabee Chapt.

Members of the Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E., were delighted with the success of their Hallowe'en tea on Friday at the Y.W.C.A. The crowd came steadily through the afternoon so that the tea room accommodation was just comfortably filled at all times.

Simple charm made the tea table the focal point in the Green Room though colorful decorations in the Hallowe'en theme were all around the walls. A lace-bordered white linen cloth was the background for shining silver, tea things and a homey arrangement of yellow button 'mums, golden bronze 'mums and variegated shaggy 'mums. Bright orange tapers, lighted, were in crystal holders expertly placed to give the setting most effectiveness.

On mantel and piano there were traditional Hallowe'en pumpkins showing up brightly against evergreen branches. Large clusters of bittersweet were placed to keynote these arrangements. Maple and oak leaves and the witches, cats and goblins of the day were on lamps and windows, and black and orange streamers festooned the bazaar booths.

A large hamper of groceries was the coveted prize of this event and it was won by Mrs. Frank Merrett, the first vice regent of the Chapter. Mrs. Merret was receiving at the door with regent Mrs. A. R. McWilliams who made the draw.

Mrs. W. Comstock and Mrs. A. A. McIntyre acted as hosteses in the tea room and tea assistants were Mrs. C. Sherwood, Mrs. B. MacLean, Mrs. Harold Wilson, Mrs. N. Andrews and Mrs. F. A. Gray. The tea was poured by Mrs. W. A. Burell and Mrs. F. D. Kerr and Mrs. D. E. Bell in turn.

Mrs. W. A. Greenslade played "conversation music" throughout the tea.

The tickets on the hamper were in charge of Mrs. W. G. McLaren. A "touch and take" table was attended by Mrs. I. Rattenbury and Mrs. Lucy Davis and the home cooking table by Mrs. J. Dunkerley and Mrs. Harold Lowes.

Mrs. W. A. Davern, treasurer of the Chapter, was taking tickets.

Graham Mouck President Of Church Laymen

MARMORA (ENS) — Graham Mouck of Tweed was elected president of Hastings Deanery Laymen's Association at the ninth annual meeting held in St. Mark's Parish Hall, Bonarlaw on Thursday evening and attended by about one hundred and twenty men.

Completing the executive are Harry Dooher, vice-president, Carl Whittemore, Deloro, secretary-treasurer (re-elected) and Earl Morrow, Stirling and Ted Nayler, Madoc, delegates to the Diocesan Laymen's Council (both re-elected).

St. Mark's W.A. assisted by a few members of St. Paul's W.A. served the banquet.

Right Rev. K. C. Evans, D.D., Bishop of Ontario was guest speaker and Rev. T. R. Harris, field secretary of the G.B.R.E. also gave an address. William J. Barlow, Bonarlaw, retiring president was toastmaster.

All clergy in the Deanery were present and every parish was represented by laymen in the territory extending from Trenton to Maynooth.

The invitation of Tweed to hold the next annual there was accepted. Fifty dollars was voted to the See House funds.

Introduced by Canon J. M. Brownlie, Bishop Evans substituted his prepared address with one in which he touched upon observations made in course of the business period.

He said there was an outlook of optimisim in the Diocese. Givings had increased last year by twenty per cent. He had noted that the Church had fine buildings in the Diocese such as St. Mark's at which they were assembled. The fabric also was in good shape and there were good resources of character and spirit. With such there were great possibilities. St. Mark's, Bonarlaw, having come to the congregation through a legacy and the work of its laymen was a symbol of possibilities in the Diocese and throughout the world. "We have a wonderful legacy in our Church and men should respond to that picture of it," he said. He hoped to see an upsurge of Anglican laity. "We are challenged to do what our fathers have done." The Bishop expressed his indebtedness to the laity and the Diocese as a whole for the provision of the new See House in Kingston which a fellow bishop had referred to as the best See House in Canada.

He recalled the tide of national emotion over the death of King George VI and said "we should transend our religious differences on the occasion when the Queen dedicates herself to God for the people. In our national observance of the event, the religious note must be present. Something should be done by the government to enable the country as one to profess its fidelity to God at that time."

The Bishop declared his proposal to start a quarterly news letter designed to be informative to laymen. In reverting to the possibilities within the Laymens Association and within the Diocese, and using the symbol of the fallen timbers of Coventry Cathedral following its destruction, forming a cross which were later raised as such, he expressed the hope that passive supporters would be transformed into active supporters of the cross of church. The toast "Church and Clergy," proposed by Dr. E. A. Carleton, Stirling, was responded to by Rev. L. E. Hawkes, Tweed. Rev. T. R. Harris of the G.B.R.E. introduced by Rural Dean A. S. McConnell, Trenton, called for contributions of laymen to the educational work of the church. According to the last report, there were 759 Sunday school scholars in the Hastings Deanery, 23 men and 43 'ady teachers. He pleaded for more men teachers and felt the Sunday school needs should be taken care of by the parochial budget.

A minutes silence was observed in memory of the late Jack Baker, Bonarlaw, who in his lifetime gave faithful and valued service to the association.

Marmora Bride Given Shower

MARMORA (ENS)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cleminger, North Marmora, was the scene of a miscellaneous shower for their daughter Alice who was recently married to Harold Carman. The guests enjoyed a short program arranged for the occasion. An address was read by Mrs. Carl Bird expressing good wishes for the newlyweds. After the opening of the parcels the bride and groom expressed their thanks and invited guests to visit them in their new [illegible] approximately 170.

Hamilton W.I's Protest Actions Of Government

HAMILTON (CP)—The Hamilton area Women's Institutes in resolutions yesterday registered formal protest against government action by order-in-council without consulting the wishes of the Canadian people, and its fear that a Canadian Governor-General could become a political football.

The organization passed one resolution opposing any move supporting elimination of the words "dominion" and "Royal" from Canada's official verbiage, and protested action by order-in-council deleting these words, instead of having a plebiscite on the question.

A second resolution protested against the trend agitating for a new flag and the dropping of the word "King" or "Queen" from highway signs.

Presenting her report on the work of the organization in citizenship and education, Mrs. Thomas House of Brantford stressed the need for Canadians to know more about the history, achievements and traditions of their country.

Mrs. Joseph Wilson of Fonthill reported on the study of agriculture and Canadian industries, undertaken as part of its work by the Women's Institutes.

Current Events Lecturer Points Out Human Factors

Ladies of the Peterborough Women's Art Association were shaken into fuller consciousness of their place in the world by the first studio address of the season Friday afternoon. Their speaker was Mrs. John Davidson of New York City who has been a lecturer on current events for the past 20 years. Her topic was "The human element in current events" so her message was directed to each person in the audience, which was exceptionally large on this occasion.

Mrs. Davidson called one's personal equipment for understanding life and the world their "tool kit" and she gave the most essential tools as "Sharpened senses" and "stirred thinking." "These two will make you more capable of achieving something in life," she stated.

She then explained that the tool kit will be in better shape if it contains a generous view of life and man. "Life changes as your view of life changes" she said. "You must have love of it, not fear of it—and love it by living it with confidence."

Love of life becomes greater when one has a task: "People blossom when they have a task" said Mrs. Davidson. Also a "cause": "Having a cause makes some people as radiant as if they were in the presence of the divine" she remarked.

Mrs. Davidson went on with recipes for living more fully: "When bored and discontented, remember there is nothing so wonderful in life as a human being. A human being has consciousness, awareness, memory and intelligence" she said, pointing out the vital aspects of each of these attributes.

"We are meant to glorify God and contemplate the wonder of creation and to love it. We are also meant to be modest," and she brought this point in later in her current events discussion of the great race question, showing that white people lack modesty in their attitude toward blacks.

This woman of Latvian birth has had to overcome the difficulties of living in a new country and thinking in a new language, and though they are quite a few years behind her now, she still remembers. She is a forceful speaker who makes good use of her husky voice with a slight accent to impress points on her listeners. Her husband is a former Peterborough man, now ministering in St. George's Church, New York, and each summer he brings his wife and two children to Stony Lake for at least a month's holiday. It was there, this past season, that Mrs. Davidson read a book which formed the basis of her thinking to produce this address. She gave it here for the first time and will give it in Toronto Monday evening.

"I enjoy thought," Mrs. Davidson remarked, and it was evident that she does, as well as enjoying a full, active life. "Thought is a tool to put together things seen and heard, and then add to them. You cannot get at the truth until you think 'spaciously'," she cautioned.

Turning to current events, Mrs. Davidson declared her wonder at the attitude taken by so many toward the United Nations. "People are bored with U. N. because they do not know about it. Do you realize that it is the only place where we meet the Russian point of view?" Then she pointed her finger forward and said "What course would you advise Mr. Pearson and Mr. Paul Martin to take?".

She asked the ladies: "Do you think the U. N. must help the underprivileged neighbors of the world? What do you think about the quantities of wheat rotting in fields when the Mau Mau of South Africa are starving? U. N. has achieved no disarmament, no atomic control and has been unable to settle the trouble in Korea—what do you know of the difficulties? Do you know what democracy means, that it will not survive without men and women of character who seek no reward for themselves, and that it is not enough just to say 'we have a democracy?' Too many democrats do not live any life at all," said Mrs. Davidson.

Concluding she asked: "It is your world and your life and your equipment, how are you using it? Do you think you have a part in it, or, have you no part in it?"

Mrs. Ford Turner, new president of the Association, introduced Mrs. Davidson, and an expression of the members' appreciation was voiced by Mrs. F. E. Hooper. Afternoon tea was then served.

DOROTHY DIX

Advises Youthful Couple Study Onus Of Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX: Our daughter is just 19. She met a young man at a dance last April, and since that time has been dating him four and five nights a week; the other nights it's phone conversations. They plan to announce their engagement shortly. My husband and I both think she should go out with other young men and enjoy herself before settling down. The boy is only 21, and has been out of service six months. We can't talk to her on this subject without an argument. She won't talk, just pouts and sulks. We have nothing against the lad, only we think they are too young.

My daughter has a good job, contributes some money to the house but has plenty left for clothes and pleasure. She wants for nothing. We are very interested in her future and certainly don't want to see her make a mistake so early in life.

WORRIED PARENTS

ANSWER: I heartily agree with you on the theory that young people should not go steady at too early an age, and should postpone an engagement until they are mature enough to realize the responsibilities of marriage. However, it is quite another thing to convince the young people, as more than one family can testify. Apparently you have exhusted every argument at your command, and the futility of your efforts is proof enough that youth is headstrong in its determination to heed no advice. Positive forbidding is the only course that can be used to keep young people apart and, if your household has not been accustomed to forthright discipline, that won't work. In fact, it's a doubtful solution in any case. If you can use persuasion to postpone the engagement for another year, it's about the most you can do. Actually, the important thing is to have the wedding date set far enough in the future so that the boy will be equipped with a job. You might point out the fact that in order to get along in this highly competitive world, he is going to need a good education. Having already done his bit in service at the age of 21, he probably hasn't acquired much formal education along the way, and there is no gainsaying the fact that its lack will be sorely felt when he plans a career.

It's often impossible to force a girl to have other dates when she is convinced she has found the "one and only". Don't waste your breath trying. Just see that she circulates enough, with her friend, so that she doesn't lose all social contacts. Perhaps she will meet someone else who attracts her attention.

If she is determined to go ahead with the engagement, accept it as gracefully as possible and don't worry. There isn't much you can do, and since the boy himself has your approval, that is a very important point. The marriage can be postponed more readily since it involves expense and planning. By the time they are ready for the wedding, you will doubtless accept the fact that they are meant for each other.

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife's people live in the same apartment house as we do. They are very opinionated and nothing I do seems to please them. They are in our apartment every night when I get home and all through the weekend. I have asked my wife to request that they restrict their visits to the daytime when I'm not around, but she says I'm unreasonable.

J. W.

ANSWER: Every man has a right to his own home at the end of a day's work and, since your in-laws are around all day, I certainly think your wife could be considerate enough to let you have peace at night.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18, engaged to be married, but wonder sometimes if our marriage could be a success. My fiance drinks quite a bit and is very worldly, whereas I have been brought up in a quiet, unassuming home. He seems to admire our manner of living, but makes no attempt to change his ways.

WORRIED

ANSWER: You have forecast your own future with admirable fidelity. Married to this man, you'll spend your evenings home alone with the children while he goes out for what he considers his rightful good time. Like the prospect? No? Then break the engagement.

EVERY MEAL is important, but breakfast is often neglected with the excuse "My child eats a big dinner!" But every person needs a good breakfast to start a new day's activities.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Breakfast Important Meal Of Day

By NANCY CLEAVER

What kind of a meal is breakfast in your home? Is it one of the most satisfying and nutritious meals of the day? Does it give every member of the household a good start for the morning's work? Or is it one meal which could certainly be improved with a little more planning, work and family co-operation?

Worry and rush are two enemies of a satisfactory breakfast. They impair digestion and create a poor atmosphere with which to begin the day. A child's misdeeds should not be discussed at the family table nor should he be nagged about small details of etiquette. Good manners are gradually acquired by children who imitate the courtesy and eating practises of their parents.

SCRAMBLE AND HURRY

Often breakfast is ruined for a child because he is anxious that he will be late for school. Scramble and hurry can be avoided by setting a rising hour which allows time for dressing, breakfast and getting off to school happily. Mother should encourage a routine whereby the children lay out their clothes and school books for the next morning the night before while she sets the table. Use the clock rather than frequent verbal reminders to hasten the departure of a tardy youngster.

Where does breakfast fit in the picture of Canada's Food Rules? You likely remember these suggestions and the slogan "Have at least three meals a day!" Discuss this national standard with your school age children. You need their co-operation. They will be more impressed with Canada's Food Rules than by "Mother's Ideas About Eating" or "Dad's Rules For Meals"!

Breakfast is the best meal to fit in Vitamin D in some form of cod liver oil every morning. Mothers can plan for a good breakfast by including a six ounce glass of milk, and orange, grapefruit juice or a larger quantity of tomato juice. Some other type of raw fruit can be used occasionally for variety providing sufficient vitaman C is secured later in the day. Breakfast should also offer a choice of either cereal, preferably whole grain with milk, or toast or bread, preferably whole grain with butter or margarine. An egg several breakfasts each week is an excellent addition because of its protein which supplies energy.

SURVEY OF BREAKFASTS

This may seem like a much more substantial breakfast than your family usually eats — but perhaps their breakfast is not adequate for their health needs. How would your breakfasts rate in a research questionnaire?

A recent study of breakfast habits of eight thousand Canadian elementary school children for a week period is significant in its findings. Sad to say five per cent had no milk at all and five per cent of the youngsters went off to school with next to no breakfast! But forty-five per cent of the breakfasts were rated as only fair or poor.

Almost one quarter of the children had citrus fruit or tomato juice on only one or two mornings, and these sources of Vitaman C were completely omitted in the food for over one quarter of the boys and girls during the whole week. Over half had toast or bread every day, and only thirty-five per cent had cereal every day. Forty-three per cent used white bread only and the same percentage had no eggs all week. Eight per cent had eggs every day.

In a country where agriculture is a basic industry and where the standard of living is among the highest in the world, the rather poor showing of this breakfast research report is not mainly due to lack of food or insufficient family purchasing power. It is likely that the mothers preparing these breakfasts did not realize the vital part of the first meal of the day should play in a well-balanced diet. Careful planning can make it count in healthy living.

Canadian children can have better breakfasts if mothers will take more time to plan and prepare them. This is the meal which comes after the longest time since the last meal. If scholars carry a lunch to school it is particularly important that they have a substantial breakfast with hot cereal at lest in the cold weather.

One of the best gifts a parent gives a child is habits which build good health. The habit of allowing sufficient time for the first meal in the day, of eating a substantial well-balanced breakfast in a happy atmosphere, is of great value. What kind of breakfast pattern is your child going to carry into adult life? Give this some thought—because Breakfast Is Important!

DIGEST OF CANADA'S FOOD RULES

(Clip or paste inside a cook book or post up on kitchen wall):

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: Would so much appreciate your expert advice at this time. My sister-in-law is being married in December. Do you think the following menu adequate?

Sliced cold turkey, sliced cold spiced roast pork, chicken al la king in patty shells, mixed buttered peas and carrots, cole slaw, radishes, celery (plain and stuffed), pickles and olives, hot refrigerator rolls, bride's cake, small iced cup cakes, small fancy cookies and pastries. Do you think we should also include a fruit salad for dessert? If so would you please send us one of your delicious salad recipes. I would also appreciate it if you would send me some small fancy cookie recipes and the instructions for making tea and coffee for 150 people. I have clipped the recipes for butterscotch cocoanut bars, orange drop cookies and honey cocoanut double deckers. I am planning to use them for the shower her attendants will be giving. As I will be making the wedding cake and bride's cake, I would also appreciate recipes for them. G. L.

ANSWER: I think the menu is fine. I would suggest that you add ice cream for dessert. The fruit salad is a good idea, but ice cream would be more popular and more conventional. Have the dairy deliver it packed in dry ice. Give instructions to your kitchen help to open at ½ hour ahead of serving time—for usually it is too hard to cut.

COFFEE FOR 150

Please clip this if you think you ever have to serve that many, readers.

Allow 3¾ lbs. finest grind coffee (pulverized) and 7½ gallons water. Divide the coffee into halves. To about 2 lbs. add 2 beaten eggs and enough cold water to moisten it—about 4 cups. Pack this loosely in a triple cheesecloth bag or regular cloth coffee bag and drop into the 7½ gallons water which is freshly boiling. Keep just below boiling point for 20 minutes. Remove coffee bag and add another fresh one made up like the first one with 2 beaten eggs and cold water. Simmer 10 minutes longer, then boil gently 5 minutes. Remove second bag of coffee. Add 1 pint cold water and ½ teaspoon salt. Keep coffee hot but below boiling point.

One pound of best quality tea will serve your 150 guests adequately. Do not make more than 1 gallon at a time. Have earthen or enamelware tea pot hot. Add ¾ cup best quality tea. Add 1 gallon (4 Imperial quarts) freshly boiling water. Keep hot but not on burner. Brew 4 minutes and pour off leaves at once.

BRIDE'S CAKE

This is a 3-tiered cake made up of rich white cake batter. Bottom layer is baked in a 12-inch round pan; second layer in 8-inch round pan; top layer in 4-inch round pan. If you're expert at frosting and decorating you can do this yourself or have a professional baker do it. Here is the batter (for 3 layers): 7½ cups sifted cake flour, 4½ cups sugar, 2¼ teaspoons salt, 3½ tablespoons baking powder, 2¼ cups soft shortening or butter, 3 cups skim milk, 1½ teaspoons vanilla or ½ vanilla and half almond flavoring, 1½ cups unbeaten egg whites. Sift together sifted flour, sugar, salt, baking powder. To them add the shortening, then add a little more than half of the milk and the vanilla and beat for 4 minutes at low speed under electric beater or if beaten by hand beat for 6 minutes. Then add the eggs and remaining milk and beat the same time again. Bake in buttered paper-lined tins (see sizes above) at 350 deg. Fahr. Bake the big layer separately for 50 to 60 minutes; the 8-inch layer and the small layer together — but give the 8-inch layer 40 to 50 minutes; the little one 30 to 35 minutes.

I will be giving you fruit cakes for Christmas making about middle of November. Will that be soon enough for the wedding cake? It is the same mixture. I have promised to give some fancy cookie recipes next week—for another reader was asking for them too.

6—In Memoriam

RIDLEY—In loving memory of Walter Ridley, who passed away Nov. 1, 1948.
We cannot clasp your hand, father dear
Your face we cannot see,
But let this little token
Tell that we still remember thee.
—Ever remembered by son. E. Ridley and family.

RIDLEY—In loving memory of Walter Ridley, who passed away November 1, 1948.
Four years have passed, dear dad,
Since you were called away,
How well I do remember
That sad and dreary day.
You'll never know how much we wish,
Your gentle face to see,
For you were the dearest dad,
That meant so much to me.
—Sadly missed by daughter Margaret, son-in-law Norman and family.

RIDLEY—In loving memory of a dear father, Walter Ridley, who passed away November 1, 1948.
You're not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last
I shall remember thee.
—Ever remembered by daughter Pearl.

RIDLEY—In loving memory of Walter E. Ridley, Sr., who passed away Nov. 1, 1948.
Gone, dear father, gone to rest,
Away from sorrow, care and pain,
May you rest in peace, dear father,
Until we meet again.
—Always remembered by daughter Pearl and sons Percy and Johnny.

TAYLOR—In memory of dad, William Taylor, who passed away on Nov. 2nd, 1949.
The rolling stream of life flows on,
But still the vacant chair
Reminds us of the smile and laugh,
Of Dad, who once sat there.
—Remembered by son Elijah, and daughter-in-law Margaret.

7—Card of Thanks

Mrs. David More of Lakefield wishes to convey her appreciation of the help and flowers and other expressions of sympathy from many friends in her bereavement by the recent death of her husband; and particularly of the kindness of Rev. W. H. Tonge of Lakefield United Church and war veterans, especially of the 21st Battalion, C.E.F.

We wish to thank our many kind friends, relatives and neighbors who so kindly sent flowers and messages of sympathy in our recent sad bereavement, especially thanking Rev. H. B. Herrington and the Mather Funeral Home for their acts of kindness in the loss of a loving husband and father.—Mrs. Minnie McIntyre and family.

We wish to thank the Sisters and ers, cards to our dear mother while in hospital. Also all friends and neighbors for kindness shown at the time of her death.—Mr. Charles L. Bickell and family.

We wish to sincerely thank attending doctor, Rev. C. Boyd, nurses and staff of Civic Hospital and all of our friends and customers for their kindness during our illness.—John and Shirley Leni.

is not believed she received any other injuries.

Mrs. Friar told the investigating officer Constable William A. Scott the child had been tied with a rope to the front of house, and the rope was apparently long enough to permit her to reach the laneway where she was struck by the car.

Mrs. Wood said she looked behind the car before she started to back up.

Tree Delays Project

SINGAPORE (AP)—A 300-year-old bo tree, a shrine to Singapore's Buddhist colony, is holding up construction of the city's new international airport. The tree—said to be a sapling of a bo tree in India under which the Buddha himself once sat—is blocking a proposed runway. Engineers are trying to figure how to move the tree without killing it.

"Brain Washing" Weapon Used To Get Confessions

By COL. JOHN J. DRISCOLL
Condensed from "Air Force"
(Distributed by NEA Service)

Last Jan. 13 a B-26 roared down the runway at Kunsan, Korea, bound for a routine night mission into North Korea.

At its controls was 1st Lt. John S. Quinn, U.S.A.F., a 30-year-old regular whose wife awaited his return in Altadena, Calif. His observer was a reservist, 1st Lt. Kenneth L. Enoch, 27, of Youngstown, O. Both veterans of Stateside duty in World War II, they had got their first taste of combat in the Korean war.

The B-26 was last heard from as it turned on target. It never returned. Enoch and Quinn were listed as missing in action.

There was nothing in the circumstances surrounding their last mission, nor in their previous history, to indicate these two officers were to become the innocent victims of one of history's most infamous hoaxes.

Yet, only a few weeks later, the world was startled when the Reds produced detailed "confessions" by Enoch and Quinn to document charges that the U.S. A.F. was employing bacteriological warfare in North Korea.

Absurd as those charges may seem to us, the effect on Asiatic peoples and "middle-of-the-road" Europeans was to set off a wave of anti-American sentiment.

SEVERAL AIMS

But the Reds had some bigger objectives:

Political capital to use at the truce talks.

An alibi for the epidemics reportedly ravaging North Korea and for their own deficiencies in preventative medicine.

A situation in which Soviet-devised bioligical agents can be used under the guise of "retaliation".

An issue to bring up at the peace conference which must follow any Korean armistice.

The groundwork for the big hoax had been carefully laid. In December, 1949, a Soviet tribunal tried 12 former Japanese soldiers for "preparing and employing the bacteriological weapon" in World War II, although in 1946 the Japanese biological warfare experiment had been termed a "dead issue" by the International Military Tribunal for the Far East, on which the Soviets sat.

After the invasion of South Korea, the time was ripe. At first a steady stream of "preparatory" propaganda poured from all Red sources—reports of epidemics in North Korea, charges that MacArthur was preparing to scatter germs, charges of biological experiments on Red prisoners of war.

Finally, on Feb. 21, 1952, a Chinese Communist news agency reported that the U.S. was dropping on North Korea bombs which contained "insects infected with the bacilli of the plague, cholera and typhus". Simultaneosuly the bogus "bug warfare" charges and the Soviet "hate America" campaign hit a crescendo of virulence.

Photos of burst "germ bombs" appeared in the Communist press. So did pictures purporting to show "disease germs" and "disease-carrying insects" under a microscope. The so-called "germ containers; the insects pictured were either harmless or not the type the Reds labelled them.

But the charges persisted despite U.S. denials.

The U.S. proposed an investigation in North Korea by the International Red Cross. Russia refused, on the grounds that the "evidence" was irrefutable.

According to the Communists, the clincher in this mass of "irrefutable evidence" was the "confessions" by Lieutenants Enoch and Quinn that they had dropped germ bombs on North Korea. The "confessions", made in radio broadcasts and written statements, appeared to be complete and uncomfortably convincing.

WHY CONFESS

I have no doubt but that Enoch and Quinn said and wrote what the Reds say they did. The $64 question is: Why?

Certainly Enoch and Quinn were not the first to make such "confessions". The answer lies in the Communist-devised methods of interrogation, beside which the rack and thumbscrew begin to seem relatively humane.

There is certainly no reason to believe that the Asiatic brand of Communism is any less clever or more merciful than that practiced on men like Cardinal Mindszenty and Robert Vogeler.

On the contrary, there is ample evidence to incidate that the two U.S. Air Force lieutenants, Kenneth Enoch and John Quinn, who "confessed" dropping "germ bombs"on North Korea, have had no easy time of it in the hands of their Red captors.

One such piece of evidence is a letter recently received in this country from a Belgian Catholic missionary, Father Richard Cocquyt, a veteran of 20 years in China, including four in a Japanese concentration camp.

The letter is perhaps as clear a picture of Communist methods and procedures—what the Chinese call "brain washing"—as has come out of Red China up to now.

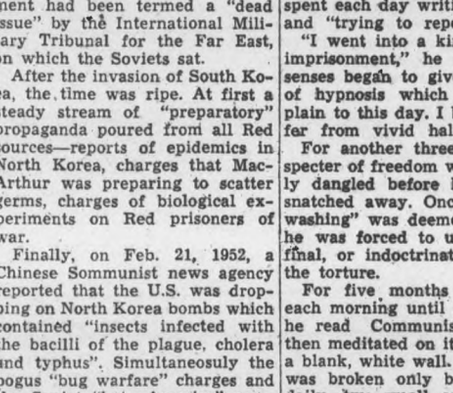
Father Cocquyt was arrested Aug. 4, 1951, charged with crimes against the state. He was convicted and sentenced to deportation Aug. 6, 1952—more than a year of "the treatment".

NO SLEEP

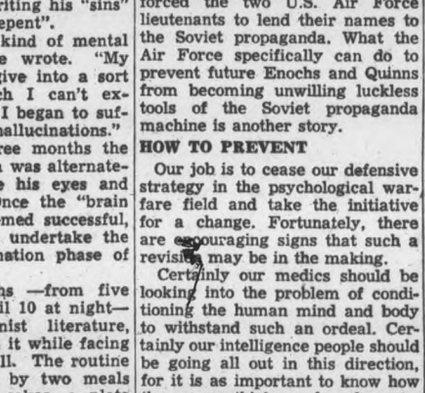
His ordeal was divided into four phases. The first lasted a month; for 23 days he had virtually no sleep; for two continuous weeks he stood in manacles while he was exhorted to "repent and confess".

For the next three months he could sleep, though still manacled. He saw only his guards and spent each day writing his "sins" and "trying to repent".

"I went into a kind of mental imprisonment," he wrote. "My senses began to give into a sort of hypnosis which I can't explain to this day. I began to suffer from vivid hallucinations."



For another three months the specter of freedom was alternately dangled before his eyes and snatched away. Once the "brain washing" was deemed successful, he was forced to undertake the final, or indoctrination phase of the torture.



For five months —from five each morning until 10 at night—he read Communist literature, then meditated on it while facing a blank, white wall. The routine was broken only by two meals daily—two small cakes, a plate of vegetables and a cup of warm water.

Red ideas were bound to sink into a mind weakened by months of torture. He became, as he put it, "their slave". He signed anything, admitted anything.

I have personal knowledge and from a source I trust. There are hundreds more, all well-doucmented.

If the pattern has an apparent weakness it is this — that the "brainwashing" techpique induces the repetition of stock Communist phrases. "Wall Street capitalism," "peace-loving camp," "con-

RED IDEA OF "IRREFUTABLE EVIDENCE" was the written "confession" of American airmen Enoch and Quinn, portions of which are reproduced above as they appeared in the Communist press. Circled words typify the stock Commie phrases which appear over and over again, ludicrous to any American but fine for Red consumption.

Fears Cutbacks In Lead, Zinc

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jess Larson, head of the defence materials procurement agency, said yesterday additional cutbacks in production of lead and zinc "are inevitable" unless there is a substantial increase in prices soon.

He said he was "gravely concerned" about the number of lead and zinc mines that have closed down in recent weeks because of low prices for the two strategic metals.

Every avenue is being explored for a possible solution, he added in a statement, and every possible measure will be taken to assure production.

He did not say what such measures might be. However, he has authority to pay over-the-ceiling prices or to buy up metals which would serve to push up the prices.

"The freeing of the London lead market and reports that the British government contemplates removing its controls over the zinc market about the first of the year have had the effect of creating an artificial surplus of the two metals," Larson said.

"Actually, there is no surplus of production."

Plan Octocade For Stevenson

CHICAGO (AP)—Something new in the political world—an octocade—is promised by Chicago Democratic leaders as a feature of a huge welcome demonstration for Governor Adlai E. Stevenson tonight.

The octocade is, explained chairman Barnet Hodes of the welcome committee, eight motorcades all heading toward the Chicago Stadium area from outlying parts of Chicago.

Hodes says he expects 25,000 automobiles to take part. Police say the longest motorcade they ever heard of contained about 500 cars.

Stevenson speaks at the stadium tonight.

Refused Leave To Visit Russia

LONDON (Reuters)—Two British government departments have refused to give extra leave to enable employees to visit Russia for the 35th anniversary celebrations of the Bolshevik revolution.

Ten trades union members, invited by Russian unions, plan to leave for Russia on Monday.

Tom Brogan, chairman of shop stewards at a Lancashire government munitions factory, applied for four weeks' extra leave, but the ministry of supply told him he will not be allowed extra time—"paid or unpaid."

Mrs. Freda Johnson, 23-year-old secretary of the telephone branch of the Post Office Workers' Union in Nottingham, was also refused leave.

fess and repent," "U.S. imperialist warmongers," and the like, appear again and again.

To an American the thought of a U.S. flyer employing such phraseology is almost ludicrous, but for Red internal consumption it sounds fine.

There is no question in my mind but that these fiendish techniques forced the two U.S. Air Force lieutenants to lend their names to the Soviet propaganda. What the Air Force specifically can do to prevent future Enochs and Quinns from becoming unwilling luckless tools of the Soviet propaganda machine is another story.

HOW TO PREVENT

Our job is to cease our defensive strategy in the psychological warfare field and take the initiative for a change. Fortunately, there are encouraging signs that such a revision may be in the making.

Certainly our medics should be looking into the problem of conditioning the human mind and body to withstand such an ordeal. Certainly our intelligence people should be going all out in this direction, for it is as important to know how the enemy thinks as how he acts.

We must learn that this war against Communism is far, far more than MIG vs. F-86 or even pilot vs. pilot, but is a struggle for the minds and souls of men. We must give our airmen an idea of what they are facing [illegible] your serial number."

Obviously—and I want to make this clear—no blame can be attached to Lieutenants Enoch and Quinn. They were unfortunate enough to be captured at a time convenient to the Red propaganda schedule. They were forced to become innocent tools of the most vicious conspiracy in history.

Rollicking Adults Purloin Hallowe'en From Children

Hallowe'en is kiddies' big night, but thousands of otherwise normal adults garbed themselves in outfits they wouldn't be caught dead in any other time and stole the show Friday night.

For the first few hours after dark, the youngsters had their innings, ringing doorbells and collecting candies, nuts and apples. Then the teenagers took over and before the evening was gone, the adults gave them both a lesson in zany conduct.

What makes ordinary young and middle aged men and women and even a few oldsters act like fugitives from an insane asylum just because it's Hallowe'en? That's one the experts on what makes human being tick can answer, for there were certainly a good many who threw conventions overboard Friday night.

Today, if anyone walked down George St., dressed and acting like one of the masqueraders who paraded the streets Friday night, he would probably be suspected of insanty and get a quick trip to a quiet cell.

ZANY MAIN STREET

To anyone who just dropped downtown for a pack of cigarettes or a magazine, the city looked as if New Year's Eve and the 24th of May were being celebrated the same night, with a Mardi Gras thrown in for good measure.

Horns blared. Firecrackers sputtered and popped. Crowds milled along both sides of George St., in gay colored costumes and outfits salvaged from attic rag bags, giving the city's main street the appearance of a circus midway. Lines of cars scrawled along bumper to bumper in a five o'clock traffic jam that lasted several hours.

There were extra policemen on duty but they didn't interfere with the hilarity unless a fight threatened to break out or a gang of hoodlums showed signs of causing trouble.

Downtown beverage rooms were jammed to overflowing, and restaurants did a thriving business too. One woman phoned the police station and asked the desk sergeant to send a policeman down immediately to clear out a beverage room because it was so full she couldn't get in.

SQUARE DANCE

While a portly middle aged gent (his identity hidden behind a mask) sawed a fiddle outside a large downtown hotel, four uninhibited couples square danced on the sidewalk.

In addition to the several church and private parties, local entertainment spots were well patronized and with a few exceptions, the police had little difficulty keeping order.

One gang of young lads were scared off by a patrolling cruiser as they descended on the student residence of the Pentecostal Bible College with flaming torches. One of the policemen said they looked like Klu Klux Klansmen. The torches were made of gasoline soaked rags and what might have happened if the policemen had not frightened them away from the buildings when they did, is not hard to imagine.

At Lansdowne and Park Sts., a prankster put a school safety cone in the middle of the intersection. A man who left his car parked near the new Masonic temple returned to find all the wires cut.

On Walkerfield Ave., a lady who was ill and unable to answer the doorbell phoned police that a large rock was thrown through her window.

Provincial police at district headquarters here had more calls than they could handle, because they were busy investigating several traffic accidents.

SMEARED WITH PAINT

A man was reported to be smearing buildings near Fowlers Corners with black paint early in the evening.

Several of the calls received by the O.P.P. complaining about Hallowe'en vandals proved to be pranksters. However, few false alarms were answered, as the stories told by the practical joker types failed to stand up under questioning by the officer at the other end of the line.

There were few reports of damage. Show windows along George St. were well soaped and window cleaners are having a busy time today removing the soap artists' handiwork.

"Rain is the best policeman on Hallowe'en night," commented a veteran officer who added that the warm clear evening was the main reason so many were out roaming the streets.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

METERS' GROSS

Peterborough's parking meters have collected a grand total of $173,833.99 since the first of them went into operation May 12, 1947.

STREET SIGNS DOWN

Police issue the warnings against disorders on Hallowe'en but it is City Engineer Chalmers who gets the job of straightening things out after all the effervescence. For instance some of his street signs were noticed along Aylmer St. south of Westcott this morning.

City Suffers

which Dr. Langley is a member, requested in writing that the City of Peterborough arrange in the usual manner for the above issue of debentures, without setting any definite date as to when they would require the funds. The necessary Department of Health approval had been secured in December, 1951, and the Utilities engineer having submitted the necessary data, the necessary by-law was passed in its first and second readings on February 18, 1952, and submitted to the Ontario Municipal Board for their approval, which was subsequently granted.

"The City Treasurer, after consulting with the Utilities Commission officials, proceeded to prepare for the issue and sale of the said debentures which was his proper course, the Utilities Commission knew this course was being taken, and if they desired to delay the issue, the City Treasurer should have been notified accordingly."

EXAMINES FACTS

"Now, as regards the loss which it is claimed has resulted, I do not know how Dr. Langley arrived at this amount. However, let us examine the facts.

"These debentures are issued for a 20-year period at 4½ per cent, and the Peterborough Utilities Commission will be required [illegible] October, or any other month.

"I would suggest that Schedule "A" which sets forth the yearly payments of both principal and interest (which schedule must be attached to each bylaw, otherwise it would not be approved by the Ontario Municipal Board) be examined by the Utilities Commission. I am sure the Commission secretary will have one on file.

"This schedule of payments would be the same for this particular issue no matter what month the debentures are issued in, and, therefore, there could be no possible loss from these payments in either interest or principal for the reason stated above that Schedule "A" fixes these definitely.

Now, as regards the issue price—the debentures sold for 101.367 or at a premium of $4,101. The interest rate being 4.5 per cent, it would indicate an interest cost to the Utilities Commission of some 4.45 per cent. According to Dr. Langley's statement, the present rate is 4.65 per cent, which would mean that the same 4.5 per cent debentures in order to yield the investor a 4.65 per cent return would certainly have to be sold at a discount."

ADVANTAGE OF COMMISSION

"I think that the said 4.65 per cent yield is fairly correct, and, therefore, it is questionable whether twenty-year 4.5 per cent debentures being sold at the present time would bring par. In view of the fact that the Utilities Commission did receive a premium of $4,101 on the May issue, and it is agreed by Dr. Langley that the same issue sold today would probably be at a discount, it is quite apparent that, even allowing for an error of judgment in the issue date, it did work to the advantage of the Commission rather than a loss.

"Further it is pointed out that bank interest is being received on the proceeds in the bank, and in as much as the Commission does not pay any more interest than Schedule "A" calls for, this is a further advantage to the Commission.

"I am not suggesting that debentures should be issued in advance, neither is this the usual custom in the city because market conditions could easily reverse the above advantage.

"From a review of the above, it is my opinion that the statement made by G. R. Langley is not in keeping with the facts.

Respectfully submitted,
E. HUMPAGE, (City Auditor.)"

The report was referred by Council to the finance committee without comment.

(The bids were based on the par value of $100. The best price, accepted by the city council, was $101 plus 36 7-10 cents, or as cited above 101.367. The premium was $1.367 on each debenture if it was issued in $100 amounts; and as there would be 3,000 of such debentures, the total premium on the actual sale was $1.367 x 3,000 or$4,101. Probably Mr. Humpage's paragraph on the interest factor is clear to every reader.)

U.K. Chief Diplomat Leaves Iran's Capital

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters) — George Middleton, Britain's chief diplomat here in recent critical months, today left Tehran with the [illegible] Iran has broken diplomatic relations.

The party travelled in a convoy of 27 cars and seven trucks, bound for Baghdad in neighboring Iraq. The Iranian government provided an escort of armed police.

Middleton had been charge d'affaires in the absence of a British ambassador during developments in the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute which led to the diplomatic rift.

4,000 See Vision On Farewell Visit

HEROLDSBACH, Germany (Reuters) — About 4,000 spectators crowded "Vision Hill" at midnight while a group of children waved farewell to what they claimed was a vision of the Virgin Mary.

The vision was said to have appeared almost daily for three years and 21 days, but the children said the Virgin had told them she would come at midnight for the last time. They said they saw the final midnight appearance clearly.

The Roman Catholic Church has roundly condemned the alleged visions and excommunicated more than 20 persons in connection with them.

WHALEBACK BARGE—One of four whaleback vesels still on the Great Lakes, barge "137" docks at Sarnia, Ont., with a load of grain from the lakehead. Looking not unlike a submarine, the barge is one of 14 steamers and 26 barges built between 1888 and 1898 for service on the lakes. The whaleback design has a rounded deck which mets the sides in a continuous curve.

Whalebacks Disappearing From Great Lakes' Service

By JACK GEARIN
Canadian Press Correspondent

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—A frightened woman phoned the United States coast guard station across the St. Clair River from Sarnia.

She thought she had seen a submarine going into Lake Huron. "It was long and black and low in the water and it seemed to have a smokestack in the rear," she reported excitedly.

The coast guard put her straight. Her sub was a 400-foot whaleback barge known as "137."

Old "137" is one of four still operating on the Great Lakes. Forty were built, 14 steamers and 26 barges, from 1888 to 1898. They were conceived by Captain Alexander McDougall, a Scot who came to Canada as a boy. He designed, patented and built the whalebacks primarily for Great Lakes service.

ROUNDED DECKS

The dictionary definition of a whaleback is a vessel with a rounded deck which meets the sides in a continuous curve. Without cargo, the waleback floats like a cigar, the living room and engine quarters perched on the stern. When loaded, the decks are only seven or eight feet above the waterline. They were designed to offer little resistance to wind and water.

Seeptics dubbed the whalebacks "McDougall's Dream" in the early days because they didn't think the craft would be seaworthy.

But whalebacks have hauled millions of tons of cargo safely and economically. Like other innovations of the 80s, however, they have outlived their general usefulness. Smallness of cargo, old age, and difficulty in operation is sounding their death knell.

There was only one passenger ship of the type, the Christopher Columbus. The Columbus first operated on a six-mile run at Chicago, between the city and the world's fair at Jackson Park. She sailed for 44 years.

CROSSED ATLANTIC

The Charles W. Wetmore, another whaleback, crossed the Atlantic to Liverpool with a load of wheat in 1895. The later sailed from New York to Everett, Washington, passing around Cape Horn safely.

McDougall constructed the first whaleback barge at Duluth, Minn., in 1888. The "101" weighed about 1500 tons, was 187 feet long, 20 foot beam, and 18 foot deep. The deck contained two turrets, eight feet in diameter and seven feet high; one in the bow, the other in the stern. Through these turrets went the steering gear and the towing gear, and other operational equipment. The deck was clear with hatches for storage. Navigators and wheelsmen were in a house 19 feet by 12. Cost was $40,000.

The Rockefeller interests became interested and construction of the ships boomed near Duluth.

NOTABLE WRECKS

There are dark chapters in the history of whalebacks. The Clifton, formerly the Samuel Mather, was lost in 1924 in Lake Huron with all hands. The Henry Cort was wrecked on the breakwall of a Lake Michigan port. The James B. Colgate foundered in the "black Friday" storm on Lake Erie on Oct. 16, 1916.

The whaleback barge "102" hauled the first cargo of Mesabi range iron ore to Cleveland. She was loaded Nov. 11, 1892, at Superior, Wis., with 2,073 tons aboard and with Captain E. Peabody as skipper.

Edmonton Has High Hopes For Eskimos

By JIM PEACOCK

EDMONTON (CP) — Thirty-one years ago Edmonton Eskimos won the western football title, travelled to Toronto and had their ears pinned back 23-0 by Toronto Argonauts in the Grey Cup Final. A year later they won their second western championship and lost 13-1 to Queen's University in the east-west autum classic.

Those are the only two trips the Eskimos have made to the eastern city in search of a Canadian championship. But this football-crazy Alberta capital has high hopes the 1952 version of the club will take a big stride tonight towards grabbing a place in the Nov. 29 spectacle.

The club folded in 1939 and returned to the league 10 years later.

BOMBERS FAVORED

This is the night when an estimated 16,000 to 18,000 fans will be shoe-horned into Clarke Stadium for the opening game of the best-of-three western finals against Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The odds-makers have made Bombers the betting favorites—7 to 5—but you can't convince Edmonton citizens that Eskimos aren't every bit as good as the Winnipeg club.

Game time is 8:30 p.m. MST. (10:30 p.m. EST.)

No more than 14,000 will get seats. Another 1,500 standing-room tickets have been sold and the other 1,500 or more fans are simply gate-crashers. They'll get in somehow, just as they did a week ago when Eskimos stunned the Canadian sports world with a 30-7 victory over Calgary Stampeders that gave them a tingling 42-38 series edge in the two-game total-point semi-final.

Collis-Black's Take Wins In Girls' Loop

A. B. Collis took a 30-12 victory over C.G.E., while Black's beat Civic Nurses 34-13 last evening in Girls' City "B" Basketball League fixtures in the Y.W.C.A. gym. It was the second night of play in the loop this season, Lindsay having edged Black's in the opener by a single point. They resume next Friday with another twin bill.

In the first fray last night, Collis ran up a big lead in the first half to go ahead 19-9. They still finished strong to outscore the Electrics 11-3, two of the C.G.E. players drawing four personals. D. Dunk led the victors with nine points, as Stewart and Byers got eight each, three going to D. Callan and one apiece to Borland and D. Thompson. Nickson got five for C.G.E., Batley and B. Luther three each and M. Clark one. Teams:

Collis'—Stewart, Byers, Smith, Callan, Borland, Wasson, Thompson, Dunk.

C.G.E. — J. Luther, Jackson, Nickson, Batley, D. Luther, Calladine, Clark, S. Huddart, B. Huddart.

ROLLED TO WIN

The nightcap saw Black's roll to a 16-6 halftime lead and romp away in the latter stages on an 18-7 margin over Civic. One of the latter's players drew four personal fouls in the wide-open tussle. Mabel Gillen made the main difference as they threw in seven field baskets and clicked on two foul tries for a total of 16 points. Four each went to C. Gibson, M. Hollingsworth and E. McIlhagga, three to C. Raper, two to R. Naylor and one to B. Butcher. For the losers, S. Slater led the way with six points, J. Jaquith getting five and P. Flavelle two. Teams:

Civic—F. Hogg, C. Chestnut, J. Jaquith, P. Flavelle, F. Hanna, S. Slater, D. Dawe, B. MacLachlan, P. Pogue, M. Rich.

Black's—C. Raper, J. Laidlaw, B. Bptcher, C. Gibson, M. Hollingsworth, R. Naylor, M. McGill, E. McIlhagga, M. Gillan.

Galt Hawks Take Game 7-1 From Three Rivers Reds

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three Rivers Reds' invasion of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A loop this week has been disastrous for the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association representatives.

Last night they lost their third straight game of the interlocking schedule, being downed 7-1 by Galt Black Hawks.

They lost their first Tuesday in Kitchener, taking the short end of a 5-4 score against the Greenshirts. Wednesday Guelph Biltmores trounced them 4-2.

The Reds have only one more chance to win a game before returning home. Sunday they meet Windsor Spitfires who haven't won a game this season.

GALT, BARRIE ON TOP

Last night's win kept the Black Hawks in a first-place tie in the league standings alongside Barrie Flyers who trounced Oshawa Generals 8-4.

Toronto St. Michael's scored a 7-0 shutout against Guelph and slid into a third-place tie with the Bilts, four points behind the league-leaders.

There was no action in the Quebec loop. Thursday night Quebec Citadelles moved into a first-place tie with Montreal Canadiens. By downing the cellar-dwelling Montreal Royals 3-2.

Galt netminder Les Binkley was ready for a shutout against the Reds last night but with only 26 seconds remaining Paul Michelini pumped home Three Rivers' only goal.

Long John Sleaver led the Hawks with two goals. Pete Kowalchuk, Jimmy McBurney, Frank Bonello, Jack Wharram and Ed Switzer notched the others.

In Barrie the Flyers took a first-period lead and went on to win. Skip Teal and Fred Pletsch sank a pair each, while Jim Robertson, Ken Collins, Doug Mohn and Orin Carver contributed the others. Harry Sinden, Stan Parker, Bob Appleby and Ted Lacey counted for the Generals who are in a three-way tie for sixth place with Toronto Marlboros and St. Catharines Teepees.

DINEEN PACES GUELPH

At Guelph Bill Dineen, back in the St. Mike's line-up after missing the last few games with injuries, sank two goals. Jack Gaffrey, Ed Plata, Marc Reaume, Paul Know and Jim Logan scored the others.

GREY CUP TV PLANS

TORONTO (CP)—The Grey Cup classic will be televised over station CBLT, Toronto, and will be carried on film over CBFT, Montreal "as soon as possible after the end of the game," Harry McBrien of Toronto, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Rugby Union announced yesterday.

McBrien told a press conference the telecast over both stations will be sponsored by Imperial Tobacco Company of Montreal. He declined to give the amount paid to the C.R.U. for the TV rights.

McBrien did not know where the money for the TV rights would be distributed. "That probably will be decided at the annual meeting of the C.R.U. next March," he told sports writers.

"I know only that the game will be televised," he said. "And I'm hoping that this will relieve the pressure on the ticket demand."

There are about 17,500 sets in the area reached by CBFT. This extends to a radius of 50 miles from the city including Lachine.

The CBLT telecast will be viewed only by persons within a range of about 90 miles of Toronto. The station reaches Cobourg, Brantford, Kitchener, Welland, St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Barrie and Orillia.

November 1 Deadline For Club OHA Entry

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association announced yesterday Nov. 1 is the final entry date for clubs wishing to enter in the association.

A total of 180 clubs were registered with the association last year. Six in senior "A" division, 10 junior "A" clubs, 32 senior "B" clubs, 28 intermediate "A" clubs, 35 intermediate "B" clubs, 33 junior "B" clubs, 20 junior "C" clubs and 16 intermediate "D" clubs.

The association is affiliated with the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, Northern Ontario Hockey Association, the Western Ontario Hockey Association and the Toronto Hockey Association. All told the O.H.A. had 31,763 players registered in Ontario last year.

Doctor Operates On McNeil

MONTREAL (CP)—Gerry McNeil, Montreal Canadiens' goaltender, underwent an operation yesterday so a depressed section of his fractured right cheek-bone could be replaced. His condition was reported satisfactory last night.

Dr. John W. Gerrie, who performed the operation, said it wasn't as difficult as anticipated.

McNeil was injured Wednesday night in Toronto when he dived to the ice to block a low shot by Ted Kennedy of Toronto Leafs and was struck by the puck.

Dr. Gerrie indicated he couldn't say now how long McNeil will be out of hockey but Canadiens management doesn't expect him to return for several weeks. Canadiens have brought up Jacques Plante from Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior League temporarily.

Hallowe'en Part Off

LISTOWEL (CP)—The annual community Hallowe'en party scheduled last night for about 600 Listowel youngsters has been postponed because of the number of poliomyelitis cases in this area 25 miles north of Stratford. There have been two recent deaths from polio and two cases now are being treated.

Jury Holds 2 Boys Responsible For Death

MONTREAL (CP)—Two teenaged boys, who said they shot their father because he was angry when they came home at 4.30 a.m., were held criminally responsible yesterday by a coroner's jury for his death.

The father, Philippe Bedard, 54, died Thursday from a bullet wound in the chest and another in the abdomen. A statement to police by the younger brother said they took turns at shooting him.

Their mother was struck in the arm by a stray bullet and was not seriously hurt.

The youngsters were brought into coroner's court by two policemen but were not called as witnesses.

Joseph Charles Bedard, 58, brother of the dead man, identified the boys, Robert, 16, and Yvon, 14, as Philippe's sons.

Open Deer Season

TORONTO (CP)—An open season for deer in four townships of Bruce county was announced yesterday by Lands Minister Gemmell. In the townships of Albemarie, Eastnor, Lindsay and St. Edmunds, all in the Bruce peninsula, open season will be Nov. 3 to 6, inclusive.

SINGAPORE (AP) — Pang Ah Lan, one of the Malayan rebel Communists' most notorious woman leaders, was shot dead Friday by British troops in Segamat, Johore state.

Gen. Eisenhower Disavows Any Tinge Of McCarthyism

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower last night disavowed McCarthyism and assailed isolationism.

In what some election observers regarded as the Republican presidential candidate's strongest statement on two issues on which he has been bedevilled by his Democratic opponents, Eisenhower declared:

"I have long insisted and do now insist the isolationism in America is dead as a political issue."

And:

"There are those who believe that any means are justified by the end of rooting out Communism. There are those who believe that the preservation of democracy and the preservation of the soul of freedom in this country can and must be accomplished with decency and fairness and due process of law. I belong to this second school."

Eisenhower's first statement was interpreted as a blast at Democratic charges that he has "made a deal" with those in his party who urge that the United States cut loose from its commitments abroad and tend to its own affairs.

RIGHT IN CHICAGO

It was made in what once was considered the heart of the country's isolationist area and in the city where Col. Robert McCormick and his Chicago Tribune hits at anything and everything that smacks of American commitments abroad and almost anything and everything connected with Britain. McCormick has endorsed Eisenhower "with reluctance."

The second left no doubt as to where Eisenhower stands on the issue of "McCarthyism," a word coined to describe the methods of Wisconsin's Senator Joseph R. McCarthy in his attempts to root out Communism in the United States.

The General did not mention McCarthy by name nor did he refer to the latter's widely-publicized "expose" early this week of Communism or pro-Communism among the men who surround Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for the White House. That was a fizzle.

Eisenhower's endorsement of McCarthy in the Senator's bid for re-election is one of the issues of this hard-fought election campaign. The Democrats contend that the General has compromised his principles for political expediency.

TRUMAN LABELS McCARTHY

Earlier in the day President Truman, campaigning furiously for Stevenson, thought up a new epithet for McCarthy. It came in an attack on Eisenhower for what Truman said was an attempt to make votes out of the Korean issue by a "cheap trick" apparently learned from McCarthy, the General's "new gutter playmate."

The Republican nominee has said that, if elected, he will go to Korea to seek settlement of the war. He has not said what he can do there. The Korean issue is paramount in these last hard days before the election Tuesday.

The General's opponent, Stevenson, meanwhile ended his campaign in the east with a charge in Brooklyn that Eisenhower's pledge to go to Korea was "a promise without a program."

The Illinois Governor yesterday took a day out of his campaign to fly to Chester, Ill., to end an uprising by convicts in Menard State Prison. His trip was viewed as a gamble that paid off. Had he failed the loss of prestige undoubtedly would have been considerable.

New System

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Plans for a country-wide telegraph system to link firms in distant cities by facsimile "picture" transmission were disclosed Friday by Walter P. Marshall, president of Western Union. Marshall told the management conference that the future "will see the unchallengeable simplicity and efficiency of facsimile submitted for the letter-by-letter transmission of today."

Maroons Take Lead, Down Mercurys 6-4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chatham St. Clair Maroons broke away from the crowd in the Ontario Hockey Association senior A loop last night by downing Owen Sound Mercurys 6-4.

The win put the Maroons two points ahead of Brantford Redmen who moved into sole possession of second place by their 4-2 win over Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen. Chatham has four wins and a loss for eight points.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, which started this week, Sudbury Wolves downed Sault. Ste. Marie, Mich., Indians 6-3 in a brawling contest.

Owen Sound's loss dropped them into a three-way tie for third place with Sarnia Sailors and Stratford Indians, two points behind Brantford.

TWO FOR CAMPBELL

Jimmy Campbell paced the Maroons with two goals. Singles went to Cliff McArthur, Arthur King, Ernie Dick and Jack Price. Mercury goals were potted by Mike Bukacheski, Bill McComb, Tommy Burlington and Johnny McCallum.

In Brantford Jack Taylor scored two of the Redmen's goals. Singles went to Harry Simpell and Fred Dugan. Mike Oliver scored both goals for the Dutchmen, now in sixth spot, only two points ahead of the winless Hamilton Tigers.

THIRTY PENALTIES

Officials handed out 30 penalties in the Sudbury game. Each team got 15.

Nick Tomiuk, Yacker Flynn, Tatter McLellan, Red McCarthy, Andy Milne and George Defelice counted for the Wolves. Dean McBride, Gord Kerr and Ron Rubic scored for the Indians.

Communists Busy Trying To Annex Zola

By CHARLES C. LANE

PARIS (AP)—The Communists today are in the process of annexing their second great French writer within the year—both of them long dead.

This time it's Emile Zola. The Communists are pulling him into their camp as France observes the 50th anniversary of his death.

Last spring they took over Victor Hugo.

How do the Communists annex these writers who died long before the Russian revolution?

The job is done chiefly by Communist newspapers.

The technique is simple: start with valid similarities between the writers' times and ours, stress the period of the writers' lives when they were in the minority opposition, forget about the fact they did not take orders from Moscow, and that they died respectable, honored and rich.

SUPPORTED DREYFUS

What the Communists particularly like about Zola is his defence of Alfred Dreyfus, French artillery captain railroaded to Devil's Island in 1894 after being erroneously convicted of furnishing secrets to the German military attache in Paris.

As the autumn progresses various French ceremonies commemorating the 50th anniversary of Zola's death will give the Red press other opportunities to embrace him. Meantime the non-Communist press is publishing thousands of words of praise for Zola, so the tug-of-war is getting hot.

Hugo made speeches in favor of a republic during the French Revolution of 1848 and in following political upheavals.

But even more appealing to the Communists is his universally-known emotional book of a man's struggles against unrighteous law and poverty: "Les Miserables."

HOLLYWOOD HANDS OFF

In the midst of last spring's 150th anniversary celebration a French cinema director planned to render homage to Hugo by a long film. Hollywood producers were interested.

Then the word drifted back to Hollywood that the Communist press was making Hugo its literary hero No. 1, the Americans cooled off and postponed any action indefinitely.

This caused the conservative Le Figaro to remark: "Let us reassure America: to "annex" is not to convert—even less so when it deals with a writer who is dead."

AFTERWARDS—Prison guards at Menard State prison at Chester, Ill., survey wreckage after rioting prisoners cleared out of the East Cell Block. General damage was found in the mass hall, too, as more than 300 inmates went on a rampage.

AT RIOTING PRISON—Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon, of Illinois, is searched for arms by Menard prison guard Claude Lenmke. Dixon arrived by plane at the Chester, Ill., prison to help negotiate with more than 300 rioting convicts who held ten guards as hostage.

Mayor Waddell Stresses Western Grain Crop Great Asset To Nation

Mayor Hugh Waddell introduced his recent broadcast as guest speaker of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture, over CHEX, succinctly as follows: "One of the more important things that has come to my attention this year is the great benefit to be derived from good rural-urban relations in the community."

He cited the importance of agriculture and the vast production of the farm industry as commanding national recognition.

"History is being made in Western Canada this year. On some 60 million acres where it is grown, wheat is in the process of making oil, metals and some of our other natural resources look like a pretty small thing. The oil boom in Alberta right now is giving forth some 200,000 barrels a day. That is $500,000 of brand new dollars a day for the oil companies—and in a year will add up to almost $200 millions — a very handsome figure when we realize that it has developed over the last five years.

"But let us compare this with what is happening with this year's grain crop. The western farmer is harvesting the biggest crop ever grown. It is estimated to be running 1,250 million bushels of all grains, of which 630 million will be wheat alone—and a high grade crop at that.

"The grain crop will bring maybe $2 billion, or ten times as much as all the oil wells are capable of producing.

It is estimated that Alberta alone will get more for its non-wheat, coarse grain crop than will be realized from oil, with some $50 million left over. I mention this to show that our farm friends have something to be proud of—and it's often overlooked today."

BASIS OF FRIENDSHIP

Further on in his address, Mayor Waddell said: "From rural-urban acquaintance there develops a mutual interest and feeling between town and country dwellers. This breaks down the prejudices and factional difficulties which tend to retard the progress of the community as a whole. Acquaintance is recognized as the basis of all rural-urban work.

"Through acquaintance comes friendship and understanding, and there is laid the groundwork for rural-urban co-operation.

"I would personally like to see the day when there was no city limit—it may be slow to come completely, but in many ways we have accomplished much now. During the last war mutual aid between municipalities was an accomplished fact in the Old Land for bombed-out areas. Here in Canada we are practising it today when some natural or man-made disaster hits a community. See how the whole country rallied to the aid of Winnipeg in its great flood—and Cabano its fire.

MUTUAL HELP

"Mutual aid is practised right here in this community today in fire service. The city has reciprocal arrangement with the township of Smith and the village of Lakefield, our neighbors to the north, for fire service, and I have no doubt these mutual aid agreements will soon be extended to other areas."

Mayor Waddell dwelt on the topic of conservation, and closed with this paragraph: "In bringing you this brief message on the Federation of Agriculture program today, permit me to pass along greetings from the city of Peterborough to our friends in the district, and assure you how delighted I am to be here and for this opportunity to say so."

12 More Names On Casualty List

OTTAWA (CP)—The army yesterday issued its 150th casualty list of the Korean War, reporting two men killed in action, one missing, eight wounded and one injured in action.

The last previous list was issued Thursday.

Yesterday's report listed two men as killed in action who previously had been reported missing in the battle of Little Gibraltar Hill in which almost an entire company of the Royal Canadian Regiment was hit.

Two other men in yesterday's list—Pte. Richard Osmond of Bedford, N.S., and Pte. Keith Quinlan of Edmonton—both members of the R.C.R., were casualties of the same battle Oct. 23.

This brought casualties for the Oct. 23 action to 76, including 18 dead, 35 wounded, 14 missing and nine injured.

Eight of the names in yesterday's list were not casualties of the Little Gibraltar battle.

The list brought to 1,219 the number of casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in Korean action.

The list included this Ontario name:

Wounded in Action

Barnhart, James Edward, Pte.; R.C.R.; James Barnhart (father), Williamsburg, Ont.

Cigarettes Stolen

UXBRIDGE (CP) — Between $2,000 and $2,500 worth of cigarets were stolen last night from the Nobel transport warehouse in this town 35 miles northeast of Toronto. Large quantities of tires, batteries and other goods in the building were left untouched.

Insist Owners Compsenated For Power Plan Damage

CORNWALL (CP)—The International Joint Commission, in approving Wednesday the joint United States-Canadian application to develop St. Lawrence River power, insisted the governments concerned undertake to compensate persons or interests suffering loss as a result of the development, it was reported here Friday.

This would affect chiefly persons with riverfront property and buildings in areas to be flooded by construction of the $750,000,000 seaway and power project. The power phase is expected to cost $450,000,000.

In approving the controlled single stage project with its control dam below Iroquois, its twin powerhouses at Barnhart Island and bypassing canals, the commission ruled that the works should not interfere with prior rights. These include clauses under the boundary waters treaty act which provide for water for sanitary purposes and navigation.

MAINTAIN LEVELS

Another condition is the maintenance of water levels both above and below the control dam at Iroquois. This is designed to avert controversy such as arose over the Gut Dam near Cardinal, which was blamed for raising the level of Lake Ontario and causing much property damage to lakeshore properties and now is to be removed.

The commission ruled that the two governments must establish a joint board of engineers—possibly three from each country—to be known as the St. Lawrence River joint board of engineers. It will be the board's duty to review, coordinate and approve any plans and specifications.

Also ordered was the establishment of a joint board of control—again with possibly three representatives from each country—to supervise the operation of the project and to be directly responsible to the commission for execution of its orders.

The commission recommended that the flow of water from Lake Ontario be governed in accordance with regulations laid down in the department of transport's "plan five" which had been approved by the U.S. Army corps of engineers.

Provision is made in the terms of the order that the maximum headwater level at the powerhouse shall be at elevation 238 feet for a 10-year test period, or such other period as the commission shall determine.

The Ontario Hydro, named by the Canadian government as its agency, must agree to furnish the commission with an accurate record of levels for all regulating works installed in connection with the project.

Expect To X-Ray 25,000 In City

It is expected that 25,000 people will be X-rayed in the community mass chest X-ray survey to start in Peterborough Monday.

The survey is being organized by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and sponsored by the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association. The number, 25,000 was reported today by Frank Booth, survey chairman.

Employees of city industries and students of the two collegiates and St. Peter's High School will be X-rayed Nov. 3-14. The general survey will start Nov. 13.

500 HELP

The Junior Chamber has enrolled 500 members of 30 women's organizations in the city to help with the survey. These women will make a house-to-house canvass starting next week. The purpose of this canvass is to give information about tuberculosis and stress the importance of X-rays. The canvassers will also distribute appointment cards.

The city has been divided into four sections for the general survey. A mobile unit will be stationed at Mark St. United Church, Nov. 13 and 14. A portable unit will be set up in St. Jame's United Church Hall, Nov. 17-21. From there it will go to George St. United Church Hall Nov. 24-28, and will finish up at Knox St. United Church Hall, Dec. 1-5.

Use Earlton Airport For CPA Flag Stop

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Canadian Pacific Air Lines planes will be stopping at nearby Earlton about Nov. 15.

However, until spring, Earlton will be only a "flag stop," C.P.A. officials said today.

When the air transport board authorized a C.P.A. run from Montreal to Toronto by way of Northern Ontario and Quebec, it was reported Earlton would be used as a regular stopping place in September. The airport was being expanded to permit landing of commercial planes but construction has gone more slowly than was expected.

The flag stop means planes will stop at Earlton when "traffic offers" at 11:20 a.m. southbound and 3:45 p.m. north bound.

Former School Principal Fannie Mackenzie Dies

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Fannie C. MacKenzie, former principal of the Lloyd George school in Hamilton, died Friday. She retired in 1939 after teaching school 42 years.

"Miss Mac," as she was known affectionately by former pupils, started teaching at 16 in the Bruce peninsula, then came to the Niagara peninsula. For 16 years before her retirement she taught in the Rainy River district of northwestern Ontario.

For a reunion in 1948, her ex-students came from as far as Michigan and California as well as from many Canadian cities.

Surviving are two sisters here, Kate and Annie, and three brothers, David of Calgary, James of Paisley, Ont., and Charles of Oakville, Ont.

"Citizenship" Topic At Roseneath Meeting

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Miss Ethel M. Chapman of the Women's Institute Department, Toronto, was the guest speaker at the extension service for the homemaker meeting held in Roseneath township hall on Thursday afternoon under the auspices of Roseneath Women's Institute, when they entertained the members of Alderville Homemakers Club.

"Citizenship" was the topic of Miss Chapman's address and she defined it as "living fully wherever you are." In speaking of the different kind of homes the speaker divided ther subject under four headings.

1. The mentally stimulating home where good books and music are in use.

2. The morally wholesome home where every member of the home lives up to the 10 commandments.

3. The socially responsible home, a home where the family doesn't live for itself alone.

4. The spiritually inspiring home, where there is family worship.

In conclusion the speaker said "Be interested in something constructive in your community, have a knowledge of world affairs, live within your country's laws, have pride in your country and the liberty we enjoy."

The speaker was introduced by the vice-president, Mrs. Fred Murphy. Mrs. Alfred Simpson, on behalf of the Alderville Homemakers voiced her appreciation to Roseneath Women's Institute and the guest speaker.

Give Wrong Address For Map Office

OTTAWA (CP)—A case of mistaken address yesterday threw lower-town offices into a tizzy and at the same time pointed up a heavy demand for the new, 100-mile-to-the-inch map of Canada.

The Canadian Press erroneously reported that the government branch distributing the map is located at 304 Sussex Street The actual address is at 324 Dalhousie Street.

The map, constructed on a new base, is the first entirely new map of Canada to be published since 1927.

Icebreaker Returns From Northern Trip

QUEBEC (CP)—Capt. Charles-Antoine Caron brought the icebreaker N.B. McLean back to Quebec for the last time yesterday, following a four-month trip to Canadian Arctic outposts.

Next year, the veteran navigator will take command of the ... construction at nearby Lauzon.

As the ship docked in mild weather, the only indication that Capt. Caron was returning from a northern voyage was the presence aboard of Pearly Tyarah, an Eskimo woman from Notthingham island, suffering from tuberculosis. She was brought here to the immigration hospital for treatment.

Say Sex Degenerate May Be At Large

VANCOUVER (CP)—A second woman told police yesterday she was awakened during the night to find a strange man in bed with her.

Police said a sex degenerate may be at large in the city.

The woman, whose husband is out of town, said she was aroused by the intruder about 3 a.m. She said the man fled when she screamed.

Thursday, a prowler climbed a ladder into a second-storey apartment and slipped into bed with a sleeping mother and her 12-year-old daughter. He fled when she also screamed.

GUARD OF HONOR—Gen. B. W. Chidlaw, Commanding General, U.S.A.F. Air Defence Command, reviews guard of honor before boarding a plane at R.C.A.F. Station St. Hubert after a two-day visit which involved discussions on mutual defence problems between Air Vice Marshal A. L. James, Air Officer Commanding R.C.A.F. Air Defence Command, and Air Marshal Sir Basil Embry, Air Officer Commanding R.A.F. Fighter Command. In foreground, wearing side arms and medals, is assistant Guard Commander F/O. Gordon Prentice.

Survey Polls Say Eisenhower Leading US Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Survey of three public opinion polls today showed them inclined to think Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower ahead in the United States presidential race—but none flatly picked him to win. The three, which have made their final surveys, are the Crossley poll, the Elmo Roper poll and the Samuel Lubell analysis made for the Scripps-Howard newspapers. Gallup poll results will not be available to non-subscribers until tonight.

The Crossley conclusion was that, as of the middle of last week, Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, would get 47.4 per cent of the popular vote to 42.3 for Governor Adlai E. Stevenson and 0.4 for other candidates.

The poll listed 9.9 per cent of the vote as undecided.

Roper said:

"Our final poll, for which the interviewing ended only Friday night shows that there are enough people still undecided to throw this election either way."

PICKS UP GROUND

Eisenhower, Roper said, first was far ahead of the Democratic nominee but Stevenson picked up ground between Oct. 15 and Oct. 31 although he still was trailing at the start of last week.

"The governor of Illinois still has some gaining to do, but the last time we looked at the public's mood, he was still gaining," Roper said.

In his analysis of the way things will go tomorrow, Lubell said:

"Enough persons who voted for President Truman in 1948 have told me they intend to vote Republican this fall so that General Eisenhower should win the election. . .

"Should the pro-Eisenhower trend prove strong enough to crack three or four of the big city states, then Ike would win by a landslide."

CAN GO EITHER WAY

Archibald M. Crossley, director of the Crossley poll, noted that his figures leaned toward the Republican nominee, but he added:

"There are four major reasons why the final conclusion must be that the election can still go either way."

He went on to cite them as follows:

"The extremely narrow margins by which states with large electoral votes such as New York, Illinois and others are likely to be won by one side or the other.

"Our electoral system which makes it possible for a candidate, even with a minority of popular votes, to win the election by a considerable majority in the electoral college.

"Whatever last-minute effect there may be of dramatic announcements, or of aggressive promotion by either side, on the late decision for whom to vote or whether to vote at all.

"The normal allowable variation involved in a sample of the population."

The New York Times says today that reports from its correspondents throughout the United States indicate that the outcome of

Mexico Proposes P.O.W.'s Go To UN Countries

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Assembly's political committee renews its debates this afternoon on the Korean question, faced with a middle-ground Mexican proposal to solve the Korean truce talks deadlock by letting prisoners of war go to other U.N. countries.

The new Mexican resolution is the first attempt by a small country to reach the stage of a formal proposal in the effort to reconcile the U.S. and Russian viewpoints on war prisoners.

A Peruvian suggestion for a commission to study the war-prisoner issue and an Arab-Asian group move to find a middle way have been advanced but not outlined specifically. Indonesia is taking the lead in drafting a measure which the 12 to 15 countries in the Arab-Asian bloc may approve as a compromise.

MAY OUTLINE PERU PLAN

Delegates looked for Peru's Victor Andres Belaunde to make his idea more explicit in this afternoon's session. Canada; one of the joint sponsors of the U.S.-Western block resolution urging a Korean armistice on U.N.-sponsored terms, and the foreign minister of the Republic of South Korea were also on the meeting schedule.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Acheson promised that any plan which would not force war prisoners to return to Communist territory against their will would be studied. Russia's Andrei Vishinsky has called for a new commission to "settle the Korean question" and objected to the screening by U.N. commanders of the war prisoners.

Somewhere between those two positions, delegates of little countries feel they can find the key which will unlock the prison gates, effect a complete armistice, and still save everybody's face on the question.

Football-Style Robbery Fails

VANCOUVER (CP)—A football-style robbery on the fifth floor of the Hudson's Bay Company department store Saturday was foiled when employees captured one of four holdup men with a flying tackle and recovered nearly $13,000.

Police Sunday charged three men with robbery with violence—William Janush, 21, Jack Horlick, 24, and Donald Swan, 19. Janush was arrested in the store and the other two were picked up Saturday night in a rooming house. The fourth man was still at large.

One of the thugs held up a pretty, blonde cashier in the store's credit office while an accomplice scooped $12,900 into a bag and the two others acted as lookouts.

The four sped from the office, weaving in and out like a football team's backfield, and into the carpet department.

Employees George Kidd and Gar [illegible] tackled one bandit, who [illegible] a companion. But it was fumbled and the workers grabbed it.

The employees held the 21-year-old suspect for police. The other three disappeared into the heavy crowds of shoppers.

Fur Thieves Strike Twice At Weekend

TORONTO (CP) — Fur thieves struck twice during the weekend escaping with $25,000 in coats and skins. The theft brings the year's total to more than $50,000.

In one suburban raid, thunder covered the noise of the break-in and the robbers became so bold they turned on the shop lights.

Police discovered the first theft at the Perfect Fur Company. A hole was discovered chopped in the roof where the thieves had lowered themselves inside. Between 120 and 125 coats were taken. The proprietor, Izzie Shulman, valued his loss at between $10,000 and $15,000.

Police said fur robbers used a pick-ax to force the rear door of a shop in suburban New Toronto. William Jagros, the proprietor, said 30 persian lamb coats worth $9,000 were taken. Also missing were skins worth $800.

U.S. Army Rejects Mantle As Unfit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Army today held that New York Yankee star Mickey Mantle is physically unfit for military service.

Maj.-Gen. George E. Armstrong, army surgeon-general, made the announcement after examining the record of physical examinations recently conducted at Fort Sill, Okla.

Armstrong said the current disqualification of the baseball player was based on a chronic right knee defect resulting from an injury sustained in the 1951 World Series. The army examining [illegible] condition to be serious [illegible] mandatory rejection under armed forces physical standards."

Mantle had been rejected previously because of a history of osteomyelitis of the left leg.

Say Lightning Caused Short Circuit

Volunteer Firemen Battle Flames For Five Hours

MADOC (Staff)—The two-storey factory of Canadian Woodproducts Ltd., the largest industry in Madoc, was gutted late Sunday night in a fire that caused damage estimated at $25,000 and leaves 30 out of work. It is believed that lightning caused a short circuit in the electrical wiring.

Firemen poured water on the blaze for five hours. They managed to save most of the machinery and contents of the basement and prevented the flames from spreading to a large pile of lumber nearby.

The factory manufactures wooden cheese boxes, berry boxes, and cheese supplies, such as rennet and cheese cloth. It covers half an acre in the south end of the village. When production is at its peak in summer the factory employs 45 workers. At present about 30 are working there.

Most of the first floor, re-inforced with a concrete ceiling and steel beams, is intact. But the upper frame part of the factory is completely destroyed.

DISCOVERED BY WATCHMAN

The fire was discovered by a night watchman, Tom Reynolds, during a heavy storm in the area. Reynolds noticed fire in the north-east corner of the two-storey building, near the machinery.

It is believed that lightning struck the factory and short-circuited some of the electrical wiring that powers the machinery.

By the time Chief Kelly Mullrooney and his volunteer fire brigade arrived the swiftly-moving flames had got too great a hold on the structure. The 22 volunteer firemen were assisted by other men from the nearby district but they were unable to choke off the outbreak.

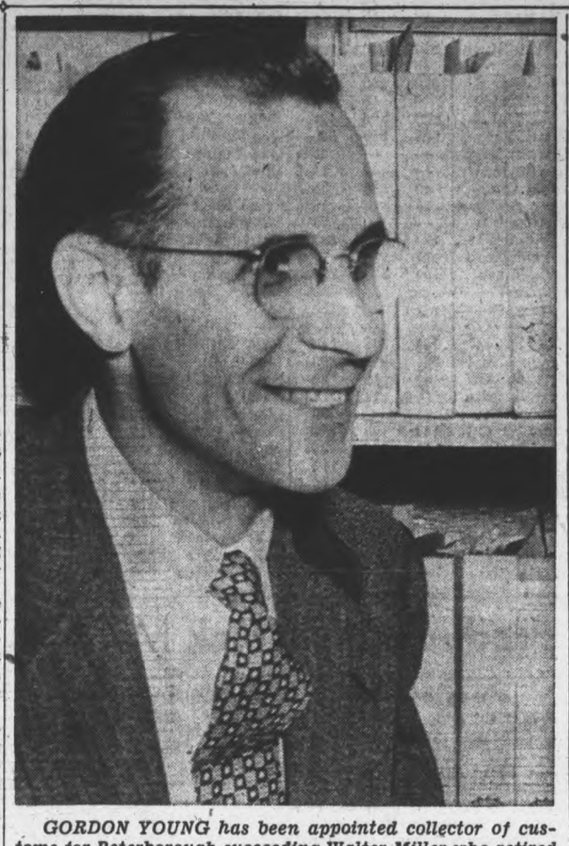
Expect Record Number At Polls

By THE CANADIAN PRESS



U.S. voters are expected to crowd the polls in record numbers tomorrow to elect a president and vice-president, 34 senators, 432 representatives and 29 governors.

More than 75,000,000 persons are estimated to have registered in the 146,000 precincts, about 8,000,000 more than 1948.

State officials and other estimate a total vote of more than 55,000,000, an increase of about 6,000,000 over the record made in 1940.

There are more than 98,000,000 "potential" voters — those 21 years of age and over, with an estimated more than half of them women.

Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, Democrat, Springfield, Illinois, to receive results of the vote. Dwigh D. Eisenhower, Republican standard-bearer will await the decision in New York City.

GORDON YOUNG has been appointed collector of customs for Peterborough succeeding Walter Miller who retired recently. Mr. Young is known outside customs circles as a former local athlete and now a football referee.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Gordon Young Appointed New Collector Of Customs

Gordon Young, well-known sportsman in Peterborough, has officially been appointed collector of customs and excise to succeed Walter Miller who retired recently after seven years as collector. Known best for his sports participation particularly in football, Mr. Young has advanced in the customs house from clerk to collector in a period of 10 years. He started there in July, 1942, as a clerk, rose to examiner, then computing clerk, then chief clerk and finally collector.

Like Mr. Miller, Mr. Young has taken an active part in sports, especially football. He played with the collegiate, Queen's University and the original Orfuns team in football and with teams in the East Peterborough baseball league. Now he's well known as a collegiate football referee.

Mr. Miller, former inspector, was noted for his hockey achievements, playing with the Montreal Wanderers after a hockey career in Peterborough, Brantford, British Columbia and Nova Scotia. Besides this he is a fine trombonist.

After the First World War and a business course, Mr. Miller entered the customs house in 1920. He advanced through the ranks, becoming collector in November, 1945, succeeding Peter Lang.

Fight Waterfront Fire 20 Hours

BOSTON (AP)—One of the biggest waterfront fires in Boston's history was subdued today after a 20-hour battle which saw 80 police and firefighters felled by dense [illegible] injuries.

[illegible] streams of water still were poured as a precautionary measure on the ruins of a 1,000-foot storage warehouse on Union wharf which collapsed into the water at midnight after being swept by flames.

Fire Chief John V. Stapleton said the Union wharf warehouse would cost nearly $2,000,000 to replace. He estimated the actual damage to the structure at $250,000.

Occupants of Union wharf included two general storage warehouses and six wooden boxes and crate storage firms.

Thieves On Roof Kill London Bobby

LONDON (Reuters) — Thieves crouching on the roof of a warehouse last night shot and killed Sidney Miles, a policeman who climbed a ladder to arrest them.

In a half-hour rooftop fight the thieves also wounded a plain-clothes detective. Crowds in the street below watched the struggle.

Police surrounded the building in Croydon, a London suburb, and arrested two men. A third man got away.

The three men were caught breaking into a tobacco store and raced to the roof of the building when police arrived.

Hallowe'en Trio Robs Woman

BRANTFORD (CP) — Three young thugs wearing Hallowe'en masks robbed Mrs. William Zinkewich of $220 in her home Saturday night and left her bound and gagged on the floor of the front hall, after one of them had struck her in the face and broken her teeth. Two of the thugs were armed.

Mrs. Zinewich was helpless for two hours until her daughter, Muriel, 16, arrived home at midnight and released her.

Mrs. Zinkewich said she was alone in the house when she answered a knock and was asked if anyone was at home. The intruders then pushed their way in, threatening her with a rifle, and demanded her money. They forced her to get $220, all her savings, which she kept in a glass jar in the basement.

Then they tied her up.

One youth was reported held last night for questioning.

Pilot Makes Forced Landing

MANOTICK (CP)—An F-86 Sabre jet plane from No. 434 squadron at Uplands, near Ottawa, made a forced landing two miles from here today. The pilot, 25-year-old FO. William C. Thorleifson of Vancouver, was unhurt.

Manotick is 15 miles south of Ottawa.

R. C. A. F. officials said they are investigating the mechanical failure which forced FO. Thorleifson to land short of the field. The aircraft was damaged.

Deadly Fire Turns Back Allied Attack

South Koreans Storm Peak 4 Times Despite Bad Shelling

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Deadly Chinese mortar fire today cut to bits and stopped a series of South Korean attacks on bloody Triangle Hill. At least four times the Roks stormed the crest. Dug-in Chinese stood them off with mortar fire and hand grenades.

Big U.N. guns literally blew the top off Triangle and saturated Red positions in a valley to the north. The barrage disrupted the Chinese artillery batteries, but it couldn't suppress the lighter, more accurate mortars, nor rout Red troops from their holes and tunnels.

CONTROL SITUATION

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U.S. Eighth Army commander, said in a statement that Allied forces are "in complete control of the situation" at Triangle and nearby Sniper Ridge.

"We can and will continue to chew up all the Chinese they want to throw into the battle," he asserted.

South Koreans are clinging to positions on Sniper's crest.

Allied raiding parties jabbed Chinese lines on the western front. There was scattered action elsewhere, but nothing to match the central front fighting for savage intensity.

AP correspondent John Randolph said the Triangle Hill battle opened with a 30-minute U.N. artillery barrage at 9:30 a.m

South Korean infantry pushed off at 10 a.m. They worked their way up two-thirds of one slope without opposition.

There they dug in and waited for an hour while Allied fighter-bombers pounded the Chinese. Then they moved forward again.

At 12:58 they could see Chinese heads bobbing up and down on the skyline, only 50 yards away. They leaped to their feet for one final rush—and the Red mortar shells came tumbling down.

MORTARS SMASH ATTACK

One round landed in the midst of the attackers. The South Koreans reeled and fell back. Chinese showered them with hand grenades.

Twice more in the next hour this same group of Koreans struggled across those few final yards. Each time their attack was blown to bits by the Red mortars.

Fresh troops were hurled into the battle at 2 p.m. They, too, failed to pierce the curtain of fire

It was the same story on nearby Jane Russell hill. The South Koreans stormed up the slope and were stopped cold by the mortars.

Possibly the greatest artillery barrage since the Second World War—more than 42,000 rounds in eight hours—preceded Sunday's futile R.O.K. charge on Triangle.

This was made known today by a member of a syndicate which last year bought Thorncliffe from its Maryland owners for a reported $2,000,000.

"It's too valuable a piece of property to be kept for two weeks of racing," he said. "As far as the harness horse racing is concerned, we don't intend to carry on unless we are permitted to run at night. We've lost considerable money operating in the daytime for two years."

Troops Sent In To Help Quell Rioting Prisoners

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Highway patrolmen shot and killed one of 1,600 rioting convicts in Ohio penitentiary today and a few minutes later a National Guard company armed with rifles and machine-guns marched inside the walls. About 100 guardsmen reinforced 21 state patrolmen who had been holding the convicts at bay with a criss-cross shotgun barrage down the corridors of four battered cell blocks. The guardsmen had been standing by outside the prison since Friday night.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis identified the dead man as Carlyle Noel, 30, serving 2-10 years for housebreaking.

FOUR WOUNDED

He said Noel was shot in the head at 9:40 a.m. Three other convicts were wounded earlier today. A fourth was shot yesterday.

Outside the prison, the dull booming of the state highway patrolmen's riot guns sounded like a bombardment over a distant hill. The guns spewed their fire in a giant "X" down the corridors of cellblocks G, H, I and K.

Only this line of pelting lead kept 1,600 screaming convicts from charging the 21 patrolmen locked inside the cellblocks with them.

Occasionally one of the maddened men tried to reach a stairway at the end of the hall. Then the criss-cross fire lowered and probed at the sneaking, running figure.

That's how the three men were wounded today.

IDENTIFIES WOUNDED

Alvis identified today's wounded as:

Harold Sweet, 25, of Toledo, serving life for murder; George Grubb, 32, of Cleveland, serving 4-62 years 32, of Cleveland, serving 4-62 years for forgery, burglary and grand larceny; Ezra Cayson, 27, of Warren, serving 1-15 years for burglary.

There was no indication when prison guards, state highway patrolmen and 400 Ohio National Guard soldiers will be able to bring an end to the 60-hour, $1,000,000 food riot that began Friday afternoon.

The 1,600 convicts are rioting inside their cellblocks because locks on individual cells have been broken off. The thin line of patrolmen are inside the locked cellblocks with them, with only their riot guns preventing a mass attack.

OUT OF CONTROL

Alvis told a press conference last night:

"We have never had complete control of these men since the riot. The situation is very tense at Ohio penitentiary. The men of G, H, I and K cellblocks are still the same as they were—out of control inside the cellblocks."

Inside the blocks, prisoners were reported to be causing much damage to prison fixtures. Some were said to have ripped away screening enclosing the tiers, tossing pieces of metal and anything else they could pry loose down to the first tier level.

Alvis said there probably are 100 to 150 "agitators" among the unruly prisoners.

While the convicts can move about the cellblocks, they can not get into the prison courtyard.

During the night huge searchlights played on the section of the cells housing the defiant prisoners.

Missing Pilot Unhurt After Crash

OTTAWA (CP)—J. K. Meagher of Ottawa parachuted to safety from his light plane in the Laurentian mountains north of Montreal last night. He telephoned his mother here today to report he was unhurt.

Meagher's plane crashed near St. Michel des Saints, Que., about 120 miles north of Montreal early last night. Meagher, the only occupant of the single-engine Chipmunk, telephoned his mother this morning from Mont Tremblant, Que., several miles from where his aircraft crashed and burned.

Meagher's sister Muriel told a reporter he called through at 10:15 a.m. to say that he came through the incident without injury and to ask that the air force be informed so any search could be ended.

Meagher's plane circled St. Michel for an hour before crashing and burning. Villagers reached the scene before it burst into flames and found one of the two parachutes with which the plane is equipped in the cockpit.

Meagher was flying from Gananoque, Ont., to Uplands airport, near here, on a routine practice flight. The plane was on loan to the Ottawa Flying Club from the R.C.A.F. as part of a scheme to keep wartime pilots in practice flying.

Thief Caught Digging Loot

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Hiding police and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation collared an ex-convict early today as he arrived at a vacant field carrying a garden hoe to dig up loot taken in a $248,000 robbery of two exiled Cubans.

The officers dug up $128,000 buried in a paraffin-sealed thermos jug near Azle, 18 miles northwest of Fort Worth. They said the money was part of the loot taken from Manuel F. Madriaga and Candido de la Torre at a hotel here a month ago.

Also in the jug was $4,250 in U.S. defence bonds taken from Mr. and Mrs. Sam Andrews in an armed robbery at their home in Kilgore, Aug. 9. The couple was bound, gagged and robbed by three armed men who also took $1,700 in cash.

Following up a tip, officers set up a trap and caught Floyd Hill, 40, as he showed up at the field where the money was buried. He offered no resistance.

Hold Memorial Service

CLARESHOLM, Alta. (CP) — A memorial service was held today at this R.C.A.F. station for a French war ace and a student pilot who were killed near here in a training-flight crash last Thursday. The crash victims were Capt. Henri Lepage of the French Air Force and Flt. Cadet G. B. Jopling of Peterborough. He is the son of Mrs. Madeline Jopling, 380 Armstrong Drive.

Oily River Fire Damages Shipyards

CLEVELAND (AP)—The oily surface of the Cuyahoga River caught fire in the heart of the city Saturday. The blaze spread to the shipyards of the Great Lakes Towing Co., whose officials said the loss would be "upwards of $1,500,000."

Before it was brought under control, short of an area containing gasoline and oil storage tanks, the fire severely damaged three tugs, a floating drydock and two buildings in the shipyard.

The cause of the fire was not known. There were no reports of injuries.

Tito Pledges Co-operation With West To Keep Peace

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP)—Marshall Tito accused the Soviet Union today of promoting a third world war and pledged Yugoslavia's co-operation with the West in preserving peace.

He laid before the sixth Congress of the Yugoslav Communist party a 40,000-word review of his struggle to maintain his country's freedom against heavy military and economic odds since he broke with the Kremlin-led cominform in 1948.

Tito addressed the 2,300 delegates as boss and secretary-general of this country's minority but ruling Red party. The Congress represents 779,382 members drawn from Yugoslavia's 16,500,000 people.

Opening the Congress Sunday, his appearance touched off a five-minute ovation in which the party faithful shouted "Hero-Tito" repeatedly.

His speech today was one of cautious optimism, but he warned his party that "there is less and less prospect of finding a reasonable solution for burning interhational questions."

Tito cautioned that Russia "is arming itself and its satellites in order to achieve its aims by force: to hold enslaved countries in subjugation, to seize new territories and enslave other peoples."

Turning toward Yugoslavia's relations with the west, Tito ssid coexistence is not only possible between communistic and capitalistic countries but that experience has shown in concrete ways that such no love for us as a socialist land,"

"Western reactionaries entertain co-operation may prove mutually useful.

he said, "but are prepared to co-operate with us on a number of questions of common interest. . . the Vatican and Catholic hierarchy in the world generally are against us."

Former Army Captain Finds "Paradise" In Himalayas

MUSSOORIE, India (Reuters)—A former Indian Army captain said today he discovered "an earthly paradise" in an uncharted and uninhabited Himalayan area close to the Tibetan border.

Capt. Umakant Shukla said the "Shangri-la" area was a plateau 50 miles long, 14,000 feet above sea level between the Himalayan peaks of Badrinath Kedarnath and Gangotri. There, he said, he had found the golden mountain peak of "Sumeru," described in ancient Hindu scriptures, and several valleys blanketed with cream-colored flower blooms.

Shukla spent the last five years roaming the Himalayas and trying to identify peaks mentioned in the Hindu epics. Mount Kamet had previously been accepted as the "Mount of Gold" referred to in the scriptures.

Describing the mountain, Shukla said:

"Its peak rises above a mass of glaciers and is so steeply conical in shape that no snow can rest on it. When the sun shines it glitters like gold."

He said the plateau is rich in mineral wealth.

6 Wedding Guests Injured In Crash

AJAX (CP)—Six Toronto residents were injured Saturday when their car hit a cement culvert near this community about eight miles west of Oshawa. They were on their way home from a wedding.

Injured were, Gerald Ewing, his wife Violet, Henry Wieczkowski and Mathew and Jessie Lisk and their son, Jim, 8. Isobel Moodie, mother of Mrs. Ewing, was badly shaken.

Father Dies In Fire 4 Others In Family Escape

TORONTO.—A 40-year-old hotel laundry foreman, father of four children, died early Sunday in the front bedroom of a flaming Waverley Rd. home. His wife and children leaped to safety. Firemen recovered the body of Leslie F. Richards from the room where he had been asleep with his wife, Eileen, 39, and a daughter, Connie, 11. Near him was his dog. Richards and the pet are believed to have been overcome by smoke before they could flee.

Mrs. Richards and Connie groped through smoke to a front window on the second floor of the two-storey frame house and jumped to the lawn. Two other daughters, Eileen, 16, and Gladys, 15, escaped through a back window.

"I heard a man calling 'fire, fire' when I woke up," said Eileen. "I woke up Gladys, who was sleeping beside me. We went out the back window. I smashed it with my hands and went down the roof onto the fence and jumped down. Gladys wanted to go back in to get daddy."

Eileen had her hands treated at the East General Hospital for cuts and burns.

Among the first to sight the flames, which spread rapidly through the old five-room house, were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Seymour of Kingswood Rd. They heard screams as they were leaving the home of Mrs. May Benson, just across the street from the Richards, about 4 a.m.

HEARD SCREAMS

"I heard screams outside and thought some one had been hit by a car," said Seymour a 33-year-old used car salesman. "Then I saw the whole place flaming like when an oil burner comes on in the furnace.

"I ran across the street and found the mother outside. One of the daughters had just come out of the house. The woman was screaming for her husband. I had to keep her from going back in after him. I took her over to some neighbors. Then I ran back to the house.

"Mrs. Benson's son, Robert called to me that there were two more children in the back part of the house. I went through some fire at the side to reach them. When I arrived, one of the youngsters was standing outside the door crying and wringing her hands. Her sister was right beside her. I called to them once, but the smoke burned down my throat and I couldn't call any more.

"One of the girls was crying 'Father! Father'. She started through the door with the flames all around. I guess she was trying to reach him. I went after her. I grabbed her, but she wouldn't come with me, so I slapped her once and took her out of the place.

NO SOUNDS INSIDE

"There were no cries from the father. The whole place was really blazing. I wasn't afraid at the time, only after it was all over. I can't remember exactly what happened. You don't know what you do at times like that. I guess the whole thing didn't take much more than a minute.

"After the girls were out, I saw the house next door had caught. There didn't appear to be any lights on, so I pounded on the do and when a man came I told him there was a fire.

"For a time I think the neighbors thought every one was out of the Richard's place. Some of them mistook me for the father when they saw me coming from the back of the house."

Hit By Truck Baby Killed

BONARLAW (ENS) — Errol Wellman, aged one year, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wellman, Belmont Hotel, Victoria, B.C., was killed Saturday when hit by a milk truck near his home. He is the grandson of Mrs. Frank Hind, of Madoc.

The little boy, unnoticed by the trucker, apparently wandered on the road while his older brother, Wayne, was getting the milk.

Arson Charge Laid After Farm Fire

BROUGHAM.—Ronald Moore, 19, has been charged with arson in connection with a Hallowe'en night fire which destroyed a barn on the farm of Stewart Tweedie, one mile east of here. Police said Moore is a tenant on the farm.

He is scheduled to appear before Magistrate Frank Ebbs in Whitby court Tuesday for a remand.

The season's wheat and farm machinery was lost in the blaze. Damage was estimated at nearly $10,000.

Police charge a cigaret was lit and the match set to some straw.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9.30 a.m.:

SYNOPSIS:

Much cooler air swept rapidly over Ontario last night and even southern regions are to experience somewhat chilly weather. There temperatures in the high 40s are expected with fresh west to northwest winds.

The cool outbreak, however, appears likely to be short lived and to be much less severe than that which occurred early last week. By Tuesday morning southwesterly winds are expected to reassert themselves over the entire province. Thus a warming trend is likely to be felt during Tuesday.

The cool air is producing light rainshowers to the southwest of the Great Lakes with light snowflurries in northern and central regions. In southern regions grey skies only are forecast.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Tuesday:

Lake Erie, Lake Ontario, Niagara regions; Windsor, Toronto and Hamilton cities: Sunny, clouding over during the morning and clearing this evening. Tuesday sunny. Cooler today, little change in temperature Tuesday. Winds light, becoming northwest 20 this afternoon and light again tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight and high Tuesday at Windsor and St. Thomas 32 and 30, Hamilton and St. Catharines 30 and 30, Trenton 32 and 45, Toronto 35 and 50. Summary for Tuesday: Sunny.

Lake Huron, Georgian Bay, Haliburton regions; London city: Cloudy, clearing about midnight. Sunny Tuesday. Widely scattered rainshowers or scattered snowflurries today. Little change in temperature Tuesday. Winds light, becoming northwest 20 about noon and southwest 15 tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight and high Tuesday at Wingham and London 32 and 30, Muskoka 30 and 30, Killaloe 30 and 45. Summary for Tuesday — Sunny.

Will Release 2 Cost-Of-Living Reports Now

OTTAWA (CP)—Within a few days, two yardsticks measuring September's living costs will be issued simultaneously. At least, one is expected to show a sharp drop.

They are the new consumer price index, measuring price changes since 1949, and the old cost-of-living index, showing changes since 1935-39. The new C.P.I. is the official index, but both will be issued simultaneously for the next six months before the old one is dropped altogether.

Trade Minister Howe, in a recent Toronto speech, forecast a "sharp drop" in September's cost-of-living index, but made no mention of what will happen in the new.

MORE ACCURATE

In announcing the new consumer price index Oct. 23, the Bureau of Statistics, working C.P.I. figures back through the months, found that sometimes the new index and the old did not reflect the same changes. A similar result may show during September.

For example, during August the new C.P.I. increased one-tenth of a point to 116.1 from 116.0. But the old cost-of-living index dropped 1.1 points to 186.5 from 187.6. In the old index food prices they went up. Reason for this seeming paradox is that the new index is tuned to seasonal changes in food prices and in food buying habits. The old one was a rigid measuring rod and considered by the officials as less accurate.

MAY MISS DEADLINE

Getting out one index a month was tough enough for the Bureau's prices men. Now they've got to get out two—and get them out together.

For that reason, Bureau men for the first time in a long time may miss the deadline, normally the fourth day of the month, which would be tomorrow. They're straining hard to meet it, but they likely will be delayed a day or two.

Say Election Weather Fair For Most U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP) — Weather forecast for Tuesday — election day in the United States: Fair for most of the country.

The weather bureau predicts normal temperatures and sunny skies tomorrow for all except a few scattered sections.

Showers are forecast for south Florida, northern New Mexico, southern Colorado and the coasts of Washington and northern Oregon. Snow flurries may fall in western Montana. Cooler weather is expected in the northeast states.

PINCKNEY, Mich. (AP)—The five young children of Mr. and Mrs. William Rickard died in their blazing home early Sunday while police said the parents were at a tavern to get beer to bring home. The victims were Rose, seven months; Dorothy, 3; Paul, 4; Edward, 6, and Marie, 7.

Thinks Third War Frightens Reds

MONTREAL (CP)—Gerard Filion, editor of Le Devoir, said today in an interview the thought of a third world war frightens people behind the Iron Curtain. "United States airplanes and atom bombs worry them," said Mr. Filion who return Friday after a seven-week trip that took him to Prague, Moscow and a Communist peace conference at Peiping. "Russia seems to be 50 years behind the western world and China a century behind us. They have the shivers."

The 42-year-old editor of the independent daily newspaper left Montreal in September to attend the Communist rally Oct. 2-10.

He said a Canadian sponsoring committee invited him to the Peiping meeting.

"I suppose I was invited because Le Devoir had criticized Canada's war participation in the Korean War," he said. "But I went along just as an observer, nothing more."

Mr. Filion knew of no other non-Communist newspaperman who has visited Red China.

ABSENCE OF SENSE

What struck him most about the 10-day meeting at Peiping was the absence of "true critical spirit sides of a question."

Speeches by delegates from all parts of the world were "explosions of sentiment."

"When there was a speech about American imperialism, the idea of Russian imperialism did not seem to enter delegates' minds despite all the examples of it we have had.

"Everybody said they wanted to end the Korean War, but no one would pose a concrete question about practical ways of bringing this about."

Mr. Filion thought there is an undercurrent of Chinese resentment against the Russians and that relations between them could blow up.

"There certainly is friction and the Chinese have no inferiority complex about the Russians. The Chinese feel they are more civilized and that the Russians are barbarians."

CANADIAN PARTY

Le Devoir's editor was among 12 Canadians who attended the conference at the expense of its Chinese organizers. While he did not share the political views of his Canadian companions he said their behavior was "moderate."

Mr. Filion said the Communists' devotion to their cause is "messianism."

"If you point to what is around them and say it does not stand comparison with the material benefits we have, they talk about things that may happen 50 years from now and say they are willing to wait."

Mr. Filion said he had been told that Prague once was one of Europe's gay spots, but he found little gaiety there.

"Wenceslas Place on a Saturday evening was supposed to be as gay as Paris. Austerity seems to prevail. In Prague, there is evidence of discontent.

"In Russia, people do not seem to be unhappy, but they know nothing of things outside and are told Russia is advanced.

EVERYWHERE—UNIFORMS

"You can see an effort in Moscow to modernize but around the new buildings there are big slum areas. Everyone is in a uniform—even the shoe-shine man."

Mr. Filion said he does not feel his cap followed him through the streets of Peiping after Sunday mass.

"There were several hundred people of all ages in the church for mass. They were very pious and there was a big communion."

Mr. Filion said a big display was made by the conference organization of another Sunday mass at Peiping Cathedral for visiting delegates.

"They made movies of it and a big fuss."

Mr. Filion asked Chinese officials about visiting Canadian missionaries, but got a vague answer and no results.

He said propaganda around germ warfare accusations against the United States in Korea has been so formidable that apparently no one in China questions it.

In a series of articles about his trip he will discuss Chinese documentation of 30 atrocity accusations against American troops and point out each case rests on the evidence of a single witness.

"This is odd when their documents claim 300 victims in an atrocity case."

He said the germ warfare propaganda is designed to fan enthusiasm for the Communist cause and distract attention from home problems.

"I think the blockade of China is having its effect and is worrying the Chinese," said Mr. Filion.

Truman Reveals Top Secret Korean Paper

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—President Truman's declassification of a "top secret" document added new emphasis to the Korean issue today while he waited for tomorrow's voting.

He said the release of a memorandum to show the joint chiefs of staff, with Dwight D. Eisenhower as a member, recommended the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Korea in 1947 was made to "set this controversy at rest."

It was a reply to what he said were attempts by the Republican presidential nominee to "create a false impression" that civilian officials were "guilty of blundering, if not of something worse."

The general had said the political decision to withdraw troops from Korea came two years after the military estimate and that if the opposition was claiming the military estimate was responsible for the decision, then "they are saying 'we abdicated our civilian responsibility.'"

1947 DOCUMENT

The document in question, dated Sept. 26, 1947, in reply to Eisenhower criticisms of U.S. troop withdrawals in Korea and other far eastern foreign policy, was one from the late defence secretary, James Forrestal, to the state department.

It said that the joint chiefs considered that from the standpoint of military security the United States "has little strategic interest in maintaining the present troops and bases in Korea."

The joint chiefs, it added, felt the 45,000 troops then in Korea could be well used elsewhere and their withdrawal would not impair the military position of the Far Eastern Command "unless in consequence, the Soviets establish military strength in South Korea capable of mounting an assault in Japan."
